	SUMMARY OF CALL RESULTS:
Messrs. Flanders and van Marx called on Mr. Mattis on April 10 and again on April 11 to meet also with Bruce Rappaport. Our luncheon for today was cancelled because they are holding an extraordinary meeting. Mr. Rappaport has gotten together with the Gokal Brothers, Pakistanians, who will put in Francs 6,000,000 of capital for 20% of the bank. The Gokals' apparently are low-keyed, but extremely wealthy Pakistanians who own and operate at least 200 dry-cargo ships and have their fingers in numerous companies. Part of the agreement is that the Gokals will do at least $200,000,000 worth of business through Inter-maritime Bank per year, as a starter. This business will consist largely of letter of credit business, for which Inter-maritime Bank at this moment is not equipped.
AMPLIFYING DETAILS	EXPLAIN BRIEFLY
	Mattis has made a study and has contacted several retired letter of credit department heads who will be willing to work for the bank for a brief period to break in his own staff. He wanted to know if we would be interested in assisting them, not so much in the confirmation of letters of credit, but as reimbursing credits. We explained to him that we would be happy to act on their telex authority, but would not want to get involved in seeing the actual credits of copies thereof, this in order not to get involved in boycott clauses complications. This morning, Rappaport told Mr. Mattis that he already made arrangements for handling of letters of credit through Credit Suisse in London and Geneva. Their main bank in Switzerland is Credit Suisse in Lausanne. Rappaport continues to operate at a remarkable speed, consuming one deal after another. It is fortunate that he has Mattis as General Manager of the bank, who is the detail man tying up loose ends.

Rapaport asked us if we would be interested in handling a "large amount of money" from the Middle East, which is as far as I can see would be coming through Intermaritime Factoring S.A., which is a company which up until now has more or less been dormant. No exact size was mentioned, but Mr. Mattis said latter that these amounts would be substantial. Most likely they are funds emanating from the Gokal Group.

	EXPLAIN BRIEFLY
AMPLIFYING DETAILS	Mr. Rockey explained that he had joined Inter Maritime Bank two months ago after having spent 7 years with First National Bank of Chicago in Geneva, with the main objective to develop the commercial and investment banking side of the bank, which in the past mainly served as an in-house bank for its fellow shipping subsidiaries.
	Mr. Rockey was aware of our good account relationship in New York and looks forward to further developing our relationship. He told us that most of their financing is still related to shipping, however, he aims to diversify his loan portfolio. He told us that Mr. Abbas K. Gokal, who is a major shareholder in Gulf Shipping has recently become a shareholder in the Inter Maritime Group and has contributed about SFr 8 million in capital.

EXPLAIN BRIEFLY The purpose of this visit was two-fold: one to introduce Owen to Fred Rockey, so that Owen would have a better understanding of the nature of Inter Maritime Bank. Secondly, to discuss various options open to us regarding renegotiation of the Ban Chu/Ben Chuan shipping loans. As I was well aware, Fred reiterated the fact that Inter Maritime Bank is still very much dominated, business wise, by Rappaport's various businesses, particularly on the liability side. In Switzerland, the natural asset offset to this are deposits and due from banks. Under Swiss law, the bank is forbidden to have an exposure to its principle shareholder beyond a fixed ratio against capitalisation. Because the total capitalisation of Inter Maritime Bank is no more than $20 million approximately, the bank's total exposure to Rappaport's various enterprises is no more than approximately $4 million. There is no business development programme, other than that done by Rappaport with his friends.

CONTINUATION

- 2 - MAY 5 - 1981

Call report dated 23rd April, 1981, re Inter Maritime Bank, Geneva, dictated by Mr. J. A. Ross

The main purpose of the bank is simply to recycle the enormous cash position that Rappaport's various enterprises maintain. Furthermore, there is no likelihood of a position change in the near future.

Fred asked if we would consider a foreign exchange line and neither Owen nor I saw any reason why we shouldn't, particularly as Inter Maritime Bank has placed large deposits with us, which exceed, by three-fold, our deposits to them.

We also discussed renegotiation of the Ban Chu/Ben Chuan shipping loans and what was determined was that Rappaport's main concern was the rate of interest, i.e. LIBOR plus $2\frac{1}{4}\%$ margin. We offered to renegotiate on several basis, i.e., reduce margin, increase the length of the loan, increase the amount outstanding on each vessel, etc., etc. Apparently, Rappaport had not, as yet, had time to consider precisely what it was he did want, although obviously it has been established he does not like paying LIBOR plus $2\frac{1}{4}\%$. Originally, we thought that it was the margin of $2\frac{1}{4}\%$ that upset him, in view of the fact that the market now is no more than $1\frac{1}{2}\%$ to $1\frac{5}{8}\%$. Apparently, however, his main concern was the total rate of interest and wished us to consider some form of fixed rate financing. I informed Fred that we would be perfectly happy to consider this, provided we could match-fund ourselves. However, at the current moment, I thought this was ill-advised on their part, because there is relatively very little difference between six month LIBOR and five year LIBOR.

In conclusion, he decided to pass my comments on to Rappaport and await his reaction.

EVALUATION OF RESULTS: ☐ VERY GOOD ☐ GOOD ☐ FAIR ☐ POOR ☐ NEGATIVE
SYNOPSIS OF CALL: (Summarize content and summary of call results) David Wallace and Ben Gilliat entertained John Farrell and Richard Golding to lunch. After lunch David Wallace introduced us to Fred Rockey and we were able to spend some time with Jacques Jones who looks after the legal affairs of IMB. We called in at Inter-maritime both to update ourselves on Rapsport's shipping and other activities and to discuss the attempt by Mosvolds to repudiate the m.v. Berjaya charterparty. On the grounds that the vessel was in poor condition and should be prematurely dry docked.
EXPLAIN BRIEFLY: The m.v. Berjaya and her sisterships, the m.v. Sentosa, are part of the security package on our Ban Chu/Beng Chuan loan. Both vessels are chartered at around $5,500 per day to Mosvolds (original owners of the ships and who still have small second mortgages on the vessels). This rate compares with present spot market rates for the vessels of less than $3,000 per day. The time charters have another ten months to run, although overall they have not worked out badly for Mosvolds - in the dry cargo boat market two years ago Mosvolds were able to sub charter the vessels at up to $10,000 per day. Mosvolds are clearly anxious to reduce their losses on these time charters and have used a pretext to threaten to put the m.v. Berjaya off hire. We made it clear to David Wallace and Jacques Jones that we understood the commercial position which has led Mosvolds to attempt to cancel the charter. We were told that the dispute would probably go to arbitration (with hires in the meantime being paid into a joint escrow account) and we emphasized our desire to work closely with owners to protect their commercial position. The m.v. Sentosa charter is as yet unaffected. Since our return, Inter-maritime have ensured that sufficient money was on the operating account to pay the latest loan instalment ($50,000 principal value 28th February, plus interest of $22,944.11).

David Wallace discussed with us the decision by London branch to decline to handle ~~all the operating accounts for the ten vessels in the Inter-Maritime fleet.~~ We explained that the sheer volume of payments would have been too great for the branch (possibly over two hundred payments per week, with many being small crew payments to India and the Far East). Inter-Maritime are now using Chase Manhattan in London to handle the routine operations side of their fleet management business.

We also discussed Rappaport's relationship with Gulf Shipping and the problems that had been encountered on dissolving the two ship joint venture between the parties. Essentially Rappaport wants to reduce his shipping commitments (where he is losing money because he has no captive trades of his own) and Abbas Gokal wants to sell his 30% stake in Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva. Rappaport would prefer to receive cash for dissolving the joint venture, whereas Abbas Gokal would prefer to offset the value of his 30% stake against the joint venture dissolution monies. Whilst we were in the office Jacques Jones received a telex confirming settlement on the two vessels, although it appeared from subsequent negotiations that the terms of the settlement were not totally clear. It is likely that the dispute may continue for some time.

During lunch Ben Gulliat mentioned that Rappaport now held some 7.5% of The Bank of New York and that he had recently purchased some more shares at $42. His average buying price was estimated at $28 per share. David Wallace, who looks after most of Rappaport's personal investments, shipping interests and his interest in IMB and various oil refineries, told us that Rappaport would have a large cash flow deficit in 1983. His shipping interests were losing money and he had very heavy losses in his Belgian and Antigua oil refineries, both of which were being operated well below break even levels.

We were left with the impression that the depressed state of most of Rappaport's business investments had created a low level of morale at IMB and that Rappaport's day to day influence itself was now less, particularly after his heart attack at the end of last year.

Dear Ms. Alexander:

As discussed, we wish to expand our relationship with NationsBank in various areas; clearings, collections, wire transfers and L/C's and ask you to consider the establishment of a line of credit for the confirmation of our L/C's. To this end, I am pleased to enclose draft copies of our 1992 audited statements. Final, signed copies are expected to be available in two weeks with no material alterations. In addition, I would like to provide you with some background information regarding the Swiss American Bank Group. This is a significant share of the market in view of the competition that we face; there are a total of nine retail banks operating in Antigua, six of which are branches of major multinational institutions. Although we endeavor to provide the highest quality of service on the island to a broad range of clients, we have targeted the travel and entertainment industry as our particular market niche. We have been successful in this area, thus providing the best international banking services available here.

Swiss American Bank Ltd was incorporated under Antigua's International Business Corporations Act in 1981 and is regulated by the Ministry of Finance. We provide general banking services in six major currencies. However, we emphasize our US dollar private banking services as our clientele consists principally of high net worth individuals residing in North America and Europe.

Antigua International Trust Ltd is incorporated under Antigua's International Business Corporations Act, and provides trust services, corporate formation and secretarial services to our international clients. AIT administers approximately 1000 Trusts and IBC Corporations.

Pannell Kerr Foster is our external auditor and we have recently contracted Coopers & Lybrand to perform ongoing internal audits.

The Swiss American Bank Group employs a staff of 62 and shares a Management team which consists of the following key individuals:-

Dear Avil:

Confirming our recent conversation, we wish to close out the account of Swiss American National Bank of Antigua and initiate a new account in name of Swiss American Bank Ltd.

As discussed, Swiss American National Bank of Antigua is a domestic commercial - retail bank whereas Swiss American Bank Ltd operates under the Antigua IBC Act and caters exclusively to non residents. Both entities are wholly owned by Swiss American Holdings Ltd., which in turn is a member of the Inter-Maritime Group based in Geneva.

We are making this change because the time has come to better divide the activities of the two entities and as the transactions that have been handled through Bank of America traditionally have been more oriented towards Swiss American Bank Ltd., we feel that we should have the account in that name.

We enclose copies of our Articles of Association and Financial Statements for both entities, as well as a list of approved signatories.

Please advise what additional information you will require.

AFFIDAVIT OF STEPHEN BEEKMAN

I, Stephen Beekman, hereby make the following statement based upon personal knowledge and information derived from business records:

1. I am Senior Manager at Bank of New York -- Inter Maritime Bank, Geneva ("BNY-IMB" or the "Bank") (formerly known as Inter Maritime Bank). I have held this position since 1991. As Senior Manager, I am also Secretary to the Board of Directors, a member of the Bank's management committee, a member of the Bank's credit committee, and a senior account officer.

2. I am familiar with the Complaint in this action, which was served by the United States on BNY-IMB on March 4, 1998.

3. BNY-IMB is a privately-held bank headquartered and registered in Geneva, Switzerland. It is operated under Swiss banking laws and regulations and supervised by the Swiss Federal Banking Commission.

4. As the result of The Bank of New York's acquisition of 19.9% of the shares of Inter Maritime Bank in 1989, the Bank's name was changed from Inter Maritime Bank to Bank of New York - Inter Maritime Bank ("BNY-IMB"). See Affidavit of Stephen Beckman dated March 12, 1998, incorporated herein by reference, at para. 6. For the purposes of this Affidavit, I refer to the Bank as "BNY-IMB" with respect to activities of the Bank during all relevant time periods.

5. Prior to December 28, 1987, BNY-IMB owned one hundred percent (100%) of the shares of Swiss American Holding Company/S.A. of Panama ("SAHC"). During the period of ownership, SAHC owned Swiss American Bank Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank. BNY-IMB has never owned shares of Swiss American Bank Ltd. or Swiss American National Bank.

6. On December 28, 1987, BNY-IMB sold all of its shares of SAHC to an unrelated entity in which BNY-IMB had no interest or control, in a transaction in which all obligations of the parties were completed by December 15, 1988. Since the end of 1988, BNY-IMB has not owned any shares or held any interest in SAHC.

7. The cash, which is alleged to amount to approximately $7,000,000 ("$7,000,000"), that is the subject of this action was never held on deposit by BNY-IMB and BNY-IMB otherwise had no control over or access to the cash (or ability to control or obtain access to the cash) during the relevant time period. Moreover, BNY-IMB never received any of the $7,000,000 for any purpose.

8. BNY-IMB has never maintained accounts or held funds on deposit for Joseph Murray, Michael Murray, John E. Fitzgerald, or any business entities created by them or on their behalf by Peter F. Herrington as described in the Complaint.

evidence is insufficient to conclude that any of the official acts performed by Mr. Meese that directly or indirectly benefited Mr. Wallach violated 18 U.S.C. §§ 201, 211 or any other federal criminal law.

VIII. MR. MEESE'S INVOLVEMENT IN THE AQABA PIPELINE PROJECT

In the course of obtaining documents from the Office of the Attorney General, the independent counsel learned that Mr. Wallach and Mr. Meese were involved during 1985 in the Aqaba pipeline project. The independent counsel investigated the question whether their conduct violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, and whether certain official acts Mr. Meese performed in connection with the project were rewarded by unlawful gratuities from Mr. Wallach.

Bechtel Great Britain, Ltd., one of the Bechtel Group of companies (Bechtel), proposed to Iraq and Jordan in 1983 that a pipeline be constructed from Kirkuk, Iraq, to the Jordanian port of Aqaba. Both Iraq and Jordan were receptive to the proposal; however, Iraq expressed fears that Israel might attack the pipeline.

Iraq's fear increased as negotiations on the proposed pipeline progressed. By mid-1984, Iraq was insisting that prospective lending agencies agree in advance to forgive Iraq's construction financing obligations during any interruption of the pipeline's construction or operation caused by an Israeli hostile act. Bechtel determined that this was an impossible demand to satisfy and, by November 1984, concluded that the project would never succeed.

Bruce Rappaport, a wealthy Swiss industrialist and financier, learned of Bechtel's problem and approached the company with a solution. In January 1985, Mr. Rappaport proposed to Bechtel that he obtain from his friend, Prime Minister of Israel Shimon Peres, a written guarantee of pipeline security. In addition, he asserted that he would assemble a fund to insure the debt service for the pipeline during any interruption caused by Israeli aggression.

Mr. Rappaport insisted in his discussions with Bechtel that the Government of Israel would require a quid pro quo for a written security guarantee. Mr. Rappaport then negotiated with Bechtel an exclusive oil lift agreement including a 10 percent discount. The agreement would generate substantial profits for him, a portion of which he intended to pay to Israel in satisfaction of the quid pro quo.

In February 1985, Mr. Rappaport obtained a letter from Prime Minister Peres in which Mr. Peres indicated a willingness to consider providing a security guarantee in the future.

After it became apparent that he could not obtain a financial commitment from Israel to guarantee payment of the pipeline financing, Mr. Rappaport decided to come to the United States to seek United States government support for the project, and to develop an insurance fund with such government support.

Mr. Wallach was recommended to Mr. Rappaport as someone who could assist Mr. Rappaport in obtaining support from the United States government. In May 1985, Mr. Rappaport first met Mr. Wallach in Washington, D.C., and retained him to assist on the project. Within hours of that first meeting, Mr. Wallach contacted Attorney General Meese and sought his assistance in obtaining United States government support for financing a political-risk insurance fund to support an Israeli pipeline security guarantee.

The independent counsel investigated Mr. Meese's actions in response to this and later contacts by Mr. Wallach, as well as his response to others in connection with the Aqaba pipeline project. The investigation was hampered by several circumstances. Mr. Wallach asserted his privilege under the fifth amendment not to be a witness against himself.

Mr. Rappaport was willing to give an unsworn preliminary interview in return for full immunity. Later, however, after entering into a cooperation agreement with the independent counsel, Mr. Rappaport was unwilling to answer questions under oath or agree to any additional interviews unless the independent counsel first agreed that he could not and would not be prosecuted for obstructing justice or willfully giving false statements during any interview. The independent counsel refused to grant Mr. Rappaport the requested blanket immunity, and terminated the cooperation agreement. The investigation was further hampered by the unavailability of the testimony of key Israeli government officials, including current Foreign Minister Shimon Peres.^{7/}

In summary, the independent counsel's investigation of the Aqaba pipeline project revealed the following:

In late May or early June, 1985, Mr. Meese, knowing that Mr. Wallach was retained by Mr. Rappaport to assist him in connection with an overseas commercial enterprise, contacted National Security Advisor Robert C. McFarlane and requested that he meet with Mr. Wallach about the pipeline matter.

At the time of this first contact, the question of Mr. Meese's debt to Mr. Wallach for legal fees arising from Mr. Wallach's representation of Mr. Meese in an independent counsel investigation had not been resolved by the court.

It was highly unusual for a Cabinet officer to request Mr. McFarlane to meet with the Cabinet officer's friend about a matter of commercial interest to the friend.

^{7/} By contrast, the independent counsel received the full cooperation of Bechtel and its current and former employees; and from the White House, the National Security Council, the Department of State, the Department of Justice, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation, the Central Intelligence Agency, and others. These and other government agencies collected voluminous amounts of documentary evidence, assisted in the identification of potential witnesses, and reviewed documents for security classification decisions.

Mr. McFarlane regarded Mr. Meese as his superior and obliged Mr. Meese by agreeing to meet with Mr. Wallach.

Mr. McFarlane met with Mr. Wallach and Mr. Rappaport in June 1985, and gave his assurances that he and his staff at the National Security Council (NSC) would assist them in efforts to fund the insurance package.

Mr. McFarlane immediately assigned a senior staff member, Roger J. Robinson, Jr., to oversee the NSC efforts to obtain the requisite funding. Mr. Robinson worked diligently with the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC), a federal agency, and with Mr. Wallach in this endeavor. Mr. Rappaport and Mr. Wallach took it upon themselves to assemble a "salvage package" for the insurance fund. The salvage package was to be a readily available fund of money from which OPIC and another co-insurer could obtain reimbursement in the event Israel broke its commitment and damaged the pipeline.

Mr. Wallach kept Mr. Meese informed throughout the summer and fall of 1985 of the progress in assembling the political risk insurance package and a salvage package for the insurers. In promoting the project during this time period, Mr. Wallach met with Mr. Rappaport, United States government officials, Jordanian government officials, private lending institutions, and others.

In mid-August 1985, Mr. Wallach received a fee of $150,000 for his services to Mr. Rappaport. At Mr. Wallach's specific request, Mr. Rappaport wired the $150,000 to Mr. Chinn's bank.^{8/}

In mid-September 1985, Mr. Rappaport obtained from Prime Minister Peres a hand-written letter from the Prime Minister addressed to Attorney General Meese. Mr. Rappaport summoned Mr. Wallach to Geneva to relate the circumstances of his receipt of the letter and to give Mr. Wallach the letter for delivery to Mr. Meese.

Mr. Peres told Mr. Meese in the letter that he was "following with great interest the projected pipeline from Iraq to Jordan as a possible additive to introduce economic consideration to this troubled land." He indicated that he "would go a long way to help [the pipeline project] out." The Prime Minister requested that Mr. Meese arrange a contact on the pipeline matter with the appropriate United States official. He ended by noting that he had "asked my friends Bruce and Bob to let you know the whole story," and would ^{8/} Expense reimbursements of approximately $32,000 from Mr. Rappaport were concealed in Mr. Wallach's accounting records. Mr. Wallach failed to report the $150,000 as income in 1985, or pay taxes on it, in possible violation of 26 U.S.C. § 7201. When the independent counsel requested production of certain of Mr. Wallach's federal income tax returns, Mr. Wallach informed his tax lawyer of the income, who promptly filed an amended income tax return in June 1987. The independent counsel is referring this matter pertaining to Mr. Wallach to the Department of Justice Tax Division for further investigation and possible prosecution.

"depend on [Mr. Meese's] judgment about the best way to handle this matter."

Mr. Wallach personally delivered the letter to Mr. Meese on or about September 25, 1985, along with two memoranda from Mr. Wallach to Mr. Meese of that date. The memoranda reiterated the history of the United States government involvement in the pipeline project since May of 1985. In the memoranda, Mr. Wallach explained the purported significance of, and sensitivities involved in, the Israeli security guarantee issue, and urged a direct United States commitment to the funding of the salvage package.

In one of the memoranda which was labeled "Personal and Confidential -- FOR YOUR EYES ONLY," Mr. Wallach emphasized Mr. Rappaport's ties to the Israeli Labor Party, and spoke in positive terms of the United States' interests in a strong Israeli Labor Party. Mr. Wallach wrote:

B.R. has been financing private polls for quite a long time in Israel on behalf of labor-Peres. They demonstrate an increasing strength for labor and the high probability of elections, no later than March 1986.

He confirmed the arrangement with Peres to the effect that Israel will receive somewhere between $65-70 million a year for ten years out of the conclusion of the project. What was also indicated to me, and which would be denied everywhere, is that a portion of those funds will go directly to Labor.

In the second memorandum of September 25, 1985, Mr. Wallach told Mr. Meese of a "never-to-be-stated but fully understood quid pro quo which helped to produce the commitment by the friendly country [Israel]" to the security package.

Upon receiving the Prime Minister's letter and Mr. Wallach's memoranda, Mr. Meese sought Mr. McFarlane's advice as to how to respond to Mr. Peres. Mr. Meese did not inform Mr. McFarlane of the alleged secret arrangement to provide the Israeli Labor Party with a portion of the oil pipeline profits.

After consulting with Mr. McFarlane, Mr. Meese sent a handwritten letter to Mr. Peres in which he suggested that Mr. Peres discuss the pipeline project with Mr. McFarlane. This exchange of correspondence and the second contact by Mr. Meese with Mr. McFarlane on this subject sparked renewed interest and activity by Mr. McFarlane and the NSC staff, despite reports from intelligence sources at the time that the Government of Iraq had lost interest in the Aqaba pipeline project and was developing, instead, two other pipeline projects.

NSC staff member David G. Wigg, Mr. Robinson's successor, accompanied Mr. Wallach to a meeting with the President of OPIC, Craig A. Nalen, at which Mr. Wallach made a new proposal for dealing with the salvage fund problem. Mr. Wallach proposed a novel plan whereby Israel would agree to assign to OPIC and the private co-insurer, Citibank, its "right" to future United States government foreign aid funds, if Israel disrupted the pipeline.

OPIC General Counsel Robert G. Shanks prepared a letter seeking a legal opinion on the matter from the Department of Justice. Mr. Wallach insisted that the letter be addressed only to the attention of Mr. Meese. When Mr. Shanks explained that the Department of Justice procedure was to route a request for a legal opinion to the Office of Legal Counsel, Mr. Wallach continued to insist, nevertheless, that the letter be addressed and sent only to Mr. Meese.

Meanwhile, Mr. Wallach solicited the assistance of Allan Gerson, Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Office of Legal Counsel, whom Mr. Wallach had recommended Mr. Meese hire for that position. Mr. Wallach informed Mr. Gerson that OPIC would be sending a request for a legal opinion to the Attorney General, and that Mr. Gerson was to prepare a positive response to the request. Mr. Wallach advised Mr. Gerson that this was an extremely sensitive matter of importance to the Prime Minister of Israel, and that the project had the full backing of the NSC and of Mr. Meese. Mr. Wallach also cautioned Mr. Gerson that no one else except Mr. Wallach and the Attorney General should know that Mr. Gerson would be preparing the legal opinion for OPIC.

When Mr. Gerson informed Mr. Meese that he was working with Mr. Wallach on the legal opinion, Mr. Meese expressed awareness of the matter and sanctioned Mr. Gerson's actions.

Thereafter, Mr. Gerson drafted a memorandum of law responding to the request for a legal opinion. The Attorney General recalled that he may have shown the memorandum to Mr. Wallach. However, after Messrs. Gerson, Wallach and Meese learned that OPIC General Counsel Shanks had sent a blind copy of the request for the legal opinion to the Office of Legal Counsel, Mr. Wallach abandoned his foreign aid assignment proposal.

During this same time period, in mid-October 1985, Prime Minister Peres visited Washington, D.C., and New York City. During a reception at the Embassy of Israel in Washington, Messrs. Meese and Wallach together and separately engaged in private conversations with Mr. Peres in which the Prime Minister reiterated his personal interest in the pipeline project and his willingness to supply his government's guarantees on the security issue.

Within a week of the reception, Mr. Wallach and Mr. Wigg traveled to New York City and met privately with Prime Minister Peres. They presented him with a proposed letter of guarantee for his signature. This letter was redrafted by associates of Mr. Peres in consultation with Mr. Rappaport. Thereafter, on November 20, 1985, Prime Minister Peres sent a letter to Mr. McFarlane, in which he stated that his government was prepared to give the agreed guarantees with respect to the security of the Aqaba pipeline.

After the failure to obtain a favorable opinion from the Department of Justice for the use of United States foreign aid funds, Messrs. Wallach and Wigg decided to explore an alternative plan which also would have involved funding the insurance salvage package with United States government funds. From late October through mid-December, 1985, Mr. Wigg worked with two Department of Defense lawyers outside of regular channels to devise a novel plan whereby Israel would receive an additional appropriation of $375 million in Foreign Military Sales (FMS) Assistance funds from the United States, and Israel would place the funds in an offshore escrow account. If Israel took no hostile acts against the pipeline, it could retain the $375 million; if Israel damaged the pipeline by hostile action, the insurers could obtain reimbursement from the escrow account. The plan ultimately took the form of a proposed National Security Decision Directive (NSDD) for the signature of the President of the United States.

The proposed plan eventually was rejected by the new National Security Advisor, Admiral John Poindexter, upon the advice of a former National Security Advisor, Judge William P. Clark. Judge Clark characterized the Israeli security guarantee arrangements and the proposed NSDD as a "protection racket."^{9/}

Mr. Wallach reported to Mr. Rappaport in December 1985 and February 1986 that "his friend" -- Mr. Meese -- would continue to support them on the project, despite "transition events (the departure of Mr. McFarlane in December 1985 as National Security Advisor), holidays, and other priorities" In December 1985, Mr. Wallach wrote that "I have assurance from my friend that if necessary, he will engage [a] new person on project." In February 1986, Mr. Wallach wrote to Mr. Rappaport that he "met with my friend, who will personally contact J.P. [John Poindexter] to arrange meeting for me, if it is necessary to obtain signature of his superior [President Reagan]" on the NSDD for the FMS plan.

Mr. Meese told the office of independent counsel that he did not recall contacting Mr. Poindexter on the matter, but that he may have told Mr. Wallach that he would make an introductory telephone call for him.

Although Mr. Meese told the office of independent counsel that he has no recollection of the specifics of any conversation with Mr. Wallach concerning the Aqaba pipeline project or of any of the details of Mr. Wallach's efforts in connection with the project, he has a general recollection of Mr. Wallach's telling him through the winter of 1985, about his activities in connection with the pipeline matter.

The NSDD apparently was never presented to the president. The Aqaba pipeline was never built. When it became obvious in January and February, 1986, that Mr. Wallach could no longer deliver the necessary NSC support, Mr. Rappaport dispensed with his services.

The evidence developed by the independent counsel shows that Mr. Meese, upon learning from Mr. Wallach of Mr. Rappaport's statements about a promised covert payment to the Israeli Labor party, took no action to terminate United States government involvement in the Aqaba pipeline project or even to notify other United States government authorities of the possible existence of an illegal scheme. Instead, he took acts to further the commercial enterprise. Thus, if an illegal bribery scheme actually was afoot, as the Wallach memoranda suggested, Mr. Meese's actions would have furthered the scheme.

There is no direct evidence, apart from Mr. Wallach's September 25, 1985 memoranda, that a bribe was or would be offered to any official of the Israeli Labor Party. The independent counsel has determined that the available admissible evidence is insufficient to conclude that Mr. Meese's activities in furtherance of the pipeline project violated the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act.

HEADLINE: Seeking Testimony in Pipeline Case: Immunity Given to a Secretive Swiss

BYLINE: By JEFF GERTH with STEPHEN ENGELBERG, Special to the New York Times

DATELINE: WASHINGTON, March 5

BODY:

James C. McKay, the special prosecutor investigating Attorney General Edwin Meese 3d, has given immunity from prosecution to Bruce Rappaport, the Swiss business executive who was at the center of a Mideast pipeline project, according to people familiar with the inquiry.

The move to secure Mr. Rappaport's cooperation is significant because it suggests that Mr. McKay is entering the final phase of his inquiry with a decision likely soon on whether to return indictments in the investigation.

Mr. McKay is investigating whether the Iraq-to-Jordan pipeline, which was never built, involved plans to make payments to the Israeli Labor Party. That proposal was mentioned in a memo sent to Mr. Meese by E. Robert Wallach, a close friend who was serving as Mr. Rappaport's lawyer in the project.

Mr. Wallach is under indictment in a separate case and has declined to cooperate with prosecutors, making Mr. Rappaport a crucial witness. If Mr. McKay hopes to bring an indictment against Mr. Meese involving the Federal law barring Americans from participating in actual or planned payoffs to foreign officials, he would have to establish that there was a conspiracy to make such payments, according to legal experts. Mr. McKay could bring charges against Mr. Meese if he could show that the Attorney General aided and abetted a conspiracy.

A Review of Dealings: Relationships Overseas

As a Swiss citizen, Mr. Rappaport is beyond the reach of a subpoena issued by an American court, so granting immunity from prosecution would be a way to get him to testify.

The granting of immunity to Mr. Rappaport was first disclosed by The Washington Post today. Mr. Rappaport has denied ever planning to make payoffs to the Labor Party.

A review of some of Mr. Rappaport's previous business dealings overseas, based on interviews with past associates and foreign officials, shows that questions have arisen before about his personal and financial relationships to top officials in the governments with which he was doing business.

Government officials said Mr. Rappaport's business history is relevant to Mr. McKay's inquiry because the law barring payments to foreign officials or foreign political parties covers American concerns "knowing or having reason to know" payments will be offered or promised.

American officials have said they did not look into Mr. Rappaport's previous dealings before they invited him to the White House situation room for a meeting on June 24, 1985, that led to a high-level endorsement of the project.

However, William P. Clark, the former national security adviser who was scheduled to be involved in the pipeline effort, dropped his support for it after a briefing later that year from American intelligence officials who raised questions about Mr. Rappaport's business practices and ties to Israel.

While the exact contents of Mr. Clark's intelligence briefing could not be learned, interviews with associates disclose that:

* A Geneva bank controlled by Mr. Rappaport lent money to the President and the Oil Minister of the African nation of Gabon, which made an oil deal with him in 1979. Later the Government discovered that under the terms of the contract, Mr. Rappaport at one point was buying crude oil from Gabon at $12 to $14 a barrel less than what Gabon had to pay French oil companies to produce it for them. The contract ended in a net arbitration award of $25.6 million to Gabon, according to American and foreign officials.

* Mr. Rappaport's shipping contracts with Pertamina, the Indonesian state-owned oil company, spawned a widely publicized legal dispute in the 1970's. Mr. Rappaport declared a victory when he settled his more than $1 billion in claims against Indonesia for several hundred million dollars. One focus of that dispute was Mr. Rappaport's relationship with the head of Pertamina, including a $2.5 million dollar loan from Mr. Rappaport's bank to the official that was not repaid. The Indonesian authorities temporarily put the official under house arrest for suspected improper dealings in the dispute, but Mr. Rappaport called the loan proper.

* Mr. Rappaport renegotiated a refinery contract with the Government of Antigua after questions were raised about whether he was making excessive profits under the contract, according to officials in Antigua. Antiguan officials have had a series of financial and social relationships with Mr. Rappaport and his banks, according to these officials. The Indonesia litigation received widespread press coverage at the time and was one of the items mentioned in a background paper on Mr. Rappaport by the Central Intelligence Agency, officials said. In addition, the State Department was informed about some of the details of the dispute over the contract in Gabon, according to Administration officials.

A Penchant for Secrecy With a Base in Geneva

Mr. Rappaport declined repeated written requests for an interview as did his lawyers and aides. Mr. Rappaport has said previously that all of his business dealings are legal and proper and that no improper payments to the Israeli Labor Party were planned as part of the pipeline deal.

Mr. Meese has denied any wrongdoing and said he did not recall reading the memo describing the Israeli payments and Mr. Peres has said no such proposal was ever made.

There are few details publicly available about Mr. Rappaport. He was born about 65 years ago in Haifa, which is now part of Israel but was then part of the British mandate.

He exhibits a penchant for secrecy in business dealings. From his base in Geneva he became involved in shipping, finance and oil trading, with dealings in Oman, Liberia, Nigeria, Haiti, Thailand and Belgium.

Bruce Rappaport of Geneva. He still has ties to Israel.

He has given large contributions to Israeli schools and medical facilities. According to Mr. Wallach's memo to Mr. Meese, Mr. Rappaport has also financed private polls on behalf of the Labor Party. In 1966, he set up the Inter Maritime Bank in Geneva and also made his first deal with Indonesia.

The key contracts in the deal, under which Mr. Rappaport was to supply a fleet of oil tankers to Indonesia, were negotiated by Gen. Ibnu Sutowo, the head of Pertamina.

The Indonesian Government later complained that the contracts were inflated and overly favorable to Mr. Rappaport.

Lawsuits and Loans: How the Deals Evolved

Indonesia, in the face of a financial crisis, stopped paying its debts to Mr. Rappaport. In a lawsuit that followed, Indonesia found evidence that some notes issued to Mr. Rappaport by Pertamina as part of the contract had been executed at about the time Mr. Rappaport's bank in Geneva provided him with the $2.5 million loan.

Mr. Sutowo said the loan was not repaid. Mr. Rappaport said it was a fully documented commercial transaction that was meant to be an investment by General Sutowo.

In 1979 the Swiss Oil Company, a Cayman Islands company controlled by Mr. Rappaport, signed a long-term contract to buy oil from Gabon. Mr. Rappaport's help for key government officials in Gabon included loans from his bank in Geneva to President Omar Bongo and the then Energy Minister, Edouard Alexi M'Bouy-Boutzit, the officials also said. In the 1970's it was not uncommon for foreigners doing business in Gabon, including American companies, to make payments to Gabon officials to secure business, according to American officials and disclosures to the Securities and Exchange Commission by American companies.

By the early 1980's, Gabon concluded it was losing money on its contract with Mr. Rappaport. At one point the contract's pricing clause resulted in Gabon, one of the richest black nations in Africa, selling oil to Mr. Rappaport at $12-$14 a barrel less than what the country had paid for the same oil, officials said.

Reports sent back to Washington at the time by American officials estimated that Gabon had lost $80-$100 million in one year as a result of the Rappaport contract, according to officials.

An adviser to President Bongo said that eventually "when we showed Bongo the consequences of what he had signed, he said 'I've been taken,' he was shattered." By 1982, Mr. M'bouy Boutzit was quietly replaced as the Energy Minister. In addition, extensive discussions ensued between Gabon and Mr. Rappaport over renegotiation of the contract, but talks broke down after Gabon terminated the pact and Mr. Rappaport then took two tankers full of Gabonese oil and declined to pay for them, according to officials.

In 1983 the dispute was submitted to an international arbitration panel that decided last year that Gabon was entitled to recover a net of $25.6 million from Mr. Rappaport, according to officials. Mr. Rappaport has appealed the award, which comes to more than $40 million with the inclusion of back interest, in a French court, officials also said. Though the appeal is still pending, Gabon has begun court proceedings against Mr. Rappaport's assets in several countries to try and recover the award, officials said.

A Monopoly in Antigua: Payments Are Agreed

Spokesmen for Gabon declined to comment and referred inquiries to the Government's lawyers, who also would not talk about the case. Mr. Rappaport's lawyers also declined to discuss the dispute.

Soon after he made the deal in Gabon, in January 1980, Mr. Rappaport's company bought a 75 percent interest in an oil refinery from the Government of Antigua in return for $6 million, according to Lester

Bird, the Antiguan Deputy Prime Minister, In addition, Antigua granted Mr. Rappaport a near monopoly on fuel oil sales on the island, a concession that had provided significant revenues for Antigua, Mr. Bird also said.

Mr. Rappaport only paid $600,000 of the $6 million purchase price, Mr. Bird said, because "the agreement called for repayment after the refinery opened for a proscribed period, but it never opened long enough, so there was no repayment."

Mr. Rappaport did make a sizable investment in the refinery and turned it into a storage facility, making millions of dollars a year from the fuel oil concession he received.

By last year, considerable pressure had mounted within Antigua over the agreement and the monopoly profits made by Mr. Rappaport, including protests from unions whose members were upset because the promised refinery jobs never developed, according to Mr. Bird and Robin Bascus, an Antiguan senator and union official.

Under the new agreement, Mr. Rappaport paid $1 million to Antigua last year and agreed to future payments of $500,000 per year, said Mr. Bird, who added that these payments by Mr. Rappaport to Antigua, "represent 10 to 15 percent of what he makes on fuel oil."

Mr. Bird, who said he had been a guest on Mr. Rappaport's yacht and had received a loan from Mr. Rappaport's bank in Antigua, said his dealings with the Swiss executive were entirely proper. Mr. Bird said the loan was negotiated without Mr. Rappaport's involvement and has been partly paid back.

Last spring, before the new agreement with Mr. Rappaport was signed, Mr. Rappaport arranged for his foundation to endow an academic program in the United States in honor of Vere Bird, the Prime Minister of Antigua, and the father of Lester Bird.

According to a senior Antiguan official and an Antiguan newspaper report, Mr. Rappaport paid the expenses of Prime Minister Bird and his entourage on the trip to New York. Lester Bird said he was not on the trip and knew nothing about the expenses. Prime Minister Bird did not return a phone call.

HEADLINE: Ethics, the Law and Edwin Meese

BYLINE: By Dennis Bell. Newsday Washington Bureau

DATELINE: Washington

BODY:

"If there were any doubt in my mind that four years from now you could look back and say Ed Meese has not fulfilled the standards that I've set for this office, then I would retire right now and withdraw."

- Edwin Meese III in testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1985.

When Edwin Meese III was confirmed as attorney general in 1985, after a 13month investigation into his irregular finances, he promised to "bend over backwards" to avoid even the appearance of future ethical violations.

Meese at that time promised his critics that in 1989 they would be able to look back on his tenure and say that he had met the high ethical standards expected of the nation's chief law-enforcement officer.

His critics say he broke that promise.

In fact, controversy over Meese's ethics has continued unabated, fueled anew Tuesday when two of his top aides and four of their assistants resigned over concern that their reputations and the department's were being tarnished by the attorney general. Meese's critics, mostly Democrats, say that since he joined the government in 1981, his conduct has shown a persistent disregard for ethical considerations and that several of his friends and associates have benefited from his official actions. Meese's defenders - chief among them his old friend, Ronald Reagan - say that Meese is the victim of partisan attacks and will ultimately be cleared. At worst, some say, Meese is guilty only of letting friends use him to gain access to Washington's power elite.

While more than 100 Reagan appointees have left office under an ethical cloud, Meese has set a record of sorts by thus far surviving the scrutiny of three special federal prosecutors, including that of Iran-contra prosecutor Lawrence Walsh.

But the most recent Meese imbroglio being investigated by special prosecutor James McKay may be the most serious. The allegations include charges that in 1985 he failed to investigate a plan to pay Israeli politicians in an alleged effort to protect a proposed Iraqi oil pipeline from Israeli attack. Also, documents suggest Meese may have profited personally from legal fees paid in conjunction with the pipeline deal.

Whatever legal consequences Meese and his associates may face, the ethical controversy has become a minor campaign issue. It has put the vice president, George Bush, on the defense.

"I'm tired of being embarrassed. I'm tired of our children seeing things that should embarrass us all," Bush, the front-runner in the race for the Republican nomination, said this month. That statement was viewed by many as a modest attempt by Bush to distance himself from corruption scandals that have plagued the Reagan administration and could eventually taint his run for the presidency. Bush said he was "personally disturbed at the breaches of ethics I have seen the past few years in government. Once elected, I'd appoint an ethics panel to work right there in the White House."

Bush's remarks came as pressure for Meese to step aside has increased. The day before Bush's remarks, 11 Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee asked Meese to step aside until investigations into his conduct were finished.

"For three years, Meese has operated under a cloud of suspicious conduct and serious allegations of criminal activity," said Rep. Mike Synar (D-Okl.), referring to Meese's tenure as attorney general.

"The pervasive perception that you have allowed personal considerations to encroach on your constitutional responsibilities threatens to breed contempt for your office, your administration and the rule of law itself," the 11 congressmen said in a letter to Meese.

Meese, for his part, said that there was no reason for him to leave office and that recurring investigations into his conduct have not "detracted from my ability to do my job."

"Obviously I shouldn't step aside, because if honest public officials can be hounded out of office by partisan political attacks, by media barrages, then no one as a public official is safe," Meese told ABC News reporters last week.

Nevertheless, Meese's tenure has been a highwire act in which he has thus far avoided prosecution:

Senate Judiciary Committee investigators, a special federal prosecutor and newspaper accounts disclosed that in 1981-82, when Meese was White House counselor, he borrowed more than $ 475,000 from a friend, a San Diego Bank and his tax accountant and failed to list those loans on annual financial disclosure statements. He failed to repay the loans for months and in some cases years. And in the interim, 11 persons, including the friend, officers of the San Diego bank, the accountant and others connected with the loans received high-level federal jobs. Meese was a member of a three-man committee in the White House that approved White House patronage positions. The special prosecutor found no criminal violations but refused to say whether Meese's actions were unethical.

In 1985, Meese promised the Senate that he would sell his stocks, conservatively valued at $ 50,000 to $ 100,000. Among those stocks were 17 shares of regional telephone companies. Meese later that year signed off on crucial Justice Department decisions that, if adopted, would have benefited those telephone companies. In 1987, Meese disclosed during a special prosecutor's investigation that he had not been able to sell his regional telephone company stocks because he had lost the stock certificates.

Still, he insisted no conflict of interest existed because he had given control of the stocks to his broker when he had sold his other stocks.

In 1982, Meese ordered an aide to ensure that the Wedtech Corp., then an obscure South Bronx machine shop, would get a "fair hearing" in its contract dispute with the Army. Wedtech subsequently received a $ 32 million contract, over the objections of Army officials, to build 13,000 six-horsepower engines even though Wedtech had never built internal combustion engines and had no engine assembly line. Meese's longtime friend and former defense lawyer and Meese's stock broker were eventually indicted on charges of sharing more than $ 1 million paid by Wedtech to influence Meese. Meese is still under investigation in that case.

Special prosecutor Walsh has called Meese before the Iran-contra grand jury at least half a dozen times. Meese's role in the initial investigation of the illegal diversion of money to the Nicaraguan rebels was severely criticized by congressional investigators.

They said Meese failed to take adequate notes of crucial conversations, failed to bring in the FBI and veteran criminal prosecutors and allowed Lt. Col. Oliver North time to shred reams of documents. Meese is not expected to be prosecuted.

Long before Meese went to the White House, he developed a reputation for organizational sloppiness and forgetfulness, according to Reagan administration colleagues. In fact, as early as 1979 and before any hint of scandal surfaced, Meese's briefcase had jokingly been termed a "black hole" that sucked in memos that were never to be seen again.

A former White House colleague who is now supporting Bush's presidential candidacy told the National Journal that Meese's latest trouble was "not so much a scandal as an indication of a guy who is prone to being used, and in some cases abused, by his friends."

Throughout Meese's ethical travails, one Meese friend has provided a common thread. E. Robert Wallach, who has been Meese's friend since law school and who has been indicted in the Wedtech scandal, has figured in each of Meese's brushes with the law. That relationship, the Bush supporter said, is indicative of an "element of stupidity and suspect judgment."

Wallach, who was Meese's defense lawyer during the first special prosecutor's probe in 1984, had urged Meese to help Wedtech. Wallach set up meetings at which regional telephone company executives asked Meese to urge a federal judge to allow them to provide longdistance service. Meese agreed.

Wallach involved Meese in the Iraqi pipeline scheme by asking for a meeting between a Swiss financier involved in the deal and then-national security adviser Robert McFarlane.

Wallach's attorneys have maintained that Wallach and Meese are innocent.

While it is clear that friends of Meese's have been aided by his official actions, government investigators have said it may be impossible to prove ironclad links between Meese's actions and his friends' advancements. While Meese's role in the pipeline scheme may be the most serious in a series of troubling episodes, they said, it is far from clear whether Meese is any closer to indictment than when the inquiries began.

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act makes it a federal crime for an American citizen or corporation to bribe foreign officials. It is also a crime if a third party, acting as the American's agent, conspires to bribe a foreign official.

Meese is the focus of a special federal prosecutor's investigation into allegations that in late 1985 he failed to act on knowledge that Israeli politicians were to be paid off to protect a proposed $ 1-billion Iraqi oil pipeline. Government investigators have said a $ 150,000 payment to Wallach from pipeline negotiators was apparently used to benefit Meese's stock portfolio unlawfully.

Government investigators and officials said that the proposed payment to the Israeli Labor Party was one of the many machinations in a complex scheme to build a pipeline from Iraqi oilfields to the Jordanian Red Sea port of Aqaba. But the pipeline was never built. If the pipeline had been built, it would have given the Iraqis an alternative oil-export route that would have avoided the dangerous sea lanes of the

The Bechtel Group, the giant San Francisco-based construction firm, wanted to build the proposed pipeline, but Iraqi government officials were afraid that Israel, which had destroyed an Iraqi nuclear reactor, might bomb the pipeline. The Iraqis wanted a guarantee that Israel would not harm the pipeline, at least until the $ 1 billion construction loan had been repaid from profits on the sale of pipeline oil.

In early 1985, Bechtel turned to Bruce Rappaport, a Swiss financier with close ties to high-level Israeli officials. Rappaport was promised distribution rights to the oil if he could satisfy the Iraqis' insurance needs. Rappaport secured a letter from then-Israeli prime minister Shimon Peres that Israel would not destroy the pipeline. But the Iraqis wanted better insurance. They wanted money deposited in New York banks and letters of credit of up to $ 400 million to insure the pipeline against Israeli sabotage.

Rappaport turned to Wallach after hearing of his close ties to Meese. At Wallach's urging, Meese arranged a meeting with then-national security adviser McFarlane, saying the project was worthy of consideration. Rappaport and Wallach met with McFarlane, who gave the project his blessing, saying completion of the pipeline was important to the national interests of the United States.

With McFarlane's blessing in hand, Wallach renewed negotiations with the Overseas Private Investment Corp., a quasi-governmental organization that insures American firms operating abroad against political risks. Officials of the investment corporation were reluctant to take a project that big, but feeling that they were under pressure from the White House, they tried to work with Rappaport and Wallach to arrange an insurance package.

Amid a bewildering array of insurance proposals and counterproposals - including a suggestion by the Rappaport-Wallach team that U.S. foreign aid funds earmarked for Israel could be diverted to its avowed enemy, Iraq, if Israel bombed the pipeline - Wallach wrote Meese a memo in September, 1985.

Complaining that the insurance negotiations were going nowhere, Wallach gave Meese a handwritten letter from Peres and, in the memo, said Peres should get high-level assurances that the U.S. government was interested in seeing the pipeline built. Wallach also wrote that Israel would receive about $ 650 million to $ 700 million from Rappaport's oil distribution profits and that a portion of the money would go directly to the Israeli Labor Party headed by Peres.

According to government investigators, in August, 1985, Rappaport sent $ 150,000 to the Bank of America account of San Francisco stock broker W. Franklyn Chinn, financial adviser to Wallach and Meese, who was indicted with Wallach in the Wedtech affair. The money was payment for Wallach's services on behalf of the pipeline, according to sources familiar with the investigation.

Shortly after that, $ 150,000 was transferred from Chinn's Bank of America account to Chinn's stock trading account at the Imperial Trust brokerage house, according to government investigators. At Imperial, Chinn created a pool account that drew funds from his own account, one maintained for Meese and also from other accounts as needed to make stock purchases.

This commingling of funds raises the possibility that Wallach's money was used to benefit Meese, but lawyers for Wallach and Meese deny this. It is a violation of Securities and Exchange Commission regulations for a broker to use someone else's money on behalf of a client and a violation of federal conflict-of-interest laws for high-level officials to accept expensive gifts or undeclared loans.

If it can be proven that Rappaport, and in turn Wallach, were acting as agents for Bechtel in the pipeline negotiations, and the proposed payments to the Labor Party were in fact intended as a bribe to protect the pipeline, Meese could be charged with conspiracy, according to government investigators.

In defending its actions, Bechtel has insisted that Rappaport was its partner, not an agent acting on the firm's behalf. Therefore, if a bribe were intended, it would have emanated from Rappaport, a Swiss citizen. Rappaport and lawyers for Wallach and Meese have said no bribe was intended, and Meese has said that he doesn't think the memo alludes to a crime.

whether Meese took such action with the intent to enrich himself or his friends.

Meese has denied repeatedly that any of his actions were improper. He has said that he did not know what Chinn did with his money and that none of his official decisions have been made in an effort to reward anyone.

The Special Investigations

One independent counsel's investigation of Meese has been completed, and two more are continuing.

James McKay

Ongoing investigation into:

Meese's involvement in proposed Iraqi pipeline deal. Including allegations that he knew of but failed to investigate, a plan to pay Israeli politicians in return for protection of the pipeline.

Meese's ties to the scandal plagued Wedtech Corp., which received an Army contract after his deputy's intercession. At the time, in 1982, Meese's old friend, E. Robert Wallach, was working to procure the contract for Wedtech. In 1985 Meese hired W. Franklyn Chinn, a Wedtech consultant, as his investment adviser.

Meese's favorable decision regarding regional Bell telephone companies at a time he owned an estimated $ 14,000 in telephone stock.

Lawrence Walsh.

Investigation into the Iran-Contra scandal includes a review of Meese's role. However, he is not a target of the probe and it is considered highly unlikely that he would be charged. Questions concern:

His ordering of a delay of an FBI investigation into the crash of a plane carrying arms to the contras. Meese has said he delayed it only because John Poindexter, then national security adviser, told him it could endanger the hostages in Lebanon.

His conduct of the initial probe that discovered the diversion of arms sales profits for contra aid. In that probe, he failed to ask some pertinent questions, took inadequate notes and neglected to secure White House documents.

Jacob Stein

Investigation concluded before Meese's confirmation as attorney general in 1985. Stein's probe found that bank officers, friends and associates who had loaned money to Meese, then White House counselor, later had been appointed to government jobs. Stein reported that while many of Meese's actions were unusual, no criminal conduct could be proved. He declined to render an opinion on the ethics of Meese's conduct.

HEADLINE: Untangling what Pertamina owes -- and to whom

HIGHLIGHT:

At stake: $1 billion in tanker charter payments, or maybe just $260 million

BODY:

A $1 billion legal war raging across three continents, pitting Pertamina, Indonesia's state-owned oil company, against Swiss-based tanker operator Bruce Rappaport, has suddenly reached a crucial stage. At issue is payment for 15 ships chartered by Pertamina and provided by Rappaport. Last week the oil company scored an important victory in Singapore's highest court, regaining possession of a company-owned ship that Rappaport had attached. Rappaport, in turn, has come up with a new plan for an out-of-court settlement while also moving for a quick judgement against Pertamina in a New York court.

Meanwhile, pressure on both sides to settle the battle has increased. Bankers are unable to complete the tough job of untangling Indonesia's $6 billion in international debt until the issue is decided. And U.S. bankers, having watched their $925 million in loans to Indonesia go into technical default because of the legal wrangling, are especially distressed. Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. alone led two syndicates that raised some $850 million for Indonesia. Rappaport's own creditors, including Japan's Sanko Steamship Co., are beginning to sue for back payments, and they, too, would like the matter ended. Pappaport's offer

Rappaport has seized the initiative by putting a new settlement plan on the negotiating table. If Pertamina forks over $260 million and returns the 15 chartered tankers to their owners, Rappaport says he will drop all claim to $1 billion that he insists the Indonesians owe him as part of the charter deal. "It's a moment of truth for the Indonesians," says Rappaport's New York Lawyer, Albert I. Edelman.

But the Indonesians are not rushing to accept the offer. Noting that Rappaport is asking for just half of what he was demanding a few months ago, the Indonesians are sitting tight, hoping to pay even less. Indonesian Minister of State Reform Sumarlin last week told BUSINESS WEEK, "The offer is unacceptable to the Indonesian government."

However, the Indonesians still face the new motion for summary judgement made against them by Rappaport in New York. If the judge rules for Rappaport -- and so far he has won nearly all the courtroom rounds -- Pertamina could wind up paying the full $1 billion to Rappaport instead of the $260 million he has offered to accept. Rooted in politics while the pressure is on both sides to settle quickly, the roots of the dispute and of Rappaport's scene is closely related to his ties with former Pertamina boss Lieutenant General Ibnu Sutowo. According to court records, Rappaport first became active in Indonesia in 1966, the year President Sukarno was overthrown by a group of generals led by Suharto, the current President. Sutowo was already the top oilman in the country, and when Suharto took power Sutowo was named to head Pertamina.

In 1966, Rappaport set up General Maritime Enterprise Co. -- German -- in Indonesia and soon began supplying small inter-island tankers to Pertamina.

During this period, Rappaport and Sutowo became personal business partners. While Rappaport was organizing Genmar in Jakarta, he was also setting up the Inter Maritime Bank in Geneva. In 1967 Sutowo joined the bank's board of advisers. Later, to brush up his small bank's image in Switzerland, Rappaport got Francis J. Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to Indonesia from 1969 to 1974, to join the bank's board of directors.

Growing trouble

By the early 1970s, Rappaport also had hire-purchase contracts with Pertamina for the 15 oceangoing tankers. Pertamina now claims in court that the charters were signed "at rates greatly in excess of the market rates at the time." In addition, Pertamina says that the high rates were the result of a conspiracy between Rappaport and the company's exclusive tanker broker, Stephan Davids-Mor-elle -- the man appointed to bargain for the cheapest rates available for Pertamina's tankers. This is denied by Rappaport's lawyers in New York.

But in 1974 proved to be a disastrous year for both Indonesia and Pertamina. The one fact that can be established without questions is that the worsening worldwide recession slashed into the country's oil recession slashed into the country's oil revenues. At the same time, world inflation pushed interest rates sky-high, and Pertamina, with huge short-term debt, was caught without enough cash on hand.

Pertamina fell behind in its payments to Rappaport for his small, inter-island tankers, according to court papers. At the same time, the oceangoing tankers contracted for in the early 1970s began arriving in Jakarta. By 1974, however, the tanker market had collapsed. Pertamina found itself paying for a steady stream of new tankers in a depressed tanker market, at prices far above prevailing rates.

In January, 1975, as Pertamina's finances were crumbling, Sutowo met with Rappaport and signed 1,600 promissory notes payable in New York. The notes corresponded to the 1,600 monthly payments due Rappaport for his tanker charters on 15 vessels. In effect, Rappaport got himself insurance by receiving liquid IOUs he could present in a New York State court. Four months later, Sutowo says he requested and received a $2.5 million "interest-free, unsecured personal loan, with no repayments and no evidence of indebtedness . . ." Rappaport says the money was an investment in Sutowo's own Bank Pasifik.

By September, 1975, Pertamina was broke, and all tanker payments to Rappaport were cut off. Only two huge loans organized by Morgan Guaranty saved the day for Pertamina and Indonesia. By the following summer, Rappaport had taken Pertamina to court to try to collect on his promissory notes. Rappaport's own creditors -- the ship-owners from whom he chartered vessels to subcharter to Pertamina -- sued him to collect on his IOUs to them. The big squeeze was on for both players in Pertamina's tanker game, and the question remains: Who will yield first?

London, March 9 (AP)

An imprisoned Pakistani shipping tycoon yesterday appealed his 1997 conviction in the fraud that led to the spectacular failure of the Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI).

Abbas Gokal is serving a 14-year sentence for two counts of conspiracy — plotting to commit false accounting and conspiring to defraud bcci in a fraudulent scheme that funneled $ 1.2 billion out of the bank. Gokal, 62, received the strictest sentence of its kind to be meted out by a British court. At the sentencing, the judge said Gokal's actions had threatened the integrity of the entire international banking system. Gokal was present at London's law courts for the start of a hearing before three court of appeal judges. One of the main grounds of his appeal centers on the circumstances under which he was brought within this jurisdiction. Gokal was arrested in July 1994 in Frankfurt, Germany, as his flight from Karachi, Pakistan, to the United States stopped for refueling. He was extradited to Britain in Dec. 1994 and went on trial in September.

Jurors convicted him after hearing prosecutors from Britain's serious fraud office contend that he had siphoned the money out of bcci and then used it to pay for private jets, fancy homes and Rolls Royces. Gokal said he was innocent and had to use public assistance to get legal representation.

Key player in BCCI fraud loses appeal

By Dan Atkinson

Friday March 12, 1999

History's biggest convicted commercial fraudster, Abbas Gokal, yesterday lost his appeal against his April 1997 conviction on charges involving £750 million.

The former chairman of the Gulf shipping group was a key player in the $13 billion scandal at Bank of Credit and Commerce International.

The Court of Appeal rejected Gokal's claim that his conviction was unsafe and it confirmed the 14-year jail sentence – a record in a fraud case – passed at the Old Bailey, along with the threat of a further three years in prison should he fail to hand over £2.94 million confiscated by the court. He was ordered to pay prosecution costs incurred by the appeal.

Gokal, who is serving his sentence at the high-security Whitemoor Prison in Cambridgeshire, was in court to hear the verdict, dressed in a dark suit and accompanied by a guard. Lord Justice Rose said Gokal was at the heart of a highly sophisticated fraud that had brought about 'international consequences of great gravity'.

Serious Fraud Office director Rosalind Wright said: 'This is a satisfactory outcome to a very important and immensely serious case... It sends a clear signal that the courts are prepared to treat fraud on this scale with great severity.'

Part of the appeal case was that the arrest of Gokal at Frankfurt airport en route to the US, where he had been offered immunity by the Manhattan district attorney, rendered the conviction unsafe. But the three Appeal Court judges ruled this claim unfounded and without substance, adding that another key appeal point – that the summing-up of trial judge Mr Justice Buxton was unfair to Gokal – was also rejected.

Gokal's indictment fell into two parts. The first involved vast, largely fraudulent loans from BCCI to the Gulf group, while the second involved a 'mirror' fraud to keep BCCI afloat and to fool auditors Price Waterhouse into believing the loans were soundly made.

HEADLINE: ESM Scandal Extinguished A Rising Star;
Attorney for Failed Securities Firm Asserted Innocence In Suicide Note

BYLINE: By Kathy Sawyer, Washington Post Staff Writer

DATeline: MIAMI

BODY:

The black clouds of a tropical storm had enveloped the Miami area early last Monday when hard-charging attorney Stephen Arky left two notes on legal paper, put a .38-cal. revolver to the right side of his head and pulled the trigger.

One of the notes was to his wife, Marlin, who found her husband dead in the bathroom when she returned about 10 a.m. to their Coral Gables home from a dental appointment. The note said "he loved her," but that he was "depressed . . . and couldn't deal with it anymore," according to Metro-Dade homicide detective John Butchko.

The other note, addressed "To Whom It May Concern," said this: "As for the ESM matter, I swear now that I did not know anything about the adverse financial conditions. I am innocent of any wrongdoing in that case and so are my partners."

So ended the life of a 42-year-old lawyer admired by his friends as a principled and decent man. He was a wily former federal enforcer and scourge of white-collar criminals who built a meteoric career on a reputation as one of the good guys -- until last spring, when he was entangled in the financial crisis that shook Ohio's savings and loan institutions.

The "ESM" in Arky's note referred to the obscure Fort Lauderdale securities firm whose collapse sent shock waves through the U.S. investment system, cost professional money handlers at least $250 million and touched off the Ohio banking crisis. It brought disaster to Arky's father-in-law, Marvin Warner, the politically connected, high-rolling Cincinnati financier, and apparently death to Arky, whose firm counted ESM as one of its clients.

It is not yet clear to what extent Arky was involved in ESM's questionable dealings or benefited from them. But some of his friends said his fatal depression was born, in large measure, of embarrassment.

Arky had tried a month ago to commit suicide, Detective Butchko said, by taking "some sort of pills." His law partners never knew about it, one of them said.

"Based on things he said to us in the last three weeks, after he suddenly seemed to snap, I think he believed really he was a burden on us all," said his law partner, Eugene Stearns, who in recent months has taken on the role of spokesman for Arky. "He thought he was doing us all a favor . . . It blows us all away."

Stearns argues that Arky was the innocent target of a vendetta by ESM's receiver and of irresponsible journalism and that the publicity was more than he could take.

Miami attorney Richard Pettigrew, a former assistant to President Jimmy Carter and Arky's first law partner, said, "I thought he approached everything on the basis of the highest principles."

Pettigrew, now with the firm of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius and chairman of the Dade County Democratic Party, added that Arky was "highly aware of where the lines are and that you must stay far away from them."

"He was very mature in his understanding of the business world . . . and cautious to a fault. I think, ultimately, this was what was so embarrassing to him, that someone so good at evaluating people and business could so misplace his confidence."

Soft-spoken and low-key for a wealthy and ambitious man, Arky was not given to the con-artistry and extraordinarily high living allegedly associated with some of the primary people in the ESM scandal, one of whom was reported to own a $78,000 dog.

Until the scandal surfaced five months ago, Arky's life had seemed golden.

"He was the epitome of a young lawyer who had married right and had the right father-in-law and was in the right business luncheon clubs," said James Russell, business editor of The Miami Herald.

Arky drove an "old Rolls Royce," lived comfortably but not ostentatiously and contributed to various community institutions and causes, according to acquaintances. He jogged and played softball occasionally at his children's school, Pettigrew said.

The son of a St. Louis storekeeper, Arky earned a law degree from Washington University there in 1967 and went to work in 1968 for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington.

Stanley Sporkin, Arky's former SEC boss and now general counsel for the Central Intelligence Agency, said, "He was one of my finest young men."

Arky moved to the SEC's Miami office, where the securities business is reputedly one of the biggest and most scandal-ridden in the country. At that time, the SEC was in hot pursuit of fraudulent municipal bond dealers in Memphis, a market in which two of the people who were to found ESM were then operating.

One of the two was Ronnie Ewton, the "E" in ESM. He and Arky met subsequently when they were in the Army Reserve, at about the time Arky moved into private practice. It was Arky who introduced his father-in-law to Ewton, setting the stage for a series of business arrangements between the two.

Following a traditional path, Arky left the SEC to join Pettigrew's firm in 1971 as a corporate and securities specialist and, Pettigrew said, immediately impressed clients with his expertise.

After that firm dissolved in 1976, the lawyers regrouped as the general commercial firm of Pettigrew, Arky, Freed, which later became Arky, Freed, Stearns, Watson & Greer, a 55-attorney firm in downtown Miami.

At first, the firm was noted primarily for its youth and aggressiveness. But it got a crucial leg up when it signed Arky's father-in-law, whose patronage ushered the firm into the high-stakes realm of bank mergers and no-holds-barred takeover fights.

Arky acknowledged Marvin Warner's role in the law firm's success. But, he told The Miami Herald in late 1982, Warner's business would have meant little if the firm had stumbled in handling it. "He gave us the entree, and we capitalized on it," Arky said.

ESM's collapse in March precipitated the shutdown of Warner's S&L in Ohio, Home State Savings Bank. Depositors started a run on the banks when they learned that Home State's loss of $150 million had wiped out a private insurance fund of $130 million. Gov. Richard F. Celeste ordered the closing of all 71 institutions insured by that fund.

Arky's law firm was one of several that represented ESM. According to a lawsuit filed by the state of Ohio and statements by Miami lawyer Thomas Tew, court-appointed trustee for ESM, Arky was given favorable treatment on his personal account with ESM. In April, in an interim report filed in Fort Lauderdale district court, Tew named Arky as a "potential" ESM insider for legal purposes, meaning that payments to him might be recovered.

Stearns says that Arky lost more than $125,000 in his ESM account, which he closed last January.

Arky steadfastly denied Tew's allegations. In April he accused Tew of "viciousness, recklessness and prejudice" and of improperly using his position to pursue a longstanding "personal vendetta" against him.

"They're feeling the heat and want me off the case," Tew said, denying Arky's claims in turn.

The feud reportedly dated from 1971, when, as an attorney for the SEC, Arky sued Continental Tobacco Co. for alleged securities violations. Tew was an investor in and counsel for the tobacco firm.

Tew was in Ohio, testifying at a special state legislative hearing on the ESM case, when he received the news of Arky's suicide. He continued his testimony but decided to leave out the part dealing with Arky's favorable treatment.

Tew said, "It's a tragedy -- these issues, nothing is worth a life over."

HEADLINE: A QUESTION OF INTEGRITY AT BLUE-CHIP LAW FIRMS

BYLINE: By William B. Glaberson in New York, Pete Engardio in Atlanta, Stan Crock in Covington, Ky., and Scott Ticer in Los Angeles, with bureau reports

HIGHLIGHT:
ONCE UNTHINKABLE, CHARGES OF FOUL PLAY ARE HITTING PRESTIGIOUS PARTNERSHIPS

BODY:

Item: A Rogers & Wells lawyer wrote himself a note in 1983 about one of the firm's clients, J. David Dominelli: "Ponzi scheme. Love to have the business but want to sleep at night." It would be months, however, before the firm severed its ties to the lucrative client.

Item: As Maryland's thrift industry hurtled toward disaster last spring, regulators turned for advice to a bright young lawyer from Venable, Baetjer & Howard, a top Baltimore firm. What most of the regulators didn't know was that while the lawyer was advising them, his law partners were representing the very people whose wheeling and dealing at the edge of the law filled the agency's agenda at nearly every meeting.

Item: In April, 1981, a lawyer from prestigious Cravath, Swaine & Moore quietly made a trip to Geneva with orders from Cravath chief Smauel Butler. The mission: to get back $1.3 million that client Ashland Oil Inc. had paid a confidant of the Sultan of Oman. A shareholders' suit claims the trip was part of a scheme Butler helped devise to circumvent U.S. antibribery laws by retrieving the original payment in exchange for a new $3 million "finder's fee" to the Sultan's confidant. Butler denies the charge.

What's going on here? We're not talking about sleazy, hole-in-the-wall law firms. These are charter members of a blue-chip fraternity that has always seemed above reproach. Today, however, their names are being linked to unsavory allegations that raise serious questions about a profession whose chief asset ought to be its integrity (table, page 77).

THE LAW FIRMS

VENABLE, BAETJER & HOWARD

A government report charges this prestigious Maryland law firm with simultaneously representing a savings and loan regulatory agency and "habitual" violators of the agency's rules. Was this a conflict that hampered state banking regulation?

CRAVATH, SWAINE & MOORE

A lawsuit charges the presiding partner of this Wall Street firm with recommending that Ashland Oil make a possibly illegal payment to a foreign government official. Did this alleged advice harm the company's shareholders?

ARKY, FREED, STEARNS, WATSON, GREER, WEAVER & HARRIS

Among the charges against this Florida firm is the allegation that it failed to tell one client, an Ohio savings and loan, that ESM, another client, was insolvent. Were Ohio depositors hurt by the firm's failure to warn?

ROGERS & WELLS

This New York firm, headed by former Attorney General William P. Rogers, has agreed to pay $40 million to settle a suit filed by Dominelli's former customers. Was the law firm partly responsible for the customers' losses?

Cravath, considered by many to be the premier corporate law firm in the U.S., is embroiled in litigation claiming its lawyers helped plan an illegal payoff. Rogers & Wells, headed by former U.S. Attorney General William P. Rogers, agreed in February to pay $40 million to settle a suit claiming the law firm contributed to Dominelli's $200 million fraud. Last month, Venable, Baetjer & Howard, the firm of another former Attorney General, Benjamin R. Civiletti, was sued by depositors for its role in the Maryland thrift crisis. All the firms say they acted within the law.

The American Bar Assn. estimates that perhaps only two-tenths of a percent of all U.S. lawyers are ever disciplined by bar committees. And proceedings against the large firms that do major corporate work are almost unknown. That lack of oversight, together with increasing competition, say ethics experts, produces arrogance at the elite law firms. "There is hubris there," says Monroe H. Freedman, a nationally known ethics scholar at Hofstra University Law School. Civiletti himself says: "We should have lived up to a higher standard." The facts about improprieties of the blue-chip bar "have been submerged and are going to start to emerge," says Professor Stephen Gillers of New York University law school.

VENABLE BAETJER

If there was disregard of ethics at Baltimore's Venable, it began years ago. Since the mid-1970s, a Venable partner served as general counsel to the Maryland Savings Share Insurance Corp. (MSSIC, pronounced mis-sick), a private agency that insured and regulated the state's thrifts. At the same time, other Venable lawyers represented various owners of Maryland's savings and loan associations.

Some of the venable clients would eventually be labeled "habitual rule violators" by MSSIC. There is controversy about how much Venable told MSSIC's chief operating officer about its thrift clients. A report prepared by Maryland special counsel Wilbur D. Preston Jr., however, says MSSIC's board knew nothing about the dual representation.

The Preston report says that in 1976, MSSIC asked Venable whether the agency could insure each account a depositor held, no matter how many there were. Preston says Venable misinterpreted the law and incorrectly advised the agency that it could. MSSIC's "no-limit" rule brought a huge flow of deposits into the Maryland thrifts. Eventually, MSSIC would be liable for $76 million in deposits that might not otherwise have been made. Venable insists its advice was good. Last month, however, Maryland's attorney general agreed with special counsel Preston. The state is considering suing Venable.

Over the years, Venable added more S&L clients. Beginning in 1982, it represented the now-infamous Old Court Savings & Loan Assn. and its then-president, Jeffrey A. Levitt. Levitt, himself a lawyer, is the wily dealmaker whose downfall touched off the Maryland bank run in 1985. He has since been indicted for stealing millions from Old Court depositors.

Levitt was an important client. Some of his private real estate deals were handled through Venable. One top Venable partner invested with Levitt. Another represented Levitt in 1979 when Levitt was charged with unethical conduct and suspended from practice because he lied to a judge. MSSIC's Venable lawyer, working in the same office as Levitt's Venable lawyer, never mentioned the suspension to MSSIC, according to the Preston report. Meanwhile, MSSIC approved transactions that gave Levitt access to millions in depositors' money.

Civiletti says his firm didn't violate conflict-of-interest rules because it never represented any thrift clients before MSSIC. But Preston says MSSIC was hurt by "ineffective" advice. Says Preston: "A man can't serve two masters."

CRAVATH, SWAINE & MOORE

Samuel Butler was both a lawyer for Ashland and a company director as well as presiding partner of Cravath. The charges against him, contained in a shareholders' suit, stem from a 1980 decision by Orin E. Atkins, then Ashland's chairman, to pay $1.3 million to Yehia Omar, a wealthy adviser to the oil-rich Sultan of Oman. Even Atkins, who denies any wrongdoing, acknowledges the payment was intended to nail down an oil-supply contract.

There is little agreement as to what happened next. In court documents, Butler says that several months after he was told about the payment, he learned that Omar was listed as an aide at Oman's Washington embassy. Thus, although other Ashland advisers differed, Butler was concerned that Omar might be a government official who legally could not be given a corporate payment under the antibribery laws. Butler says from then on he simply tried to get the payment back.

The shareholders' suit tells a different story. It's based in part on the claims of a former Ashland official, Bill E. McKay Jr., who is also suing the company. The shareholders say Butler met with Ashland officials "to rearrange a scheme" to pay Omar as a consultant, even though Butler "should have known" that Omar was an official of a foreign government. No finder's fee was paid, but the suit implies that Butler violated his duties as a director by trying to insulate Ashland officials from liability for making the first payment.

After years of investigations of Ashland, the Securities & Exchange Commission decided on Mar. 12 not to sue. The private suit remains, however, and the charges it contains about Butler promise to keep the controversy alive.

ARKY FREED

The swirl of charges surrounding a once fast-rising Miami law firm aren't likely to fade quickly, either. Since the spectacular 1985 collapse of its client, ESM Government Securities Inc., Miami's Arky, Freed, Stearns, Watson, Greer, Weaver & Harris has been sued by other former clients claiming millions in losses. Last month, in the first defection since the scandal broke, two of the firm's top partners resigned with four other lawyers.

When ESM collapsed, Arky Freed was riding high. Since its founding in 1976, it had built a huge practice representing financial institutions in Florida. Some of its rapid growth may have been spurred by the firm's willingness to keep to itself information it might have owed its clients. In one suit, two thrifts that were clients claim they have evidence that Arky Freed knew investments made in another of the firm's clients, ESM, could be lost. The thrifts say Arky Freed lawyer Eugene E. Stearns represented one of ESM's founders in a divorce in 1978. At that time -- years before the ESM collapse -- the thrifts allege, Stearns argued that the securities firm was worthless. Stearns denies the charge.

Arky Freed's problems did not end with ESM. Months after that scandal broke, another client was charged with massive fraud, and there were questions about the firm's role. With Arky Freed's help, Juan Vicente Perez Sandoval, a wealthy Venezuelan, had quickly become a Florida business power in the early 1980s. The lawyers acted for Sandoval personally, represented two Venezuelan banks he controlled, managed his cash, and planned several profitable bank takeover attempts.

Sandoval fled to Switzerland this fall after the Venezuelan government seized his banks. Millions were missing. Venezuela is suing Arky Freed for $500 million, saying the lawyers "knew or should have known" about Sandoval's fraud. Arky Freed insists it did nothing wrong. A few months after both scandals broke, Steven Arky, the firm's glib, business-getting founder, killed himself.

ROGERS & WELLS

There are few questions about how much the lawyers at Rogers & Wells knew about their crooked client, J. David Dominelli, now in jail after a guilty plea. Before anybody else realized that the smooth-talking Dominelli's phenomenal 40% returns-on-investment were funded only with money from new investors, people inside the law firm were troubled.

More than a year before the fall, a partner in Rogers & Wells' London office, after extensive meetings on what was already a problem account, sent off a strongly worded internal memo saying she believed Dominelli was breaking the law. "The only possible solution," she said, was to have Dominelli immediately stop selling what were probably illegal unregistered securities. The memo said Dominelli could then properly register with government-securities agencies.

Instead, the sales continued. And a month after the memo, Rogers & Wells lawyers convinced the California Corporations Dept. that there was nothing illicit going on at Dominelli. The department officials believed Rogers & Wells's claims and stopped their probe. "It appears we were misled," G. W. McDonald, the department's enforcement chief, told BUSINESS WEEK last year. "The next time Rogers & Wells makes a representation, we will insist on much more." Rogers & Wells denies it misled the department.

There are many different versions of the Rogers & Wells story. The firm's partners even disagree about exactly when they gave up the troublesome client. But the reason they were so reluctant to get out of the mess seems clear. Some six months before the Dominelli collapse, several of Rogers & Wells's most influential lawyers met to lay out their options. One partner took notes. They provide a disquieting view of the subject being discussed by men and women at the top of their profession that day in June, 1983. The heading over one section said: "Fees vs. Reputation."

Why do people schooled in the rule of law risk so much? Civiletti says he has given such questions a good deal of thought lately. "It is a genetic deficiency of lawyers," he says, "that they are flattered by having clients, and they hate to reject clients." Yale Law School's ethics expert, Geoffrey Hazard, has a different response. He says that corporate law, dedicated to "getting and keeping money," makes lawyers lose the ability to be skeptical about their clients. That loss may be costly.

The late Stephen Arky of Miami's late Arky, Freed, Stearns, Watson, Greer, Weaver & Harris was a central figure in the scandal involving E.S.M. Government Securities, Inc., a Florida investment firm. Arky, as The American Lawyer reported in "How Many Hats Can Steve Arky Wear?" in May 1985, had acted as defense lawyer for E.S.M. in a previous SEC investigation, as a securities lawyer for E.S.M. in a previous SEC investigation; as a securities lawyer for E.S.M.; as an E.S.M. customer; as counsel to E.S.M. customer Marvin Warner, who was also Arky's father-in-law; and as an investment banker setting up a deal with an E.S.M. partner in competition with Warner.

As E.S.M. went into receivership in March 1985, questions were raised about Arky's role in the collapse -- which eventually led to a run on savings and loans in Ohio. Four months after the scandal broke, Arky committed suicide. "He was clearly despondent over things that had happened in his life," says his friend and partner Eugene Stearns. There was no evidence at the time that Arky had broken any laws or violated the Code of Professional Responsibility.

Arky's estate, represented by Jack Carriglio of Chicago's Foran, Wiss & Schultz, eventually settled with E.S.M. receiver Thomas Tew, now of Miami's Tew Jorden Schulte and Beasley, for $135,000 -- denying all liability as part of the settlement and eradicating approximately $1 billion in claims, according to Carriglio.

After a state trial in Ohio, Arky's father-in-law, Marvin Warner, was sentenced to three-and-a-half years in jail and five years' probation and ordered to pay $22 million in restitution. The case is now on appeal. In a federal civil trial in Florida that ended in July 1988, a jury returned a verdict for $22.7 million against Warner, according to Tew Jorden partner Jose Garcia-Pedrosa, who represented E.S.M. creditors. Post-trial motions are pending, Garcia-Pedrosa says, because Warner has filed for bankruptcy.

E.S.M. president Nicholas Wallace was found guilty of conspiracy and mail fraud in a Miami federal trial, and was sentenced to a 30-year term in October 1986. Nine other E.S.M. defendants have been sentenced to jail terms, including E.S.M. principal George Mead, who received combined federal and state sentences of 20 years, to be served in Ohio state prison.

Although the Arky, Freed name had disappeared from the Florida legal landscape, Stearns claims his current firm, 66-lawyer Stearns Weaver Miller Weissler Alhadeff & Sitterson, has retained 40 Arky, Freed lawyers and a core of the pre-1985 business, despite losing four Arky, Freed name partners in the last four years.

HEADLINE: When the stakes are high, call goes out to Thomas Tew;
Miami's mayor enlists a lawyer who's no stranger to complex financial cases to investigate accountant

BYLINE: MARY HLADKY, REVIEW STAFF

BODY:
Thomas Tew may be best known for successfully suing accounting firms, but it was his ability to explain a never-used state law that got him involved in mapping the future of the city of Miami.

Tew and his law firm, Tew & Beasley, had been hired to evaluate the liability of the city's former outside auditor, the Big 6 accountant Deloitte & Touche, in Miami's $ 68 million budget deficit.

Meanwhile, Miami Mayor Joe Carollo was facing a date with Gov. Lawton Chiles during Thanksgiving week to provide the governor with details of Miami's financial crisis.

Carollo consulted Tew, whose advice was straightforward: Chiles needed to be told that not only were Miami's financial problems severe, they had existed for at least two years.

"We have a duty to give the governor a heads-up," Tew recalls telling Carollo. "We would have no credibility if we left the meeting not explaining that to the governor."

Those admissions about the city's plight would trigger the use of a never-before-implemented state financial emergency law -- enabling the governor to intervene.

Tew was drawing on expertise he'd gained two years ago doing legal work for Escambia County. He'd spent hours boning up on the Florida law, enacted in the wake of the New York City crisis of the 1970s, that spells out the governor's powers if a local government faced a financial emergency. As it happened, the law wasn't used in Escambia's case. But Miami was likely to prove a different matter.

"So few people knew about it, and Tom was one of the few who did know," Carollo says.

Carollo invited Tew to the meeting in Tallahassee. There, Tew took a lead role in walking the governor and his advisers through the law -- its requirements and ambiguities -- and what invoking it would mean.

"This was the first time in the history of Florida that [the law] had been used," said Miami lawyer Sylvan "Sonny" Holtzman who helped arrange the Chiles-Carollo meeting. "Everyone was there to debate the issues of this thing."

After that meeting, Chiles invoked the statute and appointed an oversight board led by Lt. Gov. Buddy MacKay to help pull Miami back from the brink.

Carollo says he was impressed by the respect the governor, a Democrat, and his staff accorded Tew, who is known in political circles as a GOP fund raiser.

"That was a surprise for me," Carollo says. "I didn't expect Democrats would have such high esteem for Republicans such as Tom."

But Tew's emergence as one of a small cadre of lawyers with influential roles in Miami's financial and political crisis comes as no surprise to those who have followed his career. Tew isn't a novice to high-profile roles, high-stakes litigation or complex investigations.

Former acting city manager Merrett Stierheim says that's why he wanted Tew for the job of evaluating Deloitte & Touche's liability in the matter of Miami's $ 68 million budget deficit.

"He has handled several heavy litigations in this area successfully," Stierheim says. "He has, in my judgment, a very solid background, and I was impressed with it."

Tew's resume is laden with experience in an area that's daunting to many that of intricate financial dealings and double-dealings. Tew is a lawyer who calls accountants to account, and those who know him say the investigative and advisory role Tew has taken on for Miami is a natural extension of that background.

"He is putting the puzzle together. It is the same thing," says Charles Harper, former Miami regional administrator of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission who recommended that Tew serve as trustee in the 1985 bankruptcy of ESM Government Securities, then the largest government securities fraud in U.S. history.

"Tom is one of the lawyers that people in this community go to in a big case," says Richard Brodsky, one of the many attorneys who faced him over ESM. "It is the kind of case you would want to have a good lawyer who is experienced and won't get all flustered when he sees his name in the paper."

Many of his earlier cases have similarities to the work he's doing for the city. "The thread through all of those are failed financial or troubled financial situations," Tew says. "In many ways, it is the same thread."

Tew, 56, who has lived in Miami since infancy, is a Dartmouth College graduate who earned his law degree from the University of Miami, where he was editor-in-chief of the law review. He is widely described as urbane and polished, with a strong ability to forge agreements among parties otherwise likely to squabble indefinitely. He also is credited with being able to handle sophisticated and complicated matters speedily.

"I have seen Tom go into meetings where I thought the fur was going to fly, and everyone left feeling like they were fairly treated, feeling really good about the result, which is pretty remarkable," Harper says.

"He is very effective. He has a great record of collections in some very heavy-duty bankruptcies and business failures," says Holtzman, who with L. Grant "Jack" Peeples, both Miami lawyers and friends of Chiles, arranged the November meeting between Carollo and the governor. The city has since retained Holtzman's firm -- Holtzman, Krinzman, Equels & Furia -- to help prepare it for reentering the bond market.

"When in regular conversation, he is a fine Southern gentleman," Holtzman says. "In his lawyer's uniform, he is very tenacious and aggressive."

He's also shrewd. Tew is advising Carollo at no cost on the state financial emergency law. He and his 25-lawyer firm will report to city commissioners in about a month on Deloitte & Touche's potential liability. For this work he proposed, and commissioners agreed, that he and his firm will earn no more than $ 25,000.

But if the commission decides to litigate against Deloitte, Tew's firm will be positioned to handle what could be far more lucrative work. Tew has proposed two options if his firm is hired -- a reduced hourly rate and modified contingency arrangement if the recovery is large, or a pure contingency fee of 25 percent on the first $ 1 million recovered, 20 percent of the next $ 2 million to $ 5 million and 15 percent thereafter.

Tew also is preparing for Carollo an economic analysis of the consequences of abolishing the city, a move being pushed by a group of downtown developers and lawyers. Tew's role enlists him in the mayor's battle to save the city, and he does not dispute that the information he is assembling likely will be used by opponents of abolition.

Carollo expects the analysis will show that eliminating the city will not be a boon for taxpayers. "Whichever way you look at it, I cannot see anything but additional increases in taxes for lesser service than the city residents are getting now," he says.

Although Tew suspects Carollo is right, he says he has not been pressed to reach a particular conclusion. "It has been refreshing. I have had no interference on any of the analysis I have done, no trying to shape my opinion," Tew says.

The ESM case

Tew was thrust into prominence in 1985, when he became counsel to ESM, discovered questionable numbers in the company's books and brought in an accountant who found years of undocumented trading losses. Tew alerted the SEC's Harper and returned ESM's $ 500,000 retainer.

The ESM fraud left dozens of municipalities across the country out millions of dollars and triggered a run on Ohio thrifts, resulting in a one-day bank closure in that state.

Tew's organized and sophisticated handling of the complicated case -- including a $ 70.9 million verdict against the Alexander Grant (now Grant Thornton) accounting firm -- and his eventual recovery of 82 to 85 cents on the dollar, won him widespread accolades.

"I think that was a defining point in my career," Tew says.

When ESM broke, Tew was a partner in the national firm Finley, Kumble, Wagner, Heine, Underberg, Manley, Myerson & Casey, which eventually disintegrated in disgrace. He had joined with others of its Miami lawyers in creating Tew Jorden Schulte & Beasley, which got a shot of prestige, respectability and money from ESM.

Tew's role as trustee, recommended by the SEC regional chief, was lucrative. He, his firm and other professionals he brought into the case earned more than $ 8.25 million.

Tew's only significant failure in the ESM case was being unable to convince a federal judge that a group of Miami lawyers who were close to some of the ESM principals should be held liable. U.S. District Judge Jose A. Gonzalez Jr. dismissed suits against the firm then known as Arky, Freed, Stearns, Watson Greer, Weaver & Harris, and the estate of name partner Stephen Arky, who committed suicide in 1985. The firm's managing partner Eugene Stearns had repeatedly insisted the suit never should have been filed.

The ESM criminal case also benefited from Tew's assistance, said former federal prosecutor Jane Moscovitz, now in private practice in Miami. Moscovitz said Tew and the accountant he hired, Laurie Holtz, brought her up to speed quickly when she inherited the case after the two original prosecutors stepped aside to handle a major trial.

"They were always extremely accommodating," she says. "You had the feeling everything was being done right. The procedures civilly and criminally were enormously efficient. I attribute a lot of that to him [Tew]."

Eight years later, when another mammoth fraud case came to light, it was no surprise Harper turned to Tew.

The case was Premium Sales Corp., a North Dade grocery diverter that allegedly operated as a Ponzi scheme that defrauded investors out of $ 255 million.

"I knew what Tom's capabilities were," says Harper, now associate general counsel and senior vice president at PaineWebber in Fort Lauderdale. "When this came up, I needed someone who had been down that path before."

But after originally approving Tew's entry into the case, U. S. District Judge Federico Moreno announced he was naming Miami lawyer Harley Tropin as receiver instead. Moreno never explained the switch.

Although those who know Tew say he was shocked, and Harper recalls being "stunned," Tew now says only, "It was certainly unexpected." He noted, "The judge has the authority to select anyone he wants."

For a time, Tew was senior counsel to Tropin and evaluated the potential liability of six law firms that prepared documents for investors. He recommended proceeding against two, and they eventually agreed to settle for a combined $ 30 million.

Brodsky, who represented Larry Sazant, one of the people who found investors for Premium, credits Tew with helping structure the civil case in a way that achieved good results for investors.

"Even after Judge Moreno starkly removed him from being the receiver of Premium, I think he was very instrumental in setting up mechanisms whereby the Premium case was able to be settled on successful terms," Brodsky said.

"I would hope that was the case" regarding law firm defendants, Tew says. But he said he played no role in the strategy against other defendants, which included grocery store chains.

Bankers and insurers

Tew has played important roles in a variety of other cases including the Escambia County financial mess that made him knowledgeable about the state financial emergency law.

He was hired by Escambia in 1994 to investigate why outside auditors hadn't alerted commissioners to the county's risky investments in derivatives.

In the end, no suit was filed against the auditors. Presented with the results of Tew's investigation, the insurance carrier for auditor Saltmarsh, Cleaveland & Gund agreed to settle for about $ 2 million. Suits filed against brokers either settled or are pending.

Tew was one of the lawyers who represented former Capital Bank chairman Abel Holtz, who, after lengthy federal investigations, pleaded guilty in 1994 to misleading a grand jury that investigated his one-time friend, Alex Daoud, the ex-mayor of Miami Beach.

Tew represented the chairman and other top officers of AmeriFirst Bank, which was seized by regulators and faced a class action by shareholders.

And he was appointed by former Florida Insurance Commissioner Tom Gallagher to investigate Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., which in 1994 paid $ 4.6 million to settle allegations about misleading sales practices.

Tew obtained $ 50 million from Coopers & Lybrand as receiver for Guaranty Security Life Insurance Co., and $ 9 million from Deloitte & Touche in his capacity as receiver for International Medical Centers Inc.

Now, with a new role representing Carollo and Miami, Tew finds himself drawn into the debate over the city's future. And, as a result, he may find himself in another type of advocacy -- assisting those who are fighting to keep Miami alive.

In that capacity, Tew once again would be opposite Eugene Stearns, who a decade ago fought off Tew's suit against his former firm and now is among those pressing to dissolve the city.

At a recent lunch with Stearns, Tew says he urged him to tell voters all the tax ramifications of that proposal to eliminate the city rather than allowing them to believe that abolition is a cheap and easy way out of massive problems.

"I see my role not on the political front, but trying to make sure the debate for both sides treats the matter in a financially accurate manner," he says.

Even so, Tew concedes partisanship.

"At the end of the day, we may have different solutions [to Miami's financial problems]," Tew said. "I would prefer to see the city survive and flourish under partnership with the governor, rather than have it dissolved."

OPINION OF THE SPECIAL TRIAL JUDGE

COUVILLION, SPECIAL TRIAL JUDGE: In these consolidated cases, respondent determined deficiencies in petitioners' Federal income taxes, additions to tax, n3 penalties, and increased interest, as follows:

Docket No. 30830-88: n1

Additions to Tax

Ballard did not cooperate with respondent's agents at various stages of their investigation of his tax returns. He withheld relevant documents and information involving transactions with the Five.

Ballard discarded and permitted others, including Kanter, Gallenberger, and Weisgal, to discard supporting income documentation, an intentional act designed to conceal and evade the reporting and payment of Federal income tax.

Ballard allowed Kanter to commingle his share of the kickback moneys in the laundering mechanism Kanter used to conceal its identity. Ballard's use of the various Kanter sham entities (including among others, IRA, TMT, KWJ Corp., KWJ Co., Essex, Zeus, Holding Co., Int'l Films, HELO, Administration Co., and Principal Services) made it difficult and sometimes impossible to trace the cash-flow and is substantial evidence of Ballard's intent to evade tax. Commingling the kickbacks in the accounts of the conduit entities, together with other unrelated income, was a device to [*348] hide the kickbacks from Prudential and the IRS, and is evidence of Ballard's fraud.

Ballard plainly attempted to disguise the source of the kickback funds by funneling money in the roundabout method through the conduit entities over a period of many years.

Ballard made the following misleading and false statements:

(1) He testified that at the dinner meeting where Kanter introduced Schaffel to Ballard and Lisle, they only discussed politics, football, and religion, and that no business was discussed;

(2) he testified that he did not know whether Walters had transacted any business with Prudential when Ballard was at Prudential and that he was not involved with the Ramada Renaissance property; yet he met with Schaffel and Walters to finalize the financing of the Cherry Creek Place II and the Ramada Renaissance properties;

(3) he testified that Prudential did not purchase the Schnitzer-PMS stock because, apart from the potential conflict of interest, Prudential did not have any business to give to Schnitzer-PMS; yet Prudential started giving Schnitzer-PMS substantial business;

(4) he testified that he had no involvement and no meetings with Connolly other [*349] than seeing him at the Gateway hotel; yet he is the person who introduced Connolly to Eulich for purposes of setting up the Essex arrangement.

Finally, we find Ballard's testimony vague, evasive, and unreliable as to the kickback payments in the face of overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

Ballard's pattern of consistent and substantial underreporting of income, when accompanied by the other indicia indicating an intent to conceal income, justifies our finding that Ballard's underpayment of tax attributable to income he omitted from transactions involving the Five is attributable to fraud.

3. KANTER'S FRAUD

Kanter was the architect who planned and executed the elaborate scheme with respect to the kickback income payments received from the transactions involving the Five. Ballard and Lisle participated with him, shared in the payments, and cooperated in the diversions. In our view, what we have here, purely and simply, is a concerted effort by an experienced tax lawyer and two corporate executives to defeat and evade the payment of taxes and to cover up their illegal acts so that the corporations, Prudential and Travelers, and the Federal Government would be unable to discover them. [*350]

Respondent has proven by clear and convincing evidence that Kanter underpaid his taxes for each of the years at issue attributable to transactions related to the Five. Respondent has also proven by clear and convincing evidence that Kanter intended to evade taxes known to be owing on that income by conduct designed to conceal, mislead, or otherwise prevent the collection of such taxes.

The record is replete with several indicia of Kanter's fraud. They are:

First, Kanter has a legal education. He has been a practicing tax attorney since 1956. He has taught courses in estate and gift taxation and estate planning at the University of Chicago Law School. He has lectured and written extensively in the area of Federal tax law. For a number of years, he has been a writer and contributor to the Journal of Taxation, a national monthly publication devoted exclusively to Federal taxation. Kanter, as an experienced tax attorney, obviously understood and fully appreciated his legal obligations to report income correctly and to pay taxes on that income. Nevertheless, he disregarded these obligations by conceiving and carrying out various schemes to misdirect income. Furthermore, he was or should [*351] have been aware that his Federal income tax liabilities were substantially underreported for each of the years in issue.

Second, as we have previously found, Kanter reported adjusted gross losses on his Federal income tax returns for every year from 1978 through 1989. For 11 of those years he paid no Federal income taxes, and only minimum tax of $ 1,671 in 1978. Kanter omitted income received from transactions with the Five during the years 1978 through 1989 (except for 1985) in the total amount of $ 3,422,469. Even for 1985, a year not before us here, he omitted $ 1,592,939.

Third, Kanter created a complex laundering mechanism made up of sham corporations and entities (including among others, IRA, Carleo, TMT, BWK, Inc., KWJ Corp., KWJ Co., Essex, Zeus, Holding Co., Int'l Films, HELO, Administration Co., and Principal Services) to receive, distribute, and conceal his income, as well as Ballard's and Lisle's income. Payments made for their services were paid to IRA and Holding Co. or one of their subsidiaries. The payments were commingled with funds from other entities in Administration Co.'s accounts and later Principal Service's accounts. Large amounts of money were distributed [*352] to various entities and individuals, including Kanter, Ballard, and Lisle, through IRA, Holding Co., HELO, Int'l Films, and the Bea Ritch trusts. The distributions were disguised as loans and recorded as receivables. The receivables were shuffled (through book entries) between the various entities and eventually written off. Kanter's use of the various sham entities made it difficult and sometimes impossible to trace the flow of the money and is substantial evidence of his intent to evade tax. See Scallen v. Commissioner, 877 F.2d 1364, 1370-1371 (8th Cir. 1989).

Fourth, as reflected in our findings of fact, Kanter did not cooperate with respondent's agents at various stages of their investigation of his tax returns. He withheld relevant documents and information involving transactions with the Five and the movement of moneys through the conduit entities such as Administration Co., IRA, Holding Co., and others.

Kanter caused some records to be destroyed and attempted to place other records beyond the reach of the revenue agents conducting the investigation. We find in particular that destruction of records that were the subject of the IRS summonses after [*353] the issuance of the summonses to be a strong indication of fraud. "The summons had no time limit, was never withdrawn, and * * * required the recipient to retain -- indefinitely -- the documents within its scope." United States v. Administrative Enters., Inc., 46 F.3d at 673.

Gallenberger and Weisgal claim that records had been discarded pursuant to a 3-year retention policy based on the normal 3-year statute of limitations for assessing tax deficiencies. Yet the records they destroyed related to returns that were being audited and were the subject of IRS administrative summonses. We think that such a 3-year retention policy could not justify the destruction of corporate minutes, stock ownership records, or resolutions by the boards of directors. Moreover, some of the entities involved were trusts or corporations owned by trusts. Corporate officers and directors, as well as trustees of trusts, are often required to account to shareholders and beneficiaries for periods greater than 3 years. None of the individuals involved with the various entities (Gallenberger, Weisgal, Meyers, and Schott) acted in any independent manner. They all acted as directed by [*354] Kanter. It is clear that they destroyed the records at Kanter's direction.

Kanter, a tax professional who represents clients before the IRS and this Court, is aware of the need for documentation and records to support the items reported on tax returns. In light of that knowledge, coupled with other evidence, we find that his discarding of his supporting income documentation was an intentional act designed to conceal and evade the reporting and payment of Federal income tax.

Fifth, Kanter's commingling of his income with the moneys of others is an indication of fraud in an attempt to avoid tax. United States v. Walton, 909 F.2d 915 (6th Cir. 1990). The use of IRA and the other entities by Kanter and the commingling of the kickback moneys were part of the laundering mechanism designed by Kanter. All of the commingling of Kanter's income, as well as that of Ballard and Lisle, was done at his direction. Commingling of the kickbacks in Administration Co.'s accounts, together with other unrelated income, was designed to conceal the kickbacks. The commingling and laundering are evidence of fraud. Maddas v. Commissioner, 114 F.2d 548 (3d Cir. 1940); [*355] United States v. Jackson, supra.

Sixth, Kanter's scheme was intended to "thwart the effective functioning of the IRS" and was an attempt to disguise the source of income. Kanter plainly attempted to disguise the source of the kickback funds by the manner employed in sending the moneys through conduit entities in a roundabout method over a period of many years. Obviously, he, as well as Ballard and Lisle, did not want Prudential and Travelers to know about the kickback payments. Certainly, the movement of the moneys had no legitimate business purpose.

Seventh, Kanter's reporting of the kickback moneys on the returns of IRA and Holding Co. was designed to conceal the scheme, and is another strong indication of Kanter's fraud. See Lang v. Commissioner, T.C. Memo 1961-134, where the reporting of income from property beneficially owned by the taxpayer on the returns of family members was held to be fraudulent. It is clear that Kanter used the sham corporations to give the appearance that the kickback income was earned by them, rather than Ballard, Lisle, and himself, and that there was no tax due by the corporations because there [*356] were claimed losses sufficient to offset the income. Moneys were distributed from IRA and Holding Co. at Kanter's direction to other entities that were created to conceal further the true nature of the payments. Three of those entities, TMT, Carleo, and BWK Inc., were controlled respectively by Ballard, Lisle, and Kanter, and were the repositories of the kickback moneys distributed from IRA.

Eighth, Kanter routinely used the various conduit entities as nominees, placing money and property in the names of the entities to conceal the transactions. In fact, when it was convenient, he would assert that the entity held an asset merely as nominee.

Ninth, Kanter created phony loans to disguise the distributions of the income to himself and others and to evade the income tax due on the income. He later arranged for sales of the receivables for nominal amounts in order to claim false bad debt deduction losses and offset additional income reported on his returns and the returns of the conduit entities.

Tenth, as discussed previously, Kanter's testimony at trial was implausible, unreliable, and sometimes contradictory. We did not find it credible.

Finally, other factors that support a finding [*357] of Kanter's fraud include, but are not limited to, manipulations of deductions and income between various corporate, partnership, and trust entities to conceal not only his income but the income of others; failure to account for payments for services; and the use of the various artifices to divert the payments to his children and trusts benefiting his family.

Kanter's substantial understatements of income over an 11-year period, his intentional misdirection of income, and his deliberate mischaracterizations of the transactions are clear and convincing evidence of his fraudulent intent to evade taxes, particularly in light of his legal education and experience and overall tax sophistication. See Scallen v. Commissioner, 877 F.2d 1364, 1370-1371 (8th Cir. 1989); Sisson v. Commissioner, T.C. Memo 1994-545, affd. without published opinion 108 F.3d 339 (9th Cir. 1996); Wheadon v. Commissioner, T.C. Memo 1992-633.

The transactions involved here were masquerades, concealing the true character of the payments. In reality, an attorney and two highly successful businessmen conspired [*358] to conceal millions of dollars of kickbacks, using a multitude of entities with friends and employees serving as officers of convenience, in an attempt to defraud the employers of Ballard and Lisle and evade taxes properly owed to the Government.

As each layer of Kanter's complex organization is removed, and the flow of the money is followed, the magnitude of the fraud is revealed. Kanter's explanations are mere platitudes and rationalized rhetoric intended to obfuscate the true character of the transactions and his wrongdoing.

F. SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS AS TO FRAUD

The addition of tax or penalty in the case of fraud is a civil sanction provided primarily as a safeguard for the protection of the revenue and to reimburse the Government for the heavy expense of investigation and the loss resulting from the taxpayer's fraud. Helvering v. Mitchell, 303 U.S. 391, 401, 82 L. Ed. 917, 58 S. Ct. 630 (1938). The facts, as we have found in detail, clearly show that Kanter, Ballard, and Lisle, through the use of various conduit entities, devised a multifaceted scheme to shield kickback payments they received from transactions involving the Five. Their fraud resulted in the Federal Government [*359] not being paid several millions in income taxes due and owing. Clearly, the Government incurred great expense investigating petitioners' returns. The investigation took years and involved the efforts of dozens of IRS agents and several Government attorneys.

Petitioners created profitable business deals between the Five and Prudential and Travelers. The large sums of money they received as kickbacks were diverted at Kanter's direction to their controlled conduit entities. To effectuate the part of the scheme involving the Prudential transactions, Kanter through his related entities (IRA and its subsidiaries), retained the moneys for a period of time until they were distributed directly or indirectly to Ballard, Lisle, and himself in a 45-45-10 percent split. To effectuate the remaining part of the scheme involving the payments for Kanter's services, including payments from the Schaffel/Travelers transactions, Kanter caused the moneys to be paid to Holding Co., which he controlled.

As a result of the overall scheme, over $ 13 million of kickback and other income was omitted by petitioners collectively. The evidence is clear and convincing that they intended to evade the payment of their [*360] taxes on such omitted income. Accordingly, after considering all the facts and circumstances contained in the massive record of these cases, we hold that Kanter, Ballard, and Lisle are liable for the fraud additions to tax and penalties for each of the years at issue.

ISSUE 2. WHETHER CERTAIN COMMITMENT FEES PAID TO CENTURY INDUSTRIES, LTD., ARE INCLUDABLE IN KANTER'S INCOME FOR 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, AND 1986

FINDINGS OF FACT

Century Industries, a partnership, was organized in 1979. Its partners were the Bea Ritch trusts, Weisgal individually (rather than as trustee of the Bea Ritch trusts), and a third individual. The 25 trusts (collectively), Weisgal, and the other individual each held one-third interests in the partnership. The partnership's objective was to engage in highly leveraged investments in which the partners would contribute relatively minimal amounts of their own capital. The partnership was ultimately unsuccessful in such investments.

In early 1980, the partnership was reconstituted. The third individual referred to above withdrew from the partnership, new partners were admitted, and the partnership's investment focus was changed. The new partners included Kanter, [*361] four family trusts for the benefit of Weisgal's family members (the James Children's Trust, the Lawrence Children's Trust, the Lee Children's Trust, and the Richard Children's Trust), and another investment partnership composed of irrevocable trusts for the benefit of Weisgal's family called Atlay Valley Investments General Partnership (Atlay partnership).

During 1980 and 1981, the partners in Century Industries, their capital interests, and their initial capital contributions were as follows:

HEADLINE: IRS TANGLES WITH ZELL OVER PARTNER'S ESTATE: AGENCY CLAIMS LURIE TRUSTS WERE TAX-REDUCTION PLOY

BYLINE: PAUL MERRION

BODY:

The Internal Revenue Service is seeking between $47.6 million and $83.7 million from the estate of the late Robert Lurie, alleging a broad series of complex tax-reduction schemes involving his longtime friend and business partner, billionaire Chicago investor Sam Zell.

In several hundred thousand pages of documents and 13 days of trial in U.S. Tax Court here ending early last month, the government is alleging that Mr. Lurie sought to reduce estate taxes through improper transfers of assets and income to trusts set up in 1969 for the benefit of his family.

Mr. Zell has not been charged with any civil or criminal wrongdoing, and attorneys for the Lurie estate say the IRS' allegations are groundless.

The crux of the case is whether the trusts paid "less than full and adequate consideration" for those assets, according to the IRS.

Noting that the 10 Lurie family trusts were set up with $200 each in capital and grew to more than $36 million in value by the time Mr. Lurie died in 1990, an IRS trial memorandum alleges that Mr. Lurie "created the facade that their trusts' wealth was the result of 'investments' made by the trusts."

While the taxpayer generally bears the burden of proof in Tax Court, in this case, the IRS must dissect two decades of real estate deals and other transactions to make these civil tax charges stick.

"Normally, estate planning holds up because the (Internal Revenue) Code permits you to do a number of things," says Charles Bruce, a Washington, D.C., attorney and expert on the use of trusts. "If you're being aggressive, this case may stand for the proposition that you're going to end up in Tax Court."

Messrs. Lurie and Zell had a nickname for their collection of trusts and partnerships owned by trusts, which served as their combined investment vehicle for real estate and other deals: "The Family."

The IRS alleged in Tax Court documents that Mr. Lurie used "false books and records," "back-dated documents" and "sham transactions."

However complex the case has become, attorneys for the Lurie estate say the IRS has simply not proved the heart of its case.

"There is innuendo, but never any showing these were false books and records," says Robert Levin, the Lurie estate's lead attorney. "A lot of this is gratuitous. There was not a single witness to say these tax returns were false. It is completely unsubstantiated."

Colorful characters

The case is a dichotomous blend of dry, technical legal issues and colorful characters, from the irreverent, motorcycle-riding Mr. Zell to the noted Chicago tax-shelter attorney Burton Kanter, whose clients and law partners participated in some of the earliest deals of what would become the Zell-Lurie empire.

This is the latest in a series of cases the IRS has pursued against Mr. Kanter's clients as well as Mr. Kanter himself, including a claim for $53 million against the estate of A. N. Pritzker, the patriarch of Chicago's wealthiest family, which was settled out of court in 1994 for $9.5 million (Crain's, April 25, 1994).

"Clearly, I've been a target for a long time," says Mr. Kanter in a telephone interview. "I don't see any likelihood of that changing."

Mr. Kanter was also a witness in the recent Lurie estate Tax Court trial.

Over the objections of attorneys for Mr. Kanter and the Lurie estate, the IRS repeatedly brought up during the trial a 23-year-old case in which Messrs. Zell and Kanter and Roger Baskes -- who is Mr. Zell's brother-in-law and a former partner of Mr. Kanter -- were indicted in a tax-evasion scheme involving foreign trusts at a bank in the Bahamas.

"That was an attempt to tarnish somebody with somebody else's problem," says Chicago attorney Stephen Novack, who represents Mr. Zell. "It was designed to prejudice the court."

In that case, which grew out of a controversial IRS investigation called Project Haven, the charges against Mr. Zell were dismissed, Mr. Kanter was acquitted and Mr. Baskes was convicted and sentenced to two years in prison.

'Advocated family trusts'

At the recent trial in the Lurie estate case, Mr. Zell testified that he encouraged Mr. Lurie to use trusts in his business deals and served as the first trustee of the Lurie family trusts, shortly after the two college friends and business partners teamed up again in Chicago in 1969. (Mr. Kanter was the initial trustee of Mr. Zell's family trusts.)

"I don't remember my exact language, but I'm sure I advocated family trusts as very effective and helpful in creating estate plans," Mr. Zell testified.

A pretrial memo filed by the estate's lawyers notes that in 1969, Mr. Zell "spent much time discussing with Mr. A. N. Pritzker the concept of the use of trusts and the benefits of 100%-financed transactions, which laid the groundwork for much of the structure of the subsequent business activities in which Zell and (Mr. Lurie) were to engage." At the time, the Pritzker family -- through a series of trusts -- was investing in one of Mr. Zell's first major real estate deals.

"The success of Lurie's and Zell's schemes depended upon whether they could successfully obscure their identity as the 'transferors' of the assets, income and real estate interests that they transferred to their trusts," the IRS alleged in its trial memo summarizing the case before witnesses were heard. "To hide their identity as transferors they created the facade that their trusts' wealth was the result of 'investments' made by the trusts."

Notes Mr. Levin, the attorney for the Lurie estate: "That's easy to say in a trial memo, but it wasn't in their opening statement and it was not (brought out) in the trial. There's nothing in here that's a facade."

The case now moves into a post-trial phase of legal briefs and responses, which could take years before a final decision is rendered by the court.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION, Applicant, v. BURTON KANTER and JOSHUA KANTER, Respondents.

Case No. 98 C 2101

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS, EASTERN DIVISION

1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10902

July 9, 1998, Decided
July 10, 1998, Docketed

DISPOSITION: [*1] SEC's Application and Motion for an Order to Require Compliance with Subpoenas GRANTED.

COUNSEL: For SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION, plaintiff: David J. Medow, Michael J. Diver, United States Securities & Exchange Commission, Chicago, IL.

For BURTON KANTER, JOSHUA KANTER, defendants: Ray G. Rezner, William Scott Porterfield, Gayle L. Yeatman, Barack, Ferrazzano, Kirschbaum, Perlman & Nagelberg, Chicago, IL.

JUDGES: ARLANDER KEYS, United States Magistrate Judge. Chief Judge Marvin E. Aspen.

OPINIONBY: ARLANDER KEYS

OPINION: MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

The dispute before the Court arises from Applicant's Motion for an Order to Require Compliance with Subpoenas. For the reasons set forth below, the Court grants Applicant's motion.

BACKGROUND

On March 10, 1997, Applicant, the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), issued a formal order of investigation n1 concerning unregistered stock purchases made overseas by Ulster Investments Limited ("Ulster") in October of 1993 and February of 1994. (Appl.'s Mem., Ex. B; Resp. at 4, 5.) The SEC alleges that Ulster, incorporated overseas in Antigua, the West Indies, was created for the purpose of purchasing the unregistered common [*2] stock of Site Holdings, Inc. f/k/a Site-Based Media, Inc. ("Site"). (Appl.'s Mem. at 4, 5; Reply, Ex. A.) According to the SEC, Ulster then sold the unregistered stocks to Hibbard, Brown & Co., a New York broker-dealer. (Appl.'s Mem. at 4, 6.) The SEC's inquiry concerns whether Ulster's purchases of unregistered shares of Site violated Regulation S. n2 (Appl.'s Mem. at 2); see 17 C.F.R. § 230 (1997), Regulation S (Preliminary Notes).

n1 Pursuant to 17 C.F.R. § 203 (1997), a formal order of investigation authorizes the SEC to commence a private investigation into possible federal securities law violations. Such orders authorize the agency to subpoena testimony and documents, if necessary, from parties under investigation.

n2 Regulation S is applicable only to the Securities Act of 1933, 15 U.S.C. § 77(e) (1994). Regulation S governs the offers and sales of unregistered securities made outside the United States. Under a Regulation S registration exemption, unregistered securities acquired overseas may be resold in the United States without registration. However, a Regulation S exemption does not apply to transactions which are part of a "plan or scheme to evade" the Act's registration requirement. 17 C.F.R. § 230 (1997), Regulation S (Preliminary Notes) at 579.

-----End Footnotes----- [*3]

The SEC maintains that Respondents Burton and Joshua Kanter have information regarding the Ulster-Site-Hibbard transactions. (Appl.'s Mem. at 5, 6.) The subpoenas request production of all documents from January 1, 1993, through December 31, 1996, relating to the Ulster-Site-Hibbard transactions. (Appl.'s Mem., Ex. A.) Further, the subpoenas request the production of all credit card receipts and statements; calendars; appointment books; travel itineraries; telephone records; and bank records from June of 1993, through July of 1994. (Appl.'s Mem., Ex. A.)

It appears that Burton Kanter's mother established the St. John's trust -- Ulster's only shareholder -- at her death in 1990, and made Burton Kanter's family, including Joshua Kanter, its beneficiaries. (Resp. at 3, 4.) It further appears that at the time of the transactions, Burton Kanter was a director of Antigua International Trust, Ltd. ("Antigua International"). (Appl.'s Mem. at 5.) Located overseas, Antigua International is Ulster's sole director and the entity that incorporated Ulster prior to the stock transactions in question. (Reply at 7.) The SEC claims that Burton Kanter may have arranged for Ulster's purchases of the [*4] Site stock as a "plan or scheme to evade the registration requirements of the Securities Act. . . ." (Appl.'s Mem. at 2.) The SEC contends that the Kanters may have improperly used "Kanter-related entities" to facilitate the stock transactions. (Appl.'s Mem. at 6, 7; Reply at 7-9.) The investigation includes Joshua Kanter, because, as a beneficiary of St. John's Trust, he may have documents relevant to the SEC's investigation. (Reply at 7, 8.)

Before the Kanters received the subpoenas, Ulster had produced documents directly related to its purchase of Site securities. (Resp. at 1.) However, the Kanters refused to comply with their subpoenas. (Resp. at 1.) They claimed that the subpoenas were overly burdensome and too broad in scope, and that Ulster had already voluntarily produced all documents relevant to the SEC's inquiry. (Resp. at 1, 2; Appl.'s Mem., Ex. E.) Although the SEC and the Kanters attempted to resolve their differences, they were unable to agree as to the relevance of the subpoenaed, yet still unproduced, documents. (Appl.'s Mem., Exs. F-I.) Thus, the SEC filed the instant motion to enforce compliance with the subpoenas duces tecum.

DISCUSSION

A. [*5] The Scope of the SEC's Authority

Congress vested the SEC with broad discretion in its investigation of possible securities violations. The SEC may "require the production of any books, papers, or other documents which [it] deems relevant or material to the inquiry." 15 U.S.C. § 77s (b) (emphasis added). However, the SEC may not abuse its power and issue a subpoena for improper purposes such as harassing or pressuring the subpoenaed party. United States v. Powell, 379 U.S. 48, 58, 13 L. Ed. 2d 112, 85 S. Ct. 248 (1964).

B. The Standard for Enforcing Administrative Subpoenas

An administrative agency acts within the scope of its investigatory powers when the inquiry is within the agency's authority, not too indefinite, and reasonably relevant to the investigation. United States v. Morton Salt Co., 338 U.S. 632, 652, 94 L. Ed. 401, 70 S. Ct. 357 (1950). Further, to enforce its subpoena, the agency must show that the investigation serves a "legitimate purpose, that the inquiry may be relevant to the purpose, that the information sought is not already within the [agency's] possession, and that the administrative steps required by the [agency] have [*6] been followed. . . ." Powell, 379 U.S. at 57-58.

C. Application of the Standard to the SEC's Subpoenas

The SEC satisfies the first elements of the Morton Salt and Powell tests, respectively, because the SEC investigation is "within its authority" and serves a "legitimate purpose." Congress allows the SEC to investigate any potential securities law violation at its own discretion "whenever it shall appear to the Commission . . . that the provisions of this subchapter, or of any rule or regulation prescribed under authority thereof, have been or are about to be violated" 15 U.S.C. § 77t(a). The SEC's investigation of Ulster's purchase of unregistered Site stock, and the possible violation of Regulation S, lies within the SEC's authority. Therefore, this Court has no reason to suspect the SEC's inquiry is outside its authority or serves an illegitimate purpose. n3 n3 The Court finds for the SEC despite the Kanter's protests alleging that the SEC has "unfairly" attacked Burton Kanter and targeted him because of his associations with people having "regulatory problems." (Resp. at 7, 8.) This Court finds ample other evidence giving the SEC legitimate reasons to investigate the Kanter's. Further, the standards the Court uses today speak of no "fairness" requirement. Therefore, this Court need not address the legitimacy of the Kanter's allegations.

-----Footnotes-----

-----End Footnotes----- [*7]

Further, the documents the SEC has requested from the Kanter's are "not too indefinite." The "personal records" which the Kanter's particularly object to producing, such as the credit card receipts/statements; bank records; appointment books; and telephone records, are only for the period between June of 1993 and July of 1994. The Ulster-Site-Hibbard transactions occurred in October of 1993 and February of 1994 and, therefore, the requested "personal" documents from around that particular time period are relevant. The other, "non-personal" documents sought by the SEC cover the more extensive period from January 1, 1993, through December 31, 1996, and concern entities associated with the Kanter's and possibly connected to the transactions. These documents are also relevant to the investigation, because they may provide information concerning the Ulster-Site-Hibbard transactions. Thus, this Court finds that the scope of the subpoenas is not too indefinite.

As touched upon above, the SEC's request satisfies the "reasonably relevant" and "relevant to the purpose" elements of the Morton Salt and Powell tests, respectively. The Supreme Court, in Morton Salt, analogized an administrative [*8] agency to a "Grand Jury, which does not depend on a case or controversy for power to get evidence but can investigate merely on suspicion that the law is being violated. . . ." 338 U.S. at 642; see SEC v. Savage, 513 F.2d 188, 189 (7th Cir. 1975) (finding that the SEC need not justify its investigative subpoenas by proving at the outset what the investigation is "designed [to do] and authorized to illuminate.") The SEC has the power to investigate any possible securities law violation. The SEC may investigate documents in the Kanter's possession which are relevant to its investigation. The suspected violations appear related to the Kanter's, or at least to entities associated with them.

The Kanter's raise two arguments to support their contention that the documents the SEC seeks are irrelevant. First, they argue that they are innocent of any wrongdoing, and therefore, any additional documents the SEC still seeks are irrelevant to its investigation. (Resp. at 9, 10.) At this early stage in the investigation, however, the SEC need not have conclusive evidence of any wrongdoing by the Kanter's to seek an order forcing them to comply with the subpoenas. The suspected violations relate [*9] to such matters as: the purpose of Ulster's formation; the possible plan to evade securities registration requirements with the stock transactions; the resale of the stocks to a United States corporation; and the roles Burton and Joshua Kanter may have played in the operations of Ulster and/or Site. Since the Kanters are involved with Ulster, Site and, to some degree, the other entities included in the subpoenas, the SEC's broad powers allow it to request all documents which it deems reasonably relevant to the transactions. Those documents include the documents the Kanters refuse to produce.

The Kanters also argue that producing their personal financial records would violate their privacy rights. (Resp. at 8.) They cite to In re McVane, 44 F.3d 1127 (2d Cir. 1995), in hopes of preventing disclosure of their financial records. (Resp. at 8.) However, the McVane court found that only an investigation "of such a sweeping nature and so unrelated to the matter properly under inquiry" would exceed agency powers. 44 F.3d at 1135 (quoting Morton Salt, 338 U.S. at 652). In re Gimbel added that people choosing to involve themselves in intensely regulated industries should [*10] not expect to have the same privacy interests as those who do not. 77 F.3d 593, 600 (2d Cir. 1996).

The Kanters, as businessmen, should not complain of privacy invasions when a regulatory body, such as the SEC, requests information from them during an investigation of business transactions and possible securities violations. The SEC is not improperly imposing upon the Kanters' privacy rights, because it is statutorily authorized to investigate all relevant matters. The "personal" records that the SEC requests are only those dating to approximately the time period surrounding the alleged securities violation. Surely, the dates are specific enough that the inquiry may not be described as that of a "sweeping nature" or "unrelated to the matter." Therefore, the "personal" documents sought by the SEC are neither unreasonable nor irrelevant to its investigation.

Satisfying the third Powell requirement, the SEC does not already possess any of the documents the Kanters are refusing to produce. Although the Kanters claim that Ulster has already produced all documents relevant to the Site offerings, the Kanters have not turned over all the documents subpoenaed by the SEC. Clearly, the [*11] SEC cannot obtain these materials from any other source. Ulster, for instance, is a foreign corporation and cannot be compelled to produce any documents. As evidenced by the correspondences between the SEC and the Kanters, the SEC does not possess any of the documents it is now asking this Court to compel the Kanters to produce.

Finally, the SEC has followed the required "administrative steps" in seeking to compel the production of documents. The sole requirement under the SEC's Rules Relating to Investigations is that the agency issue a formal order of investigation before issuing a subpoena. 17 C.F.R. § 203 (1997). The SEC followed the requirement by issuing the formal order of investigation on March 10, 1997, and serving the Kanters with their separate subpoenas.

CONCLUSION

The SEC has satisfied both the Morton Salt and Powell tests for enforcing compliance with an administrative subpoena. Therefore, the Respondents Burton and Joshua Kanter are directed to produce all documents requested by the SEC's subpoenas.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the SEC's Application and Motion for an Order to Require Compliance with Subpoenas be, and the same hereby is, [*12] GRANTED. The documents described in said subpoenas shall be produced no later than July 17, 1998.

Lawyers to stars returns to court

BODY:

Once again, Burton W. Kanter is going to have his day in court.

One of Chicago's most prominent -- and controversial -- tax attorneys is heading to trial in U.S. Tax Court here next month to defend almost 10 years worth of transactions, with more than $ 10 million in back taxes and penalties at stake.

The trial, scheduled to start June 13 in Chicago, is expected to last at least two weeks.

As one of the nation's leading experts on the use of trusts and other ways to avoid taxes -- a subject on which he lectures at the University of Chicago law school -- Mr. Kanter has helped numerous wealthy Americans set up complicated arrangements of trusts and other entities to reduce their taxes.

"But Kanter is probably the one lawyer that every lawyer in town would recommend," says Bruce Frey, president of Glencoe-based real estate firm BJF Development Inc., who teamed up with Mr. Kanter and former Chicago Bears coach Mike Ditka last year in an unsuccessful bid for the Miami Dolphins franchise.

However, the Internal Revenue Service has challenged several of the deals he has structured for clients, such as Chicago's Pritzker family -- owners of the Hyatt Corp. hotel chain -- and several in the entertainment industry, including musician John Fogerty, leader of Creedence Clearwater Revival.

Often, his clients have won or reached a favorable settlement after going to U.S. Tax Court. Last month, for example, the Pritzkers settled, for $ 9.5 million, a case involving more than $ 150 million in back taxes.

Mr. Kanter himself was acquitted in 1977 of a criminal conspiracy to avoid taxes on the profits from the $ 9.1-million sale of a Nevada apartment building, although his law partner at the time, Roger Baskes, was sentenced to two years in prison for the same charge.

"Burt Kanter took the stand," says George Cotsirilos, Mr. Kanter's attorney in that case. "That exposed the defendant to any kind of attack the prosecutor had. The man was completely innocent."

Under close scrutiny

Since the mid-1970s, when the IRS and the Department of Justice mounted "Project Haven," a major investigation centered on Castle Bank & Trust (Bahamas) Ltd., Mr. Kanter has been under close scrutiny by the government.

"Castle (Bank) was a tax haven first and foremost . . . used from time to time to launder illicit funds," says Alan Block, a Pennsylvania State University criminology professor, in his book about the Project Haven investigation, "Masters of Paradise: Organized Crime and the Internal Revenue Service in the Bahamas."

"It was Burt Kanter . . . who was instrumental in Castle's formation," according to Mr. Block's book, which is based on a four-year investigation into the matter.

Mr. Kanter has consistently denied government allegations that he was an owner of Castle Bank, and those charges have never been proved in court.

The Project Haven investigation was ultimately hamstrung when an IRS informant stole a list of the bank's clients, which made the evidence inadmissible in court.

Mr. Block's book points out why the government has wanted for years to prove Mr. Kanter's ownership interest in Castle Bank.

He cites a U.S. Tax Court case in the late 1980s in which the IRS charged Saul Zaentz, a client of Mr. Kanter, with using Castle to evade taxes on his stake in the award-winning film "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest."

The IRS sought to prove Mr. Kanter's ownership of Castle, IRS attorney Eugene Ciranni argued at the trial, in order to bolster the government's position "that a good, hard look at the entire circular transaction reveals a complete lack of any real economic purpose, beyond tax avoidance."

Quoting from court documents, the book notes the government's allegation that Castle Bank was "not independent in any respect . . . Castle basically served as an arm of (Mr. Kanter's law firm at the time), and even had a Chicago bank account for which Burton Kanter had signatory authority. . . . Its job was to carry out Kanter's tax plans."

The Zaentz case was settled in June 1990, without resolving the issue of Castle Bank's ownership.

Mr. Kanter did not return repeated calls for comment.

Another battle

Now, Mr. Kanter, his wife, Naomi, and several firms or partnerships he allegedly controls are preparing for another monumental battle with the IRS.

In the arcane world of civil tax litigation, it's difficult to glean from the U.S. Tax Court's public record what the case is all about, and lawyers for Mr. Kanter and the IRS aren't talking.

But several discovery motions filed by Mr. Kanter's lawyers, quoting proposed IRS allegations not yet in the public record, show the government may take another stab at proving Mr. Kanter was an owner of Castle Bank.

Aside from the Castle Bank issue, Mr. Kanter's lawyers also asked for proof of IRS allegations that an "income-concealing device used by Mr. Kanter was the transfer of money from one entity to another, from one dummy (entity) to Mr. Kanter under the guise that it was a 'loan'" and that these "loans were never intended to be repaid, and in fact, were not repaid, unless and until the government questioned a particular 'loan.'"

In general, the IRS is pursuing "assignment of income" issues, says Royal Martin, a Chicago attorney who represents Claude Ballard, a partner in the Chicago office of investment bank Goldman Sachs & Co.

Mr. Ballard, whom Mr. Martin describes as a "longtime friend" of Mr. Kanter, is challenging an IRS claim for back taxes in a case that has been consolidated with Mr. Kanter's upcoming trial.

Basically, Mr. Martin adds, "the IRS has taken the position that the income of corporations owned by trusts, the beneficiaries of which are Burton Kanter and his family" should be taxed as income on their individual tax returns instead.

John Comeau, lead IRS attorney on the case, did not return repeated phone calls seeking comment.

Mr. Martin, who also represents the estate of Robert Lisle, an insurance executive who died last year, claims that his clients are simply "longtime friends of Kanter's" and he could not explain why they are a party to the case.

Mr. Martin notes that the IRS allegations cited by Mr. Kanter's attorneys are merely "proposed" allegations that "if filed, would be filed when we commence trial in June."

"The language employed by the (Internal Revenue) Service is a bit of hyperbole," adds Mr. Martin. "It will be proven groundless."

Also, he notes, "we have no understanding why the ownership of Castle Bank is an issue."

HEADLINE: Pritzker tax showdown;
IRS readies press for $ 53 mil.

BYLINE: By PAUL MERRION

DATELINE: WASHINGTON

BODY:

Chicago's Pritzker family is heading for a multimillion-dollar showdown with the Internal Revenue Service over aggressive tactics the wealthy family used to avoid personal income and estate taxes, CRAIN'S CHICAGO BUSINESS learned.

For the last 10 years, the IRS has doggedly challenged the Pritzker family's heavy use of foreign trusts and other sophisticated tax-avoidance techniques to shelter the proceeds of their vast hotel, manufacturing and financial empire, estimated to be worth $ 4.5 billion.

With more than $ 150 million in additional income and estate taxes now at stake, attorneys for the Pritzker family and the IRS have pursued a settlement for five years, according to filings with the U.S. Tax Court here.

But those talks now are at an impasse and the government expects to seek a trial starting early next year, according to an IRS attorney who is involved with the case but who asked not to be named.

"No settlement is likely," says the attorney. "It will all become very public fairly soon."

Negotiations to reach a settlement have centered recently on a 2-year-old case involving the estate of A. N. Pritzker.

When the patriarch died in February 1986 at the age of 90, he headed a family whose fortune then was estimated by Forbes at $ 2.3 billion. Holdings included the Hyatt Corp. hotel chain and Marmon Group Inc., and industrial conglomerate with 1991 revenues of $ 3.9 billion.

Yet, as the result of a foreign trust arrangement masterminded more than 15 years ago by Chicago attorney Burton Kanter, one of the country's best-known tax-avoidance experts, no estate taxes were paid.

In a "notice of deficiency" issued in May 1990, the IRS alleges that the foreign trust was a "sham" and the A. N. Pritzker estate should have been valued at $ 97,393,835, creating a federal estate tax liability of $ 53,207,409.

The outcome of 12 other related cases -- involving Hyatt Corp. Chairman Jay Pritzker, son of A. N. Pritzker and executor of his estate, as well as other descendants -- hinges largely on the estate case.

A major issue in those cases is whether income from the family holding company, Great Lakes Corp., was properly transferred to foreign trusts or should have been taxable income to the heirs.

Because the IRS has filed challenges for only a few of the years in which foreign trusts were used by the Pritzkers, the tax liabilities proposed by the agency in both existing and potential cases "substantially exceed $ 100 million," according to a U.S. Tax Court filing in 1988 -- before the IRS went after an additional $ 53.2 million from the A. N. Pritzker estate.

"Depending on the court's decision" if and when the estate case goes to trial, "a lot of other cases could fall into place," says the IRS attorney. "The question is, how far can you stretch the tax laws to shift income from domestic corporations to foreign trusts and pass on to heirs without paying estate tax?"

Foreign trusts are typically used nowadays to protect assets from litigation, not to avoid estate taxes. In that sense, the case is unusual and could break new legal ground. Foreign trusts came into vogue during the 1960s, but were sharply restricted by Congress in 1976.

Currently, there is an "extremely unusual set of circumstances in which it could be legal and effective" to avoid estate taxes through a foreign trust, says Virginia attorney Howard Zaritsky, an expert on foreign trusts.

"If it's tried, it will be an interesting trial," agrees Mr. Kanter, who is now of counsel to Neal Gerber & Eisenberg, the law firm that represents the Pritzker family on tax matters. "I think they'll be proved wrong," he says, referring to the IRS, while noting that he may be a witness in the case.

Mr. Kanter has come to blows with the IRS before.

In the mid-1970s, the IRS believed he was the brains behind the controversial Castle Bank & Trust Co. in the Bahamas -- a claim he stoutly denies.

Castle Bank was targeted by the IRS in a highly publicized investigation called Project Haven for its alleged role in setting up tax shelters for wealthy Americans.

In the probe, an IRS informant stole a client list from the bank's president, which listed some 300 prominent Americans, including Jay Pritzker and Hugh Hefner, founder of Playboy Enterprises Inc.

1977 acquittal

Mr. Kanter was acquitted in 1977 of conspiring to conceal profits from a $ 9.1-million Nevada hotel sale by allegedly depositing the proceeds in the now-defunct bank, but his law partner at the time, Roger Baskes, was convicted and sentenced to two years in prison.

Harold Lipsitz, the Pritzker family's main attorney on the case, refused to comment. Jay Pritzker was out of the country last week and could not be reached for comment.

Generally, a foreign trust involves the creation of a trust by a foreign national, using his or her own funds; the foreign national then appoints a third party as trustee. When acquired by the trust, the U.S. taxpayer's assets are theoretically no longer considered part of the taxpayer's estate, and are managed for the benefit of the trust's beneficiaries.

What's tricky is that the transactions have to be at arm's length and the taxpayer has to give up control. The IRS is refuting both propositions in the case of the A. N. Pritzker estate.

The U.S. Tax Court recently upheld the use of foreign trusts to purchase a private annuity, which provides income to the taxpayer while sheltering asset gains from taxation. But Mr. Kanter says no private annuities were involved in the Pritzker case.

While details have not been made public, the IRS is alleging that the late Mr. Pritzker designed the trust "to mask his role as virtual owner of the trust property during his lifetime, rendering the entire arrangement a sham."

During his life, according to the IRS filing, the late Mr. Pritzker transferred more than $ 94.7 million worth of property to several foreign trusts "through a series of bargain sales and through other gratuitous transfers."

While the IRS is taking a tough stance, experts note that the agency filed a sweeping notice of deficiency, and the issues are likely to become much narrower as the case progresses.

Noteworthy language

Calling the arrangement a sham is "noteworthy," says Charles Bruce, a Washington attorney who published an article on foreign trusts recently. "You don't see the government taking that position in too many cases. There are very few cases where the government has successfully 'shammed' a foreign trust."

In the last toe-to-toe confrontation between the Pritzkers and the IRS, the government alleged that Great Lakes Corp., the family holding company, could not be used to offset income from Hyatt and Marmon with losses from unrelated motion picture deals and other alleged tax shelters.

Seeking about $ 19.5 million in back taxes for the years 1971 through 1973, the IRS eventually settled last October for $ 549,479, after U.S. Tax Court Judge Edna Parker, who is overseeing the consolidated Pritzker tax cases, refused to allow more time for negotiations and scheduled the case for trial.

That settlement dealt with the alleged tax shelters, not whether the Pritzkers could file a consolidated corporate return. The guts of the case had been made moot by a special provision tucked into the 1986 Tax Reform Act by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Chicago, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The provision, designed specifically for the Pritzkers, established that Great Lakes could file a consolidated return as a matter of law.

HEADLINE: Jim Moran, master salesman

BYLINE: By Graham Button

HIGHLIGHT:

Born poor, James Moran beat cancer and has built a $ 700 million business selling cars. He didn't beat the Justice Department, but there's a twist on that, too.

BODY:

OLDER CHICAGOANS still remember Jim Moran from the 1950s. He was "Jim Moran the Courtesy Man," a local TV advertising phenomenon. His Courtesy Motors was the world's largest Ford dealer; as show host, Moran beat out Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen in a local popularity poll. Or so reported Time magazine when it put the car dealer on its cover in 1961.

Today Moran is 71. In his first interview with a national publication in nearly three decades, Moran says he moved to Hillsboro Beach, Fla. in 1966 when his doctor told him he had less than a year to live. "My whole world came crashing down at 47 years of age," Moran recalls.

Moran fought back the cancer and overcame several other health problems. And he managed to keep his $ 2.4 billion (sales) automotive empire, JM Family Enterprises, Inc., one of America's best-kept secrets.

JM Family Enterprises has 2,300 employees in more than 25 automotive-related subsidiaries. The centerpiece is Southeast Toyota Distributors, which Moran opened in 1968. Today Southeast is perhaps the largest independent automotive distributor in the world. Moran has supplied some 2 million cars, vans and trucks, and support services, to what are now 165 dealers in five southeastern states. Last year over 151,000 Toyotas passed through Southeast's sprawling, 70-acre port and accessorizing plant in Jacksonville. Moran also owns a company to supply parts, one for insurance, one for financing, another for leasing, and a Puerto Rico chemical company that makes automotive paint sealants and undercoating.

That accessorizing plant was one important key to Southeast's riches. The cars arriving from Japan were like virgin Christmas trees, waiting to be trimmed with sunroofs, vinyl tops, alloy wheels, air conditioners, stereo radios and so on. In its heyday, Moran's accessorization subsidiary, Joyserve, resembled a Detroit assembly line, and the profit margins on many items were phenomenal. By one dealer's estimate, Moran was making $ 10 million a year on car pinstripes alone. With freight charges and other mark-ups, Moran had an average pretax profit of at least $ 1,000 per car.

Along the way, Moran has been responsible for a number of innovations. He started the first finance company for U.S. dealers of imported cars; his World Omni Financial Corp. now has $ 2.5 billion in loans outstanding. Moran's was the first U.S. dealer network to computerize inventory control, retail sales reporting, and warranty claims submission. Many of his dealers have, as a result, become multimillionaires.

Moran's hard work and creativity have amply rewarded him, too. Altogether, FORBES estimates, in 1988 JM Family netted around $ 200 million pretax from distribution and all his other businesses. Value of a business like this: around $ 700 million.

Moran grew up during the Depression, the only son of a Chicago cigar store clerk. He is still proud of his Horatio Algeresque story. A few days before Moran's 14th birthday, his father died. "We had an Irish wake on the fourth floor of a walkup," says Moran. "My mother had a ham and you know, some beer and ginger ale, and you passed the hat."

His passion was cars. Soon after graduating from high school, Moran bought a Sinclair filling station for $ 360. He shelled out $ 75 for the first car he rebuilt, a 1936 Ford, in 1944, he installed a new clutch, spiffed it up, and sold it for $ 235. That beat pumping gas. He turned his station over to his brother-in-law and borrowed $ 5,000 to start a used car lot.

"That first month I made $ 3,000 -- $ 3,000?" he exclaims, as if still in awe.

Moran wanted a new car dealership and eventually got a Hudson franchise. But it was the way Moran sold cars, not the make itself, that was Courtesy Motors' secret.

"I had a television set," he recalls. "All I had to do was look at it and say, 'My God. What a way to advertise cars! And nobody is doing it.'" The year was 1948.

Soon he was sponsoring his own TV programs, including Wrestling from Rainbow and Sunday Night Movies. He personally hosted a country and western music show, and customers flocked to the salesman/celebrity's dealership. Time would later say that Moran's voice "seizes the listener -- especially women," sending "shivers up and down the stitching of many a wallet and purse." Soon Moran was moving over 15% of Hudson's output.

When he switched to Ford in 1955 (Hudson merged with Nash-Kelvinator in 1954), Moran already had his Chicago variety show, the Jim Moran Courtesy Hour. Moran held his own with the top stars of the day -- Bob Hope, Mickey Rooney, Danny Thomas and many others. Within 30 days Courtesy Motors was reportedly the world's largest Ford dealer.

By 1966 Moran was living a life far from the Irish enclave on Chicago's north side. He had a wife, three kids, a house with a pool in the suburbs, lots of money, the admiration of the community, a vacation home in Florida. That's when his doctors told him he had a year to live. "It's a very traumatic thing," he says, "when somebody hits you with that big C."

Moran turned over Courtesy Motors to his son-in-law and general manager and moved to Florida, where he has waged a long and, say his doctors, successful fight against cancer.

But Moran was not cut out for the role of idle convalescent. Soon after arriving in Florida, he got a Pontiac dealership. Today JM Pontiac, now based in Hollywood, Fla., is recognized by General Motors as the nation's largest Pontiac dealer.

Meanwhile, Toyota was trying to build sales in the U.S. It needed distributors to set up dealer networks, and wall willing to share profits with American entrepreneurs. Moran decided to try the Japanese. Southeast Toyota was incorporated in Pompano Beach, Fla., and thanks to clever marketing, Moran soon became the largest Toyota distributor in the U.S.

From merely rich, he became megawealthy.

Moran had realized early on that he needed the best relations with Toyota's top officers, who would ultimately decide how many cars he could get. Moran, says a former Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A. executive, "has done an excellent job of catering to the Japanese need for stroking. He's real good at stroking up front, and then stroking below the table." According to documents obtained by FORBES and corroborated by former Southeast Toyota employees, Moran agreed from the beginning to pay at least one top Japanese officer $ 10 for every car sold above a predetermined level. Moran denies any such arrangement existed.

We now meet the skeleton in Moran's closet. In 1973 something called Project Haven came to light. This was, at the time, the largest-ever IRS probe into tax evasion through the use of offshore tax havens. IRS agents surreptitiously obtained the contents of a briefcase belonging to an officer of Castle Bank & Trust, of Nassau, Bahamas. (The Supreme Court later ruled that the evidence could not be suppressed by the defendants.)

In the briefcase was a list of prominent Americans with accounts at Castle Bank: Chicago's Pritzker family; actor Tony Curtis; Playboy's Hugh Hefner; Penthouse's Bob Guccione; the late Morris (Moe) Dalitz, known for his ties to the Teamsters and the mob; and Jim Moran and three top Japanese Toyota officials.

One of those Toyota officials, Shoji Hattori, then in charge of Toyota's U.S. operation, was later indicted for allegedly using Castle Bank to evade taxes on kickbacks from three Toyota distributors (Moran was not among them) for awarding Toyota distributorships; Hattori fled the country, and remains a fugitive from U.S. justice.

Project Haven opened a Pandora's box. According to IRS investigators, Castle Bank & Trust had been created to evade U.S. taxes. Among the bank's key players was Burton Kanter, a noted Chicago tax specialist whose clients included members of Cleveland's organized crime fraternity. The authorities wanted to know more about Kanter and Castle Bank.

In 1978, more than five years after Project Haven made headlines, Moran was indicted for criminal tax fraud. He hired a Hollywood, Fla. lawyer, Steadman Stahl Jr., to defend him.

Moran cut -- or thought he'd cut -- a deal with the Justice Department. In return for immunity, he would provide the feds with evidence establishing Kanter's ownership in Castle Bank. According to people familiar with the case, Moran delivered his side of the bargain. But then the inexplicable happened: Moran's lawyer, Stahl, moved to have the evidence sealed. And the Justice Department's lawyers agreed. No Kanter, no immunity deal with Moran.

In 1984 Moran pleaded guilty to seven counts of filing false individual and corporate tax returns. He drew a suspended two-year sentence, a civil settlement in excess of $ 12 million, and a community service requirement that he satisfied by establishing a training center where underprivileged children learn car maintenance.

What went wrong? Alan Block, a criminologist at Penn State University who has written a monograph about organized crime and the IRS in the Bahamas, and has carefully reviewed the Moran case, thinks Moran was victimized. "I believe Moran produced the evidence necessary to go after Kanter," says Block. "It's quite clear, in my mind, that Justice did not honor its deal with Moran." In Block's opinion, Kanter used Justice Department connections to derail the case.

Why would Justice not have honored its deal? Richard Jaffe, now an investigator in the Florida state attorney's office, was the IRS agent who led the Project Haven investigation. Donald Van Koughnet, a Florida attorney, is a specialist in legitimate offshore trusts; he was also involved in the later stages of Moran's defense. Both Jaffe and Van Koughnet believe that Stahl, and perhaps lawyers inside the Justice Department, were trying to protect Kanter. Under this somewhat conspiratorial theory, Moran was simply the fall guy.

Another fall guy was Roger Baskes, a partner in Kanter's Chicago law firm. He was convicted of setting up tax evasion schemes in Castle Bank for his clients. Kanter faced tax conspiracy charges in a case arising out of Project Haven; he was acquitted in 1977, and to this day maintains he was never a principal in Castle Bank.

One thing is clear. In asking Steadman Stahl to defend him, Moran could have done better. In 1985 Stahl was convicted of obstructing justice while defending a local drug kingpin. Stahl served two years and has been readmitted to the Florida bar. Asked about his alleged misrepresentation of Moran, Stahl dismisses it as a "vicious lie." He contends -- and at least one Justice official involved in the case backs him up -- that the evidence provided in Moran's defense wasn't sufficient to prosecute Kanter.

Why then did Stahl move to seal the evidence? Stahl says that by prior agreement with the government, the evidence would not be made public if it was not compelling.

What says victim Moran, if victim he was? Nothing. He's muzzled. Williams & Connolly, Moran's current counsel, has strongly advised him to say nothing about his tax case.

"Every bone in my body says yes, I should talk about it, but my lawyers say no," says Moran. And so the skeleton still rattles.

Why bother with a decade-old tax case? Because it took a heavy toll on Moran -- he says it caused his stroke in 1983 -- and because it could have cost him his business. Under the terms of its distributorship agreement, Toyota could have terminated Moran's franchise. But Toyota apparently wasn't prepared to part company with the man once responsible for selling nearly one out of every five Toyotas in the U.S. Says Don Sigmon, a Toyota dealer in Greenville, N.C.: "I can assure you that [Toyota Chairman] Eiji Toyoda and President [Shoichiro] Toyoda love Jim Moran. He has always been a producer."

Many of the dealers who get their cars from Southeast also think highly of Moran. In years past he has flown virtually every Southeast dealer or general manager, with their spouses, to an annual all-expenses-paid gala, usually in places like Hawaii or even Tokyo. Topping off these occasions was a multimillion-dollar money pool -- funded by Southeast and the dealers -- called the "cashbash," in which dealers could draw for cash prizes of up to $ 100,000.

"Everybody like money," reasons Moran, who says he has doled out $ 100,000 bonuses to people making $ 50,000 salary. "Hey -- that gets his attention," says the master salesman. "You couldn't drive him off with a baseball bat."

But life with Toyota took on a troubling cast with the introduction of car import quotas in 1981. Overnight, dealers had to fight for cars that were in short supply. Under Toyota's "turn-to-earn" allocation system -- in which the 12 U.S. distributors, company-owned and private, competed for monthly allocations from Japan -- competition for cars among distributors grew fierce.

Some of Southeast's district managers began encouraging dealers to file false sales reports, so as to get more cars. This backfired when, in 1986, a few North Carolina dealers who refused to go along with the alleged scheme petitioned state regulators to revoke Moran's license to operate.

The key plaintiff in a $ 40 million suit against Southeast Toyota was North Carolina's first (and most successful) Toyota dealer, Garson Rice. He had vied against Moran for the original Southeast franchise back in 1968. Now he won some revenge from Moran in the form of a staggering $ 22 million out-of-court settlement.

Moran had other dealer problems when the rising yen jacked up prices and competition from new imports and better-made domestics started squeezing margins. But instead of cutting prices to its dealers, Southeast basically held the line.

Sensing Moran's vulnerability after the settlement with Rice, other dealers are beginning to grumble. Richard Beasley, a prominent South Carolina banker and Toyota dealer, has filed a $ 70 million complaint that a representative of Southeast falsified his books and coerced his dealership to file false sales reports under the threat of loss of his franchise. Moran denies all the charges and vows to fight Beasley vigorously.

According to some estimates, half of Toyota's U.S. dealers lost money in 1988. Cars are starting to back up on dealer lots. In January Moran scaled back his accessorizing operation by more than one-third and announced price reductions. This year, there will be no motivational trips to Hawaii.

The future of Moran's JM Family Enterprises after its founder passes from the scene is by no means clear Toyota's long-term goal, according to some observers, is to regain control of its three remaining independent distributorships, including Moran's. But for now, Moran has renewed his franchise agreement for six more years.

"I've been assured from the top on down that I have it ad infinitum," says Moran. "But," he adds, "nothing is forever." Moran has done what he can to concentrate control within his family. Besides son-in-law John McNally and daughter Pat (both possible successors), Moran's second wife, his son James Jr. and daughter Arline (McNally's wife) are all key executives, or at least on the board.

Moran himself continues to work a nine-hour day, six days a week. Hard work is as much a part of him as the gruesome cancer surgery scars he offers to show a FORBES reporter. Recalling that Sinclair gas station he bought with $ 360 in 1939, he says: "I worked seven days a week, from 6:30 in the morning to 10 o'clock at night, 365 days a year." Retirement? "I wouldn't know what to do with myself," he replies. "I'd go crazy."

SYBIL KENNEDY: I agreed to take Mr. Wolstonecroft to dinner. And while we were at dinner, I had given Mr. Casper a key to my apartment. Mr. Wolstonecroft left his briefcase in my apartment.

NORM CASPER [Undercover agent for IRS]: I opened up the briefcase and handed the-- the documents to an IRS agent. And they filmed it, handed it back to me, and I placed it back in the briefcase.

MIKE WALLACE: So you and Wolstonecroft--

KENNEDY: Went back to the apartment. He picked up the briefcase. He never knew that it had even been touched.

MORLEY SAFER: Come along with us tonight to a place you've probably never heard of, a place you're not likely to visit, a place where the streets do run with gold, where a citizen never pays a doctor's bill, never pays rent, never pays taxes; man for man, woman for woman, child for child, the richest people on earth.

DAN RATHER: This is the kind of thing we're talking about.

[Special effect]

Is this the most complicated thing of its sort you've ever been into?

BARRY BIEDERMAN [Senior VP, Needham-Harper ad agency]: Oh, I-- Absolutely. I think it's probably the most complicated special effects job ever done on television commercials.

WALLACE: I'm Mike Wallace.

SAFER: I'm Morley Safer. Dan Rather is on assignment. In a moment, those stories and more tonight on 60 MINUTES.

["THE CASTLE BANK CAPER"]

MIKE WALLACE: "The Castle Bank Caper" is a story about taxes. Nobody wants to pay more taxes than he has to - legally. That is called tax avoidance. Tax evasion is another thing. That is illegal. Well, both dodges - avoidance and evasion - are possible for Americans in some tiny off-shore islands in the Caribbean, islands called tax havens. Some Americans doing business there, banking there, pay no income tax, no capital gains tax. Indeed, those islands have been described in the U.S. Congress as "pirate nations" that each year defraud the United States of hundreds of millions of dollars. Well, a Miami private detective decided he wanted to help save some of those millions for the United States, so he went to work on it. His name is Norman Casper.

Norm Casper lives on Key Biscayne near Miami. At first glance, he looks like any other modest suburban home owner. But in fact he worked two years as an undercover agent for IRS. His code designation, TW-24.

NORM CASPER: That was a code designation for Trade Winds, and obviously I must have been the twenty-fourth informant that came along. I don't know what happened to the other twenty-three.

WALLACE: You were paid how much?

CASPER: Approximately twenty-six thousand dollars.

WALLACE: Over a period of two years?

CASPER: A little over two years.

WALLACE: Paid by the U.S. Government?

CASPER: Correct.

WALLACE: Casper's target lay fifty miles off Florida in the Bahamas. It's an outfit called Castle Bank and Trust.

These are the offices of Castle Bank and Trust in downtown Nassau - like most banks in the Bahamas, a private institution. There are no tellers inside (they don't want depositors just walking in off the street) but they are said to handle more than a quarter billion dollars in assets. There are a few employees in there; modest quarters; a shredding machine. And Internal Revenue was said to be curious about their clients.

CASPER: I know that when I first got involved with Castle Bank and Trust, that there was an almost paranoid fear of the IRS.

WALLACE: The IRS was stymied in its efforts to find out more about Castle Bank by the Bahamas Bank secrecy laws. A bank employee there can go to jail for revealing information about depositors.

CASPER: Mr. Wallace, the banking laws over there have been formulated purely and simply to hide money. If it's completely above board, why have all the secrecy?

WALLACE: Not just Casper, but Congressman Ben Rosenthal, of the House Committee that oversees the IRS, complains about Bahamian secrecy.

REP. BENJAMIN ROSENTHAL [Dem., New York]: There is in fact a Berlin Wall surrounding the Bahamas, and there's virtually no way that that government will cooperate with our government in assisting-- assisting the enforcement of United States tax laws. And additionally, they make it easy for illicit money, illegally obtained money, to find its way into channels in which it can rest and not only avoid taxes, but avoid accountability.

WALLACE: The Governor of the Central Bank of the Bahamas is Basil Donaldson.

What if you have reason to believe that some of the people who are banking here in the Bahamas and private banks have been breaking our laws, United States laws? Does that interest you?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Well, that is-- that is not-- With respect, that's-- that's a matter for the United States Government.

WALLACE: But don't you--

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Could we-- could you expect a small country like the Bahamas to spend all its time, with our limited resources, limited personnel, policing the citizens of the United States? I mean, this would-- this would occupy our time. This is a matter for the United States Government to do. It-- it simply indicates that the United States Government is not doing its own policing.

WALLACE: Well, Norman Casper was hired by the Intelligence Division of IRS to try to finger U.S. tax evaders in the Bahamas, and that is where Castle Bank came under scrutiny. Based largely on Casper's reports, the IRS came to believe Castle Bank was just a sham. Not in truth an offshore bank owned and run by Bahamians, but a captive institution effectively controlled by Americans, who were using the bank to hide their clients' money, not to avoid taxes but to evade them. And evasion is illegal.

CASPER: If it's all legitimate, why such paranoia, why such a fear? Why?

WALLACE: The key to the Castle Bank puzzle was in finding out which Americans had accounts with Castle Bank. And one man who knew was Michael Wolstonecroft, the Manager of Castle Bank, whom Casper had befriended. The breakthrough came during one of Wolstonecroft's trips to Miami.

You got hold of the contents of a briefcase owned by Michael Wolstonecroft. You smile, but you did.

CASPER: That is correct.

WALLACE: By what means?

CASPER: I employed a female.

WALLACE: By the name of Sybil Kennedy?

CASPER: That is correct.

SYBIL KENNEDY: I agreed to take Mr. Wolstonecroft to dinner. And while we were at dinner, I had given Mr. Casper a key to my apartment. Mr. Wolstonecroft left his briefcase in my apartment.

CASPER: I removed the briefcase, and took it to another location; opened up the briefcase, and handed the-- the documents to an IRS agent. And they filmed it, handed it back to me, and I placed it back in the briefcase.

WALLACE: So you and Wolstonecroft--

KENNEDY: Went back to the apartment. He picked up his briefcase. He never knew that it had even been touched.

WALLACE: A few weeks later, Casper again enlisted Sybil Kennedy, this time to fly to Nassau for a weekend visit with Mike Wolstonecroft. Her mission: to steal a Rolodex that contained data on Castle Bank's clients. Her chance came when Wolstonecroft, who was showing her around the empty bank, left her alone for a few minutes.

KENNEDY: What I had was a small suitcase, which looked like a pocketbook, and I slipped the Rolodex into it, which fit just perfectly. The next day I returned to Miami with the Rolodex still in my purse, and turned it over to Mr. Casper.

WALLACE: You never worried that-- that what you were doing was dirty pool?

KENNEDY: I knew it was dirty pool. Yes, I knew-- Certainly I knew it was dirty pool. But it was necessary; it had to be done. Hey, I love this country, and I feel that the American people were-- are being robbed.

WALLACE: Casper paid Sybil Kennedy five hundred dollars for her work. They put together a list of three hundred eight Castle Bank accounts. Now, the fact that someone's name was on that list does not necessarily mean something illegal was going on. But it gave the IRS a place to start, and some prominent names were turned up. U.S. magazine publishers, large American corporations, Hollywood figures, and seven individuals with old connections to organized crime in Cleveland. Again, Basil Donaldson.

Governor Donaldson, what would you do if you found out that Castle Bank was dealing with Americans the FBI says are connected with organized crime?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: If I found it out officially?

WALLACE: Yeah.

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: I would recommend to the Minister immediately that the bank would be delicensed. This would be my-- my immediate reaction.

WALLACE: Now you do know that, according to the IRS, the list of depositors lifted from Wolstonecroft's briefcase had the name of several men (I believe seven) allegedly connected with organized crime in Ohio, who are doing--

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: I-- I don't know this. See, I think that is-- that is the real difference. I think the difference is that it is-- it has been alleged by various media in the United States. And what I'm saying to you--

WALLACE: Well you-- you've seen these names. Have you tried to check this out with Castle Bank?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Oh, yes. Yes.

WALLACE: You have?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Yes.

WALLACE: And?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Castle Bank informs me, on an informal basis, that the persons who are mentioned in this particular document--

WALLACE: Right.

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: --are not doing business with them.

WALLACE: Any more.

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Well-- [laughing] I am talk--

WALLACE: That could be it?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: That could be it. I mean, I am talking at the time. I didn't say, "Did these people ever do business with you?" I say, "Are these people....?" You know. [Laughing]

WALLACE: I see.

Another Castle Bank connection. This is the Bahamian White House. It is also the private residence of Lynden Pindling, the Prime Minister of the Bahamas, who acquired it at a cost of four hundred and fifty thousand dollars. He borrowed fifty thousand dollars toward the purchase price from Castle Bank and Trust.

Last year, Norm Casper's work and the secret IRS investigation were revealed, and temporarily roadblocked, by the then-new head of the IRS himself, Donald Alexander.

DONALD ALEXANDER [Commissioner, IRS]: One of my primary objectives has been to see to it that the Internal Revenue Service respects individual rights, that its employees always operate within the law in conducting investigations, and that the Service confine its activities to those appropriate to a tax administration and enforcement agency.

WALLACE: Alexander's statement dismayed many in the Justice Department. They thought the material purloined by Casper could be legally used in any prosecution, and that Alexander's statement could undermine their case. Yet long before all that, news of what the IRS was up to had leaked to one of the men most closely associated with Castle Bank - prominent Chicago lawyer Burton Cantor, U.S. tax attorney to Castle Bank. He's already under indictment in a tax evasion case involving a wealthy Castle Bank client.

Who owns Castle Bank?

CANTOR: I don't know.

WALLACE: Oh, Mr. Cantor. You know.

CANTOR: No, I don't know.

WALLACE: You really don't know who?

CANTOR: I really don't know.

WALLACE: And you're not even curious?

CANTOR: Oh, today I'm more curious than ever.

WALLACE: Do you own any shares in Castle Bank and Trust?

CANTOR: No.

WALLACE: You're just--

CANTOR: I'm an attorney. And I represent the bank like I represent lots of other people.

WALLACE: I quote to you from an internal memo, an internal IRS memo, dated April thirtieth, nineteen seventy four, which says, "The evidence thus far adduced indicates the utilization of captive foreign financial institutions by unscrupulous tax practitioners in conspiracies with their wealthy clients, who have bought their packaged schemes." Sounds like they have you in mind.

CANTOR: Well, let's assume that they do have me in mind. The problem is, I don't know what any of that means. If that's the accusation, where is the crime?

WALLACE: The crime, as we said, according to the IRS, could lie in that word "captive" - referring to Castle Bank and Trust. The IRS believes Castle Bank is not controlled in the Bahamas, but that its affairs were directed and effectively controlled by such as Burt Cantor out of Chicago. If that is true, says the IRS, then Castle Bank is not a true tax haven; it is a sham, and its trust accounts are evading U.S. taxes illegally. But Burt Cantor asserts the IRS doesn't understand its own tax laws.

CANTOR: What are the schemes that allegedly are being purveyed? What are the schemes in conjunction with these wealthy clients?

WALLACE: Tax evasion; not avoidance, which is your business, but tax evasion, which should not be your business.

CANTOR: You're quite right. It should not, and is not. Tax avoidance is my business.

WALLACE: You know that, according to IRS memos, many of the people who had accounts at Castle Bank indicated on their U.S. income tax returns that they had no foreign bank accounts.

CANTOR: No, you're telling me that. I don't know that.

WALLACE: It would not be true with any of your clients?

CANTOR: To the best of my knowledge, it would not be true with any of our clients; or at least, if they did so, it was contrary to any advice we would have given them.

WALLACE: We have learned that several cartons of documents have been shredded at Castle Bank over the past months. Most of those files involve clients of Burton Cantor. Cantor denies ordering the shredding.

Miami lawyer Paul Helliwell, another of Castle Bank's U.S. lawyers, is also said to be an object of IRS investigation. Norm Casper says his contacts in Nassau told him that Helliwell, like Cantor, played a major role in running Castle Bank.

HELLIWELL: Well, I don't know who told him that, but much of the direction of their operation did not come from me. We have given them advice. We have told them how we think documents and so forth should be set up; how a bank should be run, whether it's a Bahamian bank, an American bank, or any other bank that happens to be an area in which we have a certain amount of expertise.

WALLACE: What do you think of the motives and the operation of Norman Casper?

HELLIWELL: I just-- It just shocks the sense of morality. I just don't think it's proper. I certainly don't think it's a very American way to do it.

WALLACE: Helliwell calls it un-American.

CASPER: He does?

WALLACE: Yes. Told me that this afternoon.

CASPER: Tell me something. How is it American to have secret bank accounts, to siphon money off? Mr. Wallace, you are paying for this, point blank, you and everyone else, because more-- fewer and fewer are-- are being asked to supply more and more money.

WALLACE: What you're doing is setting yourself up, for what you perceive to be the best of motives, as a paid vigilante.

CASPER: No--

WALLACE: And yet, in the course of performing your duties as informant, vigilante, or wherever, you yourself break the law.

CASPER: I'd do it again.

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: As I see it, there-- there are some members in-- agencies such as the IRS in the lower echelon who feel a-- a real frustration, and I can sympathize with the frustration, because they see persons of wealth taking advantages of loopholes in the tax laws. These people are relatively low-paid. And when they see somebody setting up a trust, you know, and-- and they're able to do all this legally, it frustrates them. So naturally they begin to go after these people. This-- this-- this isn't a money struggle. We're talking about a fundamental class struggle, strangely enough, in the United States. And it is a class struggle. It's a class struggle between the haves and-- between the haves and the have-nots.

WALLACE: So, a man like Norman Casper, you can understand his-- his motives?

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Oh, oh, oh, I can understand it, yes. I mean, that-- that is quite understandable.

WALLACE: And you realize, of course, that it is your feelings about secrecy here in the Bahamas, your willingness to let avoiders, and even evaders--

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Yes.

WALLACE: --take advantage of your laws.

GOVERNOR DONALDSON: Oh, well, this is-- this is true in life. I think you have to recognize that there is no perfect situation. That, in fact, because the laws here are set up to accommodate avoidance, one cannot say that there might be the evaders that slip through, and one must accept this as a fact of life.

WALLACE: But Norm Casper doesn't accept it as a fact of life. He finds himself with lots of time on his hands, while just a few miles away in Miami a federal grand jury continues to take testimony on Castle Bank and Trust. But this man, who played such a big role in getting the investigation going, is no longer providing information. He was cut off by the IRS after Commissioner Alexander blew his cover. Norm Casper's out of a job, broke; yet sure of what he's done.

CASPER: I believe that each person has to view me as he will, and I cannot help what they think at this point. I have done what I think is right, and I would do it again.

WALLACE: Just this week, Norm Casper brought a ten million dollar suit against the U.S. Government. He claims that, by his public statements, Internal Revenue boss Donald Alexander blew Casper's cover, put his life in danger, and made it impossible for him to find other work.

["ABU DHABI"]

MORLEY SAFER: Our next story is one that was dropped a few weeks ago when a football game once again ran over into our time period. For those of you in the Far West who've already seen it, we beg your indulgence while we show it to the rest of the country.

Once upon a time, in the shifting sands of southern Arabia, there was a tribe called the Banyas. Even by the standards of the nineteenth century, they were poor. They were nomadic herdsmen: a few goats and a few camels. And according to the few explorers to entered the area, they were dangerous, too; as like to tear you apart for your shoes as say, "Good morning." They wandered about in search of water, and finally settled on an island in the Persian Gulf which they called Abu Dhabi.

And there they remained for centuries - even to this day. Just listen to how a 19th century British geographer describes the place and the people: "Immeasurable tracts of inhospitable stoney desert . . . the rapacity of guides and the extortionate demands of petty chieftains when they have once got the stranger in their power..."

All this, together with the heat of the climate and the forbidding aspect of the desert are enough to deter even the most courageous and indefatigable of travelers.

In this century, when hard cash became a necessity, the Banyas practiced a little piracy along the Gulf coast, but never enough to really strain themselves. Indeed, the Banyas had very little to recommend them - except for one thing: a belief that, with patience, everything would get better. The Arabic word for it is hadth. It means luck. The Banyas always believed that one day they'd get lucky. And they were right. Today they're the richest people on this earth.

The source of all this wealth is, of course, oil. But the tale we have to tell is not about oil, but about the money oil brings to these people.

APPLICATION FOR AN ORDER AUTHORIZING
DEPOSITIONS AND PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS

The United States of America, by and through its undersigned attorneys, hereby applies for an order, pursuant to Title 21, United States Code, Section 853(m) (as incorporated by Title 18, United States Code, Section 982(b)(1)(A)), and Title 18, United States Code, Section 1963(k), authorizing the taking of depositions and the production of documents to facilitate the identification and location of in excess of $6 million in narcotics proceeds which were declared forfeited to the United States on November 9, 1993. The grounds for this Application follow:

1. On or about August 17, 1993, John E. Fitzgerald ("Fitzgerald") executed a written plea agreement in which he agreed to plead guilty to Count One of the Indictment, charging him with racketeering conspiracy, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1962(d), and to Count Three of the Indictment, charging him with money laundering, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1957. Pursuant to the plea agreement, Fitzgerald agreed to forfeit to the United States all proceeds of the above offenses which had been deposited at Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and the Swiss American National Bank in St. Johns, Antigua, during the period September 1985 through June 23, 1987, into accounts, including certificates of deposit, held in the names of Rosebud Investments, Ltd., White Rose Investments, Ltd., Handel Investments, Ltd., J & B Investments Corp., and Guardian Bank, Ltd., plus accrued interest. The then-known certificates of deposit at issue had a combined total value in excess of six million dollars.

2. On November 9, 1993, the Court issued an initial Order of Forfeiture with respect to the accounts (collectively, the "Property" or the "Fitzgerald Funds"). The Court ordered the Property forfeited to the United States for disposition in accordance with the provisions of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 982 and 1963.

3. Pursuant to the initial Order of Forfeiture, the United States published notice of the Order of Forfeiture for three successive weeks (February 17, 24 and March 3, 1994) in the Antigua and Barbuda Official Gazette, and the Boston Globe (March 10, 17 and 24, 1994).

4. No petitions were received from any person asserting a legal interest in the Property. Accordingly, on May 4, 1994, the Court entered a Final Order of Forfeiture, declaring the Property forfeited to the United States.¹

5. In or about April 1994, attorneys from the United States Department of Justice met with Antiguan Attorney General Clare K. Roberts to discuss the enforcement of the forfeiture and subsequent sharing of the forfeited proceeds between the United States and Antigua.

6. Subsequent to the meeting, the United States submitted several formal requests to Antigua seeking restraint of the forfeited Property, production of bank records of Swiss American Bank, and a response on the question of asset sharing. The Government of Antigua failed to respond.

7. On December 18, 1995, counsel from Washington & Christian, a Washington, D.C., law firm which lobbies on behalf of Antigua, informed Assistant Legal Attache Paul Garner of the American Embassy in Bridgetown, Barbados (which covers Antiguan matters) that the Fitzgerald funds at Swiss American Bank were no longer available. Counsel from Washington & Christian stated that the funds had been transferred by Swiss American Bank to the Government of Antigua, and that the Government of Antigua had deposited the funds into its general treasury.

8. On or about January 22, 1996, Department of Justice attorneys again met with Antiguan Attorney General Roberts and counsel from Washington & Christian to discuss the Swiss American Bank issue. Attorney General Roberts stated that Swiss American Bank had unilaterally approached the Antiguan Finance Ministry on the grounds that the bank no longer felt comfortable holding the Fitzgerald funds. According to Attorney General Roberts, the Finance Ministry, without informing the Attorney General's Office, had accepted the funds and deposited them into the general treasury. The Justice Department attorneys were informed that the funds, therefore, were not available for sharing with the United States.²

9. On or about October 1, 1996, this Court issued an International Letter Rogatory to the judicial authorities in Antigua and Barbuda. The Letter Rogatory requested that Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and Swiss American National Bank be ordered to produce all records of bank accounts held in the name of Rosebud Investments, Ltd., White Rose Investments, Ltd., Handel Investments, Ltd., J & B Investments Corp., and Guardian Bank, Ltd. On or about November 13, 1996, the Government of Antigua and Barbuda confirmed that on December 28, 1994, Swiss American Bank had turned over approximately $5,003,685, formerly contained in the Guardian Bank, Ltd., Handel Investments, and J & B Investments accounts, to the Antiguan Government. However, no documents pertaining to those accounts were produced.

10. Although Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and Swiss American National Bank do not maintain offices in the United States, upon information and belief, Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and Swiss American National Bank have or had correspondent account(s) at the following financial institutions: Bank of New York; BankAmerica International New York; Bank of Bermuda (N.Y.) Ltd.; and Chase Manhattan Bank. All of these financial institutions are located and available for depositions and discovery in New York, New York. Accordingly, the United States now seeks an Asset Discovery Order in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. The proposed Asset Discovery Order would authorize the United States to depose each of these banks, and to require them to produce pertinent records, all for the purpose of identifying and locating the forfeited Property and discovering the circumstances surrounding the movement of the Property, which has had the effect, to date, of preventing its transfer to the United States pursuant to the Final Order of Forfeiture.

11. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1963(k) and Title 21, United States Code, Section 853(m), as incorporated by Title 18, United States Code, Section 982(b)(1)(A), both provide that "in order to facilitate the identification and location of property declared forfeited," the court may "order that the testimony of any witness relating to the property forfeited be taken by deposition and that any designated book, paper, document, record . . . or other material not privileged be produced at the same time and place" See, e.g., United States v. Paccione, 948 F.2d 851, 854 (2d Cir. 1991) (rev'd on other grounds) (depositions ordered to identify and locate assets needed to satisfy a forfeiture money judgment).

WHEREFORE, for the foregoing reasons, the United States requests that this Court enter an Asset Discovery Order in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Sir,

I refer to your letter of 15th June, 1990 concerning certain accounts which are held in your bank and which are believed to have been the proceeds of drug trafficking and sale of firearms for terrorist purposes.

The contents of your letter and supporting documents have been discussed by the Cabinet of Antigua and Barbuda. Having investigated this matter the Government considers that it would be in the public interest and a matter of security of state that you immediately freeze the accounts in question.

You will remember that the accounts in question are as follows:-

1. Handel Investments	US$ 92,000.00
2. Chelsea	US$ 20,000.00
3. J & B	US$ 228,000.00
4. Guardian Bank	EC$ 500,000.00
5. Guardian Bank	US$5,581,430.00

I therefore authorize and direct you to put a hold on these funds until further notice.

TO: Board of Directors
SWISS AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ANTIGUA

FROM: Cordell B. Sheppard

SUBJECT: GUARDIAN BANK LTD. - FREEZING OF FUNDS

I have been requested by the Board of Directors of Swiss American National Bank of Antigua to give an opinion as to whether or not the funds held by SANB & SAB can be frozen by the Minister of Finance if it can be determined that the said funds are linked to arms smuggling and terrorism.

I understand that the Minister has been supplied with investigative reports from Bermuda which establish such a link, and I base this opinion on the premise that the reports exist and that their contents are true.

Guardian Bank Limited is a company incorporated in June 1985 under the laws of Anguilla, to carry on the business of Banking. It is accepted, for the purposes of this opinion only, that the shareholders of Guardian Bank Ltd. are Sarcens, Hoylake and Harlequins, companies incorporated under the International Business Corporation Act 1982.

Section 230 (1) of the Act states, inter alia, that the licence of any off shore Company must be issued on application, if the appropriate official has no reason to believe that it would be contrary to the public interest to do so.

I am informed that the information now in the hands of the Minister of Finance, who is responsible for administering and policing the Act, suggests that the whole object for setting up the three off shore companies was to hold the shares in Guardian Bank Ltd. and thereby control the funds deposited in the Swiss American Banks in the name of Guardian Bank Ltd.

All the threads of this illegal conspiracy were drawn together by Peter Herrington in Antigua, and Antigua became the financial pivot for the proposed arms smuggling activities of the persons investigated.

If the "appropriate official" mentioned in section 230 (1) above had been aware of these circumstances he would indubitably have refused to licence the companies concerned under Section 230 (1).

The aforesaid Section 230 (1) speaks of the interest of the public as a pre-licensing requirement. It is this writer's view that the public interest would not cease to predominate on the issue of the licence, but must continue to subsist as an operative and positive requirement during the life of the company, the licence of which may be terminated in the interest of the public good.

The duty placed upon the licensing authority to ensure that the public interest is protected, does not dissipate or disappear or lose its virility when the licence is granted. The appropriate official has a continuing duty to ensure that a company operating under the International Business Corporation Act does so in the public interest in accordance with what the Minister perceives this to be.

The reports which have been submitted to the Minister must lead him to the conclusion that the continued existence of Sarcens, Moylake and Mariequins are not in the public interest, since their very existence is based upon a criminal purpose. The Minister can therefore revoke the companies' charter under Section 236 (1) (b) of the IBC Act, on the ground that those companies are in breach of an implied condition not to act in a manner inimical to the best interests of the State and Citizens of Antigua & Barbuda.

If the Minister uses his powers under this Section, then Guardian Bank Ltd. would be without shareholders, and incapable of corporate existence; it is no longer a bank by virtue of the revocation of its banking licence by the Anguillian authorities, and, the funds held in its accounts by SANB & SAB may properly be declared frozen by Ministerial order, pending proper representation of the true beneficial owners. In the absence of evidence of such beneficial ownership, the funds would escheat to the Crown after a suitable period.

Dear Sir:

Re: United States of America vs. John Fitzgerald
CR. No. 93-10149-Z

Your advertisement in the Official Gazette dated 17th February and 3rd March, respectively, on the above-captioned have come to hand on 24th March, 1994, with respect to your present action for forfeiture of the funds in question. I respectfully state the following for your information which I am sure you will relay to the Court.

- a. By action commenced in the High Court of Antigua, a Court of competent jurisdiction, it was adjudged that Mr. Fitzgerald was not the beneficial owner of sums of money held in the Swiss American Bank Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank of Antigua.
- b. That Mr. John Fuller, a local attorney who was the plaintiff in the action, had no standing and therefore could not operate those accounts on behalf of the beneficiaries and that if he did possess the bearer share certificates of any of the companies mentioned in your notice then he had no right to hold them as there was no proper delivery to him by Mr. Herrington, the banks' outgoing General Manager, who was dismissed for cause against whom the banks have instituted civil proceedings in the High Court.
- c. Further, and in the event of your action for forfeiture being successful, the banks have been instructed by the Government of Antigua and Barbuda to freeze all of the assets of Guardian Bank Limited, the same funds in issue in your Petition, until the ultimate beneficial owners have been ascertained to the Government's satisfaction.

Dear Mr. Gerald E. McDowell,

I am sorry I have not been able until now to reply to your letter of July 12, 1996 on the above matter. I learnt the Swiss American Bank had difficulty in tracing records of the accounts named in your letter.

I was informed that the Banks records of most of its non performing accounts which were closed were kept at its Friars Hill Branch and were either lost or destroyed when Hurricane Luis struck the island of Antigua and Barbuda in September, 1995 and destroyed the Friars Hill Branch of the Bank premises. After extensive and long search the Bank reported that it was unable to provide the statement of accounts which were closed prior to September, 1995. The Bank further advised that no accounts were conducted in the corporate names of Rosebud Investment, Ltd; White Rose Investment, Ltd; or in the personal names of John Fitzgerald; Joseph Murray and Michael Murray.

With respect to your request for all records reflecting the turnover of funds by the Swiss American Bank to the Government of Antigua, the Bank revealed that on December 28, 1994 it turned over to the Government a total sum of US$5,003,685.00. This sum consisted of certain amounts deposited in various accounts frozen by the order of the Government. These accounts were frozen after investigation authorised by the Government showed that the various sums credited to those accounts were proceeds of drug trafficking and sale of firearms for terrorist purposes. The accounts are as follows -

1.	Guardian Bank Limited	US$4,659,670.00
2.	Guardian Bank Limited EC$15,432.89 (in Swiss American National Bank of Antigua)	US$ 5,715.00
3.	Handel Investments	US$ 92,000.00
4.	J&B Investment Corporation	US$ 256,300.00
	Total	US$5,003,685.00

Again, I very much regret the delay in responding to your letter. I hope however, that this information will be useful and go a long way in satisfying your Court.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

I have been appointed Counsel to Swiss American Bank and in that capacity, I acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 15th 1997 addressed to Swiss American Bank.

The Funds to which you refer were deposited as stated by you into the accounts during the period September 1985 through June 23rd, 1987.

However, The Proceeds of Crime Act No.13 of 1993 was enacted on the 10th of June 1993 and came into effect on the 25th of June 1993, almost 6 years later than the above events.

There was introduced into the said Act offences for Money Laundering under Section 61(2) and (3). Sections 67(1) and (2) included provision for an external forfeiture order for "a designated country". However, the USA has never been named as "a designated country".

Section 67(3) of the above Act provided "subject to subsection (4) the Court may on application by or on behalf of the Government of a designated country, register an external forfeiture order.

The Government of the United States did not, nor can it register the Order of April 5th 1994 which was made in the United States District Court, District of Massachusetts, inasmuch as the deposits referred to as proceeds of crime, were made during the period September 1985 through June 23rd 1987, and were not then in violation of any criminal laws in Antigua and Barbuda and/or not liable to forfeiture in Antigua and Barbuda.

With reference to your statement that the Government of Antigua has represented to the United States of America that on December 28th 1994, Swiss American Bank, unilaterally turned over the amount of US$5,003,685 to the Government of Antigua, your allegation of unilateral action on the part of the bank is categorically denied.

In fact, on 15th June 1990, my client notified the Minister of Finance that certain accounts, which were held at the bank, were believed to be the proceeds of drug trafficking and the sale of firearms for terrorist purposes. My bank enclosed supporting documents and acted in the utmost good faith.

The Minister of Finance responded on 29 June 1990, "The contents of your letter and supporting documents have been discussed by the Cabinet of Antigua and Barbuda. Having investigated this matter the Government considers that it would be in the public interest and a matter of security of the state that you immediately freeze the accounts in question, I therefore authorize and direct you to put a hold on these funds until further notice."

The directions of the Minister of Finance were complied with until there were discussions between Swiss American Bank Ltd. and the Government as to the final disposition of the funds held in these various accounts. The bank could not and did not act unilaterally. With the express approval and directions of the Government, the bank disbursed the entire amounts lying at credit to the relevant accounts on January 23rd 1995, in a manner wholly acceptable and approved by the Government of Antigua and Barbuda and for the sole benefit of the Government as set out in a letter to the Prime Minister which was delivered on January 20th, 1995.

From the above background it is our contention that "the funds claimed to be forfeited" do not properly belong to the United States and have been paid in good faith to the Government of Antigua and Barbuda. The bank will be compelled to resist any legal action, which might be brought against it in this respect.

Yours truly,

C. Lloyd Luckhoo Q.C.

Dear Mr McDowell

The Government of Antigua and Barbuda has received a copy of the recent filing in the State of Massachusetts of a civil complaint (United States v. Swiss American Bank Ltd et al, 97 Civ. 12811RWZ (the "Complaint") brought jointly by the U S Attorney's Office in that jurisdiction and the Department of Justice Criminal Division against, inter alia, Swiss American Bank Ltd and Swiss American National Bank of Antigua Ltd (the "Banks") both reputable Antiguan corporations in good standing.

This Complaint attacks the validity and legitimacy of a payment by the Banks to the Government of Antigua and Barbuda of approximately $5 million in January, 1995. The $5 million was the balance remaining in accounts at the Banks as a result of a freeze imposed in 1990 by the Government of Antigua and Barbuda because of evidence that the monies were the proceeds of illegal conduct. The Complaint claims that the $5 million should not have been paid in 1995 to the Government of Antigua and Barbuda but, instead was required to be paid to the Government of the United States pursuant to an Order of Forfeiture issued on May 4, 1994, in the District of Massachusetts in connection with the conviction of one John F Fitzgerald in that Jurisdiction.

We believe that it is critical that you act as soon as possible in order to clear the name of the Banks, the reputations of which have been injured unjustly by the filing of the Complaint and the media reports subsequently arising therefrom.

It was the Banks, on their own initiative, who acted in the late 1980's to alert your law enforcement agencies to prevent the use of these accounts by criminals, and then alerted the Antiguan and Barbudan Government to the situation so that the funds were frozen in 1990 by Government order. In a judgement handed down from our High Court dated December 20, 1990, it was found that Fitzgerald was not the owner of these funds.

In 1994, prior to the payment but after the U S Court Order, the Banks and the Government discussed the appropriate disposition of these funds. While the Banks initiated these discussions the Government understood all of the facts and circumstances regarding this account and acting in the public interest of Antigua and Barbuda released the freeze order on the funds and approved the disposition of the funds in a manner agreed by the Banks and approved by the Government.

We urge that the interests and actions of the Government of Antigua and Barbuda be recognised by the United States with the withdrawal of this litigation.

Yours sincerely

Re: United States v. Swiss American Bank, Ltd., et al.
United States District Court, District of Massachusetts, Civil Action No. 97-CV12811 RWZ

Dear Mr. Stevens:

I am in receipt of your January 28, 1998 letter requesting that the United States Department of Justice withdraw its December 23, 1997 lawsuit against Swiss American Bank ("SAB") and related entities. Frankly, I am puzzled by the request. The Government's lawsuit seeks to recover monies deposited with the defendant banks by John E. Fitzgerald. These funds were criminal proceeds derived in violation of United States law that were lawfully forfeited to the United States, on or about May 4, 1994, during the successful criminal prosecution of Fitzgerald in the United States. Further, I am surprised by the allegation that SAB acted with the approval of the Antiguan Government, a representation that runs counter to prior representations made by your government. Since January 1994, the Department of Justice made numerous unsuccessful diplomatic and legal efforts to gain information about the funds forfeited in the Fitzgerald criminal matter. The following history of the Department of Justice's pursuit of this matter will underscore the magnitude of these efforts.

The Department of Justice first requested the Antiguan Government's assistance in the Fitzgerald matter on January 7, 1994, in a letter from the Department of Justice's Office of International Affairs (OIA) to Attorney General Keith Ford. OIA requested the Antiguan Government's assistance in providing notice of the then-pending, but not yet completed, Fitzgerald criminal forfeiture action, restraining the relevant bank accounts, and obtaining account information from the banks. OIA proposed a meeting to discuss the execution of a forfeiture judgment under Antiguan law and the sharing of proceeds with the Antiguan Government. On February 10, 1994, OIA followed-up the initial inquiry with a communication to Solicitor General Ken Ballantyne reiterating the prior requests and providing a copy of the notice of forfeiture for service on SAB.

On April 21, 1994, members of the Department of Justice's Asset Forfeiture Office and OIA met with Attorney General Clare Roberts. During this meeting, the Antiguan Government asked the Department of Justice to prepare a formal affidavit which, the Department of Justice was told, would be required to obtain a restraining order against the Fitzgerald funds. The Antiguan Government also assured the Department of Justice that a restraining order would provide the basis for the production of bank documents. Finally, the Antiguan Government promised to take steps to designate the United States under the Proceeds of Crime Act, 1993, so that the forfeiture order could be registered and enforced in Antigua. The day after this meeting, the Department of Justice learned that approximately five million dollars of the Fitzgerald funds remained on deposit with SAB, a sum significantly smaller than the amounts deposited by Fitzgerald. The Department of Justice further discovered that the funds were no longer being held in interest bearing accounts. In an April 28, 1994 letter to Attorney General Roberts, OIA confirmed the Antiguan Government's request for an affidavit, informed the Antiguan Government of our intent to forward the final order of forfeiture by diplomatic note, accompanied by a proposal for an equal sharing of the proceeds, and informed the Antiguan Government of the Department of Justice's preference to have the remaining funds placed into interest bearing accounts.

On May 17, 1994, OIA sent the requested affidavit to Attorney General Roberts, reiterated the United States' desire to have the funds transferred to interest bearing accounts, and again requested the Antiguan Government's assistance in obtaining copies of the underlying bank records. On June 2, 1994, the United States sent a diplomatic note outlining the agreement to share in the proceeds of the forfeiture of the Fitzgerald funds. On June 27, 1994, OIA requested a status report from the Antiguan Government's Office of the Attorney General as to the restraining order and its request for bank documents. There was no response. On July 8, 1994 and August 3, 1994, OIA again requested the status of the two requests. Meanwhile, the United States continued to await word from the Antigua and Barbuda Ministry of Foreign Affairs regarding the proposal to share the funds.

Finally, on August 8, 1994, the Antiguan Government's Office of the Attorney General advised the Department of Justice, for the first time, that an order of restraint could be issued only after the final order of criminal forfeiture from the Fitzgerald matter is filed with a court in Antigua. The Antiguan Government's Office of the Attorney General also stated, for the first time, that the final order would need to be filed with an Antiguan court in order to gain access to the banks' records. The Antiguan Government's Office of the Attorney General further stressed that the final order of forfeiture should be filed with the Antiguan court even in the absence of an agreement regarding sharing of proceeds between the two governments.

On December 2, 1994, OIA sent a letter to the Antiguan Government's Attorney General seeking a commitment on the equitable distribution of the Fitzgerald funds under Article 5 of the Vienna Convention. OIA stressed that an agreement on this point was a condition precedent to the forwarding of the final order of forfeiture to an Antiguan court. The OIA letter set forth a legal analysis for the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds to the United States by an Antiguan court pursuant to the Antiguan Proceeds of the Crime Act, 1993. Further, OIA illustrated this analysis with a case in which the High Court of England repatriated monies ordered forfeited in the United States, in the absence of statutory authority, based solely upon equitable principles. Finally, OIA gave three examples of equitable sharing of forfeited funds, based upon U.S. domestic law, between the United States and common law jurisdictions. The Antiguan Government was invited to comment on the legal analysis.

Meanwhile, between December 1994 and January 1995,¹ the Fitzgerald funds were mysteriously transferred to the Antiguan Government. However, the Antiguan Government did not inform the United States of this development until almost a year later. On February 17, 1995, OIA requested a response to its December 2, 1994 letter. No response was received. On March 22, 1995, OIA sent a letter to the Antiguan Attorney General, attaching a copy of the final order of forfeiture, and reiterating its December 1994 request for repatriation of the Fitzgerald funds pursuant to Article 5 of the Vienna Convention, the proposal for equitable sharing of the funds under U.S. domestic law, the desire to have the funds placed in an interest bearing account, and the desire to obtain the records from the bank. Again, no response was received.

In late October 1995, OIA asked the Legal Attache at the U.S. Embassy in Bridgetown, Barbados to follow-up on the Fitzgerald matter. On November 20, 1995, a representative from the Legal Attache's office met with two attorneys from the Washington D.C. law firm of Washington and Christian, counsel to the Antiguan Government. Counsel informed the Legal Attache's office that the five million dollars in the Fitzgerald accounts was "no longer available." The attorneys advised that the funds had been transferred to the Antiguan Government, who had already spent the funds to pay pending debts, and, therefore, the Antiguan Government would not conduct further negotiations regarding the funds.

On January 22, 1996, attorneys from OIA and this Section, met with Attorney General Roberts to discuss the alarming revelation that the Fitzgerald funds were "no longer available." Attorney General Roberts informed the Department of Justice that SAB had unilaterally approached the Finance Ministry, explaining that the bank no longer felt "comfortable" holding the Fitzgerald funds, and deposited the funds in an Antiguan Government account. Attorney General Roberts claimed that the Finance Ministry accepted the funds without informing his office and that all the funds had been appropriated for internal improvements and social services. I voiced my dissatisfaction with the disposition of the funds and, again, requested the Antiguan Government's assistance in obtaining copies of the bank's records so the Department of Justice could do an accounting of the Fitzgerald funds. Subsequently, on February 28, 1996, OIA sent a letter to the Antiguan Government's Attorney General requesting a detailed written explanation of the arrangement between SAB and the Antiguan Government regarding the Fitzgerald funds and what steps were taken to dispose of the proceeds. Additionally, OIA identified the specific bank accounts and relevant time periods to which the document request applied. Again, no response was received.

In June 1996, I was introduced to Solicitor General Lebrecht Hesse at a conference in Port of Spain, Trinidad, promoting international cooperation in forfeiture and money laundering matters. I expressed to him that the Department of Justice continued to be dissatisfied with the resolution of the Fitzgerald matter. On July 12, 1996, I followed-up this chance meeting with a letter to Mr. Hesse, and, referring to OIA's February 28 request, I explained the need for copies of the bank account records and documents surrounding the transfer of the funds to the Government of Antigua. On July 29, 1996, I, along with other Asset Forfeiture and Money Laundering Section attorneys, again met with Attorney General Roberts and other representatives of the Antiguan Government. I was informed that the request for documents had been forwarded to the Finance Ministry, and then to SAB directly, who agreed to provide the information requested. The Department of Justice was assured that the information would be provided shortly. Again, Attorney General Roberts stressed that the transfer of the funds to the Antiguan Government was "unilateral" and that the bank transferred the funds first and then sent the Antiguan Government a letter informing the Antiguan Government of the transfer. Attorney General Roberts stated that the transfer was initially done without the knowledge of the Ministry of Justice or the Antiguan Government.

Finally, on November 13, 1996, Solicitor General Lebrecht Hesse informed the Department of Justice that the bank records requested were not available because Hurricane Luis apparently destroyed the Friars Hill branch of SAB. Nonetheless, the Solicitor General identified and broke down the source accounts for the funds allegedly transferred to the Antiguan Government on December 28, 1994. For the first time, and almost three years after the Department of Justice first sought assistance from the Antiguan Government, the Antiguan Government informed the Department of Justice that the funds in the bank accounts in question had been "frozen" by the Government, something that had been specifically denied in prior communications. Nonetheless, the Antiguan Government did not provide any documentation evidencing any of these circumstances.

At a November 21, 1996 meeting between Department of Justice Deputy Assistant Attorney General Mark Richard, Antiguan Attorney General Roberts and Prime Minister Bird, the Antiguan Government was again confronted with the United States' continued dissatisfaction about the resolution of the Fitzgerald matter. The Prime Minister indicated that the Antiguan Government would review the situation and consider returning the funds to the United States. On April 3, 1997, Deputy Assistant Attorney General Mark Richard spoke to the newly-installed Attorney General, Radford Hill. Deputy Assistant Attorney General Richard reiterated the points he made to and the promises made by the Prime Minister at the November 21, 1996 meeting. In addition, Mr. Richard informed Attorney General Hill that, should the Antiguan Government decide not to repatriate the funds to the United States, the United States would be forced to consider legal action against SAB. This Department of Justice position was memorialized in a letter to Attorney General Hill on April 10, 1997.

On or about April 16, 1997, the Department of Justice was contacted by Robert Washington of Washington & Christian. Mr. Washington stated that he thought the Fitzgerald matter had been resolved until Prime Minister Bird heard during a conference in Tobago the previous week that the United States was unhappy with the status of the matter. During the course of the phone call, Mr. Washington stated that the approximately $2 million that SAB retained was a set-off against outstanding Antiguan loans. He did not explain why the Antiguan Government accepted the approximately $5 million from SAB. Mr. Washington requested, in writing, the basis of the United States' dissatisfaction as to the non-repatriation of the Fitzgerald funds. This Section sent him both the April 10, 1997 letter to Attorney General Hill and the November 13, 1996 letter from Solicitor General Hesse.

On September 15, 1997, the United States Attorney's Office, District of Massachusetts and the Department of Justice, sent a demand letter to SAB for the monies deposited by Fitzgerald. A copy of this letter was sent to Attorney General Hill. On October 29, 1997, OIA received a response to the demand letter. The response denied that SAB acted unilaterally in transferring the funds to the Antiguan Government and justified the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds based upon "approval" received from the Antiguan Government. On December 12, 1997, this Section again asked counsel for SAB to provide documentation supporting the claim that the Antiguan Government was involved in the decision to transfer the funds. However, no response was received and the United States was forced to file its suit in order to preserve its legal rights.

Although given ample opportunities over the past four years, the Antiguan Government failed to admit, and at times outright denied, that the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds from SAB to the Antiguan Government was "approved" by Antiguan Government. Rather, until now, representatives from the Antiguan Government emphasized that SAB acted unilaterally and that the Antiguan Government neither requested nor encouraged the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds. This is not the only inconsistency in representations made by the Antiguan Government. On the advice of the Antiguan Government, from January 1994 through November of 1995, the United States made numerous requests for, and provided many documents in support of, an order to restrain the Fitzgerald funds. Yet, in November of 1996, the Antiguan Government, when pressed to provide a full accounting of the funds, divulged that the Fitzgerald funds were already "frozen" by the Antiguan

Government. Also the United States consistently requested access to documents that would allow for an independent review of the facts, only to be stalled and told of new requirements for obtaining those documents and, eventually, that the documents were no longer available.

The United States is committed to recovering the Fitzgerald funds which were lawfully forfeited to the United States Government. Pursuant to your obligations as a signatory to the Vienna Convention, we ask that you clear up the inconsistencies in our past communications with the Antiguan Government. The Department of Justice continues to be interested in finding out the details of the Fitzgerald funds transfer. Your January 29, 1998 letter implies that the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds by SAB to the Antiguan Government was pursuant to instructions or orders from the Antiguan Government. Since this is directly contrary to prior representations, the Department of Justice would appreciate any information you can provide that would confirm this. For example, the Department of Justice would like to review copies of all correspondence memorializing any part of the transfer of the Fitzgerald funds from SAB to the Antiguan Government. In addition, the Department of Justice requests that all Antiguan Government officials involved in SAB's transfer of the Fitzgerald funds be made available for deposition, or, if they are no longer in the employ of the Antiguan Government, that the Department of Justice be provided with their names and last known addresses and telephone numbers.

Subject: Swiss American Bank Ltd, and others - Antigua & Barbuda versus US Justice Department - Boston, Massachusetts.

In the above case relating to laundered funds in excess of US 7 million by Fitzgerald and Guardian Bank.

The Managing Director of Swiss American Bank Ltd. has been consistently feeding wrong information on this matter to the US Legal Authorities. It is reported that an Ambassador of the Antigua Government who was also the Chairman of the then Board of Directors of the Bank appointed Brian Stuart Young as Managing Director of Swiss American Bank Ltd. to protect certain illegal transactions made by the Bank by the then Board of Directors of the Bank and the Antigua Government.

From the Fitzgerald moneys, the sum of US $30,000 was transferred between January 22-25, 1995 to InterContinental Bulk Traders S.A. account # 4763751 at Bank of Bermuda, Hamilton. If you trace the beneficial owners of InterContinental Bulk Traders, S.A. you will find not only the Directors of the then Swiss American Bank which included a well known US Legal Luminary from Chicago, but also perhaps direct Antigua Government personnel. This money was from the Fitzgerald moneys and was supposed to be the fee for the Directors and the Government personnel to settle the Guardian Bank Deposits without returning any money to the US Government.

It is clear that a complete listing of the disposition of the Fitzgerald moneys has not been provided by the Swiss American Bank.

Hope the information is helpful in obtaining a positive judgement in favor of the US Government. Direct identification is impossible because reprisals including death is very likely since these people are crooks of the highest order.

UNITED STATES' OPPOSITION
TO MOTION OF BANK OF NEW YORK-INTER MARITIME BANK, GENEVA
TO DISMISS FOR FAILURE TO ADEQUATELY PLEAD
ALLEGATIONS OF ALTER EGO LIABILITY

Maritime Bank, Geneva ("Geneva")² claims it should be dismissed from this lawsuit for two reasons. First, Geneva asserts that the government's claims against Geneva do not meet the pleading requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a) or 9(b). Second, Geneva contends that the government has not stated a claim as to Geneva's alter ego basis for liability. Because the government has alleged its claims against Geneva with sufficient particularity to satisfy the requirements of Rules 8(a) and 9(b) and has stated a claim upon which relief can be granted, Geneva's motion should be denied. Moreover, the appropriate remedy for failing to sufficiently plead alter ego liability is not outright dismissal of Geneva. Instead, if the pleadings are deficient, the Court should afford the government an opportunity to amend the Complaint to remedy any alleged deficiency.

Finally, because Geneva's motion seeks to have the Court consider matters outside the pleadings, namely the March 12, 1998 Affidavit of Stephen Beekman, Geneva is actually requesting relief pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 56. Because Geneva is requesting summary judgment, it is appropriate for the Court to exercise its discretion to grant the United States leave to conduct discovery to probe the relationship between and among the

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

From 1985 through 1987, John E. Fitzgerald ("Fitzgerald") arranged for the deposit of over $7 million in illegal drug proceeds into accounts ("forfeited funds") that he opened at Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank ("SAB"). (Complaint at ¶ 13; see September 26, 1991 Sworn Statement of Peter Herrington at p. 33, attached hereto as Exhibit A). During this time, Fitzgerald's contact persons at SAB were its General Manager, Peter Herrington ("Herrington"), and Manager, McAlister Abbott ("Abbott"). (Complaint at ¶¶ 18-20; Exhibit A at pp. 37-39). None of the SAB accounts under Fitzgerald's control were opened in Fitzgerald's name, but, rather, in the name of shell-corporations incorporated by Herrington for Fitzgerald. (Complaint at ¶¶ 18-32; Exhibit A at pp. 5-6 & 10-11). Herrington created the Fitzgerald shell-corporations in his capacity as the General Manager of the Antigua International Trust Limited ("AIT"), a "trust" company

that incorporated shell-corporations for SAB's customers. (Complaint at ¶¶ 20-32; Exhibit A at pp. 10-11). For all practical purposes, although they performed different functions, AIT and SAB acted as one business entity. AIT and SAB had the same offices, used the same post office box, had common officers and employees, and, most importantly, were owned by, controlled by, and answered to the same principals, namely, Defendants Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama ("SAHC"), Geneva, and their principal shareholder, Swiss-Israeli businessman Bruce Rappaport ("Rappaport"). (Compare Unauthorized Annual Return for Guardian filed by AIT and March 7, 1988 Letter from McAlister Abbott to Bruce Rappaport/IMB, attached hereto as Exhibits B and C, respectively; Exhibit A at pp. 5-7 & 42-43).⁴

By May 1987, most of Fitzgerald's deposits at SAB, which at that time accounted for almost one third of SAB's deposits, were held in the name of a shell-corporation called Guardian Bank Limited ("Guardian"). (October 19, 1989 Investigatory Report of Prospect Special Branch, attached hereto as Exhibit E at pp. 1-2). Guardian was actually owned by three holding companies, wholly controlled and owned by Fitzgerald. (Complaint at ¶ 25; see Exhibit A at pp. 39-40 & 45-46). The corporate documents for Guardian and these holding companies were held in trust by AIT for the benefit of Fitzgerald. (See Exhibit A at p. 46; Exhibit E at p. 8). From June 1986 to June 1987, Herrington was the sole director of Guardian and of the various holding companies that owned Guardian. (See Exhibit A at pp. 39-40, & 45-46).

⁴ In 1987, SAB and AIT were owned and controlled by Defendant Swiss American Holding Company of Panama, S.A., which in turn was owned and controlled by Defendant Geneva, which in turn was owned and controlled by Bruce Rappaport. (See Excerpt of the December 6, 1989 Summary of Testimony by Marc Sturzenegger, attached hereto as Exhibit D at p. 8; Exhibit A at pp. 42-43).

Although most of the facts are in the control of the Defendants, the United States has learned that by the end of May 1987, Mr. Rappaport became concerned that an unknown depositor controlled one-third of SAB's deposits and ordered Herrington to travel to Geneva's Swiss offices for a face-to-face conference. (Affidavit of A. J. de Kluiver, previously filed on April 15, 1998 ("de Kluiver Aff."), attached hereto, at ¶ 4a). When Herrington arrived in Geneva, Mr. Rappaport asked Herrington to identify the beneficial owners of Guardian, but Herrington refused. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶¶ 4b & 4c). As a result, Rappaport removed Herrington as the General Manager of AIT and SAB. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶ 4c). Thus, Rappaport was apparently able to exert enough control over the corporate structure of the Defendants to remove Herrington.

Upon his return to Antigua, Herrington contacted Fitzgerald and informed the latter of Rappaport's inquiries about Guardian. (See Exhibit A at p. 45). Herrington and Abbott resigned as officers of Guardian and its holding companies and Herrington transferred all corporate documents relating to the ownership of Guardian to Fitzgerald. (Exhibit A at p. 46). Fitzgerald, armed with Guardian's corporate documents, elected a new director for Guardian, who then attempted to withdraw funds from SAB. (Exhibit A at p. 46; Exhibit E at p. 2). SAB refused to honor the request made by Guardian's new director who attempted to negotiate a release of part of Guardian's SAB funds. (See Exhibit E at p. 2). Finally, after attempts at a negotiated settlement failed, Guardian's director filed a lawsuit in Antigua in 1989, asking the court to recognize him as the sole director of Guardian and for authority to withdraw approximately $4.15 million from Guardian's SAB accounts. (See Exhibit E at p. 2). In December 1990, the Antiguan court ruled that Guardian's director did not possess the proper corporate authority to file the lawsuit and dismissed the case for lack of standing.⁵

The United States possesses copies of most of the pleadings and exhibits filed in the aforementioned Antiguan litigation.⁶ These documents show that immediately after Herrington's

⁵ As of October 1992, the case was still on appeal. (October 1, 1992 Letter from Marc Sturzenegger, attached hereto as Exhibit F). The United States is presently unaware of the final resolution of this appeal.

⁶ The United States received copies of pleadings in the Antiguan lawsuit from Inter Maritime Services Company Limited, a company that provided legal and accounting services to various companies in the "Inter Maritime Group," including, AIT, SAB and Geneva. (See Exhibits D and F).

dismissal in 1987, SAB, through its agent AIT, appears to have engineered a takeover of Guardian.⁷ On June 22, 1987, AIT issued proxies to Suzanne Wolf, a resident of Geneva, Switzerland, allegedly giving her the authority to operate the voting shares in Guardian held by the three holding companies owned by Fitzgerald, even though AIT did not hold the bearer shares to the holding companies, was not the named director of the holding companies, and did not have Fitzgerald's permission to operate the holding companies. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶ 4d; see Documents from Unauthorized Guardian Bank Shareholder Meeting of June 23, 1987, attached hereto as Exhibit G; Exhibit A at pp. 45-46; Exhibit B; Exhibit E at p. 8). Then, on June 23, 1987, using the bogus proxies, Ms. Wolf appointed AIT as director of Guardian and passed a corporate resolution freezing Guardian's accounts at SAB "to protect the interests of the bank and its customers." (Exhibit G; Exhibit A at pp. 45-46). When Guardian was incorporated in June 1986, all 5,000 voting shares were issued to the three holding companies controlled and owned by Fitzgerald. (See Guardian Stock Certificates Issued to Harlequins Limited, Hoylake Limited, and Saracens Limited, attached hereto as Exhibit H; Exhibit A at pp. 10-11, 39-40 & 45-46). After Fitzgerald

ARGUMENT

I. The Government has Pleaded its Claims Sufficiently Under Rules 8(a) and 9(b)

Geneva argues that the Complaint does not meet the minimum pleading requirements of Rule 8(a) or the particularity requirements of Rule 9(b), and as such, the Complaint must be dismissed. The government has fulfilled its pleading obligations; however, if the Court finds that the Complaint is insufficiently pleaded, then the proper remedy for the Court is to allow the government to amend, rather than to dismiss, the Complaint.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a) requires that a pleading set forth a short and plain statement of the claim, showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. The notice pleading standard eliminates the need in pleadings for a detailed statement of the facts upon which the claim is based, leaving development of the facts to the discovery phase of the litigation. J.D. Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 47 (1957). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b) requires that fraud be pleaded with particularity. In determining whether the requirement to plead fraud with particularity has been satisfied, the First Circuit has that Mr. HERRINGTON that that is a true summary of the legal proceedings to date?

PH	Yes, I just wish to add that eh, I sought clarification from the Court because I would be in breach of the laws of Antigua by volunteering to give this information without the benefit of an Isle of Man Court Order.
BJS	And are you satisfied now that you are covered by the Isle of Man Order?
PH	I am satisfied that I'm obliged to give the information, although I'm still technically in breach of the law of Antigua.
BJS	OK the interview from now will be conducted by Mr. Michael Kendall
MK	OK, thank you Mr. Herrington. If we could just get a few personal details on the record. Eh, you're a citizen of the United Kingdom, is that correct?
PH	That's correct.
MK	OK, and your date of birth?
PH	130144
MK	OK
PH	Or to put it in American 1-13-44
MK	And you are a member of the Bar in the United Kingdom, is that correct?

PH	No, I'm a Solicitor, and a Member of the Law Society.
MK	OK that means you're..

MK	OK, now is it true at some point that you were an employee of the Bank of Bermuda?
PH	Yes

MK	OK ..
PH	1979 to 1984 end of March ?
MK	And what was your last position at the Bank of Bermuda?
PH	I was the Bank's in-house Counsel and also its corporate secretary. #
MK	Yep, and you were located actually on the island of Bermuda at that time?
PH	Yes, indeed
MK	OK, did you leave the Bank of Bermuda for another position?
PH	Yes, I did.
MK	OK, and what was that position?
PH	That was to be General Manager of Antigua International Trust Ltd, Swiss American National Bank of Antigua and Swiss American Bank Ltd in Antigua.
MK	Could you explain what those three Corporations were and how they related to each other?
PH	They are three sister companies and Antigua International Trust Ltd is a trust company and the other two are Banks. Swiss American Bank was an off shore Bank located in Antigua and under

	National Bank of Antigua was a locally licensed Bank.
MK	OK Could you explain what you mean by an offshore Bank?
PH	The Bank which is licensed to do international business and cannot under its charter deal with citizens or individuals in the island in which it is situated
MK	When you say they were sister companies, what do you mean by that?
PH	I mean that they were all three subsidiaries of a Panamanian Company, which in turn is wholly owned by Inter Maritime Bank Geneva.
MK	Would it be fair to say that you were the top Managerial person on the island of Antigua for each of those three entities?
PH	That's correct
MK	You were the local Boss to put it in sort of colloquial terms
PH	In the vernacular yes,
MK	So you reported to a Board of Directors and they of course
PH	I was also a director of each of those three concerns, and I was the only executive director

MK	Now, were there any other active off shore Banks in Antigua at the time that you were employed by those three banks?
PH	There were others registered but em, it would be fair to say that none of them were 'active' in the sense of dealing with the public in the manner that Swiss American Bank Ltd did.
MK	OK, now do you know a man by the name of Malcolm ABBOTT?
PH	No, I did know a man by the name of McAllister ABBOT who was the Manager of the three entities I've described
MK	When you were there?
PH	He was there when I got there, he'd been employed em in that position previously under my predecessor and he remained in that position throughout the time I was in Antigua
MK	and Belgrove Gregory was also a bank employee at the time you were there?
PH	Belgrove Gregory was employed by us as the Bank's Accountant and I have no recollection of when he was taken on, but it would be sometime during my term in Antigua, it may have been a year or eighteen months before I left

MK	At some point when you were on Antigua did you meet a man by the name of John FITZGERALD?
PH	Yes, I knew him as Jack Fitzgerald
MK	And roughly what time do you believe you first came in contact with Mr. Fitzgerald?
PH	I don't have any personal recollection or records to indicate except that I have seen an affidavit sworn by Mr. Fitzgerald in Antigua proceedings which suggested it was in February, I think 1985, I have no reason to dispute this
MK	OK. Well, putting aside that Affidavit would it be fair to say you probably met him sometime in early 85 would be your own memory of it?
PH	I'm so sorry I really don't have my own memory of when it may have been in 1985, em, but certainly I've no reason to doubt it was early in 1985
MK	If I were to show you this folder that has six pictures numbered 1 through 6, all of white males, Is it fair to say that you identified Mr. Fitzgerald's picture from that photo display?
PH	Yes, Mr. Fitzgerald is number 2 and I have signed and dated the back of the picture number 2 as my authentication of having identified him.

	was any reference made as to what person by name who might be on this?
PH	No, I was simply handed the sheet and asked if I recognised any of the people on it
MK	OK Did you receive any hints at all that, as to who would be on this photo display?
PH	None at all
MK	Now, when you met Mr. Fitzgerald, did you meet him in your capacity as a Banker?
PH	Yes, I did
MK	Would it be fair to say that over the beginning of your relationship with him, whether it was a few weeks or a few months, you had a series of discussions with him?
PH	I'm sure that we had a series of discussions over how long a period, or what regularity I couldn't now say
MK	And you had these discussions with him in the context of him becoming a customer of the Bank?
PH	That's correct
MK	Be fair to say that many of the things you said to him are fairly standard of what you would say to all new customers at the Bank, in explaining procedures and the way the Bank operates?

TAPED INTERVIEW (CONTINUATION)

Exhibit No. BJSIC Date: 26th September, 1991.

Peter Frederick BERRINGTON Signature:

Person Speaking	Dialogue
PH	Yes, indeed.
MK	Could you tell us sort of the gist of your conversations with him and what he told you about himself and what you told him about the Bank?
PH	As I would say to all of my customers who came in, I would describe the various types of accounts we operated, I would have described how Bank confidentiality operated
MK	Why don't you explain to us what you mean by those things, - the types of accounts and how the Bank's confidentiality operated?
PH	Well, as in any banking operation there are a range of accounts between current accounts and chequing accounts going through to interest bearing deposits for various terms, that would be the normal context obviously there are certain borrowing customers as well, but that wouldn't be relevant in this case.
MK	And what did you explain about confidentiality?
PH	I explained that er, as I again said with all my customers who required confidentiality that they were able to open accounts in the name of Corporations which they would own, but the records of these Corporations would only indicate that they had issued bearer shares, that my organisation was established to provide Directors for such Corporations, and therefore in general terms there was er a complete confidence which I could assure and furthermore that this was enshrined under the laws of the, of Antigua and the International Business Corporations Act and any officer of the Bank who breached that confidentiality would be guilty of a criminal offence.

MK	What is a bearer share?
PH	A bearer share is literally a certificate which says that the owner of the number of shares in the Corporation is 'bearer' which means in effect that anybody who holds that certificate for the time being is the owner of those shares - much as a bearer bond that you're used to in the States
MK	Now, did Mr. Fitzgerald tell you where he came from?
PH	I can't remember at what point, but eh, Mr. Fitzgerald did tell me that he came from Boston
MK	And what did he say was his career or profession?
PH	He had indicated to me that he was involved in the management of Casinos the three banks?

PH	I'm sorry, could you..
MK	He set up accounts in one of the three banks that you were supervising...
PH	No, only one bank..
MK	Yeah, and what was that bank?
PH	That was Swiss American Bank, the offshore bank
MK	OK
PH	He would not be entitled to have a US Dollar account in the local bank without consent from the monetary authority and Antigua International Trust Ltd was a trust company, not a bank
MK	OK. Now, at some point did he em, strike that. What was the total amount of money that he deposited into the banks when you were there?
PH	Something between seven and seven and a half million dollars
MK	And did the bulk of that come in from one particular transfer?
PH	To the best of my recollection, some five million dollars came in on a wire transfer from the bank in the Cayman Islands
MK	Do you recall which bank in the Caymans?
PH	I don't recall from my knowledge, but I have seen relation to all his deposits always said that they were eventually going to be used for some development project, or purchase, em, investment purchase, but that there was not going to be any hurry and that the funds would be with us for some time.

MK	Now, was he looking at investment projects or did he say he was considering investment projects off of Antigua or only on Antigua?
PH	No, I think we always understood that Mr. Fitzgerald was open to making investment in the Caribbean area, not only in Antigua but I think my Manager and I em presented proposals to him over the period of time and I think Mr. Fitzgerald probably also discussed proposals which he had found himself over a certain period of time.
MK	They were off island?
PH	No, not all of them...
MK	Some aren't some are..
PH	Some are and some aren't
MK	Now after there was a total of seven or more million dollars deposited into accounts that he was controlling. Did you have a conversation with him on how those accounts should be handled or

PH	Yes, certainly, when I knew that we were going to receive this amount of five million dollars, I'm assuming it would have been sometime probably em, before its actual receipt, I would have discussed with Mr. Fitzgerald how those deposits should be dealt with in our bank and how in fact, what type of accounts they should be held in.
MK	Did this conversation take place at the bank - or was it a series of conversations?
PH	I can't promise you that every one took place in the bank, some may have taken place wherever he was staying, and some may even have taken place at my home, but eh...
MK	Did they all take place in Antigua?
PH	Oh, Yes.
MK	And they all were face to face?
PH	I, to the best of my knowledge, er, I never met Mr. Fitzgerald anywhere else but Antigua.
MK	Good, and would anybody else have been present in your conversations other than you and Mr. Fitzgerald?
PH	Oh yes, Mr. Abbot would be privy to all our customer and not my own customer in that sense.

MK	When you say...
PH	I wouldn't of thought that anybody else would be present, not to my recollection
MK	Yeah, well, be fair to say that Mr. Abbot would have been present at some of your conversations with Fitzgerald but not all of them?
PH	If, If we were going to discuss the conduct of his account in any material form, then if both Abbot and I were on the island and in the bank we would have met with him almost certainly together. There will have been a number of occasions however when either Mac or myself would have discussed things with him separately.
MK	OK, would that also be true of your initial conversations when you first set up the White Rose and Rose Bud accounts?
PH	Oh I can't recollect whether, when he first came in, he saw just me or both of us, or even whether his initial contact may have been with Mac and me later.
MK	But as things developed over the initial period of time when you were having conversations with him, would it be accurate to say sometimes you might have spoken with him alone and sometimes Mr. Abbot may have been present?

PH

Yes, or sometimes he may have spoken with Mr.
Abbot alone.

MK

Abbot alone, OK...

PH

Oh yes.

MK

After you had this discussion with him about how to change the structuring or depositing of the seven million, did you in fact take certain steps with his approval?

PH

Yes I did. I recommended that in view of the size of the deposit as against the funds that were lodged in the bank, as its capital, by its owner that I didn't think it appropriate that he were just a deposit customer of the bank, I suggested that in view of the size of the funds and in view of the fact that they were going to be on-used at some point for development, that they should be used to form a bank, so that he would in fact be the owner of a bank in which all of these funds would be deposited, and then that bank would on-lend its funds to Swiss American Bank.

MK

OK, and did you in fact set up such a corporate structure?

Exhibit No. BJS1C Date: 26th September 1991

Peter Frederick HERRINGTON Signature:

PH	Yes, I did, it was called Guardian Bank Ltd, and and it set up in Anguilla
MK	And what was the reason for setting it up in Anguilla?
PH	Because that was the most flexible jurisdiction in order to set up a bank at that time.
MK	And what was flexible about it?
PH	In terms of its capital requirements, in terms of its management, in terms of its share holding, it represented the simplest and easiest jurisdiction in which to form a bank, which wasn't going to operate or be licensed to deal with the public.
MK	And what were the Corporations that owned the shares in Guardian Bank?
PH	Hoylake Ltd, Sarasins Ltd and Harlequins Ltd.
MK	And who picked the names for the three corporations in the Bank?
PH	I did.
MK	And what was the significance in the three names for the three corporations?
PH	They were all rugby clubs from the UK
MK	And you are a rugby fan?
PH	Yes
MK	OK. And Guardian Bank?

	good?
PH	Guardian Bank again was my name, and yes, because it had an appropriate ring to it.
MK	Now, were there ever accounts set up in the name of JONES or HANDEL, H-A-N-D-E-L, for Mr. Fitzgerald's benefit?
PH	Yes, em, my recollections, both were set up for his benefit
MK	OK, at this time, without having the benefit of bank records which I know might be helpful, do you recall any other accounts that were set up for the benefit of Mr. Fitzgerald?
PH	Well, apart from Guardian, there was White Rose, Rose Bud, J&B, Handel, Jones Enterprises, I think thats it.
MK	Did Handel and Jones play any particular role, that they were set up for? or were they just holding accounts...
PH	I wasn't aware of any particular role, I think they were just company accounts in which he deposited funds.
MK	And do you know if Chelsea Ltd and Newington were affiliated at all with him?
PH	No, they were nothing to do with him.

PK	Now, at some point you, would it be fair to say you had your differences with the management of the three banks?
PH	It would be a classic understatement
MK	OK, and when did you first learn that you were having some differences with the management, not the management, the ownership?
PH	That surfaced, I think towards the end of January when the owner of the parent bank in Geneva one Mr. Rappaport, instructed an Attorney from I think Washington, from one of the prime firms in Washington to come to the island to discuss the state of the Government of Antigua's accounts with the local bank
MK	OK, and at that point did you have some conversation with Mr. Fitzgerald?
PH	No, I wouldn't of said it was at that point, em, following the visit from the US Attorney...
MK	You mean the Attorney from the United States as opposed to someone of the title that you were describing...
PH	Yes, indeed, in private practise in the States, yes. It became obvious to me that Mr. Rappaport was about to enter into one of his fights with the

	Antigua Government, I had indicated that they shouldn't involve the bank because the Government's accounts with the bank were entirely satisfactory. Sometime in February, Rappaport sent two people from Geneva to make an internal inspection. One of those people told me quite openly when he came that he was designated as my successor. At that point I knew that my time was limited..
MK	What year was this?
PH	This was the beginning of '87.
MK	And at that point did you tell Mr. Fitzgerald anything, because of what you had learned?
PH	Er, as soon as I appreciated that this man had been sent to replace me, I warned certain of my customers that Mr. Rappaport was going to replace me, that it was inevitable, that I personally had no confidence or trust in Mr. Rappaport, and that although it was not for me to tell them what to do, I advised that they considered their continuing relationship with the bank, in view of the activities that Mr. Rappaport was embarked upon.
MK	And did Mr. Fitzgerald...

Person Speaking	Dialogue
	respect to em the advice you gave him or if not the advice, but the conversation you had concerning this?
PH	I think between, lets say the middle or end of February, lets say towards the end of May, during that period we will have had several conversations.
MK	This is what year?
PH	'87.
MK	OK
PH	And Mr. Fitzgerald chose to do nothing about the situation, which indeed was his entitlement.
MK	When did you terminate your relationship with the three banks?
PH	I was suspended from duty well, em, in terms of my signing power and ability to do things I think from around the end of February, during the time that the two internal inspectors were there, em, but my formal dismissal from the bank was probably around towards the middle or end of June, I can't be specific because I haven't got my files with me.
MK	Now when you were, after you left the bank or perhaps just before you left the bank, did you take any action with respect to the three Corporations that owned the shares in the Guardian

Peter Frederick HERRINGTON..... Signature:

Person Speaking	Dialogue
PH	Bank, or the Guardian Bank itself? Well yes, em at some point, I will have advised Mr. Fitzgerald that I was definitely not going to be with the bank any longer, that I was at war with Mr. Rappaport, and that therefore I should resign from the Guardian Bank, as indeed should my Manger, and that he should appoint new officers to run the bank because it would not be fair to him to have me as an officer in charge of the Bank, when I was at war with my employer and soon to be not able to assist him in banking terms any longer.
MK	And did you in fact carry out that transfer?
PH	Yes indeed, both Mr. Abbot and myself and I think Belgrove Gregory who is another officer at the bank, we all three resigned at the same time.
MK	Would you remember roughly what time that was?
PH	It would have been some time in May or at the beginning of June, I'm afraid I don't have any recollection of the date.
MK	What year?
PH	Oh, '87
MK	And, OK what happened to the various shares in the three rugby club Corporations at that time?

PH	I have seen again an Affidavit made by Mr. Fitzgerald in the course of Antigua proceedings concerning Guardian Bank, which indicate that I think on the 9th June he came into the bank premises with my successor, em, director and manager of Guardian Bank who was an Antiguan Attorney, Mr. Fuller, and they requested that the bearer shares for the three shareholder companies in the bank be handed to them and that this was done.. In the presence of Mr. Abbot also.
MK	OK, were you one of the people that handed over the shares?
PH	I imagine I probably physically handed them over myself, yes.
MK	Just to clarify a couple of things, the Affidavit you're referring to I have a three page document that I would like to show you, each, the top of it has a telefax imprinting showing its been sent by a telecopier, numbered pages 2, 3 and 4 on the telecopier imprint, and the heading is Antigua and Barbuda in the High Court of Justice Civil Suite No. 123/89 between the Guardian Bank Ltd and Swiss American National Bank of Antigua. SWISS AMERICAN BANK OF ANTIGUA

INTRODUCTION

This report has been prepared following information received by the Deputy Commissioner about irregularities which have surfaced in the operation of the above bank and some of its other interests. Special Branch and the FBI are now investigating various aspects of the information and it seems likely that other agencies may be called upon to assist in unravelling the fraud and money-laundering that has been identified.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

2. Swiss American Bank of Antigua (SAB) was founded by an Israeli citizen, Bruce RAPPAPORT, who is a resident of Switzerland. During the oil embargo on Israel in the early 1970s, Arab nations would only sell oil to companies that had an existing refinery. At this time RAPPAPORT bought a small operation in Antigua to secure his financial interests. Being a wealthy man he later made other investments in Antigua and one of these was the establishment of the Swiss American Bank of Antigua. This is an offshore bank and to accommodate domestic business Swiss American National Bank of Antigua was incorporated. The American aspect in the titles refer to an American partner who helped establish the banks but withdrew a short time after their inception.

3. RAPPAPORT is described as being totally reputable and many of his interests are looked after by the Bank of Bermuda. Due to his wealth he paid little attention to SAB. The first manager was incompetent and he subsequently hired:

1. Peter Frederick HERRINGTON
Born 13.01.44 - U.K.

to be the General Manager of the two banks and a management company, Antigua International Trust Ltd. (A.I.T.). HERRINGTON was at that time employed at the Bank of Bermuda as Secretary and Assistant Manager - Legal.

1989 INVESTIGATION

4. It is apparent that due to business links in Bermuda:

2. Alan THOMSON
Thomson Associates Ltd.
7 Reid Street
Hamilton
3. Susan WILSON
Masters Ltd.
Hamilton

were added to the Board of Directors. They learnt that SAB had assets of US$ 24 million and liabilities of US$ 22 million. Eighty-seven percent (87%) of the loan of approximately $14 million in delinquent. The bank directors privately admit to a liquidity problem although they believe that they have returned the bank to a correct footing.

The directors also learnt that the major deposit which was valued at US$ 7 million and was subject to a withdrawal attempt, $5 million of the $7 million was deposited at one time and is at the centre of this investigation. Furthermore the circumstances surrounding the attempt to withdraw the money, which was held in the name of Guardian Bank of Anguilla, were strange. On 12/14th April, 1988 a woman calling herself:

4. Eileen DILLON
Antiques Dealer

presented herself at the company offices in Geneva, Switzerland together with the following persons and claimed ownership of the account

5. John FULLER
Lawyer
P.O. Box 1168
St. Johns
Antigua
Antiguan/American Nationality.

6. Subsequently FULLER produced bearer certificates in respect of three (3) companies which own the Guardian Bank. The companies are Saracens - 50%, Harlequin - 25% and Royle - 25%. The bank refused to accept the certificates and the matter will come before the Courts in Antigua on the 14th November, 1989. FULLER has been described as a 'Mr. Fixit' who has a dubious reputation tainted with political corruption.

7. The directors also came to suspect their own bank lawyer after he came to a private agreement with FULLER to return the $7 million over a period of five (5) years.

8. In September, 1989 the directors engaged local accountants, Coopers and Lybrand to perform some accounting and investigative enquiries. The basis for the investigation was to look at the accounts controlled by ALP where HERRINGTON, then General Manager of the bank was the sole signatory on bank accounts of these companies at SAB during the period 1985 - 1987. During the same month THOMSON and

6. Peter MITCHELL
Accountant
Coopers and Lybrand
Bermuda

visited Antigua and examined the transactions of SAB and the records of Guardian Bank. A number of major problems were highlighted which included:

- (a) All of the documents for companies controlled by HERRINGTON were missing.
- (b) HERRINGTON was the sole signatory on the accounts and had freedom to move funds at will.
- (c) HERRINGTON had made some strange bank entries which indicated account 'skimming' at the very least. He also operated personal and company accounts all within the same gambit.

14. The source of many deposits was unknown as was the ownership of the companies/accounts being managed by HIT.

15. As many loans were also arranged by HERRINGTON this is probably another way he has defrauded the company.

9. The companies primarily of interest because they were controlled exclusively by HERRINGTON are:

Rosebud Investments Ltd.
Jones Enterprises
Chelsea Ltd.
White Rose Investments Ltd.
J and B Investments Inc.
Guardian Bank Ltd.
Leonora Investments Inc.
Nelson Holdings Ltd.
Handel Investments Ltd.

10. A more detailed look at the transactions will follow later in the report.

11. The investigation did of course reveal the source of some funds and names and addresses or telephone numbers of HERRINGTON's contacts. The directors noted that a deposit totalling $250,000 was received from National Commercial Foreign Exchanges Corporation of Canada which they learnt to be a suspect bank named in the 'Pizza Connection' drug case where money was laundered through Bermuda. They also saw that one:

7. Susan Jay REINBERG

had transferred $252,151 from the Bank of Bermuda. Peter HERRINGTON had transferred $454,430 from the Bank of Bermuda and they eventually tracked a $5 million deposit on a route which took it from the Cayman Islands through the Bank of Bermuda to Swiss American.

12. The directors attempted to trace some of the people and also called telephone numbers which had been used in 1986 by HERRINGTON on his private line at the bank. (An extensive listing is being made available). They found that some of the numbers were call boxes in the Boston area whilst others were in bars or unsavory parts of the city. At some stage was hired to assist. His contacts in the United States established that the numbers called were at locations considered to be very Irish with strong IRA links. It was also learnt that Suzanne J. REINBERG(S) was most likely

13. MURRAY is presently serving 10 years for his part in organising the sale of arms to the IRA in September 1984 when an American registered trawler, "Valhalla", crossed the Atlantic and transferred weapons to an Irish ship that was later detained by Security Forces. The "Valhalla" returned to Boston and was detained shortly after arrival. MURRAY and two other men were convicted and jailed. Others arrested at the time remain at large and include

13. Patrick NEE
USC aged 44 years

14. Michael NIGRO
USC aged 34 years

15. John McINTYRE
USC aged 36 years
Quincy, Mass.

14. McINTYRE disappeared in November, 1984 and has been the subject of much speculation and press coverage after it was alleged that he had been killed by the IRA. Both the British and American governments have been accused of allowing him to be killed.

15. MURRAY and others also pleaded guilty to importing about 50 tons of cannabis into the USA using a trawler carrying the drug buried beneath gravel and steel plates. He commenced his sentence in 1987 and could be released in about two (2) months.

16. At about this time the directors also established that the $252,156 in the account of REINBERG/MURRAY at the Bank of Bermuda was originally held in an account normally used by residents and certain other irregularities could not be explained. What they did find was that HERRINGTON was working at the Bank of Bermuda when the account was opened and when he went to Antigua the money later went with him. He even paid large penalty fees to transfer the money in October, 1985. They also established that the $454,000 deposited by HERRINGTON at the Bank of Bermuda in October, 1985 was in cash. SAB used the Bank of Bermuda as a clearing bank and this relationship seems to have influenced the staff to accept the money. As will be seen it now seems likely that the cash came from a safety deposit box at the Bank of Butterfield.

17. After a number of meetings between the directors and accountants it was decided to alert the Police. There was unanimous agreement that the money was the proceeds of crime and a fear that when it became known that the funds would not be returned the IRA would take revenge. The directors also believed that MURRAY was storing the profits from his IRA gun running and possibly other IRA funds as well. SB/FBI believe the funds to be proceeds of crime until other evidence surfaces.

HERRINGTON AND AIT COMPANIES

18. HERRINGTON lived in Bermuda for five (5) years and received three (3) promotions at the Bank of Bermuda. He has been described as having a difficult character, not easy to get along with and arrogant, but always maintaining a professional manner. He had a keen interest in Rugby and played for Ronegrades RFC whilst residing on the island.

19. HERRINGTON was recruited for his new job whilst the founder was visiting Bermuda and former colleagues surmise that he was thought to be the man who could sort out the mess at SAB.

20. During his tenure:

- i. The suspect deposits appear to have started with the transfer of the REINBERG money.
- ii. He travelled on business and charged the expense to more than one account, sometimes travelling with female companions.
- iii. Bank slips were written up as 'cash' and 'deposit' when money was being transferred from one account to another as a way to disguise its destination. Only by checking other banking records can the accountants identify whether true cash was handed over and frequently it was not.
- iv. HERRINGTON appears to have had total control of the funds and manipulated the charges and fees on accounts.
- v. Many of the loans are to companies c/o AIT and no other details are available.

vi. Funds transferred from Bermuda appear to have been 'held' until he returned to Antigua and made the appropriate book entries.

vii. In the early part of 1987 an attempt was made to withdraw money from Guardian and HERRINGTON appears to have already formed a link with FULLER. He later made an attempt to buy SAD from RAPPAPORT for $2 million and the directors surmise that this was in collusion with FULLER so that they could buy a 'shell' at a time when the founder was dismayed with events. RAPPAPORT reacted to the offer by dismissing HERRINGTON who has since commenced legal action for wrongful dismissal.

viii. HERRINGTON was named in an Antiguan newspaper as being of interest to the DEA because of the reputation of SAB.

ix. After his dismissal HERRINGTON was allowed to return to the bank for six (6) weeks and during this time was seen by other staff to remove boxes of records.

x. HERRINGTON was detained in Geneva on 26th May, 1987 after a complaint of Damage to Property and Disloyal Management. Local Police decided they had no jurisdiction and he was released. This appears to be RAPPAPORT reacting to events in Antigua.

21. A brief summary of suspect and fraudulent actions follows.

BOERLAND INVESTMENTS

This account was opened in September, 1985 and was the subject of an earlier accounting report. During the next few weeks, $450,000 was deposited in cash and this was followed by two cheques from the suspect bank in Canada. Within three (3) weeks of being opened the Susna REINBERG/MURRAY $252,151 was transferred from Bermuda and the $450,000 cash that HERRINGTON had deposited in Bermuda also moved. On November 11th, $2.5 million which was the proceeds of the $5 million that had travelled from Cayman to Bermuda to Antigua was deposited. HERRINGTON made all of the decisions alone apart from the Canadian deposit.

The directors have since learnt that the $5 million was transferred by wire upon the instructions of Guinness Harb and Co., London from their bank in Cayman to Philadelphia to Manufacturers Hanover, New York, to Bermuda, to Cayman. The only is this path murky but subsequently Guinness Harb sold their subsidiary in Cayman because of their embarrassment at the management. Respectably Guinness Harb have chosen not to reveal why they were embarrassed or the source of the money.

JONES ENTERPRISES

This account was used as a 'feeder' account for Roschul, Handel and Chelsea. Large cash deposits were made into the account and later diverted to others but as the clients' statements are missing it is not possible at this stage to say where the cash originated.

On 1st April, 1986 Jones received via the Bank of Bermuda International Ltd., $40,000 from Recovery Services Ltd., a Cayman corporation. Again no process is available.

CHLSEA LTD.

Chelsea was opened when the $50,000 mentioned above was transferred from Jones on 3rd April, 1986 and the account was later used by HERRINGTON to obtain US cash and East Caribbean dollars.

The account was used extensively and most likely for his own use and to provide funds to buy real estate in Florida. He also used the account to move sterling from his own personal company account in the name of 'Nelson'.

WHITE ROSE INVESTMENTS

This account was the recipient of the other $2.5 million of the $5 million transfer from Cayman by Guinness Marn. The significant transactions occurred some months after the transfer and there is reference to transactions being authorized by telephone.

J AND B INVESTMENTS CORP.

This account was opened in June, 1985 with transfers from White Rose and a deposit from Rosebud/White Rose. It was used by HERRINGTON to obtain substantial cash amounts and in November 1986, $11,909 was moved to Ireland Holdings to buy a house. Funds were also paid to S and S Adams which may represent rental payments for accommodation used by

16. Jack FITZGERALD
USC aged about 50 years

McKee City

who has a long history of being a 'minder' for Joseph MURRAY. FITZGERALD visited MURRAY on occasions and is believed to have withdrawn money when he was gambling at the casino in Antigua. He now lives on a semi-permanent basis in Antigua and according to the FBI can always be found where MURRAY has his funds.

Guardian Bank lawyer/owner John FULLER is also claiming ownership of J and B Investments.

This account also illustrates that substantial amounts of cash were being manipulated by HERRINGTON on no known instructions and some of it ended up in his own companies.

GUARDIAN BANK OF ANGUILLA

This account was the recipient of all funds from the initial deposits made to Rosebud and White Rose. There were several withdrawals of cash by HERRINGTON for which no slips are available. However, the money eventually ended up in this account and as has been stated earlier, Guardian Bank is supposedly owned by three (3) bearer companies, Saracens, Hoylake and Harlequins. Whoever owns the bearer share certificates, as FULLER claims he does, has access to $7 million. Assistant Manager of SAB

17. MacDonald ABBOTT

has been interviewed by the directors and stated that he thought Guardian was established to hide the profits skimmed from casino operations.

He thought Jack FITZGERALD had a controlling interest and also thought that HERRINGTON maintained a second set of books on behalf of the Company. ABBOTT has been described as a person who would turn a blind eye to tax evasion but appears to have no knowledge of drug involvement.

HANDEL INVESTMENTS LTD.

This account was opened in January, 1986 and $92,000 transferred from Jones Enterprises. The money remains on deposit.

LEONORA INVESTMENTS LTD.

This account was opened in May, 1986 and appears to have been used to buy an unidentified house in Florida.

NELSON HOLDINGS LTD.

This account was opened in January, 1986 by HERRINGTON to be his own personal company. Once again HERRINGTON used this account to transfer money between different companies and hide true destinations. Some money appears to have been transferred from the Bank of Bermuda to the account.

It should be noted that Ireland was his first wife's maiden name and Leonora is a Christian name of his present wife. The directors have been told that the other names refer to names used in Ireland for matters of secrecy and possibly have IRA connotations.

A number of other companies have yet to be investigated by the accountant but to facilitate this many of the bank records for the years under review have been flown to Bermuda for access and security.

BANK RECORDS IN BERMUDA

On Thursday 14th October, 1989:

18. Donald LINES
General Manager
Bank of Bermuda

agreed to meet with Mr. Larry NEAVES from the FBI and DCI SMITH together with Mrs. WILSON. It had initially been indicated that the $450,000 deposited by HERRINGTON had been cash which he was carrying on his person whilst on his way to Geneva. The bank only agreed to accept same as they knew HERRINGTON and SAB used them as a clearing house. However, LINES indicated that upon reflection his staff thought that HERRINGTON was accompanied by two other men and the money had been brought from a safety deposit box at the Bank of Butterfield. He also produced a copy bank draft for $9000 payable to:

19. Dr. Bernard MITTER
Florida.

This man may be associated with a health clinic telephoned a number of times by HERRINGTON.

Mr. LINES admitted that the first account opened by REINBERG/MURRAY was one for US dollars normally used by residents of Bermuda. He could not explain either why a second account had no mailing or home address.

On Friday 13th October, DCI SMITH visited the Bank of Butterfield and met with:

20. Mansfield BROCK
Manager
Bank of Butterfield
21. Peter Rogers
Bank Lawyer
Bank of Butterfield
22. John GRAHAM
Head of Security
Bank of Butterfield

to discuss the rental of safety deposit boxes and other related matters. The bank officers said that they could not release any information without production of a Search Warrant although they were sympathetic to the request. Mr. ROGERS indicated that the bank had been named in the "Pizza Connection" trial for accepting money in suitcases and they had no wish to be named again. Furthermore the involvement of the IRA could perhaps lead to reprisals if account matters were released and the bank had a responsibility to their employees to provide safe working conditions.

He did, however, reveal that an enquiry had been made previously by telephone from the United States about certain drafts obtained by MURRAY in June

1987 and August, 1983. He thought the person making the enquiry was:

23. Mr. DUBOIS
US Treasury Department

ROGERS told DUBOIS that such matters would have to be dealt with on an official level through British representatives in the US. According to ROGERS he conducted an enquiry at the time and the banking officers were satisfied that the cash deposits were from a legitimate customer. He refused to acknowledge the 'cat was out of the bag' and Mr. BROCK said a warrant must be produced.

It is suspected that the FBI did not follow up on their earlier enquiry because the Bank of Butterfield made it clear no cooperation would be forthcoming.

It was also established that REINBERG/MURRAY had deposited money at the Bank of Bermuda on the following dates:

7th August, 1983
8th November, 1983
14th November, 1983
10th January, 1983
3rd July, 1983
21st August, 1983

Enquiries are still continuing.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this case pursuant to Title 28 United States Code ("U.S.C."), Section 1345, because this case is a civil action commenced by the United States.

6. Venue is proper before this Court pursuant to Title 28 U.S.C. Sections 1391(b)(2)&(3).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

7. This action is commenced by the United States of America ("United States"), under applicable law, including federal common law, to recover debts owed the United States wrongfully and intentionally converted by defendants Swiss American Bank, Ltd., Swiss American National Bank, Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama, and Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva (hereinafter, collectively referred to as "SAB") in contravention of this Court's May 4, 1994, Final Order of Forfeiture in United States v. Fitzgerald, United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts Criminal Action No. 93-10149-Z.

8. Brothers Joseph and Michael Murray, along with other family members and associates, established one of the largest marijuana smuggling rings in the New England region of the United States during the 1980s, smuggling over 200 tons of marijuana into the United States between 1979 and 1986.

9. Joseph Murray was primarily responsible for the smuggling aspects of the drug organization, while Michael Murray oversaw financial matters.

10. Michael Murray was assisted in the financial aspects of the Murray brothers' drug organization by John E. Fitzgerald ("Fitzgerald"), a United States citizen.

11. Fitzgerald served as the principal money launderer for the Murray brothers' drug organization.

12. SAB owned and operated Antiguan banks that accepted deposits from customers residing in the United States.

13. Between 1985 and 1987, in excess of seven million U.S. dollars of proceeds from the illegal drug activity of the Murray brothers' drug organization was deposited in accounts at SAB's Antiguan branches. Those accounts (collectively referred to hereafter as the "Fitzgerald accounts") were controlled by Fitzgerald for the Murray brothers' drug organization.

14. The deposit of funds into the Fitzgerald accounts created a debt owed by SAB to the depositor, which debt was a property interest of the depositor that SAB had no lawful right to extinguish, without the consent of the depositor, except by paying the sum evidenced by the balance in the account.

15. On or about January 13, 1994, following an eighteen-day jury trial held in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, Michael Murray was convicted of conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute a controlled substance (in violation of Title 21 U.S.C. Section 846) and several substantive violations of possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance (in violation of Title 21 U.S.C. Section 841).

16. On or about April 25, 1994, Michael Murray was sentenced to thirty years imprisonment and fined $10 million for his conviction on these charges.

17. During the course of the prosecution, Michael Murray admitted that the funds on deposit at SAB in the Fitzgerald accounts were the proceeds of his narcotics trafficking and that Fitzgerald had been responsible for seeing that the funds were deposited at SAB.

18. The Fitzgerald accounts were held in the names of a series of foreign shell corporations (identified in paragraphs 24 through 27) that had been established by Fitzgerald on the advice and under the supervision of Peter F. Herrington ("Herrington").

19. Herrington, at all material times, was the General Manager and/or lawful employee of SAB.

20. While employed at SAB, at all material times, Herrington was also the General Manager and lawful employee of Antigua International Trust, Limited ("AIT"), a company wholly owned and controlled by defendants Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama and Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva.

21. AIT was authorized to register companies under the Antiguan International Business Corporations Act and provided corporate and trust services to the purchasers and shareholders of companies incorporated by AIT for the benefit of those third parties.

22. Herrington was aware of Fitzgerald's need to move large sums of money from the Murray brothers' drug organization in Massachusetts to bank accounts outside the United States. Herrington also knew of the need to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

23. Herrington advised Fitzgerald to establish a series of offshore companies whose bank accounts at SAB would be used to move monies from Massachusetts to these accounts in order to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

24. Between September and November 1985, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of three Antiguan business entities: Rosebud Investments Ltd. ("Rosebud"), White Rose Investments Ltd. ("White Rose"), and Handel Investments, Ltd. ("Handel").

25. On or about May 1986, Herrington, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of three Antiguan business entities, named Harlequins Ltd., Hoylake Ltd., and Saracens Ltd. ("HHS"), to serve as holding companies for an Anguillan (another Carribean island) business entity named Guardian Bank Limited ("Guardian Bank").

26. On or about June 1986, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of Guardian Bank, of which the controlling shares were issued to HHS.

27. On or about June 1986, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, also supervised the incorporation of an additional Antiguan business entity named J&B Investments Corporation ("J&B").

28. Immediately after the incorporation of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS, AIT, through Herrington, issued bearer shares for each individual company.

29. Initially, all bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS were held in trust by AIT through Herrington.

30. Herrington, in his capacity as General Manager of AIT, on the instructions of the true beneficial owners of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS, lawfully transferred all bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS to Fitzgerald.

31. At all material times, Fitzgerald and/or Michael Murray held and were the rightful owners of all the lawfully issued bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS.

32. Between September of 1985 and June of 1987, Herrington opened accounts at SAB and purchased certificates of deposit from

SAB in the names of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and Guardian Bank. Those certificates of deposit constituted some, or all, of the Fitzgerald accounts, as defined in Paragraph 13 hereof.

33. Herrington was a signatory for the Fitzgerald accounts.

34. Herrington engaged in a series of transactions to move funds between and among the various Fitzgerald accounts. These transactions were designed to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

35. On several occasions, Herrington prepared withdrawal vouchers for "cash" from certain Fitzgerald accounts, but actually used the "cash" notation to facilitate the transfer between and among Fitzgerald accounts without records showing the ultimate destination of the transfer.

36. The transfers by Herrington using the "cash" notation were designed to avoid detection and tracing of the movement of funds from and among the Fitzgerald accounts, and to further disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

37. On or about August 17, 1993, in Criminal Action Number 93-10149-2, in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, Fitzgerald pleaded guilty to conspiring to violate the RICO statute, Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1962(d), and attempting to engage in money laundering, in violation of Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1957, and agreed to forfeit the Fitzgerald accounts to the United States, pursuant to the RICO forfeiture statute, Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1963.

38. On or about November 9, 1993, pursuant to Fitzgerald's guilty plea, the Court, in Criminal Action Number 93-10149-2, entered a preliminary Order of Forfeiture against Fitzgerald, forfeiting to the United States:

the property described in the forfeiture allegations of Count One, namely, funds which were deposited into the Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and the Swiss American National Bank in St. Johns, Antigua during the time period September 1985 through June 23, 1987, plus any interest which has accrued since that time, into any accounts (including, without limitation, certificates of deposit thereon) held in the name of Rosebud Investments, Ltd., White Rose Investments, Ltd., Handel Investments, Ltd., J & B Investments Corp., and Guardian Bank, Ltd. These funds have been identified as interests which the defendant acquired or maintained in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962 or constituted property which was derived from, or proceeds which the defendant obtained from, directly and indirectly, the pattern of racketeering alleged in the Indictment.

39. The effect of the Order of Forfeiture was to transfer Fitzgerald's interest in the Fitzgerald accounts -- i.e. his right to be paid the sum of money evidenced by the balances in all of those accounts -- to the United States, so that the debt SAB had previously owed to Fitzgerald was owed to the United States.

40. Notice of the District Court's November 9, 1993, Order of Forfeiture was published for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in Antigua in February and March

AFFIDAVIT

I, MARC STURZENEGGER, of 12 Grand' Rue, Geneva, Switzerland make oath and say as follows:

1. I am a solicitor of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, and I am, and have been, employed in the legal department of International Maritime Services Company Limited of Geneva Switzerland since December 1983. I have assisted the Defendant in relation to various matters since that date. I make this affidavit to the best of my knowledge, information and belief being derived from documents and information supplied to me from time to time in connection with this matter in particular by the directors of the Defendant and of Antigua International Trust Limited. I have also been provided with information by Mr. Peter Mitchell of Coopers & Lybrand, which is an international firm of accountants. Mr. Mitchell is a partner in the firm based in Bermuda who has carried out an investigation into the affairs of the Defendant, and transactions concerning Mr. Herrington.

three Antiquan shareholding companies. A copy of the minutes is at Exhibit "JG 12" to the supplemental affidavit of Mr. Greaves sworn herein. An annual return was made on 20 July 1987, a copy of which is exhibited as "JG 14" to the original affidavit of Mr. Greaves sworn herein. I believe that Mr. Fuller did not become a director of Guardian Bank Limited.

10. In this affidavit I have endeavoured to address certain of the legal issues which arise on the present application. However, it is appropriate that I should inform this Honourable Court of certain of the background to the present case. Mr. Herrington ceased to be General Manager of AIT in May 1987 following the discovery of various substantial irregularities which had come to light in relation to his conduct as General Manager and a director of the Defendant, Swiss American Bank Ltd. and AIT. Further inquiries have revealed (inter alia) that:-

- (1) Mr. Herrington made a large number of cash withdrawals in particular from accounts at Swiss American Bank Ltd. without any apparent authority to do.
- (2) Mr. Herrington made transfers from time to time in the books of account of the Banks to companies owned or controlled by him from other accounts maintained at the Banks, without any apparent authority to do so.
- (3) Mr. Herrington failed to account to AIT for directors' fees arising from companies incorporated by AIT. He kept the fees for himself.

(4) Mr. Herrington made unauthorised loans to companies owned or controlled by himself, thus benefiting himself at the expense of his employers.

(5) Mr. Herrington was instrumental in causing loans to be made which were not prudent or proper as ordinary banking transactions and which exposed the Banks to substantial losses on loans which ought never to have been made and for which there was totally inadequate security.

(6) Mr. Herrington apparently took a secret commission on a loan authorised by him.

11. The Defendant has had an investigation carried out by the international firm of accountants and auditors, Coopers & Lybrand. I have been informed by Mr. Peter Mitchell, the audit partner of that firm responsible for the investigation that he identified a number of transactions in which funds were transferred by Mr. Herrington from the account of third party clients, namely individuals or companies not owned or controlled by Mr. Herrington, of the two Banks to companies in which Mr. Herrington was personally interested. The instances identified are as follows:

(a) On 3 April 1986, Mr. Herrington transferred US$60,000.00 from the account of Jones Enterprises to that of Chelsea Limited, a company owned by Mr. Herrington. The debit notice issued to Jones Enterprises and the credit notice issued to Chelsea Limited are both made out to cash, although it is believed by Mr. Mitchell that cash was not disbursed or received for the transaction. Mr. Mitchell has pointed out that by documenting the transaction in this way, the recipient of the funds cannot be identified except after a detailed review of all transactions carried out on the date of the debit.

(b) Mr. Mitchell believes that US$10,000.00 was transferred by Mr. Herrington from the account of Whiterose Investments Limited to that of Leonora Investments Limited. Leonora Investments Limited was a company used to fund and transact personal business of Mr. Herrington, and from its accounts, a number of transfers were made to accounts of other companies of Mr. Herrington. The account of Whiterose Investments Limited was debited for this amount on 13 May 1986 and the account of Leonora Investments Limited was credited with the same amount on 14 May 1986. The respective debit and credit advices were both made out to "cash" and both bear the sole signature of Mr. Herrington.

(c) On 17 November 1986, Mr. Herrington transferred US$11,909.00 from the account of J & B Investments Corporation to the account of Ireland Holdings Limited, a company controlled by him. Ireland Holdings Limited was the company through which he purchased his residence at Croshies and which obtained a finance facility of US$150,000.00 for that purpose. The loan was secured by a mortgage from the company. Following Mr. Herrington's departure from Antigua, the company defaulted on the loan and summary judgement has been entered in favour of the mortgagee. The proceeds of sale of the property are insufficient to satisfy the outstanding debt. There is nothing in the records of SAB identifying the nature of the payment made by Mr. Herrington from J & B Investments Corporation to Ireland Holdings Limited or disclosing the transaction to the Board of Directors of SAB.

12. A series of 22 cash withdrawals were made by Mr. Herrington over the period from June 1986 to June 1987 from accounts of J & B Investments Corporation. The total so drawn amounts to US$141,533.18. The debit advices issued to the company, which served as withdrawal instructions, were made out in manuscript by Mr. Herrington and were signed by him. The stamp and markings appearing on the debit advices show the payment of cash. No documentation was located disclosing the disposition of these cash drawings.

13. The documentation purporting to evidence a deposit with the Defendants by Guardian Bank Limited originated from Mr. Herrington whilst he was the General Manager of the Defendant. In fact Guardian Bank Limited has not itself deposited money with the Defendant. It was only formed as a company on 4 June 1986. Each of its shareholders were themselves incorporated on 22 May 1986. In the period up until 26 May 1987, Mr. Herrington was both the sole director of Guardian Bank Limited and the General Manager of the Defendants. The Defendant does not accept that any sums are owed by it to Guardian Bank Limited. The Statement of Claim does not seek to explain on what grounds it is said that the Defendant is indebted to Guardian Bank Limited. It simply refers to account numbers on documentation which originates from Mr. Herrington when he was also the sole director of Guardian Bank Limited, which he himself had been instrumental in incorporating. Despite persistent inquiries made by the Defendant's auditors and others acting for the Defendant, Mr. Herrington has refused to reveal the identity of any third party from whom funds have been received by the Defendant, which are said by Mr. Herrington to have given rise to indebtedness to Guardian Bank Limited.

CLIENTS OF GHERMAN FILE SUIT FOR FUNDS IN CARIBBEAN BANK
 MIAMI HERALD (MH) - TUE OCT 11 1988
 By: CHARISSE L. GRANT Herald Staff Writer
 Edition: FINAL Section: FRONT Page: 1A
 Word Count: 776

TEXT:

A group of South Florida doctors who lost millions when financier Henry Gherman vanished has filed suit in Antigua to recover funds they believe Gherman stashed in a Swiss bank on the Caribbean island, according to court documents filed there.

In Miami, the court-appointed receiver for Gherman's companies said he has taken legal action in two foreign countries to recover some of the $25 million that disappeared with the North Dade financial adviser in August.

The receiver, James Feltman, would not say which countries or whether Antigua was one of them, nor would he say how much money might be involved. "I have no knowledge of any specific amounts in accounts," Feltman said.

Two days after the U.S. Attorney's Office in Miami issued a warrant for Gherman's arrest, the doctors filed suit in the High Court of Justice of Antigua and Barbuda, which together make up the island country in the Caribbean Sea.

On Aug. 31, the court ordered the Swiss American Bank in Antigua to freeze any accounts it holds under Gherman's name or authority.

A private investigator's information that Gherman frequented Antigua and that he had placed telephone calls to the bank shortly before he fled led to the "strong suspicion he had money there," said Sydney Christian, the attorney representing the doctors in Antigua.

Christian said his inquiries with the immigration department and police reveal that Gherman was in Antigua two weeks before he vanished from Miami. An affidavit prepared for the suit says Gherman also visited the island after he fled.

Christian said that, because of secrecy laws, he has no way of knowing details about any accounts. The bank by law is prohibited from disclosing information about accounts, including whether an individual has any.

"We are willing to do anything we can, if we can do it without breaking the law," said Caldwell Shephard, an attorney for the Swiss American Bank in Antigua. "If we do have any documents, and that is not to say we do, we are prohibited by law from disclosing them."

Christian said, "In the event the bank had any such accounts, they were to be frozen until the disposition of the case. The difficulty, of course, has been the question of serving Mr. Gherman."

On Friday, the court approved a request to serve the suit and summons to appear to the fugitive through his last known address and through South Florida newspapers, Christian said.

Gherman disappeared from Miami on Aug. 8 along with the millions he had been entrusted to invest for clients, including dozens of prominent Miami Beach doctors.

Twelve of the physicians have a suit pending in Dade Circuit Court, which froze local assets that belong to Gherman and his companies.

Two of those dozen doctors, surgeons Jack Greenberg and William Yahr, are named as plaintiffs in the foreign suit that seeks to recover some of the $2.9 million in personal investments and pension funds Gherman allegedly stole from their professional association.

The attorneys for the doctors in Miami refused to comment.

"While there is litigation to chase the assets, it is not in the best interest of our clients to comment," said Miami attorney William Richey.

According to the affidavit of a private investigator for the doctors, Gherman frequented Antigua and he had been at a resort there on Aug. 16 -- a week after he fled Miami and three days before he checked into a hotel in Taipei, Taiwan.

"Henry Gherman was a compulsive gambler who frequented Antiguan casinos," according to the affidavit from Wayne Black, a former investigator with the State Attorney's Office in Miami. "He has been known to lose as much as U.S. $100,000 in a single evening playing blackjack."

The document also says phone records from Gherman's Miami office indicate that on Aug. 1 he phoned the Swiss American Bank in Antigua.

Black's affidavit says that "our investigation also reveals that Martin J. Nash, Esq., a long-time attorney for Henry Gherman in Miami, Florida, made a series of wire transfers to Antigua in or about early August 1988."

The Miami Herald was unable to speak with Nash Monday.

"We started the investigation the day Henry left the notes, and we are still frantically working on it," Black said Monday.

On Aug. 29, the U.S. Attorney's Office charged Gherman with two counts of mail fraud and five counts of embezzlement.

After two months on the run, Gherman was arrested Saturday in Tokyo. He had been expelled from Taiwan where he had checked into a Taipei hotel under his own name since Aug. 19.

If convicted, Gherman faces 35 years in jail and fines in excess of $1.5 million.

INFORMATION

HENRY GHERMAN,

Defendant.

The United States Attorney charges that:

Allegations Common To All Counts

1. At all times material to this information the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, operated Financial Investment and Planning, Inc. ("FIP"), a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Florida with its office in North Miami Beach, Florida.

2. At all times material to this information, the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, offered financial management services to clients, including the administration of pension plans subject to Title I of the Employee Retirement Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA").

3. From in or about December of 1982 until in or about August of 1988, in the Southern District of Florida, the defendant, knowingly, willfully and unlawfully devised and intended to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud and for obtaining money and property from clients by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, well knowing that the pretenses, representations and promises would be and were false and fraudulent when made.

HENRY GHERMAN,

The Essence of the Scheme to Defraud

4. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, would and did solicit clients to utilize investment and financial management services offered through FIP. These clients included physicians and their professional associations as well as other private investors.

5. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, would and did solicit and accept funds from clients on the false representation, promise, and pretense that he would profitably invest such funds on their behalf and on behalf of the beneficiaries of the clients' pension plans.

6. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, would offer to manage employee benefit plans of medical Professional Associations that were subject to Title I of ERISA. The defendant exercised substantial control over the transfer, investment, and disbursement of funds covered by these plans, and had fiduciary responsibility for their management.

7. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, would use his authority over client accounts to transfer funds from accounts of clients, including from money market accounts at Prudential-Bache Securities, Inc. to bank accounts of FIP at Commercebank, N.A.,

Miami, Florida. After such funds were transferred to FIP's accounts, the defendant would convert and utilize such funds for his own benefit.

8. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, obtained and retained funds from clients on the false representations, embodied in written invoices and financial statements, that the clients' money would be, and was, invested in certificates of deposit at Commercebank, N.A., a financial institution in North Miami Beach, Florida, for the benefit of the client or the client's designated beneficiaries.

9. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that after obtaining and retaining funds from clients through the false representations set forth herein, the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, took, embezzled and converted to his own use approximately $9.8 million in funds entrusted to him by his clients during the time set forth in this information. Of those converted funds, approximately $7.5 million were funds and assets of eleven employee benefit plans subject to ERISA managed by the defendant through FIP as set forth below:

10. It as a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, set up offshore bank accounts to transfer funds embezzled from clients in the Southern District of Florida. In particular, the defendant opened an account in Swiss-American National Bank in Antigua, West Indies under the name Chaska Trading, Ltd., where embezzled funds were transferred from the Southern District of Florida. After being deposited in said account, approximately $2.2 million was transferred to the account of Chaska Trading, Ltd. at Prudential-Bache Securities, Inc., in Miami, Florida, which funds were available to the defendant.

11. It was a part of this scheme and artifice to defraud that the defendant, HENRY GHERMAN, in or about July 1988 would and did embezzle and abscond with approximately $4.4 million in client funds to facilitate his departure from the United States.

NO. 89-50-CR-MARCUS

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

-VS-

HENRY GHERMAN,

Defendant.

PLEA AGREEMENT

1. The Defendant, Henry Gherman, agrees to waive indictment by a grand jury and plead guilty to charges of four counts of embezzlement of pension funds subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, pursuant to Title 18 United States Code Section 664, and three counts of mail fraud, pursuant to Title 18 United States Code Section 1341. These charges carry a maximum prison sentence of thirty-five years incarceration and up to $1,750,000. in fines, and an award of restitution to all victims of the scheme.

2. The charges set forth in paragraph one relate to the defendant's involvement in a scheme to defraud investors, primarily medical Professional Associations, out of approximately $9.7 million in pension and other funds entrusted to the defendant and his related companies, including Financial Investment and Planning, Inc., by fraudulently representing to such investors that such funds had been placed in certificates of deposit, when, in truth and in fact, such investments were not made and such certificates of deposit did not exist. The United States will not file additional charges relating to or arising from the investigation of this scheme and embezzlement, and the concealment or transfer of such funds, including the removal of $4.4 million of funds in July and August 1988 and any financial transactions with such funds, if the defendant fully complies with the terms of this agreement.

truthful cooperation to any third party as the United States should so direct, including but not limited to such parties seeking recovery of assets in related bankruptcy proceedings. All information provided by the defendant shall be treated as if given pursuant to a court order under Title 18 United States Code 6002-6003, that is, no information provided by the defendant, directly or indirectly, shall be used against him in any further criminal proceeding. If it is determined by a U. S. District Judge that the defendant has made a material false statement pursuant to this agreement, then the use immunity discussed in this paragraph shall be void and any statements or testimony of the defendant can be used in any further proceeding against him.

4. The defendant agrees to immediately return and assist in returning all funds or assets directly or indirectly in his custody, care, or control, available to him, which were obtained from any client of the defendant or any company controlled by the defendant. These funds will be returned to the United States government for disbursement to the appropriate parties.

5. The defendant will provide and assist in obtaining a complete accounting of all funds obtained from his clients including the use and expenditure of any funds

Each party shall retain the right to make any sentencing recommendation and to present all related information to the Court and the Probation Department. The defendant understands that this recommendation may include restitution to any and all victims of the defendant's conduct. All restitution shall be accomplished pursuant to the bankruptcy proceedings currently pending in the United States Bankruptcy Court, Southern District of Florida, in In Re: Henry Gherman, et al., Case No. 88-03266-BKC-TCB, Chapter 11.

7. The defendant understands and agrees that the court may impose any sentence authorized by law and that the defendant may not withdraw his plea solely as a result of the sentence imposed.

8. The defendant understands and agrees that, in addition to any sentence imposed under paragraph 6 of this agreement, a special assessment in the maximum amount Debtors.

REPLY TO HENRY GHERMAN'S OBJECTION TO AND MEMORANDUM IN RESPONSE TO TRUSTEE'S AND CREDITORS' COMMITTEE'S MOTIONS TO DISSOLVE
THE ORDER APPROVING EMPLOYMENT OF COUNSEL FOR THE DEBTORS

James S. Feltman, duly authorized and appointed Trustee for Henry Gherman, First Financial Planning Corporation of South Florida, Inc. ("FFP"), and Financial & Investment Planning, Inc. ("FIP"), submits this reply to Henry Gherman's Objection to the Trustee's and Creditors' Committee's Motions to Dissolve the Order Approving Employment of Counsel for Gherman and FIP ("Objection").

Gherman's Objection rests on three contentions: (1) Gherman and FIP have never been properly served with notice of these bankruptcy proceedings; (2) Gherman and FIP are entitled to counsel separate and apart from that counsel selected by the Trustee; and (3) separate counsel will assist the administration of these estates by facilitating Gherman's cooperation with the Trustee. Each of these contentions is meritless.

Re: High Court Action No. 300/1988 - Jack J. Greenberg and William Z. Yahr (Trustees of Jack J. Greenberg M.D. & Associates P.A. Pension Plan), Beatrice Yahr (Trustee of Beatrice Yahr Trust) and Jack J. Greenberg (Trustee and Personal Representative of the Estate of Father Greenberg, deceased) v: Swiss American Bank, Swiss American National Bank of Antigua Ltd., and Henry Gherman.

Dear Sir:

I authorise you to release to the plaintiff's solicitor Sydney Christian all records of any accounts over which I, Henry Gherman, have control or signatory authority and any other property in your Bank's possession in which I have any other right, title, or interest, directly or indirectly.

I authorise you to deduct from any funds in your Bank over which I have control or signatory authority or any right, title, or interest, directly or indirectly, all bank charges and expenses, and all reasonable costs incurred by you in the abovenamed action.

I also direct you to prepare a cashier's cheque in favour of Mr. James S. Feltman, Trustee appointed by the U.S. Bankruptcy court for the Southern District of Florida, for the balance of any and all such funds in your Bank's possession over which I have cash or signatory authority or any right title or interest, either directly or indirectly.

You should take care to avoid any penalty or loss of interest by premature withdrawal. If this might cause a significant loss, you should discuss the timing and use of a cashier's checks to avoid such loss with Solicitor Christian. You are authorized to follow his instructions on the timing of withdrawal.

I further direct you to collect any securities and other property in your Bank's possession over which I have cash or signatory authority or any right title or interest, directly or indirectly.

It has been agreed that Solicitor Christian will prepare and file a Notice of Discontinuance of the above action against Defendants upon the cashier's cheque, securities, and other property being delivered to him, and I would ask you to have Solicitor ensure that the said Notice of Discontinuance is duly and regularly filed at the time when the cashier's cheque, securities and other property is handed to him. He will receive all such cash on behalf of Mr. James S. Feltman, Trustee in Bankruptcy, Miami, Florida.

I am returning all of these funds to a United States Bankruptcy Court in this way because I want an American Court to determine ownership rights in them in accordance with American law. I deposited the money lawfully in your bank under authority from those for whom I managed it, including members of my family, and myself. It will be for the Bankruptcy Court to determine the rightful owners. I have done nothing wrong.

Your cooperation in this matter would be greatly appreciated.

1 I would hope the pleadings of the many people here
2 before you will bear fruit of mercy. Do not send my brother
3 away without hope. Do not destroy the soul of his family.

4 My brother is not an evil man. He has admitted
5 many mistakes. His shame is deep, his name disgraced, his 6 family shattered, his dignity destroyed.

7 Please allow my brother the ability to rejoin our 8 family and society. He will and he can be a meaningful 9 member, and only you can separate him from the vengeance

19 CROSS EXAMINATION

20 BY MR. SCHNAPP:

21 Q Sir, you are Mr. Henry Gherman's brother, are you not?

22 A Yes, sir.

23 Q And your brother left the United States on August 8th of 24 1988, is that correct?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Now, Mr. Sherman, on August 5th of 1988 you made a trip
2 to Antigua, did you not?

3 A Yes, sir.

4 Q And, in fact, you carried $500,000 deposited in the 5 Swiss-American Bank for your brother, did you not?

6 A Yes, sir.

7 Q Were you aware that your brother was going to leave town
8 on August 8th?

9 A No, sir.

10 Q Were you aware that your brother embezzled any money
11 from his clients?

12 A No, sir.

13 Q What was the reason you took $500,000 and deposited it
14 in an offshore account?

15 A My brother had -- I had told this already to Agent Dan 16 Walker in a deposition in Max Kogen's room, and I had told 17 him my brother had asked me to do him a favor.

18 He was caught up in a very busy weekend. His family was 19 not there, and he had no one to do him this favor and make 20 this deposit.

21 Q Now, you didn't walk down there -- I am sorry -- you 22 didn't travel down there with a cashier's check, did you?

23 A No, sir.

- 8 A Nothing. Just to make a deposit.
- 9 Q He said: Just take this suitcase with $500,000 in

- 11 A No, sir. It was a little attache case. He said, "Take

- 13 Q Did you ask why you were transporting $500,000 in cash
14 outside the United States?
- 15 A No, sir. I didn't think it was important.
16 My brother asked me for a favor.
- 17 Q You didn't think it was important to ask why you were 18 hand carrying a half a million dollars?
- 19 A No, sir.
- 20 Q Did you take any security precautions?
- 21 A No, sir.
- 22 Q Did you declare the money when you left?
- 23 A No, sir.
- 24 Q Why didn't you declare the money?
- 25 A I didn't put anything down. I just signed -- I travel

2 normally sign the document that I -- where they ask you to 3 sign on the paper.

4 Q I am sorry. When you left the United States, you didn't

In the event that the settlement negotiations are not successful, the matter presumably will be set for trial by Judge Marcus on the next status date in this case (August 11, 1989). The Trustee is fully prepared to try this lawsuit at this time in the event settlement is not reached.

B. Antigua Litigation

On April 28, 1989, the Trustee secured from the Swiss American Bank of Antigua a check in the amount of $787,000, representing the balance of unrecovered money Henry Gherman had secreted to that bank. This payment concluded the Antiguan litigation, and represents complete recovery of all amounts secreted in Antigua of which the Trustee is aware, less amounts withheld by the bank as attorneys fees and handling charges.

C. Family Litigation

Since the last report to this Court, Henry Gherman and the defendants in the family litigation filed motions for a new trial. The Trustee and his counsel prepared and

(Section 5(5))

To: UNITED BANK INTERNATIONAL (WEST INDIES) LIMITED
P. J. Webster's Chambers, P.O. Box 58, The Valley, Anguilla.

Copy to: P.O. Box 119, Caribbean Commercial Center, The Valley, Anguilla.

TAKE NOTICE that I, OSBOURNE BERRINGTON FLEMING Minister for Finance, in exercise of my powers under section 5(5) of the Banking Act 1967 ("the Act") HEREBY GIVE YOU NOTICE that I intend to make an Order revoking your 'B' class Banking Licence pursuant to the provisions of section 5(4)(c) of the Act, on the grounds that in my opinion you are carrying on business in a manner detrimental to the public interest, as is more particularly evidenced by the course of events described hereafter. Section 5(5) of the Act also requires that you be afforded an opportunity of submitting to me a written statement of objections to the making of a revocation Order.

Accordingly, I HEREBY give you the opportunity, if you so wish, of submitting to me within 14 days from the date hereof, a written statement of objections to the making of the revocation Order.

PARTICULARS

1. (a) On 23rd September 1987, you entered into an irrevocable Loan Arrangement Commitment reference number 71204UB1 with Sea Chase International N.V. for the provision of a loan of US$7,040,000.00.
- (b) That Sea Chase International N.V. paid a commitment fee of US$70,400.00 for the arrangement of the loan.
- (c) That you failed to arrange the loan as agreed and in spite of the terms of the loan commitment aforesaid you refused to repay the fee, when requested by Sea Chase International N.V.
2. (a) That on 19th January 1988, you issued a Cashiers cheque, number C 013589, payable to Lionel U. Silberman in the sum of US$100,000.00.
- (c) That on the same date you refused to pay on the said cheque.

V21 a 11:14 BRITISH EMBASSY WASH D 998 4572 P.03

- (d) That acting on the instructions of your manager, a Mr. Michael De Bella, the said cheque was re-presented by Sun Bank N.A. Orlando Florida, with instructions as to payment.
 - (e) That on or about the 4th March 1988, you again refused to pay on the said cheque. By letter of that date you informed Sun Bank N.A. that the said cheque will not be honoured "because fraud is involved"; in spite of the fact that on 5th February and 12th February 1988, respectively you had in separate facsimile messages to Sun Bank N.A. represented that on receipt of collection instructions you would "process this collection immediately" and expeditiously finalize this collection.
3. (a) That on or about 21st December 1987, at Corpus Christi, Texas U.S.A. you conducted banking business with a company called PROAF SA, for a loan of US$6,000,000.
 - (b) In spite of the fact that an advance fee or commitment fee of US$20,000 was paid by the said principals, no loan was made and you refused to repay the said commitment fee when requested.
 - (c) You did not have any authority from the Administrator of National Banks office in the United States or any other agency of the United States Government to conduct banking business in the United States.
 4. (a) That on or about October 21st 1987, Mr De Bella, acting as your manager represented to one William Webster Millsaps, that a loan of US$1,500,000 could be arranged for him, on payment of a fee of US$6,000, which fee was subsequently paid by Mr Millsaps.
 - (b) That in spite of the representations referred to in paragraph 4(a) no such loan was ever arranged and you refused to refund all or any part of the said US$6,000 fee.
 5. (a) That in or about June 1987, you represented to a Mr Alex Korman of 14847 NE 20th Avenue, Miami, Florida that you would arrange a loan for him in the amount of US$919,000, to be made to Mr Korman's company, Korman Investments Inc.
 - (b) Mr Korman paid a total of US$30,000 to you in advance fees for the arrangement of the loan. In spite of your representations to the effect that the loans would be made, (see your letters of 20th July and 6th August 1987) and representations made in a Florida Court hearing by one Joseph Macaluso, described as your "loans officer", to the effect that the loans would be made, the loan was not in fact made, and no repayment of any part of the said advance fees was repaid to Mr. Korman until after Mr. Korman had lodged complaints with the Government of Anguilla and had instructed lawyers in Anguilla to act for him in the recovery of his fees.

- (c) That letters written to Mr. Korman and signed by the said Joseph Macaluso were intended by you to represent that Mr. Macaluso was employed by you in Anguilla, whereas Mr. Macaluso is not and never has been employed by you in Anguilla, and is in fact employed by a company known as Western Financial Inc, based in Miami Florida which was represented to Mr. Korman as an agent for you in the United States.
6. (a) That in about July 1987, you issued a conditional letter of credit to a Mr. Jenkinson of Florida, USA, for the amount of US$200,000, and Mr. Jenkinson paid to you a fee of US$20,000 for arranging the said letter of credit.
- (b) The said letter of credit was not accepted by any of the banks which you represented to Mr. Jenkinson would so accept, and accordingly was worthless. You refused to repay all or any part of the said fee when requested.
7. (a) In about August 1987, you represented to a Mr. Glenn Hatch and a Mr. Randy Burton that you could arrange loan financing of up to US$1,500,000 for production of motion pictures. Mr. Hatch paid to you an advance fee of US$1,000, and delivered to you a cheque for US$5,000 to be held in escrow pending agreement of the loan.
- (b) In spite of your representations as aforesaid, the said loan was not made and you failed or refused to refund any part of the said fees to Mr. Burton until after he had lodged complaints with authorities in the United States and the Attorney General and Minister of Finance in Anguilla.
8. In about May 1987, you represented to Mr. Richard J. Halley of New Jersey that you would provide him with a loan of US$450,000. Mr. Halley paid to you an advance fee of US$45,000, but in spite of your representations, the loan was never provided and you failed or refused to refund all or any part of the said fee when requested (at the said time).
9. That on or about the 30 January 1989 Mr Bernard Defive executed a Promissory Note in your favour and the said Note was subsequently changed and/or amended without his knowledge, consent or authority resulting in police investigations likely to bring the Banking sector into disrepute.

Dated this 4th day of April 1990.

Mr. John C. Mattes
Brickell Concours
Suite 910
1401 Brickell Avenue
Miami, Florida 33131
U.S.A.

Dear Mr. Mattes:

Re: United Bank International

In reply to your letter of 22nd June, addressed to Mr. Bruce Rappaport, could you please take note that neither Mr. Bruce Rappaport nor the Inter Maritime Bank in Geneva has any connection with the Swiss American group, either as shareholders or directors and that future enquiries or correspondence should be addressed directly to the undersigned at the address below.

To now refer to your enquiry, the bank in question did have a small banking relationship with us, and during the course of this relationship, we, on occasions, effected transfers out through our correspondent banking network on their behalf and received payments in. The turn over on the accounts has never exceeded a low five-figure.

I have very carefully investigated the claim made regarding our bank's involvement and have ascertained that on 19th October, 1989 we received a request to verify to the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China a signature of a bank officer of United Bank. This was done through the intermediary of Irving Trust Company who was asked to pass it on to Citibank, New York. In no circumstances could this have been construed as any confirmation from us of the underlying transaction of which we were totally unaware, and I think if you check with bank authorities in the U.S.A. they will confirm that it would be normal practice for banks to verify their customers' signatures.

We know nothing of the transactions carried out by this bank and have never been asked to arrange or confirm any banking document such as a Letter of Credit, Letter of Guarantee, etc.

SUPERSEDING INDICTMENT

The Grand Jury charges that:

INTRODUCTION

At all times relevant to this Indictment:

1. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., also known as MICHAEL JORDAN, was a United States citizen who maintained a residence with SANDRA A. SIEGEL, also known as SANDY DEBELLA, in the Southern District of Florida. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. and SANDRA A. SIEGEL were unmarried individuals.

2. From on or about June 23, 1986 to on or about May 29, 1990, United Bank International (hereinafter "UBI") was an offshore "Class B" bank located in The Valley, Anguilla, British West Indies. A "Class B" banking license allowed UBI to conduct banking business with customers other than citizens or temporary residents of Anguilla. On or about May 29, 1990, the Anguillian Ministry of Finance revoked UBI's banking license because it was carrying on business in Anguilla in a manner detrimental to the public interest.

3. From in or about and between September, 1986 and May, 1990, MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., held 45,000 out of 50,000 shares in UBI stock. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. was UBI's president and chairman of the board of directors.

4. SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others both known and unknown to the Grand Jury, made false statements and representations to individuals as agents conducting business for, or on behalf of, UBI.

5. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. was the president and director of Atlantic Capital Corporation, a corporation chartered in the State of Florida and was also the director of Atlantic Capital Corporation, Ltd., a corporation chartered in St. Johns, Antigua, British West Indies. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. and SANDRA A. SIEGEL held an account at Commonwealth Savings and Loan Association of Florida ("Commonwealth") in Boca Raton, Florida under the name of "Atlantic Capital."

6. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. operated an unincorporated business known as Marlborough Village, a mobile home park located in Marlborough, Connecticut. MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR. held an account with People's Savings Bank, West Hartford, Connecticut, under the name of Marlborough Village.

COUNT ONE

1. Paragraphs 1 through 6 of the Introduction to this Indictment are hereby realleged and incorporated as if fully set forth herein.

2. On or about and between June 23, 1986 and September 24, 1990, both dates being approximate and inclusive, within the Southern District of Florida and elsewhere, defendants,

MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR.,
a/k/a MICHAEL JORDAN,
SANDRA A. SIEGEL,
a/k/a SANDY DEBELLA, JOSEPH MACALUSO,

did knowingly, willfully, combine, conspire, confederate, and agree with each other and with persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury:

(1) to use the mails and cause the use of the United States mails in the execution of a scheme and artifice to defraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1341 and 2;

(2) to use and cause the use of wire communications, signs, signals and sounds, that is, facsimile transmissions, telephone calls, telexes and wire transfers in the execution of a scheme and artifice to defraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1343 and 2;

(3) to knowingly and willfully conduct financial transactions affecting interstate or foreign commerce which involved the proceeds of specified unlawful activity, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1956(a)(1)(B)(i), 1956(a)(2)(B)(i), and 2.

The Manner and Means of the Conspiracy

1. It was part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, induced individuals ("borrowers") to pay sums of money as a "fee" for obtaining negotiable letters of credit, lines of credit and loans from UBI. The amounts of these "fees" were a percentage of the letters of credit, lines of credit and loans to be obtained from UBI.

2. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, falsely represented to the borrowers that UBI was an offshore financial institution which could provide financing in the form of letters of credit, lines of credit and loans.

3. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, falsely represented to the borrowers that UBI had correspondent banking relationships with major banking institutions, including but not limited to the Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI), the Bank of Hong Kong and Shanghai, North Carolina National Bank (NCNB), and Credit Suisse.

4. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and

7. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, for the purpose of executing a scheme and artifice to defraud the borrowers, did knowingly place and caused to be placed in an authorized depository for mail, matter to be sent and delivered by the United States Postal Service.

8. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, for the purpose of executing a scheme and artifice to defraud the borrowers, transmitted and did cause to be transmitted in interstate commerce by means of wire communications, signs, signals and sounds, that is, facsimile transmissions, telephone calls, telexes and wire transfers.

9. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, failed to provide the borrowers with negotiable letters of credit, lines of credit and loans from UBI.

10. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, opened multiple bank accounts throughout the Southern District of Florida and elsewhere, using Social Security Numbers not truly their own.

11. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, caused the wire transfer of the borrowers' advance fees from bank accounts outside the United States to accounts in the United States.

12. It was further a part of the conspiracy that defendants MICHAEL A. DEBELLA, JR., SANDRA A. SIEGEL, JOSEPH MACALUSO, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, did knowingly and willfully conduct financial transactions affecting interstate or foreign commerce which involved the proceeds of specified unlawful activity.

1 account?

2 A. I don't remember the specific number. I believe like
3 $70,000. I don't know the exact number.

4 Q. And --

5 THE COURT: Let me stop you for a second. I want to 6 make sure I understand this.

7 When a borrower would wish to purchase a letter of 8 credit, the borrower would provide an advance fee. This fee
9 would go to a bank in New York?

10 THE WITNESS: Yes --

11 THE COURT: Which would then wire the money to its bank
12 in Antigua, and then it would go from the -- into an account
13 for United, whatever the name of this bank is, United Bank 14 International, and go back to New York, and put into an 15 account, either Mr. DeBella's or Miss Seigel's account?

16 THE WITNESS: Yes.

17 THE COURT: These are moneys come from borrowers, made
18 that route to Antigua, and went back to New York, and $70,000
19 ended up in Miss Seigel's personal account?

20 THE WITNESS: Yes, that is correct.

21 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Wilkinson, did you conduct
22 an analysis of Sandra Seigel's bank account at AmeriFirst 23 Bank?

24 THE WITNESS: Yes, I did.

25 THE COURT: Where is AmeriFirst Bank located?

1 THE WITNESS: In Boca Raton.

2 BY MR. TORTELLA:

3 Q. If you would, I will address my attention --

4 There is a short holder in the back of the room.

5 MR. TORTELLA: Your Honor, this exhibit will be marked
6 Siegel No. 3.

7 THE COURT: Marked for identification, Siegel 3.

8 BY MR. TORTELLA:

9 Q. Agent Wilkinson, would you explain to the judge exactly how 10 the moneys, the flow of the money went from the victims and 11 into the defendants' bank account, just so it is clear how the 12 flow of the money worked.

13 THE WITNESS: May I step down, Your Honor?

14 THE COURT: Yes, you may. There is a pointer on the 15 other stand if you need that.

16 MR. TORTELLA: This is referred to in the PSI, page 9.

17 THE COURT: All right.

18 THE WITNESS: This top line here is the amount of fees 19 that the victims paid to United Bank International. What they 20 would do is wire transfer the funds into the Bank of New York
21 account. Swiss American had an account in Bank of New York.

22 THE COURT: I will ask you to hold on a second.

23 Money would come from?

24 THE WITNESS: These are the victims.

25 THE COURT: Where did it go?

1 THE WITNESS: Into the bank account where there was an 2 account in the name of Swiss American National Bank of 3 Antigua.

4 THE COURT: Now, what is Swiss American National Bank
5 of Antigua?

6 THE WITNESS: A local bank.

7 THE COURT: Bank of New York, used to be Irving Trust,
8 a regular bank.

9 THE WITNESS: Yes, they are a major bank. Wire
10 transfers go through the major banks.

11 THE COURT: All right.

12 THE WITNESS: It would be wired from this account into 13 Swiss American National Bank. United Bank International had an 14 account at Swiss American National Bank of Antigua. The funds
15 would end up in that account.

16 THE COURT: All right.

17 THE WITNESS: They would be taken back out of the 18 account, wired back to the Bank of New York.

19 THE COURT: Does any of the activity indicate that 20 Miss Siegel had any role in taking the money out of the United 21 Bank International account in Antigua, and sending that money
22 back to the Bank of New York?

23 MR. TORTELLA: Your Honor, I am sorry to interrupt, we 24 will be putting on another witness with respect to that 25 specific question.

1 THE COURT: All right. Agent, you may go ahead.

2 THE WITNESS: Once the money is in the Bank of New 3 York, it would be distributed to the accounts controlled by Mr.
4 DeBella or Miss Seigel's, People's Bank in Connecticut, in the 5 name of Marlboro Village, which is a trailer park operated by 6 Mr. DeBella, and AmeriFirst in the name of Sandra Siegel, and 7 some of the funds would go into the Commonwealth Savings & Loan
8 in the name of Atlantic Capital.

9 THE COURT: Did this appear to be a pattern that all of 10 the moneys followed this general trail?

11 THE WITNESS: Yes.

12 THE COURT: And I think the question that started this 13 off dealing with the year 1970, $70,000 of this money ended up
14 in the AmeriFirst account. $70,000 traveled the route that you 15 have just discussed and actually ended up into Miss Seigel's
16 AmeriFirst account?

17 THE WITNESS: That was in 1990.

18 MR. TORTELLA: I am going to show the witness Siegel
19 number 4 marked for identification. Would you tell the judge
20 what this document is.

21 THE COURT: For purposes of this hearing, that is being 22 marked Government's Ex. No. 4.

23 THE WITNESS: Siegel 4.

24 This is wired from United Bank International to 25 accounts in United States.

1 BY MR. TORTELLA:

2 Q. What did you base this on?

3 A. Bank records in AmeriFirst, Commonwealth, People's Bank,
4 and Bank of New York.

5 Q. What records are we talking about?

6 A. Wire transfer records.

7 Q. And, specifically, for the year 1990, with respect to the 8 AmeriFirst account, how much money was wire transferred into 9 that account?

10 A. 89,000 wire transferred in, 12,000 of that went into 11 people's bank, approximately 77,000 was wired into AmeriFirst
12 account.

13 Q. Whose the signator on this account?

14 A. Sandra Siegel.

15 Q. Anyone else?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Is this the account that used a false Social Security 18 number?

19 A. Yes, it was.

20 Q. All right. You may take the stand.

21 Was the transfer of the 77,000, were you able to 22 determine where those moneys came from?

23 A. Yes. They all came through the Bank of New York, 24 originally from United Bank International.

25 Q. Were these the moneys that were wired by the victims

1 originally?

2 A. I believe so.

3 Q. With respect to Miss Seigel's role at United Bank
4 International in addition to receiving telephone calls and 5 faxing documents, with respect to dealing with the customers,
6 what, exactly, did she do if they requested either their letter
7 of credit, or their refund of their advance fee? What would 8 she usually tell them in a typical situation?

9 A. She would usually defer it to Michael DeBella. You have to 10 talk to Mike about that.

11 Q. How would she defer the victim, if you will ?

12 A. She basically put them off, and say I will have Mike call 13 you back. I will take a message. I don't know that much about 14 it.

15 Q. Did that occur in every transaction that you investigated?

16 A. No. Not every, some instances, not in every one.

17 THE COURT: What is the time frame over which this 18 activity occurred?

19 THE WITNESS: The bank opened in 1986, and continued 20 right up until the time it was closed, and actually several 21 transactions occurred after the bank lost its license

22 BY MR. TORTELLA:

23 Q. When did the bank lose its license, Mr. Wilkinson?

24 A. May 1990.

25 Q. After the victims --

1 THE COURT: Could I stop you for a second?

2 In studying the operations of the bank in Antigua,
3 talking about United International Bank, does your 4 investigation disclose, or did your investigation disclose
5 whether that was a legitimate bank?

6 In other words, did they engage in any legitimate
7 activities, or was it simply a front for a fraudulent
8 enterprise?

9 THE WITNESS: I believe it was a front for a fraudulent
10 enterprise. I am not aware of any successful transaction.

11 THE COURT: Is that all it did is engage in the effort
12 to solicit people who wanted letters of credit, take their fees
13 and keep the fees?

14 THE WITNESS: Yes.

15 THE COURT: This is not a bank that did legitimate 16 business. You are suggesting that the whole thing was a sham
17 or scheme?

18 THE WITNESS: I am not aware of any legitimate 19 business.

20 THE COURT: All right.

21 MR. TORTELLA: Your Honor, may I approach the 22 witness?

23 THE COURT: Yes, you may.

24 BY MR. TORTELLA:

25 Q. I hand you Government Ex. No. 5. Would you identify that

Dear Mr. Craddock:

I am a Vice President of The Bank of New York ("BNY"). Your December 26, 1995 correspondence with attachments, addressed to Mr. Thomas Renyi, has been referred to me for investigation and response.

In your letter, you request that BNY return $600,000.00 that one Michael DeBella allegedly laundered through BNY. You enclosed with your letter an excerpt from a transcript of a hearing at which Mr. DeBella plead guilty to wire fraud. You also enclosed a copy of purported instructions to wire the $600,000.00 to BNY for further credit to Swiss American National Bank of Antigua for further credit to Commonwealth Investment Corporation.

After an intensive investigation, we have determined that BNY was not involved in the alleged funds transfer and that we have no allegedly laundered funds to return.

In fact, Barclays Bank, PLC, London has confirmed that BNY was not involved in this transaction. Barclays Bank, PLC, London advised us that they paid the funds to Barclays Bank, PLC, New York who in turn paid Morgan Guaranty for account of Midland Bank, London favor Swiss American National Bank of Antigua for credit to the Commonwealth Investment Corporation.

We hope that the above information is of assistance to you in this matter.

Very truly yours,

PLAINTIFF'S MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF CONTEMPT APPLICATION

Hearing Date:

I. SUMMARY

On February 24, 1996, this Court entered a Stipulated Final Judgment and Order as to Certain Defendants ("Order").⁽¹⁾ The Order settled FTC charges that defendants were operating an illegal pyramid scheme. The Order contained a permanent injunction prohibiting further operation of any pyramid or chain letter scheme and prohibiting material misrepresentations about any marketing or investment program. It required defendants to pay $2.8 million initially, plus any additional amounts necessary to pay all refund claims made during a program administered by a Redress Contractor employed by the FTC. It also required defendants to provide various contractual and promotional documents to the FTC so the FTC could monitor defendants' compliance with the Order.

Defendants began violating the Order the same day it was entered. To convince members not to seek refunds (i.e., to retain their memberships), they and their attorney, Robert Sailer, misrepresented that the settlement was a dismissal of all charges against Fortuna and a determination that Fortuna had been running a legitimate, multi-level marketing operation.⁽²⁾ Concurrent with its efforts to convince consumers it had been fully vindicated, Fortuna was promoting its revised program, called "Fortuna Alliance II", which appears to differ little from the original program and which is being marketed heavily to participants in the original program. Over time, defendants and Mr. Sailer continued and enhanced these false claims of vindication with other related misrepresentations, including a direct attack on the integrity and fairness of this Court.

Defendants have refused to provide compliance materials that might reveal further misrepresentations about Fortuna Alliance II. They failed to assist the Redress Contractor in identifying members eligible for refund notices, necessitating significant extra work by the FTC and delaying the refund program. Most significantly, they have failed to provide the additional funds necessary to pay refund claims in excess of the amount available in the original redress fund, a deficiency of over $2 million. Had Fortuna complied with the Order, consumers could have received their refunds by the end of July 1997. Instead, more than 9,000 consumers with over $5 million in claims have received nothing because of defendants' delays and failure to pay the deficiency.⁽³⁾

The FTC has repeatedly asked defendants to comply with the Order, with no success. The FTC now seeks this Court's assistance to obtain compliance with the Order. The proposed civil contempt sanctions would require defendants immediately to pay the $2 million deficiency. If defendants do not do so, the FTC and the Redress Contractor would be authorized to make pro rata payments while collection efforts proceeded. Defendants would be required to publish and mail to all current and past members a statement retracting their misrepresentations and providing additional time to request refunds. They would have to provide to the FTC copies of various documents related to their activities since entry of the Order. Finally, defendants would be charged with attorney fees and costs for this contempt action.

II. BACKGROUND AND PRIOR CONTEMPT

Fortuna Alliance was another in a long line of pyramid schemes that have caused financial losses to consumers and occupied local, state, and federal law enforcement officials for decades. What distinguished Fortuna was its success in using the Internet to achieve rapid growth on an international scale. Fortuna itself claimed over 50,000 memberships worldwide.

The lowest level of membership was "Elite". Each Elite membership cost $250 and promised a $5,000 per month return without any product sales. Two higher levels of membership, Premier (at $600) and Ambassador (at $1,250), promised greater profits and other benefits. Members could purchase up to seven memberships at each level, with a total potential investment of $14,700. [p. 162, Ex. 5]^[4]

The FTC filed its complaint against the defendants on May 23, 1996, along with an ex parte motion for a Temporary Restraining Order ("TRO"). This Court issued the TRO on May 24 and, after a hearing where defendants were represented by counsel, the Court entered a Preliminary Injunction ("PI") on June 12. The TRO and PI both prohibited further marketing of the Fortuna Alliance pyramid scheme or any related program, froze Fortuna's assets, placed a receiver in charge of Fortuna, and required repatriation of millions of dollars that Fortuna had transferred to a bank in Antigua, West Indies. This Court also entered an Order of Contempt on June 12, citing defendants for failing to repatriate foreign funds and provide an accounting.

When Fortuna still failed to repatriate any money after the Order of Contempt, this Court issued civil arrest warrants against defendants Delgado, Welch, and Grant on June 27, 1996. The defendants avoided arrest only by staying out of the United States. They never complied with the repatriation order. The arrest warrants for Delgado and Welch were not lifted until the settlement was entered on February 24, 1997. Pursuant to the settlement, defendants repatriated $2.8 million from Antigua.

III. VIOLATIONS OF THE ORDER

Since entry of the Order, the defendants have been busy promoting their revised program, Fortuna Alliance II ("FA2"), and trying to convince members not to seek refunds. Their World Wide Web sites are filled with promotions for FA2. [pp. 25-42, 46-55, Ex. 2] They have sent multiple and lengthy letters to individual members. [pp. 38-46, Ex. 2] They have held a "leadership conference" at a resort in Aruba. [pp. 166-67, Ex. 5] What they have not done is comply with the Order.

A court's authority to impose sanctions for contempt of its orders is an inherent and integral element of its powers. See, e.g., Gunn v. University Comm. to End War, 399 U.S. 383, 389 (1970); Davies v. Grossman, 930 F.2d 1390, 1393 (9th Cir. 1991). This Court has already imposed civil contempt sanctions for violations of its PI in this matter. The Court's continuing jurisdiction to enforce its decree is also made explicit in the Order (§ XVI). The standard of proof for a finding of civil contempt is clear and convincing evidence. Balla v. Idaho State Board of Corrections, 869 F.2d 461, 466 (9th Cir. 1989); U.S. v. Powers, 629 F.2d 619, 626 n.6 (9th Cir. 1980).

A. Failure to Pay the Deficiency in the Redress Fund

Order § III entitles Fortuna members to full refunds of all membership fees, under a program to be administered by a Redress Contractor employed by the FTC.⁽²⁾ On July 17, 1997, the Redress Contractor delivered to defendants the first list of eligible claims. There were 9,158 claims totaling $4.81 million. [p. 128, Ex. 5] Since there was only $3.1 million in the redress fund,⁽³⁾ defendants were then liable under the Order for the $1.7 million deficiency. Fortuna paid none of it.

The Order left to the Redress Contractor the job of administering the program in accordance with its standard procedures. In response to a request from defendants, the FTC agreed to allow them an opportunity to question claims, and directed the Redress Contractor to give defendants five days to challenge any approved refunds. Defendants reaffirmed their satisfaction with that schedule as recently as July 16, 1997. [p. 125, Ex. 5] Our mutual expectation was that defendants would document their challenges and the parties would attempt to resolve any differences without involving this Court.

Defendants "challenged" 674 of the claims. [pp. 131-32, Ex. 5] However, a whole category of defendants' "challenges" appeared to be inapplicable. Defendants had earlier insisted that Premier and Ambassador membership fees were not subject to refunds, an exclusion that doesn't exist in the Order. Defendants argued that higher level members had made more "well thought out decision[s]" about their memberships and were therefore disqualified from refunds. [pp. 107-8, Ex. 5] However, the Order's restrictions on eligibility are very narrowly drawn.⁽⁴⁾ They include no distinction based on the supposed thoughtfulness of the consumer.

Another problem with defendants' challenges was that the employee who prepared the 674 challenge figure stated in writing that the number of "challenged" requests are much higher than they could be. If we could be allowed to continue the review, I feel that in another week we could have that number reduced considerably. [p. 133, Ex. 5]

We have never seen the results of the employee review that would have "reduced considerably" the number of challenges. Finally, the computer printout defendants supplied in supposed support of the challenges was indecipherable. We asked for further documentation of the challenges but defendants never provided it. [pp. 134-35, Ex. 5] The Redress Contractor made a similar request, also ignored by defendants. [pp. 1-3, Bennett Decl. ¶ 13, Ex. 1] As a result, we cannot tell how many of defendants' 674 challenges were for Premier and Ambassador membership fees or even how much of the claims defendants challenged.

We waited over a month for defendants to document their challenges. Finally, on August 29, 1997 we requested that defendants pay the $1.7 million deficiency to the Redress Contractor. [pp. 134-35, Ex. 5] We offered to allow some of that money to be placed into escrow pending resolution of the few disputed claims. Defendants paid nothing. On September 9, they said they could not respond because they wanted more time to review the claims they had not challenged and their records were in too much disarray to give us any other reply. [pp. 136-37, Ex. 5]

This was not defendants' first major delay. Order § IV obliged Fortuna to provide membership information to the Redress Contractor,⁽⁵⁾ who would then notify members of their right to a refund. All Fortuna did, however, was insist that the FTC provide most of the membership information. It provided barely 10% of the names, and even that list was so late that the Redress Contractor had to do two separate mailings to Fortuna members and delay completion of the claims program.⁽⁹⁾

While Fortuna was delaying Order compliance because of supposed problems with its files, its records were not in too much disarray to make repeated promotional mailings to members,⁽¹⁰⁾ including individualized calculations of hypothetical profits members might have received if Fortuna had continued the pyramid scheme. [pp. 122, 159, Ex. 5]

On October 20, 1997, the Redress Contractor forwarded its update of the earlier tally of eligible claims to Fortuna. This report (with a database in computer-readable form) included all the new refund claims processed since the July 17, 1997 report, together with a small number of changes in the original list due to rescinded refund requests and technical revisions. Even taking into account all the rescissions and changes, Fortuna's deficiency still increased by approximately $300,000, to a total of $2,024,411, including projected administrative costs. [pp. 1-3, Bennett Decl. ¶ 14, Ex. 1]

The Redress Contractor followed its standard procedures for administering redress funds in FTC cases. It verified that any documentation submitted with a claim form conformed with the claim. It verified that each refund claim was signed under penalty of perjury. [p. 3, Bennett Decl. ¶ 16, Ex. 1] The contractor also provided documentation, both printed and electronic, to defendants whenever they requested it. [Id., ¶ 15] The FTC waited to file this motion until the challenge period for the new claims expired on October 27. Any longer would have been unfair to the consumers who have been waiting for months to receive their refunds. It is time for Fortuna to pay the ordered redress in full.

B. Failure to Provide Any Compliance Monitoring Materials

The Order requires that defendants provide to the FTC, upon request, copies of "each type of contract or agreement used with members or participants in the program" (§ X.A.1); "all printed advertisements or promotional materials relating to the program" (§ X.A.2); "all advertising or other promotional or commercial material made available through any fax-back service" (§ X.A.4); and "records for every consumer complaint or refund request and responses thereto" (§ X.B). Other provisions of § X require similar production of information and documents. The FTC has made repeated, written requests for these materials. [pp. 109, 110, 118-19, 120-21, 127, Ex. 5] Defendants have expressly refused to provide them. [pp. 113-14, 129-30, Ex. 5#]

Defendants only gave reasons for refusing to provide certain categories of documents.⁽¹¹⁾ For example, defendants appear to contend that every document they have disseminated, except for a single, small brochure they did provide [p. 115, Ex. 5], is an "internal membership communication", subject to a supposed Constitutional protection applicable to "exchanges between members of a private company or organization." [pp. 113-14, Ex. 5] Defendants did not cite, and the FTC has not found, any legal basis for this argument. In addition, had there been such a protection, defendants would have waived it when they agreed to the settlement.

Defendants also contend that Order references to "promotional materials" mean only materials "used to solicit new members." [pp. 113-14, 129-30, Ex. 5] This restriction does not appear anywhere in the Order.⁽¹²⁾ Nor does it make sense in the context of any program where members recruit other members. The essence of pyramid schemes and multi-level or network marketing is that members recruit other members. Program descriptions, training materials, and the like are all part of this ongoing promotional system.

It is obvious that Fortuna has engaged in ongoing promotions to its existing membership. It has exhorted them not to seek refunds, extolled at great length upon the virtues of its upcoming programs, and even solicited new investments. Some of the materials defendants refused to provide are available publicly, via paid newspaper ads and published press releases, the World Wide Web, and Fortuna's "fax-back" service. Fortuna itself calls many of the documents it has refused to provide "marketing materials."⁽¹³⁾ Still, defendants have repeatedly failed or refused to provide copies to the FTC, in violation of Order § X. This has delayed and interfered with plaintiff's right to monitor defendants' new programs to protect the public interest.

There is good reason to be suspicious of Fortuna's motives in withholding the documents. A document [p. 153, Ex.5] Fortuna has sent to consumers says:

The new Fortuna Alliance II will be similar to the "original" Fortuna Alliance in most ways. It was very good as it was and the primary reasons to change any part of it are:

1. to protect it from interference by governmental agencies of any country . . .

This suggests that FA2 may be no more than a repackaged pyramid scheme, now offered in a manner (or from an offshore location) designed to evade scrutiny by law enforcement officials. If FA2 really is similar to the original Fortuna, it will certainly violate the Order. But without full documentation of the program, it would be a waste of the Court's time to examine FA2 now. The first step is to order production of the compliance monitoring documents.

C. Misrepresentations Concerning the Settlement and State Enforcement Actions

Since we do not have most of defendants' promotional materials, we are not yet prepared to say whether Fortuna's new program violates Order § I, which prohibits running pyramid or chain letter schemes. However, their false claims about the settlement and state enforcement actions do violate Order § II, which prohibits making material misrepresentations in connection with promoting Fortuna's programs.⁽¹⁴⁾ Mr. Sailer, the author of many of those false claims, is liable for his own conduct both as an attorney and as a publicity agent for Fortuna.⁽¹⁵⁾

Defendants' initial promotional goal appears to have been to convince members not to seek refunds. One of the ways they have approached this is to repeatedly issue statements stating or implying that they won the case and that the Court ruled that Fortuna was not running an illegal pyramid scheme. Their press releases, mailings, and World Wide Web postings have contained numerous misrepresentations about the settlement. They have ignored our requests to correct the misrepresentations.

Within days of the settlement being issued, Fortuna issued a press release and a "Member Communication" document containing claims like:

"Fortuna Alliance Cleared of All Charges by Federal Trade Commission."

"The Federal Trade Commission today dropped all charges against Fortuna Alliance."

"But now we have been cleared of all charges . . ."

"The consent order acknowledges that Fortuna Alliance is a bona fide multi-level marketing program. The FTC withdrew it's [sic] charges that claimed Fortuna is a pyramid scheme."

" . . . the complete vindication achieved by Fortuna."⁽¹⁶⁾

We immediately asked Fortuna's counsel and advertising agency to cease making claims that falsely state or imply an actual finding of innocence or legitimacy of its past practices.⁽¹⁷⁾ To the extent that these statements may affect a consumer's decision of whether to maintain membership in or join Fortuna, they are materially misleading. The reply we received was from attorney Robert Sailer, whom we understood was the author of the press release. The reply did not contend that the quoted statements were true. It simply stated that the FTC's press releases contained misleading statements (which is untrue), implying that that justified his and his clients' Order violations. [p. 106, Ex. 5]

Subsequent press releases and "Latest Legal Report[s] by Bob Sailer" showed Mr. Sailer continuing to claim that Fortuna had been vindicated in court.⁽¹⁸⁾ Many claims echoed the ones quoted above. For example, two May 1, 1997 documents included phrases like "full dismissal of the FTC case" and "the FTC dropped its case." [pp. 57, 70, Ex. 5] Fortuna's South Pacific regional office claimed on March 11, 1997 that "the company . . . can now carry on its business unrestrained." [p. 112, Ex. 5] Since the Order contains stringent restraints on how Fortuna does business, that claim was also false. We gave another, again unheeded warning to Fortuna in response to the regional office claim. [p. 109, Ex. 5]

Defendants and Mr. Sailer did not stop with falsely claiming dismissal of the FTC case. A "legal report" by Mr. Sailer distributed at defendants' recent conference in Aruba and posted on the World Wide Web added a claim implying that all state cases involving Fortuna had been dropped. [pp. 38-39, Ex. 2] In fact, the State of Washington issued a cease and desist order against Fortuna and Florida is pursuing its case against Fortuna distributors in that state.⁽¹⁹⁾ Since Fortuna's marketing is through members, it is highly material that individual members may find themselves liable under state law for promoting Fortuna's schemes.

Fortuna made these claims a feature of its promotional campaign to convince members not to seek refunds. Mr. Sailer also made the claims in attempting to counteract unfavorable publicity.⁽²⁰⁾ Since much of the Fortuna Alliance II program appears to be a continuation of the original Fortuna, and since defendant Augustine Delgado continues to run Fortuna, a claim representing that the business had been proven legitimate would be highly material.⁽²¹⁾ Therefore, these claims violate Order § II.

As this Court is aware, this is not the first time Mr. Sailer, acting directly and through publicity agencies, has misrepresented this Court's decisions in order to further Fortuna's business aims. A July 31, 1996 press release made numerous misleading claims, including that Fortuna "won another round in their battle to overturn a preliminary injunction" when the opposite was true. [p. 98, Ex. 5] No provision of the referenced July 26, 1996 order of this Court (nor any previous order) supported the claim. This release appeared on the Internet in conjunction with a solicitation for funds Mr. Sailer was collecting to pay Fortuna's legal bills. [pp. 99-100, Ex. 5] The complete file of claims and correspondence between the parties was submitted to the Court for review on August 14, 1996, in preparation for a conference held in chambers on August 16 to discuss the matter.

Most recently, defendants' promotional materials have included a document blaming all Fortuna's past troubles on the purported misdeeds of the FTC, US Department of Justice, and state enforcement officials, as well as this Court:

Early in our efforts to prevent the TRO from becoming a preliminary injunction, and efforts to get the offices back for Fortuna Alliance, Judge McGovern evidenced his dislike for what he could not understand. He admitted in open court during the first court hearing on the TRO that he had not fully read the FTC request and legal documents for the injunctive action. He admitted that he did not fully understand how network marketing worked. He gave full credibility to statements made by the FTC because they were a government agency, and clearly did not perceive Fortuna Alliance innocent until proven guilty.

In a hearing to seek a trial date, the judge granted a request by the FTC to issue civil arrest warrants for the individual defendants. He took it as a personal affront to him that the defendants would not return to the U.S. to face jail time in order to state their case to him. There was no compassion or attempt to understand that the defendants, who were willing to return and present their case, simply wanted to do so without facing arrest for something they had not even been convicted of doing. It almost seemed that in a burst of personal anger he decided to help defeat their case by forcing them to stay out of the country. There was no balanced attempt to provide a forum of justice for the defendants.

This 15-page document, on Judd & Sailer letterhead and called "Contempt Prior to Investigation," is available to any member of the public worldwide, via the Internet and through Fortuna's "fax-back" service. This document contains numerous other misstatements of fact, false claims, and baseless personal attacks on government attorneys.

Mr. Sailer has willingly and repeatedly acted as a publicist, furthering his client's business through misrepresentations about court actions. Defendants have repeatedly publicized Mr. Sailer's misrepresentations through their World Wide Web sites and fax-back services. These actions violate Order § II, which prohibits making material misrepresentations in connection with promoting Fortuna's programs.

IV. REMEDIES

A court may impose sanctions for civil contempt to coerce obedience to a court order or to compensate the party pursuing the contempt action for injuries resulting from the contemptuous behavior, or both. United States v. United Mine Workers, 330 U.S. 258, 303-04 (1947). Courts have broad discretion in fashioning coercive civil contempt remedies. Perfect Fit Industries, Inc. v. Acme Quilting Co., 673 F.2d 53, 57 (2nd Cir. 1982); see also United Mine Workers of Am., 330 U.S. at 304. In exercising its remedial powers, a court may require a contemnor to perform various affirmative acts, even though those actions were not mandated by the underlying decree. In re Arthur Treacher's Franchisee Litigation, 689 F.2d 1150, 1159 (3d Cir. 1982). The circuit court in Arthur Treacher's discussed with approval Franklin Mint Corp. v. Franklin Mint, Ltd., 360 F.Supp. 478 (E.D. Pa. 1973), which required the contemnor to publish corrective statements. Id.

Plaintiff also seeks compensatory payment of the fees and costs incurred by the Commission in pursuing this action. This relief is generally available where the violations were made willfully, as in this case. Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Soc'y, 421 U.S. 240, 258-59 (1975). In this Circuit, there is also clear precedent for the award of attorney fees even where the contempt is not willful. Perry v. O'Donnell, 759 F.2d 702, 704 (9th Cir. 1985). Finally, Order § III provides for defendants paying attorney fees and costs of collection for non-payment of the redress deficiency without regard to any finding of contempt.

The proposed Contempt Order includes the following relief:

1. Directing immediate payment of the redress deficiency.
2. Directing defendants to immediately turn over to the FTC copies of all promotional materials. Since defendants have shown a willingness to reinterpret general order language to avoid compliance, we have included a detailed list of documents to be provided.
3. Requiring defendants and Mr. Sailer to cease making false claims that any federal or state cases were dismissed or charges dropped, and to mail and publish materials correcting the misrepresentations concerning the FTC settlement and the state cases. ;

4. Extending the period during which consumers can request refunds until 60 days after defendants complete publishing and mailing the corrective information. This would not delay refund payments to the original claimant group. Defendants must promptly pay all requests mailed within the 60 day extension, and must fully document to the FTC their compliance with this provision.

5. Allowing the Redress Contractor to make pro rata payments to eligible consumers if the deficiency amounts are not received within 10 days. All costs of processing these payments will come from the existing redress fund but will be added to the amount owing by the defendant's to the Redress Contractor.

6. Ordering payment of plaintiff's attorney fees and costs of collection. If the Court grants the FTC's request for attorneys' fees and costs, we will submit a separate motion for specific fees and costs incurred in connection with these contempt proceedings.

V. CONCLUSION

The defendants' and Mr. Sailer's conduct demonstrates flagrant disregard of the Order. The failure to pay the redress deficiency has caused hardship for thousands of consumers waiting for their refunds. Defendants have used their delay - and consumers' money - to engage in a massive promotional campaign for Fortuna Alliance II while at the same time concealing from the FTC the documents that would explain how this new program will work. This Court should find defendants and Mr. Sailer in contempt, and order sanctions to coerce compliance with the Order and remedy the damage done, including compensating the FTC for the costs of bringing this action.

Endnotes:

1. The "certain defendants" subject to the Order and this motion are Fortuna Alliance, L.L.C., Augustine Delgado, Libby Gustine Welch, and Donald R. Grant. Pursuant to FRCP Rule 65(d), one of Fortuna's counsel, Robert O. Sailer, is subject to this motion for his actions in promoting Fortuna's business.

2. Mr. Sailer's earlier misrepresentations about supposed successes in preliminary court actions were the subject of a court conference in chambers on August 16, 1996.

3. The Redress Contractor has been unable to make any payments because the Order requires payments in full. Had the Redress Contractor started making payments, some consumers would have received full payments and, when the money ran out, the rest would have gotten nothing.

4. All exhibits are page numbered consecutively in a single exhibit volume. The page number in brackets refers to that page numbering, not any page number internal to an individual exhibit.

5. Order § III provides:

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that refunds of membership fees shall be offered to all eligible members of Fortuna Alliance by an independent Redress Contractor [who] shall use a notice and claim form containing the text of Attachment A to this order, and follow its standard procedures for administering redress funds in FTC cases. . . .

. . . The balance of the Redress Fund shall be used to pay refunds. If requests for refunds exceed this initial Redress Fund, the Fortuna Defendants shall make sufficient additional funds available to the Redress Contractor to pay all refunds in full. The Fortuna Defendants shall secure this obligation with an irrevocable letter of credit confirmed by a U.S. bank, delivered and payable to the Redress Contractor as beneficiary, in an amount of $2.8 million. [emphasis supplied]

6. $2.8 million from Fortuna's Antiguan bank accounts and $300,000 from the Receiver's frozen funds.

7. Order § III provides:

For purposes of this section, an "eligible member" is one (1) whose membership fee(s) were actually paid to Fortuna, that is, not gifted or otherwise provided without payment; (2) who did not receive payments from Fortuna equal to or exceeding the membership fee(s) paid; and (3) who returns a properly filled out claim form. . . . If a member has received payments from Fortuna but those payments were less than the membership fees paid, then any refund will be reduced by the amount of payments received.

8. Order § IV provides:

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Fortuna Defendants shall aid and assist the Commission, or the designated Redress Contractor, without compensation from the Redress Fund or the FTC and in any manner reasonably requested by the Redress Contractor, in determining which Fortuna members may be eligible for refunds and in obtaining information from Fortuna's records to locate those members.

9. Fortuna told the contractor it would only provide a list of members for April 15, 1996 to the end of May. It insisted that the FTC provide names for November, 1995 to April 15. It then delayed until April 14, 1997, when it provided a list containing only 2,600 names. Information the FTC obtained easily from Fortuna's databases showed 10,893 names for April and May, 1996. The history of these delays and the resulting bifurcation of refund notice mailings is described by Redress Contractor [pp. 1-3, Bennett Decl. Ex. 1] and in extensive correspondence among the parties [not attached]. The first mailing, to 14,314 members, went out on April 14. The second, to 11,540 members, went out on May 9.

10. These mailings included an announcement and eight page newsletter [pp. 138-47, Ex. 5], a nine page packet including an offer of "profit sharing certificates" and an "Overview of Fortuna Alliance II" [pp. 148-58, Ex. 5], and an invitation to rescind any previous refund request. [p. 161, Ex.5]

11. For example, when we requested copies of all refund correspondence, as required under Order § X.B, defendants replied that they would provide a list of consumers who sought refunds. There was no further explanation.

12. Defendants have not even tried to explain why they have withheld documents covered by Order provisions expressly calling for materials sent to and received from members, e.g., § X.A.: (contracts with member) and § X.B (refunds requests from members and Fortuna's replies).

13. A Fortuna document posted on the World Wide Web offers "marketing materials", including "video and audio marketing presentations" and tape recordings of conference calls, to members. [p. 32, Ex. 2] A newspaper ad referred to "new marketing literature." [p. 167, Ex. 5] We have seen some of these documents because consumers sent them to us or because they appeared on the World Wide Web. These illustrate the breadth of promotional materials defendants have withheld. They include: mailings describing the potential benefits of remaining a member [pp. 122-24, Ex. 5]; mailings describing some of the operations and benefits of the newly re-constituted Fortuna program and investments old and new members are encouraged to make [pp. 138-58, Ex. 5]; mailings encouraging members not to leave the program by seeking a refund or to rescind their refund requests [pp. 122-24, Ex. 5]; newspaper advertising and promotions [pp. 163-67, Ex. 5]; lists of "fax-back" documents [p. 123, Ex. 5, listing 12 documents available in May 1997], and [pp. 48-49, Ex. 2, listing 22 documents currently available]; and programs teaching marketing techniques for members to use in finding new members. [p. 167, Ex. 5]

14. "[T]he Fortuna Defendants, . . . in connection with the advertising, promoting, offering for sale; or sale of any marketing or investment program, . . . are hereby permanently restrained and enjoined from making, or assisting another in making, directly or by implication, orally or in writing, any misrepresentation about any material fact"

15. "Every order granting an injunction . . . is binding only upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys" FRCP Rule 65(d).

16. In printed form [p. 102, Ex. 5] and as viewed on the Internet. [p. 46, Ex. 2]

17. The FTC wrote on Feb. 25, 1997:

We recognize that Fortuna may wish to place a favorable "spin" on the outcome of this case. But this does not mean it may use statements that falsely state or imply an actual finding of innocence or legitimacy of its past practices. To the extent that these statements may affect a consumer's decision of whether to maintain membership in or join Fortuna, they are materially misleading. We request that you immediately cease making statements of this nature, and direct any members who are using similar statements to cease using them. [pp. 102-3, Ex. 5]

18. Some documents contain Mr. Sailer's name [e.g., p. 38, Ex. 2] and some are on his firm's (Judd & Sailer) letterhead [e.g., p. 58, Ex. 2] We have no reason to believe that Mr. Judd was involved in the preparation of any of the Fortuna press releases and similar documents.

19. See declarations from the Washington Div. of Securities [p. 73, Ex. 3] and Florida State Attorney [pp. 83-84, Ex. 4] Florida's complaint included Fortuna and the Fortuna principals, who were in Antigua or Belize at the time. However, Florida has pursued the case only against Fortuna agents, because of an inability to get service on the principals and a belief that the FTC case would suffice against them. [Id. ¶¶ 5-6]

20. Mr. Sailer's letter to an Australian TV station appears on a Fortuna Internet site. [pp. 43-44, Ex. 2]

21. Similar misrepresentations of victory when all the court had done was deny one part of the plaintiff's sought relief were held to be a "blatant attempt to mislead defendants' investors" and a basis, in part, for appointment of a receiver. SEC v. Heritage Trust Co., 402 F.Supp 744, 753 (D. Ariz. 1975).

Update: July 22, 1998

Final Refund Checks Mailed

The contempt citation against Fortuna and Augustine Delgado cleared the way for the final mailing of refund checks this week. This mailing brings to 15,625 the total number of consumers receiving refunds. The FTC's case against Fortuna returned approximately $5.5 million to investors in the U.S. and 70 foreign countries (see List of Refunds by Countries). The contempt citation could provide an additional $2.2 million in consumer redress that will go to consumers who received partial refunds. There will be no further payments (above the 60% shares) unless we can collect additional monies from defendants. We cannot accept any new refund claims against Fortuna or Fortuna Alliance II.

On June 5, 1998, Federal Judge Walter T. McGovern found Augustine Delgado and Fortuna Alliance in civil contempt. They wilfully failed to make sufficient payments for consumers to receive full refunds. The Court found that the Fortuna's "challenges" to refund claims had made no significant difference in the end result except to substantially harm consumers, who had to wait months for their refunds. The Court also found that defendants had benefitted by their delay because they had use of the funds properly due consumers.

The contempt order prohibits defendants from promoting any marketing or investment program until the $2 million deficiency, plus interest, is paid in full. Any person who promotes a Fortuna or Delgado scheme with knowledge of this prohibition may be subject to contempt proceedings as well.

Update: May 19, 1998

FTC Files Second Contempt Action

On May 8, 1998, the FTC charged Fortuna Alliance, Augustine Delgado, Libby Gustine Welch, and Donald Grant with failing to pay a $2 million deficiency due for consumer refunds. The FTC called the refund claims "challenge" process bogus, noting that out of 4,000 "challenges" by Fortuna, fewer than 100 were even partially substantiated by Fortuna. The FTC has asked the federal court to find the defendants in contempt for failing to pay the deficiency. The court has set a hearing date of June 5, 1998.

AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF SUMMONS

I, BRIAN STUART YOUNG, Banker of Swiss American Bank Limited in Antigua make oath and say as follows:-

1. That I am the Manager of the Swiss American Bank Limited, the First Defendant herein and I make this Affidavit with the knowledge and consent of the First Defendant.
2. By virtue of my position with the First Defendant I am familiar with the facts and circumstances of this case.
3. In so far as the content of the affidavit is within my personal knowledge, it is true and in so far as it is not within my personal knowledge it is true to the best of my knowledge, information and belief.
4. I have been advised by my Attorney-at-Law, Nicolette M. Doherty and I verily believe that the First Order made by the Honourable Justice Kenneth Benjamin on the 29th May, 1996 restraining the First Defendant from operating Bank Account Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11 or accounts held or in the name of FFC, the Prosper Trust or the Fortuna Alliance other than by transferring funds to the account of the Third Plaintiff herein, ought to be discharged for the following reasons:-
 - (1) That neither the affidavits of Harold E. Lovell or Randall Brooks have disclosed any cause of action against the First Defendant.

- (2) That the Plaintiffs have failed to disclose any right or claim in relation to the First Defendant which the First Defendant has threatened to infringe.
- (3) That the First Defendant holds the assets in Accounts Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11 as 'Banker' and as such, is merely carrying on the business of banking.
- (4) That the effect of the first part of the order made against the First Defendant is to 'freeze' the assets in Account Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11.
- (5) That the effect of the second part of the order made against the First Defendant is to transfer the funds in Account Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11 to the account of the Third Plaintiff on the instructions of the Second Plaintiff, is to order the First Defendant to take steps contrary to preserving the status quo.
- (6) That if the injunction shall be allowed to continue, the injunction will affect the normal course of the First Defendant's business.
- (7) That the First Defendant's business is based on the trust of its customers and that its reputation as a credible Off-shore Bank will be prejudiced if the injunction shall be allowed to continue.
- (8) That the Plaintiffs have not adduced any evidence that the assets in Account Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11 are in fact those of the Second to Sixth Defendants or that any of them are signatories to the said accounts or that the said assets are at the disposal of the Defendants.
- (9) That the Plaintiffs have failed to adduce any evidence that the First Defendant could by themselves remove from jurisdiction or dissipate the assets held in Accounts Nos. 15103-11 and 15390-11.
- (10) That a Receiver has been appointed over the assets of Fortuna Alliance Trust.
- (11) That any assets of Fortuna Alliance Trust would not be in any danger of dissipation.
- (12) That the First Defendant who holds the assets as 'Banker' is an innocent third party.

RECEIVED 23 OCT 1996

Mr. Brian Stuart-Young
Swiss American Bank
St. John's, Antigua

Dear Brian:

As per your request, I am following up on my previous letter to you regarding the current legal situation of Fortuna Alliance.

The ex-parte injunction granted by the High Court of Antigua on May 29th to the FTC has remained in effect for 5 months. We both have agreed, as have other highly respected and knowledgeable individuals in Antigua, this is unprecedented for a case of this magnitude and significance to the struggling offshore sector of Antigua.

Historically, ex-parte injunctions are granted temporarily (usually for 14 days) to allow the parties to present evidence and reach remedy promptly. This is intended to prevent unjust manipulation of the laws to create financial chaos or total destruction of an individual or organization by a continuing freeze on assets. It is mind boggling how a landmark case like Fortuna's, involving other parties like Prosper International, could be allowed to drag on for 5 months with a total freeze on millions of Fortuna dollars.

The lame excuses about an overworked judge don't stand up to the scrutiny of outsiders looking to see what will be the outcome here in Antigua. But, it appears that everyone (especially the offshore practitioners and their savvy clients) is getting tired of waiting, and that with not one - but four - separate postponements on a decision, with the last being an "indefinite" postponement, the damage has not been only to Fortuna, but to the reputation of Antigua.

Antigua right now has suffered a huge black eye from the FTC's action out-of-jurisdiction. But due to Antigua's own mishandling of this whole case, it is now hemorrhaging and bleeding to death. Antigua, in its immature approach to its offshore financial sector, has in effect killed one of its two geese that lay golden eggs, i.e. tourism and offshore financial industry.

Brian, I have exhausted every means possible to complete this trial and decision. I have now also exhausted our limited funds from abroad. At this point, as I told you, I and Fortuna Alliance have nothing more to lose in Antigua. I am preparing to launch a major campaign to inform the world about Antigua's handling of this case – blow-by-blow, date-by-date, fact-by-fact and name-by-name of all parties connected to this debacle. I will start with a major press release (which is ready to go) to The Observer and to all the leading offshore magazines and newsletters. This will be followed by interviews and conference calls to our key leaders, representing 50,000 memberships in 62 countries. We are also very active on the Internet and will literally have several web sites carrying my story about Antigua and its joke of an offshore industry world-wide to 50 million people. Antigua will not survive the fallout from such a campaign and Swiss American will see an immediate out-flow of millions of dollars exiting Antigua.

Brian, I told you I am a man of my word, and that you never want to enrage a man that has nothing more to lose. I am watching 12 years of my life and my $15 million company destroyed right before my eyes – not by the FTC, but by the nation that I now call home. This is very sad. I do not want to do this to Antigua; I have been silent for 5 months waiting. No more waiting; no more silence. Brian, we are all about to lose big if something isn't done to help our cause right now.

As you are aware, I am a beneficial party for certain funds held in Fortuna Alliance trust and in other accounts for which David Jenkins is the trustee and signator. In addition to these, there are other funds held in suspense that have come to your bank after the injunction (August 9th, from the Netherlands).

I am formally requesting that you arrange a loan to me collateralized by these funds held by you that does not violate your bank's policies or the injunction. I am sure that if we get our minds together we can create a solution that works for everyone – right now! Whatever requirement you have to get this done ASAP, please let me know so that we may expedite this matter.

I will wait until Friday noon. If I have not heard something positive by then, please know that I will not call you anymore. You will hear the cascading thunder from afar coming toward Antigua like one of its hurricanes.

I humbly remain your friend.

FROM : Brian Stuart-Young

We refer to your request for a facility to be granted to you, secured by funds held to and for the account of a Trust account.

Management has given serious review to the circumstances related to your request, and guided by fiduciary responsibilities and relevant legalities, we are unable to register as security for a credit facility the funds held either in the Trust account or for the Trust account.

We appreciate the grave concerns raised in your letter to us, and have sought to identify legal means by which we could respond to your request. On the one part, we are bound by order of the Court and, on the other part, the fact that funds are held for a trust account carry further responsibility for the bank to ensure that there is no breach of trust. The only authority for the custody of the funds is the stated Trustee, and a Trustee has no implied power to borrow.

At this time, we have no means to respond to your request, we will however, continue to press for the legal resolution of this matter. We share your concerns over the length of time taken to address the matter, and the adverse impact it has on your business. We are powerless to influence these events of the court, and can only act in compliance with its orders.

Please contact us if you wish to meet further on these matters.

Yours truly,

 10/25/96.

FOREIGN GRANTOR TRUSTS *

Foreign Grantor Trusts (FGT) are trusts established by a Settlor in a foreign jurisdiction. For purposes of U.S. taxation, the Settlor cannot be an U.S. citizen, resident or taxpayer. The FGT is created and operates under the laws of the foreign jurisdiction and the Trustees are not located in the U.S. or its possessions. For purposes of U.S. taxation, the assets and profits of the FGT are treated as if owned by and taxable to the Foreign Settlor, and as such should not be subject to U.S. taxation, unless the assets are situated in the United States. In the case where the assets are situated in the U.S., there may be tax consequences.

Benefits:

U.S. citizens or residents may transfer money directly to a FGT. There are income tax benefits to the extent that non-U.S. citizens and residents are taxed in the U.S. only on income derived from the U.S. that is not determinable such as interest, dividends, rents etc. Non-U.S. citizens are not taxed on capital gains. The capital gains relates to conduct of a U.S. business or trade or relates to U.S. real property interests. There is no U.S. gift tax applied to gifts of intangible property by non-U.S. citizens or residents.

Costs:

A Foreign Grantor Trust can be established through PIL for the cost of $300. The trust documents are issued naming the foreign Settlor, and a Power Of Attorney will be provided to the member in order that the member may carry out activities in the name of the trust.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BE OFF-SHORE 'PILL' IS A PROGRAM WHO'S TIME HAS COME

Progress always involves risk. You can't make second base and keep your foot on first.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR YOU AND YOUR MONEY??

If you've been following the news, you should be aware that we are headed for HARD ECONOMIC times, in the form of inflation, higher taxes, bigger and bigger government, more welfare, more American jobs moving overseas, a bigger deficit, a higher public debt, larger federal and state budgets and more government involvement in our private lives. It's bad enough that we have tens of millions of people in our country feeding off the taxpayers, but now we have millions of uninvited illegal aliens pouring into our country, who also want the U.S. Taxpayer to pay their way through life and getting it.

The situation is out of control folks, and we had better start thinking about how we are going to survive economically, because it's only going to get worse. We are headed for a collision with reality, and when that finally happens, you better have something put away in the form of cash or gold to get through a few years of economic hell. If you think the depression of the 1930s was bad, wait until you see what's coming!

THE PILL PROGRAM AND THE MLM INDUSTRY

Strictly speaking, we at PILL do not consider ourselves an MLM. We would like to call it a referral program. However, given the climate we live in, we realize that in this world full of "Protectors of the public's best interest" "Regulatory bodies, government agencies, and Attorney generals, all trying to "justify their existence", someone is bound to challenge us and call us an illegal MLM one of these days. That is one of the reasons we insisted on having our one and only office OFFSHORE in a jurisdiction with little or no regulations.

Here are some of the other reasons: did you know that 98% of all multi-level programs fail within the first two years?? In fact, the programs that appear to be "the most popular" have a life expectancy of one year or less. A small percentage of these failures are due to unscrupulous or inept operators of the programs. The 'lion's share' of failures are due to government intervention in one form or another. This is the matter of 'legality or non-legality'. How is this determined? Very whimsically, by various state and federal regulatory agencies, and attorneys general. The laws governing MLM programs are usually very ambiguous, as well as being downright unconstitutional.

Any competent MLM attorney will tell you:

1. There are no clear and concise laws determining 'legality'.
2. Consent and formal approval is never given by any state or federal regulatory agency.
3. It is very common to find inconsistencies in the rulings between individual states as well as between the individual regulatory agencies themselves.

In summary, 98% of the MLM's operating openly in the U.S. will go out of business within two years through no fault of their own but by intervention of regulatory agencies; supposedly "PROTECTING YOUR INTERESTS".

In fact trying to justify their own existence. Any MLM program is constitutionally LEGAL as long as it is run HONESTLY. No state or federal law can supersede the authority of the constitution. You will often hear that an MLM program involving a 'reasonable' product is OK and that all others are illegal pyramids. THAT IS SIMPLY NOT TRUE.

Product or no product, all MLM's involve the referral of people and the distribution of goods, services, and funds between its members, based on each person's abilities and commitment, and this is what creates the problem.

MLM requires individual effort on the part of its members. There will always be a small percentage of people who will complain that they have been 'cheated' when in reality they're complaining because they did not get 'a free ride', 'something for nothing'. Authorities will then usually target these programs (product or no product) and harass them until they shut down. Nothing to do with legality.

The problem with some people is that they believe the government and its many agencies are there to solve all their problems, including the ones they create themselves. It's time people in this country begin to realize that government is out of control and out of touch with it's citizens. They are not there to serve you and solve your problems. They are there to serve themselves and to solve their problems. In other words, our overgrown government is not there to solve problems, they are the problem.

We are providing a service to a specific segment of the consenting adult population and we have taken steps to insure the uninterrupted operation of our program by placing ourselves and you out of the jurisdiction of these so called 'guardians of the best public interest'.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT A "PARADIGM" IS?

A PARADIGM is the "way we look at and think about things around us". Before 1492 everyone had a "paradigm" that the world was flat. Columbus came along and changed that "paradigm".

WE WANT TO CHANGE A PARADIGM FOR YOU TODAY

The way you look at and think about government! Who needs them? in the 50's 60's 70's and 80's everytime something went wrong the PARADIGM seemed to be "let's get the government to fix it", "let's get the government to protect us from it", "let's seek a government GUARANTEE" (whenever there's a GUARANTEE there's always a cost, a sacrifice of some kind).

Where did this PARADIGM lead us? Bigger and bigger government, more and more regulatory agencies, more and more taxes, a bureaucracy OUT OF CONTROL that just can't be turned off.

Government's answer to all problems is 'let's create a new agency to look into this', or 'let's throw money at it'. Did you ever notice that as soon as government touches anything, it immediately starts costing a lot more?

WHAT'S THE SOLUTION?? CHANGE THE PARADIGM!!

IN THE MEANTIME SHELTER YOUR ASSETS OFFSHORE!!

MORE INFORMATION ON COMMON LAW TRUSTS:

IRREVOCABLE & DISCRETIONARY those are the two key words. If you wish maximum benefits as pertaining to taxation, confidentiality, judgments, and claims, the trust must be IRREVOCABLE AND DISCRETIONARY, any compromise in these two conditions compromises the benefits. Technically speaking "deposits" are not accepted. The trustee accepts property, added to the original trust property. When you add property (cash, real estate, business, vehicles, boats, coins, gold, jewels etc.) you are divesting yourself of interest in this property.

ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF PROBATE

If you do not have what is referred to as a "Living Trust" when you die, the court will appoint someone to tax you, pay your bills, distribute your property, and charge you, regardless of whether you have a will or not.

This person will have no idea that you are and what you want. This is called "probate" and the average time for it is two years.

Curiously, if you have a will, then you must go to probate. More curious yet, even if you haven't made a will, you already have one: the states'. Every state has it's own version of a will, just in case you don't. Of course, you could try giving away everything while your alive.

This means the property may be subject to gift tax. It also leaves open the possibility that whomever you give your property to while your alive may not do with it what you want. Or, you could try a power of attorney to avoid probate, the only problem with that is that it is automatically revoked upon death. The alternative, of course, is the TRUST, preferably an OFFSHORE TRUST. If a trust sounds preferable to Probate consult your tax advisor or contact us.

TAXATION AND YOUR TRUST

The trust in Belize, does not require a Social Security number and has no reporting requirement whatsoever. You can keep your financial affairs in complete confidentiality and your property safe from claims, judgments, or bankruptcy proceedings. U.S. taxes cannot be imposed upon earnings or assets of non-domestic irrevocable discretionary trusts that retain the earnings.

PROSPER INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE LTD.

PROSPER INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE LTD. (P.I.L.L.), an international business corporation based in Belize, Central America, has the key. P.I.L.L. will help you develop a secondary offshore income, sheltered and unencumbered. P.I.L.L. Will also help you learn about offshore banking, investing, & tax savings.

You may now enjoy the advantages of a totally confidential trust without the complex documentation, legal fees or transferring of funds. Your trust can be activated and accumulate a substantial balance within tins first six weeks. You will also enjoy the benefits of a Major International secured credit card, with no credit inquiry or paper trail.

SUCH A TRUST WOULD NORMALLY COST YOU $1,500 OR MORE. YOUR ACTUAL COST IS $0.00. IT COMES TO YOU WITH $200 IN IT.

The benefits of controlling a PILL Belize trust include complete confidentiality and anonymity (free of all regulation outside Belize), sheltering of your assets, access to a Major International secured credit card with no paper trails, and much more.

With Prosper International League Ltd (P.I.L.L.), you send a one-time $200, and refer three new members. No need to "sell" them; just refer them and the P.I.L.L. marketing system will sell them. Then a sovereign Trust is established for you in Belize, with your original $200 deposited in the trust. You get your original $200 deposit back!

For each additional new member you refer on your first level, $200 is deposited in your account. When the balance in your account reaches $1,600, a Major International secured credit card is applied for, which you can use anywhere in the world--with no paper trail in your country's tax jurisdiction. Thus if you reach a good-faith conclusion that you are a Sovereign Individual, this allows you to receive money that is 100% legally outside any tax laws that don't apply to you.

If you refer only one new member a day, five days a week, $4,000 a month will be deposited in your private trust account, from which you can withdraw cash, using your Major International Credit Card, at ATM machines anywhere in the world, or at any merchant's point of purchase.

In addition, you receive $40 for each new trust activated by new members referred by your downline, four levels deep. This can quickly multiply out to thousands more every month!

Belize is one of the strongest countries in the world for trust privacy laws. No outside entity can legally get any information about a private trust in Belize. Once it is set up for your benefit, no one anywhere can find out about it.

HOW IT WORKS

1. You contribute $200
2. Choose which marketing plan you prefer, and implement it. Plans range from Time-Full to Time-Free. All are powerful.
3. As soon as three new customers have joined the first level of your downline and paid their $200, a Belize Trust is activated for your use, with $200, a Belize Trust is activated for your use, with $200m in it - so you have your money back.
4. For each additional new member who comes in on your first level, $200 is deposited to your account.

5. When the balance in your account reaches $1600, a Major International secured credit card is issued to you, which you can use anywhere in the world.
6. If only one new member a day joins your first level, five days a week (20 members a month), $4000 a month will be deposited in your private trust account (20 X $200). You can withdraw this cash using your Major International secured credit card at automated teller machines anywhere in the world, or at any merchant's point of purchase. If 100 new members a month join your first level, $20,000 a month will be deposited to your account. If 500 new members a month join your first level, $100,000 a month will be deposited to your account as you can see.
7. In addition, you receive $40 for each new trust activated by new members referred by your downline, four levels deep. This can quickly multiply out to thousands more every month!

Effectively, what's happening is that memberships are being marketed for only $800, with each sponsoring trust receiving a $200 commission (25%) on each one. But the GENIUS of the marketing plan is such that each member only has to pay $200. Downline members pay the rest, and after $800, your trust receives all the first level $200 installments forever!

You can access the income through your Major International secured credit card, or write a "letter of wishes" to the trustee requesting checks be sent to you. Other ways are forthcoming, also.

MARKETING PLANS

There are at least eight easy ways to choose from for generating income with the P.I.L.L. program. These are not all necessary to implement; choose as few or as many as you like:

TIME-FREE PLANS

- Join Satellite 2000. Basically, for an extra $200 every 13 weeks, the company will market the program for you, using radio announcements, fax-on-demand, and a computerized sign-ups apportionment system.
- This AUTOMATIC TURN-KEY system could be sufficient to earn the income you want, so the following plans are not necessary in addition to Satellite 2000, unless you simply wish to maximize your income with the potential of all these plans.
- Set up your own fax-on-demand service, with your own sponsor number on the application page. Advertise the service in your choice of media. Once it is setup and you've got the advertising going, your time is mostly free.
- Set up a PILL Home Page on the World Wide Web of the Internet. like this, or on other computer networks. Or, set up a BBS (Bulletin Board Service) on a computer network, with the PILL program featured. Once set up, it should not take very much time to maintain it.

PART-TIME TO FULL-TIME PLANS

For those who like a more "hands-on" approach, instead of the above mentioned plans, or in addition to them, you can utilize the following methods. In all case, provide your prospects with copies of these pages, the application membership with your sponsor number on it.

- Contact prospects and have them call the conference call described on the Home Page. THESE CONFERENCE CALLS HAVE AVERAGED AN 80% SUCCESS RATE in listener sign-ups.
- Have prospects call the 24 hour recorded message in the USA at (407) 679-5039, extension 1.
- Lend them a copy of the audio tape P.I.L.L. will send you as a new member.
- Hold meetings and explain the program to whole groups at a time. If you can time them to coincide with the conference calls, you can tune in the whole audience to the conference calls by using a speaker phone. Pass out literature and tapes at the meetings. Some members have signed up dozens of people in a single evening this way, earn $200 on each one.
- Send out mass mailings with copies of these pages to opportunity seekers.

Comments by Frederick Mann, Founder, Terra Libra (Cyberspace country and global freedom education organization in your PILL upline):

"So far we're tremendously impressed with the people running the Belize Trust Program. They've done everything they said they would do and have delivered what they promised. From the time we faxed in our application form and $200 money order, it took only about three hours to get our ID#.

I spoke to Don Shaw and Earl Savoy at (407) 679-2959. They answered all my questions satisfactorily. They also gave me the name and number of the trustee in Belize who handles that end of the business.

His name is David Jenkins-phone 501-8-22990; fax 501-8-22989. (From USA dial 011-501-8-22990.) I called him and he answered all my questions satisfactorily. You're welcome to call Don Shaw or Earl Savoy at (407) 679-2959 or David Jenkins in Belize, before making up your mind about joining the program.

We've received 'our' trust documents and credit card applications forms as well as proper downline reports.

We've received our credit cards (three per trust) and used them successfully. Our total capital outlay for all of this was only $200! All the rest came from accumulated commissions. The benefits are significant: accumulating offshore funds, asset protection, privacy and credit cards that leave no paper trails for U.S. and other bureaucrats foreign to Belize."

TAXES

First of all, understand that by not reporting funds received from the PILL program, nor paying income taxes on it, we're not challenging any laws or going against any governments. We're doing just what the law allows.

Likewise, if you enjoy reporting and paying income taxes on your PILL benefits, or if you feel you have to, then by all means do so. And, the following text about taxes is not to be taken as legal advice. It is for information purposes only. PILL is held harmless; you are solely responsible for your own actions and what you do with the information.

There are no income taxes on trusts in Belize, Central America, where the trust is established, as long as they aren't selling products in Belize. Since you are not the one earning the income, the trust is, you can honestly say you're receiving no income at all from this. That is why you don't have to report it-there's nothing to report. The trust is earning all the income, and the trust is tax-exempt.

The monies you 're receiving from the Major International secured credit are loans, which are not taxable. The fact that the loans are PAID OFF IN FULL each month by your trust commission account, is a matter only subject to the jurisdiction of Belize, not your own country. This is the GENIUS of the tax-free status.

If you have the trust send you checks, then it is up to you how to report it or not.

PRIVACY

Belize is one of the strongest countries in the world for trust privacy laws. No outside entity can legally get any information from a private trust in Belize. Once it is set up for your benefit, no one anywhere else can find out about it.

Read the following article published on this topic.

Belize Court Makes Landmark Decision Protecting Privacy Belize City, Friday, January 20, 1995

In a landmark decision asserting Belize's sovereignty as an offshore financial jurisdiction, the Supreme Court of Belize upheld the country's confidentiality laws by revoking a previous court order set in motion by the Securities and Exchange Commission of the United States requesting that confidential documents, belonging to Swiss Trade and Commerce Trust, Ltd. be handed over to them.

In the case, Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) vs. Swiss Trade and Commerce Trust, Ltd., Banner Fund International, Lloyd Winburn et al, Supreme Court Justice Troadio Gonzalez ruled that documents held by the Belize court belonging to Swiss Trade and sought by the SEC, be immediately returned to Swiss Trade and Commerce Trust, Ltd.

Lawyers for Swiss Trade said that what this means for Belize is that this aspect of confidentiality, which is an important feature of the offshore industry, has been upheld. "What this means is that any party who seeks to destroy the concept of confidentiality would have to contend with our system, which has demonstrated its ability to uphold the relevant laws," Attorney Oscar Sabido said.

The decision is expected to have major international repercussions as the world's financial community looks to Belize and its new offshore services industry. "It is certainly a shot in the arm of the offshore industry because of the fact that it is an industry which is just beginning," Sabido said. A country's ability to assert its sovereignty without the interference of outside forces is a major deciding factor in choosing a place to invest and protect personal property.

When asked for his comment related to the decision, Lloyd Winburn, Director of Swiss Trade & Commerce Trust, Ltd., in Belize, stated "The Court's decision confirms our company in Belize originally. The Law related to confidentiality has been tested and found to be not lacking clarity and strength. Any other ruling by the Court would have sent a signal throughout the financial world that Belize could not be trusted to protect assets, provide confidentiality of transactions or otherwise serve the needs of those who seek to do business away from their home jurisdiction."

The decision clearly shows that the SEC stepped out of bounds in trying to obtain confidential information, the matter having been urged on both sides by learned Queen's Council.

The case arose after the SEC (bureaucrats) appeared at Swiss Trade's office on March 3, 1994 with the exception that they would be able to just take the files and leave the country with them, with no regard whatever to Belizean law. The quick reaction of company employees prevented any further disregard for the law on the part of the SEC (terrocrats) and their Belizean lawyer, Eamon Courtenay, who previously had been the lawyer for Swiss Trade.

DISCLAIMER

All individuals should obey all laws they are subject to. Any taxes on individual is liable for, should be paid by that individual. Of course, each individual should make specific personal determinations as to which jurisdictions(s) he or she is subject to, and which may cause various tax liabilities applicable to him or her to occur.

In general, if you are subject to regulations, you should obey those regulations. This includes reporting and disclosure regulations. In particular, when using trusts, some countries have regulations concerning hidden ownership and attempts to conceal sources and uses of funds. If you are subject to such regulations, you should obey and follow them.

Regardless of what regulations you are subject to, all your affairs should be conducted in good faith and in a lawful manner.

INDICTMENT

CR-S-99-327-HDM-(LRL)

VIOLATION: 18 U.S.C. § 1956(h)-
Conspiracy to Launder Monetary Instruments; 18 U.S.C. § 982(a)(1)-
Criminal Forfeiture

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES THAT:

COUNT ONE

(Conspiracy to Launder Monetary Instruments)

DEFINITIONS

The "open market" in the securities industry consists of all free trading stock that may be purchased and sold through stock exchanges and stock brokers.

"Stock brokers" are professionals who specialize in purchasing and selling stocks and 1 other securities on behalf of their clients.

2 "Privately held" stocks are securities of corporations that are not tradeable on any 3 securities exchange or public stock trading venue.

4 "Free trading" stocks are securities that an investor may purchase through a stock
5 exchange or through a brokerage office by simply offering to pay the publicly listed price of the 6 stock.

7 "Restricted stocks" are securities that pursuant to securities law may not be traded in the 8 open market.

9 "Shell companies" are validly established corporations that exist on paper only. They 10 have no business and usually no value. Shell companies are either public or private companies.

11 A "private company" is one that does not have stock trading freely on the open market.

12 A "public company" is one that has stock that is freely trading in the open market.

13 The "over-the-counter" market effects trades through brokerage houses that sell specific 14 securities without resort to a securities exchange. This is referred to as "making a market" in 15 those securities. Stocks sold in the "over-the-counter" market are typically lower priced shares of 16 small companies, which are traded through brokers who handle the particular company's shares.

17 A "market maker" in a particular security is a brokerage house that handles trades in that 18 particular "over-the-counter" security.

19 A "transfer agent" in the securities industry is a business entity that changes the title and 20 ownership of a security when that security changes hands.

21 A "clearing firm" in the securities industry is a brokerage firm that undertakes 22 administrative and support services for another firm that actually handles the trades. Typically,
23 larger firms will offer clearing capabilities to smaller firms to save the smaller entities the costs 24 associated with "clearing" securities transactions.

At all times material to this Indictment:

National Health and Safety, Inc. (National Health), Terra West Venture, Inc. (Terra West), Health and Wealth, Inc. (Health and Wealth), and Mosaic Multisoft, Inc. (Mosaic), were companies whose securities traded in the over-the-counter market. National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, and Mosaic were shell companies, doing no business and generating no income.

Barrett-Day Securities, Equitrade, M.H. Meyerson & Co., Inc., and other securities firms were brokerage houses that sold National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other securities for the purported owners of those stocks.

Watkins Glen Development, PBA Energy Associates, and Cambro Investment Group were the names on bank accounts opened and used by the defendants at banks, which included Continental National Bank and Bank of America.

From as early as January 1993 and continuing through the date of this Indictment, in the District of Nevada and elsewhere, defendants

PETER BERNEY and

and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury did knowingly conspire and agree to commit the following offenses against the United States: 1) Laundering of a Monetary Instrument in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(a)(1)(A)(i) by knowingly and unlawfully conducting financial transactions involving property known to represent the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity, to wit: mail fraud and wire fraud, violations of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1341 and 1343, knowing that the transactions were designed in whole and in part to promote the continuation of such mail and wire fraud violations; and 2) Laundering of a Monetary Instrument

1 in violation of Title 18, United States Code Section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i) by knowingly and 2 unlawfully conducting financial transactions involving property known to represent the proceeds
3 of some form of unlawful activity, to wit: mail and wire fraud, violations of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1341
4 and 1343, knowing that the transactions were designed in whole and in part to conceal and
5 disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, and control of the proceeds of said specified 6 unlawful activity.

7 PURPOSE OF THE CONSPIRACY

8 It was the purpose of the conspiracy for the defendants, PETER BERNEY and 9 REBECCA BERNEY, using personal, corporate, and trust bank accounts to do the following:
10 1) hide and retain some proceeds from the fraudulent sales of National Health, Terra West, 11 Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other securities to the public by their coconspirators, and 2) to 12 utilize some of the proceeds of these fraudulent sales to fund the further fraudulent sales to the 13 public of other worthless securities.

14 MANNER AND MEANS

15 It was a part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY and other 16 coconspirators would merge privately held corporations with virtually worthless shell
17 corporations, which were tradable on the over-the-counter market, thereby creating freely 18 tradable securities for companies, which included National Health, Terra West, Health and 19 Wealth, and Mosaic. The privately held corporations would have balance sheets that would 20 make the new merged entities appear to be valuable.

21 It was a further part of the conspiracy that at any given time the defendant PETER 22 BERNEY maintained an inventory of between 35 and 50 shell corporations available for 23 merging with privately held corporations.

24 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY and other 25 coconspirators would install new boards of directors for the newly merged corporate entities.

1 The new boards of directors would not be independent, but instead the defendant PETER
2 BERNEY would exercise control over the new boards of directors.

3 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the new boards of directors, which defendant
4 PETER BERNEY controlled, would appoint officers for the newly merged companies.

5 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY would cause
6 the new boards of directors to issue stock that was to be freely tradable in the over-the-counter
7 market. The defendant PETER BERNEY and his coconspirators would gain control of all the 8 new freely tradable shares. This would make any outstanding shareholders of the pre-merger 9 shell corporations powerless to control the affairs of the newly merged companies.

10 It was a further part of the conspiracy that, when the boards of directors issued the new 11 stocks, they would also issue restricted stock to the former owners of the privately held entities 12 that had merged with the shells.

13 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the new boards of directors would issue the 14 new free trading stock at very low prices. The defendant PETER BERNEY or nominees
15 cooperating with him would purchase all of the new freely tradable shares, thus, consolidating 16 virtual complete ownership of the company in his hands.

17 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY or 18 coconspirators would instruct the transfer agent to issue the new free trading stock, which he had 19 purchased, in the names of various coconspirators or fictitious entities. He would instruct the 20 transfer agent to issue stock in the names of defendant REBECCA BERNEY, Watkins Glen 21 Development Trust, PBA Energy Associates, and Cambro Investment Group.

22 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendants PETER BERNEY and 23 REBECCA BERNEY would use corporate and trust names as the sellers of the securities to 24 hide the identities of the true owners and sellers of these and other securities.

26

1 National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other newly merged companies to 2 send false filings to the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the 3 National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) via the United States Postal Service and 4 private and commercial interstate couriers. Such filings would be false in that they would fail to 5 notify the SEC and NASD of the true control of the stock by the defendants PETER BERNEY
6 and REBECCA BERNEY and their coconspirators.

7 It was a further part of the conspiracy that coconspirators of the defendants would set up
8 trading accounts at Equitrade, M.H. Meyerson & Co., Inc., and other securities brokerage firms
9 in the names of the purported owners of National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, 10 Mosaic, and other securities.

11 It was a further part of the conspiracy that some coconspirators would subvert the 12 legitimate operation of certain brokerage firms, including Barrett-Day Securities, in that 13 coconspirators employed at these firms as brokers would call potential customers, at times using 14 interstate wire communications, and would do the following: 1) knowingly make false
15 representations about the values and futures of National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, 16 Mosaic, and other worthless securities; 2) fail to disclose the true worth of the companies; and 3)
17 fail to disclose that the defendants PETER BERNEY and REBECCA BERNEY control the 18 vast majority of the companies' shares. By means of these material omissions and false 19 representations, these coconspirators would sell on the over-the-counter market shares of 20 National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other valueless securities, held by 21 the defendants.

22 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY would pay
23 these corrupt brokers cash for selling National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, 24 and the other securities by sending a coconspirator to deliver the payments to the corrupt brokers.

26

1 the defendant REBECCA BERNEY and others to sign third party releases for the sales of the 2 stock that they purportedly owned. Additionally, defendant REBECCA BERNEY would 3 provide nominee stock certificates and stock powers to the brokerage houses involved.

4 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY and his 5 coconspirators, rather than the open market, would set the price, at which the securities would 6 trade. In reality, the securities would be virtually worthless.

7 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant REBECCA BERNEY set up a
8 bank account in her own name at Bank of America for the receipt of funds from the fraudulent
9 sale of stock shares she owned and defendants PETER BERNEY and REBECCA BERNEY
10 would set up bank accounts at Continental National Bank, Bank of America, and First Interstate 11 Bank of California in the names of business and trust entities that corresponded to the purported
12 sellers of the fraudulently sold shares of National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic
13 and other corporations. The defendants would set up bank account in the names of Watkins
14 Glenn Development Trust, PBA Energy Associates, and Cambro Investment Group.

15 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant REBECCA BERNEY would be 16 named as an officer and trustee of Watkins Glenn Development Trust and PBA Energy 17 Associates.

18 It was a further part of the conspiracy that coconspirators who purported to own some of 19 the fraudulently sold securities would also set up bank accounts for the receipt of monies from 20 the stock sales.

21 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY would 22 receive a portion of the proceeds from the fraudulent stock sales by the coconspirators in whose 23 names the sales were made.

24 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendants PETER BERNEY and 25 REBECCA BERNEY would convert to their own use or to the continuation of the scheme the 26

1 proceeds of the fraudulent stock sales. In some instances they would take or expend funds
2 directly from the bank accounts, which they controlled. In other instances, they or their 3 coconspirators would pass the fraudulently obtained funds through other accounts before the 4 defendants PETER BERNEY and REBECCA BERNEY would take cash or make 5 expenditures.

6 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendant PETER BERNEY would make 7 frequent and substantial payments to and expenditures for his codefendant REBECCA
8 BERNEY. The defendant REBECCA BERNEY would receive checks from the defendant
9 PETER BERNEY totaling approximately $1.1 million.

10 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendants PETER BERNEY and 11 REBECCA BERNEY would hide the receipt and control of the proceeds from the fraudulent
12 sales of National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other companies by 13 purchasing, in the names of trusts, vehicles, real property, and other assets.

14 It was a further part of the conspiracy that the defendants PETER BERNEY and 15 REBECCA BERNEY received in excess of $10 million in proceeds from the fraudulent sales of 16 National Health, Terra West, Health and Wealth, Mosaic, and other companies, and the 17 defendants would conceal, through conduct in violation of 18 U.S.C. section 1956, these monies 18 and would use the monies in further fraudulent stock sales schemes.

15 COUNT ONE
 16 (Money Laundering Conspiracy)

17 From in or about the summer of 1992 through in or about June 18 1995, in the State and Federal District of Nevada and elsewhere,

19 PETER BERNEY
 20 and
 21 REBECCA BERNEY

22 defendants herein, and others known and unknown, did knowingly
 23 conspire and agree to commit an offense against the United States, 24 to wit: to knowingly, willfully and unlawfully conduct and attempt 25 to conduct financial transactions involving property known to 26 represent the proceeds of some form of unlawful activity, which in

1 fact constituted proceeds of wire fraud in violation of Title 18, 2 United States Code, section 1343, to wit: in excess of 3 $10,000,000.00 (ten million dollars), knowing that the transactions
4 were designed in whole and in part to conceal and disguise the 5 nature, location, source, ownership, and control of the proceeds of 6 said specified unlawful activity, in violation of Title 18, United 7 States Code, section 1956(a)(1)(B)(i).

1 Complainant, as a Special Agent of the Criminal Investigation
2 Division of the Internal Revenue Service, states the following as 3 probable cause in support of this complaint:

4 1. Complainant has been a Special Agent of the Criminal 5 Investigation Division of the Internal Revenue Service for 6 approximately eight years. Complainant is a licensed CPA in the 7 State of Nevada and has been the case agent in the investigation of 8 Peter Berney, Rebecca Berney and others, which commenced during 9 approximately 1994.

10 2. Based on my investigation, there is probable cause to 11 believe the Defendants herein, and numerous others known and 12 unknown, agreed to engage in and did engage in a scheme from 13 approximately the summer of 1992 through June of 1995 which 14 included (1) bribing stockbrokers with millions of dollars of 15 cash; (2) manipulating and attempting to manipulate the volume and 16 price of stocks for fraudulent sale to the public; and (3)
17 concealing and laundering the illegal proceeds generated from the 18 scheme. Among the purposes of the scheme, which was conducted in 19 Nevada, California, New York, and elsewhere, were to obtain money 20 and other things of value for the defendants Peter Berney and 21 Rebecca Berney and others.

22 3. Two cooperating witnesses (hereafter CW1 and CW2) began 23 cooperating with the government in late 1997. CW1 and CW2 have 24 been debriefed extensively. CW1 and CW2 have admitted their 25 criminal involvement in the instant scheme and others and have 26

1 provided the information set forth below in exchange for and in 2 hopes of leniency from the government. Over 100 bank accounts and 3 brokerage accounts have been obtained via grand jury subpoenas.
4 The information received from CW1 and CW2 has been extensively 5 corroborated with the records obtained and by the statements of 6 others. Furthermore, CW1 and CW2 have allowed the Government to 7 monitor their meetings and conversations with other individuals
8 under investigation for stock fraud and money laundering schemes.
9 CW1 and CW2 have never been found to be untruthful while 10 cooperating with the government. CW1 and CW2 provided the 11 following information concerning stock fraud and money laundering 12 schemes they were involved in with defendants Peter Berney and 13 Rebecca Berney prior to CW1 and CW2 cooperating with the 14 government:

15           A. CW1 and CW2 stated Peter Berney employed CW1 between 16 the summer of 1992 and June of 1995 to help set up publicly traded 17 shell corporations to be used for the fraudulent sale of stock to 18 the public. CW2 assisted CW1 for this purpose, with Peter Berney's
19 knowledge. Specifically, CW1 and CW2 provided shell corporations
20 including but not limited to Nevtah Capital Management Corp., Top
21 Dollar Realty, Inc., and Terra West Ventures, Inc., to Peter Berney
22 and his co-conspirators. CW1 and CW2 also provided nominees to act 23 as shareholders when in reality the vast majority of stock was 24 under the control of Peter Berney. The fact was not disclosed to 25 the public that Peter Berney controlled almost the entire float of 26

1 free trading stock. It was also undisclosed to the public that 2 Peter Berney and his co-conspirators set the prices at which the 3 stock was sold, both initially and during trading. A Registration
4 packet which was required by law to be filed was filed with the 5 National Association of Securities Dealers for each of the shell
6 companies provided by CW1 and CW2. The law requires disclosure of 7 any person or persons holding more than 5% of the total issued and 8 outstanding shares. Peter Berney controlled the majority of the 9 issued and outstanding shares and willfully failed to disclose that 10 material fact.

11 B. CW1 and CW2 said Peter Berney opened brokerage 12 accounts and bank accounts in the names of corporations which he 13 controlled. The names of some of the controlled corporations were 14 Watkins Glenn Development, Cambro Investment Group, and PBA Energy 15 Associates, Inc. The vast majority of the funds deposited into the 16 controlled corporate accounts was derived from the fraudulent
17 scheme described above. The stock controlled by Peter Berney held 18 in the names of nominees was transferred into the names of the 19 controlled corporations. As the stock was sold the proceeds were 20 received into the controlled corporate brokerage accounts. The 21 funds were then transferred into the controlled corporate bank
22 accounts. As the funds were received into the controlled corporate 23 bank accounts, defendant Peter Berney disbursed funds to CW1 and 24 CW2 by various means including interstate wire transfers for CW1
25 and CW2 to convert the funds into cash. The cash was then brought 26

1 to Peter Berney. On two or more occasions Rebecca Berney was 2 present when the cash was delivered to Peter Berney and Rebecca 3 Berney received several thousands of dollars from Peter Berney on 4 each occasion. The following cash deliveries to Peter Berney are a
 5 sample of the funds laundered for him by CW1 and CW2:

|    |          |           |
|----|----------|-----------|
| 6  | 09-02-93 | $157,462 |
| 7  | 10-26-93 | $100,000 |
| 8  | 02-07-94 | $100,000 |
| 9  | 04-21-94 | $278,000 |
| 10 | 05-11-94 | $245,000 |
| 11 | 06-29-94 | $169,000 |
| 12 | 07-11-94 | $ 65,000 |

13 On other occasions, defendant Peter Berney issued checks from 14 the controlled corporate bank accounts directly to defendant
 15 Rebecca Berney, including the following:

| 16 | DATE | PAYOR             | PAYEE   | AMOUNT |
|----|-------------|--------------------------|----------------|---------------|
| 17 | 08-17-94    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $15,000      |
| 18 | 09-01-94    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $10,000      |
| 19 | 08-08-94    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $65,000      |
| 20 | 10-05-94    | Cambro Investment Group  | Rebecca Berney | $10,000      |
| 21 | 10-12-94    | Watkins Glenn Dev. Trust | Rebecca Berney | $ 5,000      |
| 22 | 10-26-94    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $20,000      |
| 23 | 01-30-95    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $20,000      |
| 24 | 05-31-95    | PBA Energy Associates    | Rebecca Berney | $20,000      |
| 25 | 04-25-95    | Cambro Investment Group  | Rebecca Berney | $20,000      |

1 Peter Berney kept 38% of the cash he received. The other 62%
2 was packaged in Federal Express envelopes and was hand delivered to 3 brokers in New York by CW1 and CW2.

4 C. CW1 and CW2 indicated they worked closely with Peter 5 Berney from approximately 1992 through June of 1995. During 6 approximately February of 1994 through January of 1995 Rebecca 7 Berney worked at the offices of her husband, Peter Berney. She had 8 various duties including delivery of nominee stock certificates and 9 stock powers to brokerage houses.

10 D. CW1 and CW2 told your complainant that, during 11 approximately late 1994 Peter Berney left his wife Rebecca Berney 12 for Patty Linson. At that time Rebecca Berney copied many of the 13 records located at Peter Berney's office. She stated she wanted
14 the records so Peter Berney could not leave her "high and dry".
15 Rebecca Berney stated she would take the records to the FBI if 16 Peter Berney attempted to "fuck her".

17 E. CW1 also stated that shortly before he began
18 cooperating with the government he brought additional incriminating 19 records of Peter Berney's to Rebecca Berney's residence. Again she 20 stated the records were her insurance policy against Peter Berney
21 leaving her high and dry.

22 F. CW1 stated he prepared the 1991, 1992, 1993, and 23 1994 Federal Individual Income Tax returns for Peter and Rebecca 24 Berney in the presence of Peter Berney. CW1 stated the returns
25 were falsified at Peter Berney's request to only report the minimum
26

1 amount of income necessary to support their lifestyle. The
 2 majority of the cash the Berneys received from this scheme was not 3 reported as income. Rebecca Berney stated to CWI that she hoped 4 she would not go to jail for signing the false tax returns.

5 G. Furthermore, CWI prepared Corporate Federal Income
 6 Tax returns that helped conceal and disguise the nature, location, 7 source, ownership, and control of the proceeds generated by the 8 scheme. These returns were prepared at the direction of Peter 9 Berney.

10 H. CWI stated that there were in excess of ten million
 11 dollars in proceeds from the above-referenced scheme.

I. Contact/Occasion

Telephoned McAlister Abbot, Asst. Manager. Eustace S. Francis our courier agent in Antigua is the brother-in-law of Mr. Abbot and provided the introduction to the subject.

II. Topics Discussed

1. Background

Subject was established in May of this year with a commercial banking licence but has not solicited any local business because they are awaiting offshore banking legislation to pass the assembly (expected in March 1982). Once the subject obtains an offshore banking license they will be active in a variety of international business transactions in all major currencies. When this offshore activity begins capital will be increased to U.S. $2,000,000.

2. Ownership

Subject is 50% owned by Inter-Maritime Bank based in Geneva, Switzerland and 50% by Great American Bank Inc. of Miami Florida. Inter-Maritime Bank is solely owned by Bruce Rappaport. Rappaport is a highly successful individual in the shipping business. Inter-Maritime Bank is the house bank for Rappaport's world wide shipping operations. In addition to being Chairman of Inter-Maritime, he is also Chairman of the West Indies Oil Corporation.

Marvin Warner is Chairman of Great American Bank. He was formerly U.S. Ambassador of Switzerland during the late 1970's.

3. Correspondents

Subject has already established a relationship with Chase, New York by virtue of the fact that Chase is Inter-Maritime's leading U.S. correspondent. Subject also has an account with Great American Bank in Miami. Subject is very interested in utilizing our courier services for cash letters. Subject learned through our agent in Antigua and other banks on the island about our courier. Volume would be initially small; however, when they would begin offshore banking operations we could expect to see large and frequent use of the service. They would like to establish the account and begin to use courier as soon as possible. Writer explained that checkings would have to be obtained first.

II Topics Discussed

Finally Swiss American has received the comfort letter from Inter Maritime Bank. Belgrove will forward same to Irving as soon as he has it in his possession. I told him that the comfort letter (depending on what it says) will go a long way towards making Irving more comfortable with credit to SA. Belgrove explained that with or without a comfort letter, Inter Maritime was bound by Swiss law to support its subsidiary in times of trouble. SA is 100% owned by Inter Maritime Bank.

Management of SA hopes that with the comfort letter Irving will be prepared to be more lenient with credit approval for SA. He will forward the financials of Intermaritime to Irving as soon as possible for us to evaluate the parent.

He explained their poor performance in 1986. One of their major customers, a garment factory, has been going through some rough times because of the failure of the CBI under whose program the factory hoped to benefit. It was necessary therefore to make substantial provision for loan loss for this client in the event that a loss occurred. This had a serious negative impact on SA's net earnings. Belgrove believes that there is still hope that the factory will pull itself together. Belgrove has Sept. 1987's interim figures available and will send them as soon as possible.

Belgrove has installed S.A. on the L/C module and has begun to send L/C payments via micro cash. I jokingly told him I'll have him go around the Caribbean on my behalf and install and train other customers to use micro.

II Topics Discussed - (Cont'd)

5. Shell Payments:

He mentioned the importance of the Shell Payments which we make once a month for SA. I assured him that we would facilitate him as much as possible but on the other hand he must be sure that there were sufficient funds in the account to cover these large payments. He admitted to a temporary funding problem. SA is not nearly as liquid as many of the other banks in the OECS.

6. Proposal:

We discussed the proposal sent to Irving regarding the idea of partial collateral for L/Cs, i.e., depositing 20% of collateral up front and the balance of the collateral 15 days before expiry of the letter of credit. However, as he pointed out there would be no need for this proposal if we were willing to give them clean credit based on the comfort letter from Inter-maritime.

7. Bruce Rappoport

He gave me a brief background on Mr. Rappoport founder and owner of Inter-maritime Bank. Inter-maritime which owns S.A. 100% is a confederation of companies active in banking, shipping and petroleum industries.

8. Credit Card Business:

Scotia Bank and Royal Bank of Canada are the two banks processing credit card receipts in Antigua. Belgrove did not anticipate S.A. entering this business.

9. Management Changes:

Peter Harrington has left and Andrew Barnes is the new G.M. (apparently Mr. Harrington did not leave on very amiable terms). Also heard from Belgrove that Michael Callender of Caribbean Banking Corporation in St. Vincent has returned to Royal Bank of Trinidad and Tobago. Frances Bowman from MCB St. Vincent is now acting Manager at CBC.

The subject has a $1.4 million stand-by letter of credit from The Bank of Bermuda guaranteeing Swiss American National Bank of Antigua's letters of credit, overdrafts, and stand-by letters of credit. This guarantee has been allocated on our books as a $700,000 UFDT for letters of credit and a $700,000 facility for stand-by letters of credit.

In order to accommodate an increase from $100,000 to $500,000 in the subject's stand-by letter of credit reference number 0024942 in favor of Visa International guaranteeing Swiss American National Bank of Antigua's membership dues, we are reallocating the $1.4 million as follows: the facility for stand-by letters of credit will be increased to $1.2 million and the facility for letters of credit will be reduced to $200,000.

Pricing on this transaction will be 2% per annum, which will generate total revenue of $10,000.

Dear Romell,

It was real pleasure meeting you and the rest of the staff during my first visit to Antigua. Ms. Nancy Goodwin and I, had an excellent and productive meeting with you. We are confident, we would be able to improve and expand the relationship between our two institutions.

Concerning your standby letter of credit for $225,000 in favor of Banco La Union, San Jose, Costa Rica, your reference: 1293. Please be advised, The Bank of New York has already informed the beneficiary that this SLC has expired and no payment would be made. No reply was received from them as of today. Collateral, in the form of a BONY IBF Time Deposit, will be credited to your account on June 20, 1994, the maturity date.

We received the affidavit of forgery for check no. 48652. Documents were sent to Mr. Steve Polido, AVP in charge of checks forgery at The Bank of New York. He will revert to Swiss-American National Bank as soon as possible.

The best system to fight against check forgery is to report them to The Bank of New York as early as you can. It is very important that Swiss-American National Bank reviews daily all the debit entries in your statement and report to us those your institution is unable to apply. If you can not apply a debit, please call or fax a copy to me or Ms. Elsa Torres-Kelly attention.

This refers to your telex of June 8, 1994.

Attached please find the beneficiary's unpaid drawing for $60,000.00, unpaid due to the following discrepancy:

- o Letter from Swiss American Bank Ltd. to the beneficiary signed by two members of the board of Swiss American Bank
Ltd. and notarized in Antigua not presented.

We telexed Swiss American Bank Ltd. on April 22, 1994 to waive the discrepancy and authorize payment, but they refused.

On April 26, 1994, we advised Banco de la Union our refusal via two cable messages relayed through yourselves and we faxed copies of these messages directly to Mr. Ronald Seale of Banco de la Union.

In view of the above, we are closing our file on this matter and

Re: Your Reference No. S00028894

Gentlemen:

This office has been consulted by Banco de la Union S.A. of San Jose, Costa Rica with reference to its claim against you under two Irrevocable Standby Letters of Credit for the total sum of $450,000.00 expiring April 20, 1994.

The documents reviewed by us indicate that on April 13, 1993 you confirmed those letters of credit, which had been issued by Swiss American National Bank of St. John's, upon the express understanding that these letters of credit were for the purpose of complying with legal requirements for liquidity imposed upon private banks by the Banco Central De Costa Rica.

We understand that Banco de la Union S.A. proceeded to authorize Banco Del Comercio S.A. to effect collection of the sum of $60,000.00 against one of the confirmed irrevocable standby letters of credit but that you purported to amend those letters of credit by requiring that a letter be presented from the Swiss American National Bank Ltd. to the beneficiary signed by two members of the board of that bank and notarized in Antigua. When this was not done you apparently refused payment.

Your acts aforesaid appear to be without legal justification, contrary to law and, in our opinion, constitute an anticipatory breach of your contractual obligations.

Since the letters of credit recite that they are subject to the Uniform Codes and Practices for Documentary Credit (revised 1983), International Chamber of Commerce, Publication No. 400, I respectfully refer you to its provisions which prohibit the amendment of an irrevocable letter of credit without the agreement of the issuing bank, the confirming bank and the beneficiary.

This is consistent with the Uniform Commercial Code of the State of New York Section 5-106(2) which provides:

Unless otherwise agreed once an irrevocable credit is established as regards the customer it can be modified or revoked only with the consent of the customer and once it is established as regards the beneficiary it can be modified or revoked only with his consent.

The legal authorities indicate that this subsection is a restatement of the generally accepted law and practice. Cases in point are:

Dulien Steel Products, Inc. v. Bankers Trust Company, 189 F. Supp. 922;

Lamborn v. National Park Bank, 240 N.Y. 520.

Your purported amendment of the confirmed irrevocable letters of credit was not consented to by our client, the beneficiary, and is therefore without force and effect, except that it has prevented our client from achieving liquidity as contemplated.

Accordingly, demand is hereby made upon you for the sum of $450,000.00, the amounts intended to be made available under the two letters of credits, which you have breached, together with pre-judgment interest at the rate of 9% per annum.

All of the foregoing is without prejudice to the rights of our client to seek special damages, punitive damages and attorneys fees in the event you do not comply with this demand.

Very truly yours,

Irving L. Golomb

Re: Standby Letter of Credit
No. 599928624

Dear Ms. Shedlock:

Upon receipt of your October 11 letter which encloses a copy of a purported consent signed by Ronald Seale, we have investigated the matter and have learned that Mr. Seale was not the president of Banco De La Union on May 13, 1993, the date of his purported letter. He was not elected until August 11, 1993 and his authority to act as president did not vest until the Act had been fully recorded in the Costa Rica Public Registry on August 27, 1993. Before that time he was only a minority shareholder and neither an officer nor a director.

This raises the question of how the Bank of New York justifies its reliance on what may be at best a self-serving declaration by Mr. Seale that he was the president. It is axiomatic, of course, that an agency cannot be proved by the declarations of its agents.

Moreover, had the "consent" letter which you have sent me existed at the date indicated, the original or a copy would have been sent in the ordinary course of business to the confirming bank (The Bank of New York) and would have become a part of your client's transactional records. Nor would the Swiss American Bank, if it had the letter in its own files, sit upon it for six months after being called upon to document a supposed amendment.

Why would this letter not have been produced sooner, during the course of the communications between our client and yours?

The foregoing considerations impart a sense of unreality to the document you have sent us.

Possibly if you could furnish us with a better copy of the "consent" letter, we may be in a better position to have it examined for authenticity.

In any event, we must ask you to go behind your own letter of October 11 and ascertain answers to the questions raised above.

While awaiting your responses we reserve all rights on the part of our client.

Mr. John Greaves
General Manager
Swiss-American Banking Group
Friar's Hill Road
P.O. Box 1302
St. John's Antigua W.I.

Dear John,

The Bank of New York has currently two major cases outstanding with Swiss-American National Bank of Antigua ( SANB ). One is forged checks for a total amount of $53,665.00 and the other relate to two standby letters of credit in favor of Banco de la Union, San Jose, Costa Rica.

I. Forged Checks for $53,665.00

This case was referred to The Bank of New York's Protective Control Department and a claim was forwarded to Great Western Bank in Florida. However, since forgery is a criminal offense and must be reported to the U.S. police authorities, we would like to request clarification on the following points, as they differ with our files :

a) The system of advice of drawings for amounts $5,000 and over mentioned in your letter dated October 7, 1994 was apparently never instituted. In a letter dated July 16, 1993 and as a result of four forged checks debited to your account in May, 1993, SANB requested more information about the advice of drawing for checks in amounts $5,000 and over. These materials were sent to your Institution via fax by BNY's Deposit Services Division on July 22, 1993.

SANB then proceeded to send to The Bank of New York advice of checks via fax which we could not accept for security reasons. An urgent telex was sent to Swiss American National Bank on July 29, 1993 indicating, checks issue information must be sent to BNY via tested telex or SWIFT, and to confirm accordingly. We never received a response and the procedure was never established in our system.

We are currently receiving from time to time telexes from Swiss American National Bank, but we are not sure if it is for every check issued for $5,000 and over. Please clarify in writing as soon as possible in order to avoid checks being returned.

b) Deposit Services Division at The Bank of New York confirmed to the investigators the original forged checks for $3,000, $19,110.00, $18,330.00, and $16,225.00 all dated February 1994 were returned to Swiss-American National Bank via courier. Apparently, all the good canceled checks were received for that period, excepted these forged drafts. We would like you to understand that these forged checks were not mailed separately, but were included in the same envelope with your statements and the other checks. We would appreciate if you can start an investigation at your end.

BNYSEN06207

THE BANK OF NEW YORK

c) When Ms. Nancy Goodwin and I came to Antigua in May 1994, your staff told us during our discussion that the $3,000 forged check was the only one they had in their books. Swiss American should have notified us of the others or of an ongoing audit. Timely notification is important under the UCC regulations, and a customer is obligated to exercise reasonable care and promptness in examining bank statements. This subject was also underlined in my letter dated June 9, 1994.

d) The Bank of New York has already written off $53,000 since May 1993, including the $3,000 refunded to SANB on August 30, 1994. We definitely would like to locate the source of these forgeries and find a solution to this problem. It would be beneficial for both Institutions.

e) The investigators are also requesting a local police report. Did Swiss American National Bank reported these cases to the authorities in Antigua? if yes, we would appreciate sending us a copy. If no report was filled, please contact your local police department as soon as possible.

II. Standby Letters of Credit in favor of Banco de la Union

The Bank of New York's Legal Department has been contacted by Golomb, Sindel and Dible, PC Counsellors at Law located in New York City on behalf of Banco de La Union, San Jose Costa Rica. $ 450,000 are being claimed from BNY, representing the amount two irrevocable standby letters of credit opened by The Bank of New York, under instructions from Swiss American National Bank and in favor of Banco de La Union.

As we discussed with Mr. Lester Andall, enclosed is the recent correspondence between Irving Golumb, the attorney for Banco de la Union SA and Mrs. Jean Shedlock, The Bank of New York's counsel, with regards to Banco de la Union's claim under the two Irrevocable Standby Letters of Credit No. 1193 and 1293.

In the November 10, 1994 letter, Mr. Golumb states that Mr. Ronald Seale was not authorized to consent on behalf of the beneficiary to the May 13, 1993 amendment. He argues that since the beneficiary did not consent to the amendment, Banco de la Union should recover for not only the $60,000 drawing actually made, but also for the face amount ( $450,000 ) of the two l/c's.

At this stage, we would like to have your comments and if possible arrange a conference call with you. Jean Shedlock and myself at a mutually convenient time.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM

To : Dorothy A. Kmetz
From : Jean-Pierre St. Victor
Date : December 6, 1994
Re : Swiss American National Bank of Antigua

We would like to inform you about the case of two standby letters of credit issued and confirmed by The Bank of New York by order Swiss American National Bank of Antigua ( SANB ). These I/c's, secured by IBF time deposits, were issued for $ 225,000 each in April, 1993 in favor of Banco de La Union, San Jose, Costa Rica with a maturity date extended to April 20, 1994.

These letters of credit were opened for the purpose of complying with legal requirements for liquidity imposed upon private banks by Banco Central de Costa Rica.

No claims, under these standby letters of credit, were received by The Bank of New York until April 20, 1994, the maturity date. The beneficiary flew someone in from Costa Rica and presented documents for $60,000 against one of the standby letters of credit.

When Latin America Division was informed about this claim, on April 22, 1994, we automatically debited SANB's account for $225,000 and created an IBF time deposit for 60 days, since the previous collateral had already been released the previous day. The Bank of New York's Standby Letter of credit Department refused payment because Banco de la Union did not include a letter from Swiss American National Bank, signed by two board members and notarized in Antigua. This amendment was apparently agreed upon and signed by SANB and Banco de la Union.

Letter of credit Department informed both parties about the discrepancy and requested a waiver and authorization for payment from the opening bank on April 22, 1994. Having received a negative response from Swiss American, they proceeded to inform the beneficiary. With no reply neither from the beneficiary or Banco del Comercio ( Banco de la Union's correspondent in Costa Rica ), we closed our files on June 14, 1994. Collateral was released on June 20, 1994.

This case has currently been reactivated as a result of a letter dated October 4, 1994 received by The Bank of New York from Golomb, Sindel and Dible, PC Counsellors at Law in New York City on behalf of Banco de la Union, Costa Rica. BNY's actions in April 1994 are perceived as an anticipatory breach in our contract by the beneficiary and is now requesting payment for the full amount of the two standby letters of credit ( $450,000 ).

When Mrs. Jean Shedlock, Counsel for The Bank of New York's Legal Department, presented a copy of the amendment signed by Mr. Ronald Seale, president of Banco de la Union to Mr. Golomb, she was informed that Mr. Seale was not the president of Banco de la Union on May 13, 1993 ( amendment date ) and was only elected to this position only on August 11, 1993.

All of these informations have already been related to Mr. John Greaves, Manager of Swiss American National Bank in Antigua and the case is currently being reviewed by BNY's Legal Department. We have not yet received a reply from Mr. Greaves.

As stated previously, collateral for these l/c's were released on June 20, 1994 and we are recommending we take the full amount from SANB's current account, in case of any legal actions by Banco de la Union against The Bank of New York. The account is currently on " refer debit " in our system.

Attached, please find all the correspondence received on this matter. We will provide you with an update on this case as soon as it is available.

Topics of Discussion:

Elsa and I had a very interesting and important meeting with Swiss-American National Bank of Antigua. This institution is currently going through a major restructuring program, as both the General and Operations Managers resigned from the bank. The resignation of Mr. John Greaves and Mr. Lester Andall, respectively was effective as of Friday April 21, 1995. Mr. Greaves told us these resignations were not the result of any abnormalities within the institution, but only reflect a change in management in view that their contracts expired in 1995. Mr. Greaves told us also, he will stay as a consultant to the Board of Director of the bank. The new General Manager of Swiss-American National Bank is Mr. Ken Fisher. We were unable to meet him as he was in the process of moving to Antigua and his nomination was going to be effective on May 1, 1995. No replacement has been selected yet for Mr. Andall's position.

Our discussion focused on two outstanding issues. The first one is a possible lawsuit against The Bank of New York by Banco de la Union in Costa Rica. This institution is claiming $450,000, representing the amount of two irrevocable standby letters of credit opened by The Bank of New York under instructions from Swiss-American. Having been briefed by Mrs. Jean Shedlock from BNY's Legal Division before the trip, we told Mr. Greaves that the lawyers representing Banco de la Union in New York have already taken all the steps for an actual lawsuit, and despite many requests by BNY's Legal Division, we were still waiting for the following information from Swiss-American:

- 1) A letter from Swiss-American's lawyer in Antigua explaining its position regarding this case.

2) and the name and address of Swiss-American's lawyers in New York, since BNY's senior management had decided that all-legal expense should be for the account of Swiss-American Bank.

Mr. John Greaves acknowledged that they have already legal representation in New York and told us he will pass these requests to his lawyers with instruction to contact Mrs. Shedlock as soon as possible.

The second case involves a number of forged checks for a total of $53,665.00 apparently originated in Antigua. Not only did Swiss-American National Bank never send us a police report as requested in our letter dated December 2, 1994 but BNY was advised nine months after these items were returned to SANB.

We told Mr. Romell Tiwari, Comptroller at Swiss American, The Bank of New York will decide on the check issue only after the lawsuit has been settled.

Dear Mr. Golomb:

I am the attorney for Swiss American Bank Ltd ("Swiss American") and am writing to you with respect to Banco de la Union's claims on Standby Letters of Credit Nos. 11/93 and 12/93. These Letters of Credit were issued by Swiss American on May 12, 1993 with instructions to the Bank of New York to pay Banco de la Union upon receipt of proper documentation. All negotiations were conducted by Ronald Seale, President, on behalf of Banco de la Union. All correspondence relative to the Letters of Credit was addressed to Ronald Seale, President of Banco de la Union at the Bank's address in Costa Rica.

When it became apparent that Banco de la Union could not collateralize the Letters of Credit as agreed, Swiss American became concerned about its exposure and insisted that an amendment to the original Letters of Credit be done in order to give it control of the drawings.

The amendment was accepted by Ronald Seale on Banco de la Union's stationery on May 13, 1993 by fax of that date to John Greaves. Even if, as Banco de la Union maintains, Mr. Seale was not its President in May of 1993 he was nonetheless an authorized agent and his actions viz-a-viz the amendment were binding on Banco de la Union.

Since Banco de la Union failed to submit documents which conformed to the amendment, its eleventh hour drawing on April 20, 1994 was properly rejected.

Sincerely,

Suit No. 237 of 1994

The above-captioned suit was filed on June 15, 1994. Leave to serve out of the jurisdiction was granted by the Court and a copy of the proceedings sent to the defendant by pre-paid registered post.

The registered letter was returned. From information I have gleaned in the course of advising the bank on another matter, it appears that the defendant in this matter has gone out of business.

I now propose sending writ to the banking authorities in Costa Rica.

All for your information and guidance.

ST. JOHN'S ANTIGUA

TOPICS OF DISCUSSION

1. Re: $53,000 plus in fraudulent checks paid in 2/94 that they claimed on in October. Romell says they were on advise of drawing and contrary to what Steve Polito said, had been sending tested telexes not faxes prior to 2/94. Ken Tonge had all the data and when he returns from a two day seminar, he will send us proof. He says, in addition, they had started calling our operations area for information about the checks in 4/94 since the items themselves were missing from their package. Later, he admitted the person reconciling the checks was in on the fraud. Finally, he says there had been an investigation involving the FBI and J. Greave should have informed us.
2. Romell claims he knows nothing about $90M in forged checks that we had repaid to them in 5/93 which lead to BNY losing $49,000. He asked for check numbers and more data. (We had pointed out we had paid them back in the past despite late claims, but we had reached a limit.)
3. Told them that this $53M claim was on top of a lot of other legal problems that Swiss American was causing BNY. In the Banco de la Union case, Ken says the whole thing was a scam and their lawyer is about to sue. He thinks their lawyer in this case is

We told them that we had heard nothing from the stand-by's beneficiary since we explained to them in 4/95 that we could not pay since Swiss American would not waive the discrepancies. No one could quite explain why the Central Bank of Costa Rica would have accepted Banco de la Union's choosing an Antiguan bank to guarantee their reserve requirement anyway.
4. We told Ken that the Royal Bank of Scotland had informed us they had canceled a payment to a client of Swiss American's for £120,000 because fraud was involved and they asked us to investigate. We forwarded the information to Protective Control and sent a fax to J. Greave explaining what had happened. Ken asked for a copy of the fax. Apparently, the original holder of this account is now in prison. They did due diligence on the present holder who appears to be in the clear.
5. Re: Bryton Capital management. J.P. asked them to confirm to us that they no longer have the account and when it was closed, Ken was mystified that we had been subpoenaed since B of A was the one really involved.

6. Re: Craddock. No one can understand why this fellow actually believed another one of those Nigerian get rich quick schemes, but he has become such a pest, that they will probably have to hire a lawyer to have a "cease and desist order" issued. (BNY already informed the courts anyway that money did not go through us - it went via Barclays.)
7. They want to make certain that they are informed every time a T/D is renewed, citing the rate and tenor. They say this is not happening now.
8. Romell said his volumes have gone up so his pricing should go down. I told him, actually, his volumes had gone down which Ken attributed to the problems after the hurricanes. They also need multi-part forms for checks. (Need to see how much Deluxe would charge.)

SWISS AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ANTIGUA

28th February, 1996

Mr. Jean Pierre St. Victor
Assistant Vice President
Bank of New York
One Wall Street
New York, New York 10286
U.S.A.

Dear Sir:

It was certainly a pleasure for us to meet with Nancy Goodwin and yourself yesterday and to discuss various issues of mutual concern.

For the record, a brief outline of those issues follow:-

1. Bank of Scotland Telex - 16th January, 1995 - Account #1369701

As advised, the principal of the company to which this account number was originally assigned is incarcerated in the USA. The same number was subsequently assigned to another company with different ownership and we know of nothing untoward regarding the new principal. The account in question carries a small credit balance and is inactive.

2. Bryton Management Inc. - SEC Subpoena

As you were advised, we have no account nor have we ever had an account in the name. Another US correspondent of ours has been asked to provide transaction reports pertaining to our account and it has already done so. (SFA)

3. Mr. A.J. Craddock

Michael DeBella, a US citizen, has been jailed in the US for, among other things, defrauding Craddock of $600,000. It would appear that in a Nigerian-type scam DeBella promised Craddock a handsome share of $120 million from the Nigerian Ministry of Finance if he participated in whatever the deal was. This in itself does not speak well for Craddock.

28th February, 1996

Mr. Jean Pierre St. Victor

In any event, Mr. Craddock has been bombarding our board members and management officers with numerous letters requesting the return of his funds (which we do not have) and, only yesterday, we sent copies of his correspondence to an attorney in the USA for him to examine and determine whether there is sufficient cause for a cease and desist letter.

Unfortunately, because of local offshore banking legislation, we are not in a position to advise Mr. Craddock whether or not any part of the funds he is trying to trace is on deposit with us as that would probably put an end to the matter.

4. Banco de la Union

Our attorney, Mr. Cordell Sheppard, has today advised us that to the best of his knowledge, this entity no longer exists. We were trying to sue them for monies due to us and, in this connection, we are attaching copy of a letter dated 9th May, 1995 from Mr. Sheppard which speaks for itself.

We will shortly be writing to you on the question of the forged cheques about which we also spoke yesterday,

With kind regards,

Yours truly,

MEMORANDUM

To : Dorothy A. Kmetz
From : Jean-Pierre St. Victor
Date : May 13, 1996
Re : Swiss American National Bank of Antigua
St. John's Antigua & Barbuda W.I.

File

Pursuant to our conversation, the Caribbean District is providing you with a complete summary of all the cases involving Swiss American and The Bank of New York. This information is being submitted to you as background materials for your meeting with Mr. Mueller.

Although officials at BONY have been under the impression that the relationship with Swiss American has been very problematic; all the subpoenas and the check forgeries are really concentrated between 1993 and 1995. Account has been opened with The Bank of New York since 1981.

All subpoenas related to Swiss American, received by The Bank of New York were reviewed by our Legal Division and replies were sent to the proper parties. As no other correspondences were received by BONY since the beginning of 1996, all files are currently closed at BONY's Legal Division.

As a result, the only active case is the check forgeries for $53,665 which we have already sent a letter dated May 3, 1996 to the new General Manager, Mr. Kenneth Fisher with a copy to your attention. We are waiting for his reply.

In addition, we have also attached to this memorandum a copy of Mr. Fisher's letter dated February 28, 1996, after our visit to Antigua, exposing his perspectives and the current status of these problems with Swiss American National Bank.

1) Bryton Management Inc. - SEC Subpoena

Subpoena received on August 22, 1995 requiring BONY to provide records of payments which went through Swiss American's account during a specific period of time ( January 1, 1993 to July 1994 ). The SEC wanted to know as usual in these cases, if BONY had a relationship with Bryton, a customer of Swiss American and what type of relationship we had with the Antiguan bank. All the information were submitted to the SEC. Bank of America also received the same subpoena.

2) Banco de la Union - Costa Rica

The Bank of New York confirmed two $225,000 standby letters of credit issued by Swiss American for the benefit of Banco de la Union, San Jose, Costa Rica. In April 1994, Banco de la Union presented documents, which BONY rejected as discrepant at the request of Swiss American. Banco de la Union threatened to sue BONY for at least $450,000 on a theory of anticipatory repudiation.

Since our reply dated December 1994 was sent to Banco de la Union's lawyers in New York, no other correspondences were received on this case.

3) Craddock UK Ltd

On December 26, 1995 a letter was received from Mr. A J Craddock, the President of this company, requesting that The Bank of New York to return $ 600,000 that were supposedly stolen by Mr. Michael de Bella and wire to Swiss American through BONY. After investigation, we found that these funds never came to BONY and were sent to Antigua via Lloyds Bank, London. This information was communicated to Mr. Craddock.

4) Royal Bank of Scotland Telex dated January 16, 1995

The Bank of New York was informed via telex SWIFT by Royal Bank of Scotland on January 16, 1995 that a payment for GBP 120,000 in favor of account No. 1369701 at Swiss American will be forthcoming as the remitter believed that this transaction to be fraudulent. The Royal Bank of Scotland was inquiring about the ultimate beneficiary. After BONY informed the remitting bank that we had no information on beneficiary, no other correspondence was received.

Clearly, all these cases at Swiss American occurred during the administration of Mr. John Greaves the former General Manager, who resigned last September and still resided on the island. Mr. Fisher, the new GM, has been brought by the Board of Directors to clean the records of the institution.

Even though this relationship has been very frustrating during the past three years, we should try to extend a grace period to Mr. Fisher and his new team.

TOPICS OF DISCUSSION

We met with Mr. Ken Fisher, the new General Manager at Swiss American National Bank. Ken was appointed General Manager by the Board of Directors in October 1995, replacing Mr. John Greaves. Taking in consideration all the problems The Bank of New York has been experiencing with this relationship, our meeting went very well. Ken was very open and our discussion centered on his new mandate at Swiss American, the state of the institution and the country, in general.

Ken told us that his priority was to review and clear the institution of all of its problems and finally bring back Swiss American to profitability. He mentioned that most of the problems were due to the mismanagement of the previous administration. Problems ranged from, as he said to "under-reported or mis-reported" non performing assets to the Board of Directors and the Eastern Caribbean Central Bank to suspicious offshore accounts at Swiss American National Bank.

Mr. Fisher told us he has been successful in eliminating suspicious accounts during the past nine months and is working closely with The Eastern Caribbean Central Bank to bring Swiss American to standard, concerning the non performing assets. The Central Bank is currently conducting a review of the bank and has required primarily a re-capitalization of the institution. This demand has been forwarded to the Board of Directors, which has already approved the request.

Even though Swiss American National Bank is a Eastern Caribbean financial entity ultimately owned by Mr. Bruce Rappaport, Ken told us he has never met Mr. Rappaport. He reports to three directors, one in Chicago, one lives in Bermuda and the last director is in London. Ken did not name these directors and told us also that Mr. Rappaport rarely comes to Antigua. Difficult situation to understand, when you realize that Mr. Rappaport not only owned Swiss American National Bank but also 70% of The West Indies Oil Company which is the sole importer and seller of petroleum products on the island. The other 30% is owned by the government of Antigua & Barbuda. For more information on the country, please see our "country report".

We also confirmed with Ken that The Bank of New York credited Swiss American's account for $16,099, representing 30% of the checks fraudulent case from 1994. Ms. Kmetz, expressed clearly to our host that The Bank of New York refunded part of these funds to them in order to help the new management team and also to show our goodwill in keeping this relationship. However, she strongly reinstated to Mr. Fisher that we would close the account if there was no improvement in the way Swiss American conducts its businesses. The Bank of New York received five subpoenas regarding Swiss American from various US agencies, during the past sixteen months.

With the re-capitalization of the bank and the restructuring currently being implemented, we believe there is good chance that Swiss American National Bank will be able to re-capture some market shares lost during the past four years and also create a new and positive image for the institution in Antigua & Barbuda and most importantly with foreign bankers.

Mr. Ken Fisher, a former Royal Bank of Canada banker throughout the Caribbean for over twenty five years, has the capabilities and apparently the will to change this institution. His task is not going to be easy, especially in Antigua, which is a very difficult environment.

We will keep monitor the account very closely . Please note that all letters of credit from Swiss American are being processed on a cash collateralized basis and client is actively using Micro Cash Register.

Anticipated PIM revenues for 1996 $83,948.

Action:

- 1) Closely monitor account and stay in touch with Ken Fisher
- 2) Arrange for Micro Cash Register training after Swiss American's Head Office on High Street is moved to another building.

THE BANK OF NEW YORK CALL REPORT

Company Name: Swiss American National Bank (SANB)
 Company Address: St. John's, Antigua

 Bank of NY Attendees: Dorothy A. Kmetz, SVP-Div. Head, Jean-Pierre St. Victor, V.P.-Country Manager
 Company Attendees: Mr. Michael Lovett-General Manager

---

Call Objective:

---

Synopsis of Call:

1. Mr. Michael Lovett, General Manager, has been newly appointed by the Board and has been on the job for three months since November 1997.
2. Background: Michael Lovett worked as a Vice President for The Bank of Nova Scotia, head office in Toronto, in the Risk Management Unit. Prior to Scotia, he worked for Citibank - Real Estate Division.
3. Concerning the article which appeared in "Money Laundering Alert" in January 1998 and the suit currently being brought by the US Attorney in Boston, Michael did not lose time, he acted quickly and introduced the subject during the first few minutes of the meeting. The US District Attorney in Boston, Mass is suing Swiss American National Bank for the return of illegal funds sent to SANB by a US citizen from the Boston area, Mr. Fitzgerald who was convicted for money laundering in 1990. Lovett said he was aware of the case and his bank has hired a law firm in the US to represent their interest. From Michael's perspective, SANB is not at fault and provided us with the following historical background :
  - a) This case is an old case, dated between 1988 and 1989.
  - b) The time deposits opened at SANB totaling close to $60 million were for a business partner of Fitzgerald. Once the bank became suspicious of these funds, they were seized and placed voluntarily with the Antiguan authorities, as required by local laws.
  - c) A court case and a verdict already existed in Antigua. After review the local Department of Justice concluded that these funds did not belong to Fitzgerald named by the U.S. District Attorney in Boston.
  - d) As a result, the court in Antigua has already dismissed the U.S. case.
  - e) SANB and the government does not understand the U.S. position, as the US authorities seems not to take the local verdict in consideration.

f) Due to the insistence of the US District Attorney in Boston, the Antiguan government has already protested to the U.S. Ambassador in Antigua and to the State Department.

g) Michael also admitted to us that currently nobody knows where these funds are !!. The Antiguan government claims they do not have them anymore!!!

4) As a result of this case, the local press reported that SANB was involved in money laundering and reported the US suit. Local depositors came in right away to claim their deposits and there was a run on Swiss American National Bank which lasted two to three days during January 1998. Close to $5 million were withdrawn and the run only stopped after the government released a statement reaffirming its commitment to SANB.

5) Inter-Maritime Bank in Geneva was named in the lawsuit, because at that time Michael told us, there was not a Panama base holding company for SANB.

6) Michael like his predecessor, reports to a Board, which has a member in Chicago, one in Barbados, one in London and one in New York. In New York, he reports to Alan Rhodes.

7) Michael's view of Antigua's commercial banking market is pessimistic. He told us that lending is difficult, credit risk very high, and the total market is close to $400 million for 10 banks. Competition is very strong between the commercial banks, which include two foreign entities, Barclays Bank and Scotia Bank.

8) As a result of negative results and legal problems during the past three years, SANB's owners have recapitalized the bank injecting $3.5 million in new capital. Most of these new funds are kept in Canada at Toronto Dominion Bank. Part of Michael's new mandate is to restructure SANB. In this context, he stopped overdraft lending and is trying to increase its deposit base.

9) SANB is still lending to the Antiguan government, financing its deficit. However, Michael told us confidentially, all of these loans to the government are guaranteed by West Indies Oil Co. the local oil company owned 50% by the government and the rest by SANB's principal shareholder. A percentage of the taxes paid by consumers on each gallon is allocated to SANB. [Confidential].

10) Michael see future growth in Antigua is in Internet Gambling. This new industry in Antigua works as follows:

1. When there is a sport event - boxing, football, soccer, etc especially in the US.
2. People will place their bet through the Internet to a offshore company in Antigua.
3. Wire funds to Antigua via a remittance company, Western Union for example.
4. The company will mail checks to the winners - These checks issue by local banks are usually drawn on U.S. banks ( BNY, Nations Bank etc)

Another offshore activity which will generate a lot of questions on the part of US authorities.

A/C No. 803-3002-875

Swiss American National Bank of Antigua issued six (6) checks in series two for $9,900 and the remaining four for $9,000 each and payable to Irvin Dixon. These drafts, all of them drawn on The Bank of New York, were paid on November 27 and December 3, 1998.

Irvin Dixon is apparently in California, has opened an account with California Bank and Trust and deposited these checks. As a result of their nature, in series, amount close to $10,000 and same beneficiary, the Californian bank became suspicious of these drafts and called BNY.

Contacted on the same day by Latin America Division, Swiss American National Bank confirmed to us that these checks were valid and authorized payment to beneficiary.

Even though, Swiss American authorized the payment, we believe, like California Bank and Trust, that these drafts are highly suspicious and must be reported to the proper authorities. We are almost sure the negotiating bank will do the same very soon.

Please find attached copies of the checks.

Thank you for your usual help on these matters.

Dorothy,

I conducted a preliminary survey of SANB relationship with The Bank of New York, and I have to admit to you the relationship has been more extensive than we taught. BNY is subject primarily clearing bank in the USA. It is going to take more than 60 days to close it down, especially SANB has currently two standby letters for $500,000 and $300,000 assigned to Visa and Mastercard.

These sic's guaranteed SANB's credit cards operation in the Eastern Caribbean region. In addition, SANB has an average of 300 checks issued and drawn on BNY floating around the market, a monthly average of 250 payments going through the account and finally they send 3,000 cash letters every month.

A practical solution is to keep the sic's and times deposits and close the rest of the business. What do you think?

Dear Mr. da Silva:

The Bank of New York would like to inform you and the Board of Directors of Swiss American National Bank of Antigua that as a result of a change in our business strategy for the Caribbean region for 1999, we will be unable to continue our correspondent banking relationship with your institution.

In order to provide you and your staff with sufficient time for an orderly transition, The Bank of New York will close Swiss American National Bank's account effective March 31, 1999. Please take all the necessary steps to reduce the number of payments and checks being made through the account. In addition, Swiss American should also look for another U.S. commercial bank to confirm your standby letters of credit to Visa and MasterCard expiring 9/28/99 and 11/8/99, respectively. Please let us know when you find a replacement bank, if possible by March 31, 1999. Once notified, The Bank of New York will release the collateral time deposits.

It has been a pleasure working with you and your staff. We wish your institution continued success in the future.

F.T. and Deposit Services. Volume: 500 payments monthly
1,000 checks issuance per month

$1 million of Standby letter of credit to Visa, Master Card and to various trading companies. 100% cash collateral.

After we closed the accounts in June 1999, Swiss American went to Chase Manhattan Bank, New York.

Swiss American National Bank opened two (2) cash collateralized standby letters of credit with BNY. These slc's for $500,000 and $300,000 respectively, were assigned to Visa and Mastercard as guaranty for Swiss American's credit card operations.

After closing the CAS account in June 1999, BNY did not renew the standby letters of credit, which mature on September 28 and November 19, 1999.

The collateral time deposits are being returned to Swiss American at the maturity date of each slc.

Other Relevant Information:

Latin America & The Caribbean Division closed the accounts of Swiss American National Banks as a result of a series of suspicious transactions and payments during 1997, 1998 and 1999. The Division actually received 5 subpoenas during this period from the US government concerning different cases of money laundering and other illegal activities.

The Caribbean Desk decided to close the account at the end of 1998, when 50 checks were issued for $9,900 each in favor of one individual.

Recommended Follow-up:

Accounts were finally closed on June 1, 1999.

Re: The Bank of New York

Dear Mr. Roach:

This letter responds to your fax of September 6, 2000 posing follow-up questions and requesting additional documents arising from our meeting on August 30, 2000.

These responses and attached documents contain confidential information regarding the customers of The Bank of New York ("BNY" or the "Bank") and confidential activities and internal procedures of the Bank in connection with banking services provided to its customers. The Bank requests that the Subcommittee treat this information as confidential.

THE BANK OF NEW YORK

QUESTION 3:

Swiss American National Bank of Antigua is owned by:

- a) Swiss American Holding Company, Panama which in turn is 100% owned by
- b) Carlsberg, Bermuda which is in turn 100% owned by
- c) A charitable trust owned by Mr. Bruce Rappaport

What is the name of the charitable trust owned by Mr. Bruce Rappaport? In what jurisdiction was it formed?

With respect to Swiss American Holding Company, Carlsberg and the charitable trust, does BoNY have documentation to establish that it knew the structure of each entity, the nature of its business and the identity of the real beneficial owner and who had real control of its correspondent - Swiss American National Bank?

Ms. Kmetz suggested that there was a BoNY document that might answer many of these issues.

RESPONSE:

The Bank believes that the charitable trust owned by Mr. Bruce Rappaport is named The Inter Maritime Foundation. The Bank understands that the trust was formed in the Bahamas. The Bank has not been able to locate documentation that would establish that the Bank knew the structure of each entity or the nature of its business. The Bank understands that Mr. Rappaport's trust was the ultimate beneficial owner that controlled each entity directly or indirectly.

This is a privately owned bank with poor financials and obvious operating problems. They offered cash to secure a facility which we declined. Bamtrac and Microwire are installed but inoperative as operators have been lost to turnover- management wants retraining for which they understand they will pay. Trade volumes are low via Irving. The bank does some cash FX purchases through FCS, Miami.

Followup:

- 1) Retrain on payments if feasible (GPS).
- 2) Nothing more until financials improve measurably.

SWISS — AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ANTIGUA

June 10, 1991

Mr. Avil Allen
Bank of America
335 Madison Ave.
10017

Dear Avil:

Confirming our recent conversation, we wish to close out the account of Swiss American National Bank of Antigua and initiate a new account in name of Swiss American Bank Ltd.

As discussed, Swiss American National Bank of Antigua is a domestic commercial - retail bank whereas Swiss American Bank Ltd operates under the Antigua IBC Act and caters exclusively to non residents. Both entities are wholly owned by Swiss American Holdings Ltd., which in turn is a member of the Inter-Maritime Group based in Geneva.

We are making this change because the time has come to better divide the activities of the two entities and as the transactions that have been handled through Bank of America traditionally have been more oriented towards Swiss American Bank Ltd., we feel that we should have the account in that name.

We enclose copies of our Articles of Association and Financial Statements for both entities, as well as a list of approved signatories.       

Please advise what additional information you will require.

Sincerely,

David A. McManus
Deputy General Manager

REPORT OF THE AUDITORS TO THE MEMBERS OF

SWISS AMERICAN BANK

We have examined the annexed Balance Sheet at 31st December, 1989 and the Statements of Income, Retained Earnings and Changes in Financial Position for the year then ended and have obtained all the information and explanations which we have required except for the following:

A number of the Bank's depositors have given written instructions that correspondence should not be sent by the Bank. Consequently, we did not attempt to obtain confirmation of customer accounts totalling $1,931,627 credit and $71,972 debit.

In our opinion, subject to the effect, if any, had we been able to obtain direct confirmation of customer accounts as mentioned above, the financial statements set out on pages 2 to 8 which are in agreement with the books of the Bank are properly drawn up so as to present fairly the state of affairs of the Bank at 31st December, 1989 and the results of its operations and changes in its financial position for the year then ended applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

REPORT OF THE AUDITORS TO THE MEMBERS OF

SWISS AMERICAN BANK

We have examined the annexed Balance Sheet at 31st December, 1990 and the Statements of Income, Retained Earnings and Changes in Financial Position for the year then ended and have obtained all the information and explanations which we have required except for the following:

A number of the Bank's depositors have given written instructions that correspondence should not be sent by the Bank. Consequently, we did not attempt to obtain confirmation of customer accounts totalling $1,287,302 credit and $44,176 debit.

In our opinion, subject to the effect, if any, had we been able to obtain direct confirmation of customer accounts as mentioned above, the financial statements set out on pages 2 to 8 which are in agreement with the books of the Bank are properly drawn up so as to present fairly the state of affairs of the Bank at 31st December, 1990 and the results of its operations and changes in its financial position for the year then ended applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

DATE OF CALL: 7-15-91 LAST VISIT: 7-31-90

Swiss American keeps a small account with BINY, places an occasional deposit and recently provided somewhat improved but still weak financials reflecting a $10MM bank. They clear 200/300 checks daily through Bk of NY and are dissatisfied with the service, also have Bamtrac Microwire although little used because of operator inefficiencies and despite a recent re-training by GPS. Swiss American remains interested in a trade facility but have yet to provide adequate financials and collateral, they would like some help with trust business on behalf of their clients and are looking for risk capital and offshore investors for local development projects. The private ownership of this bank is known to be legitimate altho General Manager David McMannus was recently linked to a minor bank scandal in Anguilla when he made calls there with clients of the bank later found to be of questionable reputation.

As followup, I subsequently met with Gen'l Mgr. McMannus here in Miami. He confirmed that although Swiss American's involvement was perifial as above, there is an ongoing investigation by the Gov. Generals office in Anguilla concerning alleged questionable banking practices by their client. Reportedly, the issue relates to the unauthorized solicitation of funds. David understood and agreed that until these issues are officially resolved, it would not be prudent to explore further business opportunities between our banks.

RELATIONSHIP SUMMARY

RELATIONSHIP

Swiss American Bank has long maintained an excellent deposit relationship with BINY, with both a DDA account and a good volume of short term CDs. Bantrac/Microwire has also been installed for several years although volumes are low and beginning last year, they also began using our cashletter service. Also beginning last year, the Bank began utilizing the very lucrative banknote clearings service offered by FCS Miami and most recently, placed two cash secured SBLC transactions with us on a specific transaction basis. Because of earlier disorganization and weak financials, both issues now rectified, we had not previously considered a trade line for the organization.

RELATIONSHIP

PROFITABILITY: Due to the above referenced deposits, payments volumes and cashletter services, CCP earnings for 1992 were $22M, certainly good for a relationship of this nature. FCS reports and additional $21M business partner earnings from their Banknote service.

STRATEGY:

For a relatively small operation, Swiss American provides us with an excellent volume of business, which seems sure to increase. We are now their primary bank and assuming a continued good volume of trade? transactions via the facilities here, is recommended, we feel that profitability could easily reach $75M annually. In addition to the myriad services noted, they also maintain a small USD investment portfolio for which we intend to bid via our BISD business partner.

CREDIT DECISION NARRATIVE

EXPLANATION OF ## TRANSACTION:

1a) This is a Standard Instrument facility, to a maximum amount of $ 500M, for the opening/confirmation Commercial Letters of Credit, combined with within-line facilities to allow borrower to draw back funds for short term (TOD) liquidity needs to a maximum of $250M.

1b) Our recommendation also includes a facility, to a maximum of $700M, for Standby Letters of credit. These transactions will be opened on behalf of (Swiss American private banking customers) to support those customer's credit obligation to third party creditors (beneficiaries). The private banking customer's obligation to Swiss American will in turn be secured by a cash deposit with Swiss American. These standbys are restricted to a maximum of one year, and are operable upon the beneficiary's statement that the Swiss American customer has defaulted on his obligation.

1c) This is a specific transaction, a SBLC to the order of Mastercard International Inc., for account of Swiss American Bank Ltd., supporting that bank's obligation as a franchisee with Mastercard. We expect this will be on-going and thereby request approval of that renewal when and if applied for at current expiry of 12-14-93.

KEY CREDIT RISKS AND MITIGATING FACTORS:

Swiss American Bank Ltd. is incorporated as an International Business Corporation and is thereby prohibited from doing business locally. As such, the bank is essentially insulated from the local environment while catering exclusively to European and North American private banking customers. Loans are to these customers, in US dollars or major European currencies, and are secured by matching deposits from these same clients. The risk of illiquidity or credit exposure is thereby essentially mitigated as is concern relative to the bank's local environment.

BUSINESS EVALUATION:HISTORY, TYPE AND SIZE:

The Swiss American Banking Group in Antigua consists of a parent, Swiss American Holdings SA, a Panamanian Co., which in turn owns 100% of three complimentary local subsidiaries; Swiss American Bank Ltd (our customer), Swiss American National Bank of Antigua Ltd, and Antigua International Trust Ltd. Swiss American Holdings SA is wholly owned by the Intermaritime Group in Geneva, which has significant interests in oil refining, transportation, banking and real estate development. The net worth of the group is reportedly in excess of USD one billion, and is owned by the Rappaport family, a group very involved in the activities of Antigua at many levels. In practice, the three entities share both quarters and management, with each providing financial services in a different sector. Total staff is 62, with combined total assets of $66.0MM, equity of $5.5MM and a combined capital ratio of 8.35%.

Swiss American Bank Ltd. was actually established in Antigua in 1983 as the first international offshore bank on the island. It provides general banking services to non-residents in six major currencies, emphasizing US dollar private banking services to a clientele consisting principally of high net worth individuals residing in the US and Europe. Now with 7000 accounts including an increasing volume of trust and portfolio management services, the bank is also a primary issuer of Visa and Mastercard.

Swiss American National Bank is a domestic retail bank offering a full range of commercial banking services in Antigua. It operates principally in EC Dollars and its clientele consists of local merchants and individuals. The bank has five branches and an approximate 14% market share of deposits.

Antigua International Trust Ltd. provides trust services, corporate formation and secretarial services to the group's international clients. AIT administers approximately 1000 Trust and IBC Corporations

MARKET:

While the island of Antigua is notoriously over banked and suffering from continuing liquidity problems, Swiss American Bank Ltd. is, as noted, prohibited from sourcing business in this market. Any local business leads are referred to the sister corporation, Swiss American National Bank. The bank is, however, under the regulatory supervision of the Ministry of Finance.

II. MANAGEMENT EVALUATION

As noted, Swiss American Bank Ltd. shares management with the other entities, via a management contract lodged with the National Bank and through which expenses are shared. Key managers include:

David McManus, Deputy General Manager - held senior positions with Lloyds Bank International for ten years prior to joining Swiss American in 1986. He holds a Masters Degree in economics from the University of Miami and is well known to BoFA officers.

John Greaves, General Manager - was a senior manager with Barclays International for sixteen years before joining Swiss American in 1986. He completed graduate work at the London School of Economics.

IV. FINANCIAL ANALYSIS

(Amounts in USD)

EARNINGS ASSESSMENT

After an uneven start, Swiss American Bank now shows solid profitability, with an ROA of 1.6% and an ROE of 23.5%. It reports a spread of 2% to 5% on loans to its own captive cash secured clients and thereby faces very little risk. The bank's customers are generally high net worth, averaging $100M-$300M per relationship and now total some 7000 international accounts.

The bank is somewhat unique in that its ultimate owners are reputedly very wealthy and can bring real leverage to bear when necessary. As an example, Swiss American is a primary issuer of Visa and Mastercards, both locally and internationally and in both foreign currencies and EC dollars, the latter a first in the Caribbean. This further gives them the also unique capacity to provide local credit card merchant services 24 hours daily and seven days a week, plus merchant draft clearing facilities, giving them a virtual exclusive on this very lucrative market. The bank also plans to promote a stock market in the foreseeable future, and plans to expand also to other islands in the Caribbean.

ASSET QUALITY

The bank generally makes loans only to accommodate the needs of its private banking customers and as a result, virtually all loans are cash secured. One exception is the bank's single non-performing loan to a local hotel. This loan is in the amount of $2.2M, and is supported by a mortgage of equal appraised value, however, will be a protracted pay out and as a result, is currently 50% reserved. An additional 25% will be reserved in the current fiscal period, as was done in the last. This transaction represents all of the NPLs for the bank.

LIQUIDITY ASSESSMENT

Loans are reportedly fully matched to their supporting deposits, with tenors generally under one year, averaging six months. The bank keeps its excess liquidity in accounts managed by Dean Witter, consisting of a Core Investment account comprised of US Treasury bills, a Managed account consisting of prime US Equities, and a Money Manager account which invests in prime international bonds. Liquidity is not high at 12.0%, however, all transactions are matched.

CAPITAL ADEQUACY

The bank is reasonably well capitalized at 6.73%, although earnings are retained and management reports a goal of 8.0% by the end of the 1993 fiscal period.

Subject: Swiss American Bank Ltd.

Further to our telephone conversation, the bank has offered us a $40M standby L/C to the order of the Central Bank of Costa Rica, cash secured, one year, to support the application of one of their clients for a private bank in Costa Rica. The text, faxed separately, refers to a regulation requiring that as part of the establishment of a bank in CR, the bank must provide a "contingency credit" equal to 20% of its Capital. This is routine, we had the same document from NT&SA backing our old BASA subsidiary in Costa Rica. This credit would be available to the Cenbank beneficiary upon the submission of a statement that the funds were required to supplement the liquidity of the account party bank, to be returned to that bank when no longer needed. We will price this at .50bps, and expect they will ask for a renewal each year. As discussed, Bobby and I both view this as a very straightforward transaction, avoiding the private banking concerns relative to unknown/uncontrolled transactions, etc. and would like policy approval at this point so that we may come in for verbal approval of the actual transaction when it comes in next week. As indicated, we have audited statements for the borrower, the organizational grouping of mutually supportive subsidiaries is very common for these markets and certainly not an issue for us, I have been calling on this bank for several years and know local management well, they are long time depositors at BNY with Bantrac/Microwire, etc. The overall group is privately held and they do not release financials. Again, we would like approval to look at this from a policy perspective, with the intention to deal with the credit aspect via a verbal approval request as usual.

I understand that yesterday you verbally advised Mr. Cheldin that "David McManus is un-trustworthy" and cautioned him against doing business with us. Mr. Cheldin and his companion are valued clients of the Bank and I am astounded that an officer of NationsBank would make such a statement to one of our clients. Not only do you have no basis for making such a slanderous statement, you have no right to do so and I demand a written apology.

We have an excellent, long standing relationship with NationsBank and we do not wish to cloud this relationship with this single unprofessional incident. However, we will not tolerate any repetition of this type of behaviour.

Dear Mr. McManus:

It is with great surprise that I acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 11, 1993. I am appalled that you would make any such charges without having first hand knowledge of my conversations with Mr. Cheldin.

I categorically deny any of the allegations represented by Mr. Cheldin to you and further dismiss your conclusions as unfounded. I am sufficiently well trained in the law to know what I can and cannot say under the circumstances present.

Nevertheless, I wish to set the record straight:

- Upon the advice of Ms. Donna Alexander, we gave you a confidential call to reveal our due diligence findings about the prospects you were introducing to us. If you recall the conversation, Mr. Steele present and participating, we were very careful to repeat only and exactly what the regulatory authorities conveyed to us. No conclusions, allegations or other representations were made on our part, except for the fact that we were terminating the proposed transaction.
- During our first conversation with Mr. Cheldin, he immediately distanced himself from Aegis and the Aegis principals, whom you were introducing to us as well, and he sent us a fax to that effect. He also stated that he was not aware of Mr. Seale's prior involvement with Mr. Fournier of Aegis.
- Upon request, we revealed the same due diligence findings to Mr. Cheldin, again Mr. Steele present and a witness to the conversation, and no conclusions nor representations were made on our part.

Mr. David A. McManus

- However, we did discuss the following: you represented to us that Aegis was a legitimate insurance company chartered in the Turks and Caicos and that you had no reason to question its principals. Our research proved otherwise. This is a statement of fact and if Mr. Cheldin drew other conclusions, I suggest you address them with him.

NationsBank has an untarnished, impeccable reputation in the market place and will not be associated with anyone that cannot offer the same.

Due diligence record - Imperial International Insurance Company
Aegis Insurance Company

In late February of 1993, David A. McManus, Deputy General Manager of Swiss American Bank Ltd., existing client of NationsBank International, Miami, contacted Mr. Tom Steele, Business Development Officer in Miami introducing the two above-named entities.

Mr. McManus claimed to represent existing clients of his looking for a U.S. trustee so that these foreign insurance companies may underwrite insurance in the United States.

He indicated to us that the principals of Aegis Insurance Company are Jean Fournier and Brad Lawrence, Canadian nationals; and that the company was duly chartered and licensed in the Turks and Caicos.

Mr. Steele sent a fax to Mr. Fournier in Antigua confirming our interest subject to our review and approval of documentation and satisfactory due diligence. (We never actually spoke with Mr. Fournier nor Mr. Lawrence.)

On March 2, 1993, Mr. McManus faxed to us a standard National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) trust agreement for alien surplus lines. In essence, the agreement requires that a foreign insurance company must deposit certain funds with a U.S. trustee before it can underwrite insurance in the U.S. The funds will then be used by the trustee to pay claims by U.S. policyholders.

We telephonically requested from Mr. McManus the following documentation about both companies and their principals:

- Evidence of incorporation and licensing in their corresponding jurisdiction.
- Current Certificates of Good Standing issued by their local regulatory agencies.
- Audited financial statements, including a balance sheet and evidence of capitalization.
- Resumes of the principals.
- At least three U.S. references, to include banks, attorneys and U.S. insurance industry organizations.

Memo To File
 March 29, 1993

We were assured that this documentation would be forthcoming very shortly. (It never arrived.)

The following day Tom Steele received a phone call from one Ron Seale, introducing himself as the financial advisor to the proposed transactions, and inquiring about 2,000,000 shares of stock of Greenway Environmental Services that were supposedly shipped to us by McManus for the funding of the Imperial International Trust.

Not having any prior knowledge of Mr. Seale's involvement and no knowledge that any stock was being sent to us, we called Mr. McManus. He confirmed Seale's statements, and we expressed concern that any shipment of stock was premature since we had not yet agreed to serve as trustee.

The eagerness of the principals to do business with us, and the fact that it was all done through a third party appeared highly irregular for a $10 million transaction. So we started our own due diligence investigation on these prospects:

1.) State of Florida Department of Insurance - Tallahassee

Explained to us how alien surplus lines insurance works. Advised of the possibility of fraud when the principals disappear and the trustee is stuck with the claims. Indicated that the name Fournier had come up in a departmental internal watch list and referred us to Canadian authorities.

2.) Federal Department of Insurance - Ottawa, Canada

Took a couple of hours to research the names and told us that Jean Fournier was believed to be a front man for the St. Gelais family. Several family members were wanted for fraud in Canada and Texas. Provided us with a list of insurance companies tied to St. Gelais, including Aegis. Also noted Fournier companies in Ontario that had been underwriting insurance illegally. Referred us to Ontario Department of Insurance.

3.) Government of Ontario - Department of Insurance

Confirmed information received from Ottawa, and that Fournier was "run-out" of Ontario and was believed to be operating out of Quebec.

At this time we received 2 million shares of stock of Greenway Environmental Services via Federal Express from Mr. McManus. Greenway is a Nevada corporation. The certificates show Banco de la Union, S.A. as the owner/recordholder.

The stock trades on the NASDAQ, listed on the pink sheets at $3 3/8, per share, 25 million shares outstanding.

4.) Nevada - Secretary of State's Office - Carson City: 702-687-5105

Informed that Greenway had its charter terminated on 8-10-92, and has been in delinquent status ever since.

President - Kenneth Ewing
Secretary - Ferring Dean
Treasurer - A.A. McCollum

Transfer Agent for stock, Interwest, Salt Lake City, confirmed recordholder as Banco de la Union, but noted that stock was restricted under Reg. S and must be held outside of the U.S. by a foreign party.

5.) Comptroller of the Currency - Washington, D.C.

On Fournier: Complaint by Credit Suisse in November of 1992, that Fournier was illegally using C.S.'s name representing backing on a $30 million transaction, without C.S.'s knowledge.

On Seale: Eight separate complaints against Ron Seale of Fort Walton, Florida for selling discounted letters of credit, and related to losses suffered on oil related business ventures.

On McCollum: Questionable off-shore activities I/N/O Pacific Overseas Financial offering "credit enhancement" services.

On Banco de Union: Costa Rican bank, primarily owned by U.S. principals, in process of licensing and not yet open to the public.

6.) Turks and Caicos - Office of Insurance Superintendent

Fournier's company, Aegis, was denied a license to operate out of Turks & Caicos due to unsatisfactory due diligence.

7.) State of Texas - Department of Insurance - Austin
[REDACTED]

Sent me via fax 28 pages of arrest warrants and criminal indictments against Jean Marie and Denis St. Gelais. Indicated that California Department of Insurance was "hot after Fournier". Gave my name and number to California authorities, and said he would be contacting the FBI in Florida.

8.) State of California - Department of Insurance
[REDACTED]

Indicated they were investigating Fournier and would get back to me to lawfully obtain copies of my documentation.

At this time, after talking with Donna Alexander, relationship manager for Swiss American, we contacted David McManus to apprise him of our findings and asked him for strict confidentiality. We also informed him that we would not be proceeding with the proposal.

Within the hour Ron Seale called that McManus had apprised him of our decision, and indicated that his partner in Imperial International was one Jack Cheldin of California, and not Fournier, although he had been an advisor to Fournier in the past and claimed not to know Fournier's history.

Shortly thereafter, Jack Cheldin called asking why we were terminating the proposal. He immediately distanced himself from Fournier and Aegis, acknowledged that California was investigating them; and claimed not to know that Seale had worked with Fournier in the past. He also stated that the Greenway stock belonged to Seale and did not know that the corporate charter had been revoked.

At the same time, Seale had stated that the stock belonged to Cheldin, and that he as a shareholder of Banco de la Union, was allowing him to use the name of the bank to hold title. Although Cheldin might have been a legitimate investor, his association with Seale, and the latter's involvement with Fournier was enough to raise our suspicions.

We also told him that McManus had introduced Fournier and Aegis as legitimate and that we had reason to believe that they were not. Cheldin was upset that McManus had placed him on the same level with Fournier when recommended to us.

Swiss American seems to have finally turned the financial corner with assets of EC37MM, EC25MM in Capital and profits of EC.5MM after heavy provisions. They keep extremely good cash balances with BINY although they recently had a rash of returned deposit items as the result of a bogus check operation. We have done some nice cash secured specific transactions with the bank in the past, our CPP earnings last year were $22M and they still want a line, although McMannus is now leaving for personal reasons and we should probably leave well enough alone.

This is an offshore bank integrated with a five office domestic bank, a trust bank and a large offshore credit card operation. The local bank has assets of EC30MM, loans of EC17MM for which provisions are 50%, breakeven profitability, and outwardly remains a mess. The international bank has assets of USD 37MM, also breakeven, but apparently reasonable loan quality. Nevertheless, Swiss American continues to keep excellent balances with BINY, good CDs and 250 microwire payments monthly for $5M monthly CPP earnings. There is not much more to be done here as a line would not be worthwhile.

SUBJECT: SWISS AMERICAN BANK LTD
ANTIGUA, W. I.
VAR Dtd. 12-12-94

A review of the account relationship was requested as part of the approval of the above VAR covering the renewal of a $123M cash secured SBLC;

This transaction covers the liability of a trading company customer of Swiss American bank who imports to Antigua from St. Lucia., using an overdraft facility with Royal Bank of St. Lucia to facilitate these transactions. Presumably, Swiss American's support for their overall relationship with this customer includes the St. Lucia transaction.

Swiss American's 12-93 fiscal statements reflect assets grown from $37MM to 42MM, with profitability up and reflecting an ROA of 2.0%, ROE of 27.5%. The bank's capital ratio is 7.3% after the capitalization of all of '92's $500M earnings. Overall, and although the banks operations outwardly fail to impress, financials appear to be most adequate.

CPP profitability through 9-94 is $52M, based on a volume of 250 monthly payments through Microwire, with approximately $100M in ADBS and including an occasional cash secured L/C. In the past, the bank has also maintained up to $4MM in CDs with BINY.

I met with this bank last week. They are well underway to replacing all of our facilities with Chase, and agreed that May 31 would be the deadline for the discontinuance of drafts drawn on us, cashletters to us, and Microwire and telex transfers outgoing. We need to understand that with their draft volumes, we may well see checks coming in for some time, but at least the account balances and activity should initially wind down quickly. Also, they are having some difficulty in notifying all of their customers on incoming cable transfers, and this also will probably go on for a while.

On a related issue, there are three checks totalling $329,340.98 and drawn to the order of [REDACTED] which I understand were cleared through this account. As it is apparent these checks will eventually be coming back unpaid, we should be certain we have a hold on Swiss American's account for this amount. Copies of the checks are attached.

Since our decision a month ago to ask Swiss American to find another correspondent bank, their operation appears, if anything, to have worsened. Their former general manager has left for what was rumored to be frustration, the former O/O has also departed and the new general manager really did not seem to be up to speed on what we expected. Nevertheless, they had apparently taken steps to go with Chase and it was agreed during the meeting that draft drawings, clearings and electronic transfers would conclude as of May 31, 1995. Their draft drawings had been several thousand monthly so there will be float for some time, incoming electronic transfers may also take some time to curtail totally, but at least volumes should immediately drop very quickly.

This poorly managed bank which seemed to be especially lacking in controls on new relationships, was constantly preyed upon by con artists and during the visit, it was noted that their account balance was inflated by approx $250M in checks apparently being returned unpaid, and this was rectified with BINY. CPP last year, now lost was $570M.

This bank had written asking for an account relationship and during the visit, provided extensive documentation attesting to their status as a duly authorized offshore bank in Antigua. Ownership, however, was referred to as a group in the Bahamas on which they had no readily available information; quarters were new, unfinished and occupied mostly by computers and their customers are mostly "European investors" who they reach thru "International publications" and the internet. This appears to be an example of what we do not want to get near.

Dear Mr. Wolf,

Thank you for visiting our offices.

European Union Bank, a private off-shore bank, duly incorporated and licensed under the laws of Antigua and Barbuda, West Indies, would like to establish a correspondent banking relationship with your bank.

The European Union Bank provides a wide range of banking services to various groups of clients, both individual and corporate. Because all of our clients are from various parts of the world and are engaged in international business, we are very interested in expanding the range of our international banking services, particularly in providing international money transfer services and foreign exchange services either in a given country's national currency or in other currencies.

Taking into consideration the outstanding reputation of your bank both in your country and throughout the international banking community, we would like to establish a correspondent relationship beginning with the opening of a correspondent account in US Dollars. We have enclosed some general information about ourselves.

Please send us the necessary documentation for opening a correspondent account along with a schedule of fees and charges, current interest rates, a price list of your services, and account management procedures including computer access to the account if offered by your institution.

We expect that our business relationship will be mutually advantageous and will serve to support development of long-term mutual cooperation between our banks. We are certain that these connections will be expanded and be strengthened over time. Further communication may be addressed to Mr. Ian Benn, the President of the bank, or myself.

We would welcome your visiting our bank in Antigua and are always ready to respond to inquiries and questions of interest to you.

→ It has been a year since we requested Swiss American to find another correspondent as the result of their continued operational problems, and they have at least finally managed to redirect their cashletter and payments business, although they still maintain a sizeable demand balance and are the recipients of a considerable volume of in-transfers. We agreed to 90 days for them to notify remitters and close the account totally as we clearly did the right thing in getting rid of this relationship although again, we cannot move too abruptly lest we be accused of damaging their business without apparent cause.

While details were not made available, they also admitted to problems with their ECCB audit which resulted in their petitioning that bank for some relief, citing their previous management problems and steps to clean up in the meantime. Problems apparently included mis-classification and hidden loans, complicated by inadequate followup.

On a related subject, and although I did not call on American International Bank for obvious reasons, exiting that relationship (the account is now totally closed) also seems to have been prudent since although no proof is of course available, their reputation in the local market is abysmal. Rumors include money laundering, Russian mafia, etc., while management of that bank also now includes the former manager of Swiss American Bank, again not a reassuring situation.

Bryan Stewart-Young, Manager

Swiss American seems to have made great strides in getting their house in order with this, their offshore bank, now physically separated from the local bank and with previous management now long departed. At our insistence as the result of some past dubious transactions which passed through their account, they also long ago discontinued their cashletter and electronic payments business with us and have since maintained just a deposit account through which they receive approximately 50 incoming payments monthly, and for which they are very appreciative. This seems to be a reasonable compromise as I had been hesitant to force them to totally close their account as we really had no defensible grounds. With assets of $80MM, Swiss American is unique in this market in that it is now 15 years old. The balance sheet appears to be relatively straight forward and they have eliminated intercompany accounts with their local bank, Swiss American NB. CPP earnings are $6MM to date.

CALL MEMO

SWISS AMERICAN BANK LTD (ANTIGUA)

Feb. 9, 1998

Bryan Stewart-Young, Manager

I today discussed at length with Stewart-Young an article in the Feb. 1998 Caribbean UPDATE concerning a UPI report that the US Government had filed suit to recover more than $7MM in drug money laundered through that bank. This is an old issue going back to the 1980's, and also includes the Antiguan Government. As we have done in other cases, it was my intention to tell him to go find another correspondent bank, explaining that it would be in our mutual interest to avoid the possibility of later embarrassments should compliance issues, etc. arise. Also as before, it is difficult to be more forceful as no guilt has been proven, etc.

Stewart-Young was totally cooperative while describing this situation as something which occurred long ago before the bank purged its management, includes heavy involvement of the local government which largely initiated the problem and is an issue in which the current bank is cooperating fully and is hopeful will be shortly resolved.

The bank has totally changed management and has managed its <sup>→ "DUE FROM" deposit acct</sup> ~~DF~~ account with us in an entirely satisfactory manner for the past 2-3 years. It uses us only for limited transactions not including cashletter or funds transfers and has been totally cooperative with respect to the clean up of earlier processing problems. I therefore agreed to table this issue for now, while making it a matter of record.

AA PULLS UP STAKES FROM EASTERN CARIBBEAN. The region's vital tourism sector seems set for some turbulence with a planned withdrawal of American Airline services from the Eastern Caribbean by April 1998. Industry officials say the airline's will withdraw its wide-bodied jet service out of San Juan, Puerto Rico and will instead introduce more flights by the smaller American Eagle which already serves most Eastern Caribbean islands. Tourism officials quote the airline as saying that the larger planes are to be used on the more lucrative routes in the U.S. such as Chicago and Dallas. The decision is expected to affect St. Lucia, Grenada, St. Kitts & Nevis, Antigua & Barbuda and St. Maarten, and other Caribbean territories which are serviced out of the San Juan hub.

U.S. SEEKS DRUG FUNDS HELD IN ANTIGUA. The U.S. Government has filed suit to recover more than $7 million in drug and money-laundering proceeds from Swiss American Bank of Antigua, UPI reported December 31, 1997:

. The U.S. Attorney's office in Boston says the money represents proceeds from a large-scale marijuana smuggling ring that operated in New England in the mid-1980s. Prosecutors say that between 1985 and 1987, John E. Fitzgerald deposited more than US$7 million in drug proceeds, run by brothers Joseph and Michael Murray, in several accounts at the bank in Antigua. In 1993, Fitzgerald pleaded guilty to money laundering and other charges in a federal court in Boston. The following year, the court ordered the money in the bank's accounts forfeited to the U.S.:

. The current lawsuit claims that the bank, on its own and without the knowledge or consent of the U.S., transferred US$5 million of the funds to the Antiguan Government, and also transferred more than US$2 million to itself. Prosecutors say the bank and the Antiguan Government have since refused all requests to return any of the forfeited funds.

BASIC EDUCATION PROJECT. Government has obtained a US$10.64 million loan from the Caribbean Development Bank (CDB) to help finance a project to enhance the learning environment at the secondary level. Works include repairs to and expansion of eight secondary schools, replacement of one secondary school, fencing of several schools, the provision of furniture, equipment and educational materials, consultancy services, and 53 fellowships. SHARP RISE IN ARRIVALS. Long-stay visitor arrivals to Barbados rose by 11.4% to 40,515 in November 1997 vs. the same period in 1996, fueled by a strong performance in the United Kingdom market, the Barbados Tourism Authority (BTA) said January 10. Total visitor arrivals for January-November 1997 rose by 4.8% to 422,337. Cruiseship arrivals for 10 months (January-October 1997) rose slightly, from 398,996 in 1996 to 400,958 this year.

I had long ago required Swiss American to discontinue their cashletter (clearings) and wire transfer (Microwire) activities with us as some transactions appeared suspect, although seemingly as the result of simple poor management. With a complete change of management and a cessation of those activities, their DF account had remained open to facilitate in-transfers. We now have the 1/98 issue of Money Laundering Alert describing a possible precedent setting civil lawsuit by the US authorities against Swiss American Bank and others, involving the Antigua Government, and accusing collaboration with money launderers. As above, Mr. Stewart-Young has today been asked to close their BA New York branch DF account, and Avil Allen will monitor accordingly.

SUBJECT: Swiss American Bank Limited (Antigua)

The last of our overseas bank relationships in Antigua, Swiss American will now be transferring the remainder of their deposit balances with us to their existing Chase account, as per my earlier request. Although a very high USD$73MM balance sheet reflecting little more than the arbitrage of local deposits to offshore and a relationship otherwise satisfactory, the bank had been involved in some litigation between the US government and the local authorities concerning the ownership of funds in a situation which although not necessarily wrong, was typical of the offshore industry in Antigua and we had elected to terminate this account relationship. Stewart-Young was understanding and admitted he had been slow to move as he had enjoyed the benefits of reciprocity.

RE: SWISS AMERICAN BANK LIMITED

Attached are the following documents in connection with the opening of a new account relationship for the referenced bank.

1. Letter dated 4/11/95 on customer's letterhead requesting that an account be opened, and listing the products and services they will be needing.
2. List of authorized signatories for the new SWISS AMERICAN BANK LIMITED DDA. I have acknowledged receipt as requested.
3. 1993 Annual Report of the Swiss American Banking Group. A 1994 version will follow when 12/31/94 statements are ready for publishing. As per page 26 of the report, Swiss American Bank Ltd. is the group's offshore banking arm. Given that there is a DDA already opened in our books in n/o Swiss American National Bank of Antigua (DDA # 001-1-879285), no further account justification comments are included.
4. ACBS billing profile containing pricing terms negotiated with, and accepted by, the customer.
5. Microstation legal agreement, dated as of 4/20/95. Equipment checklist form to follow. Please insure completeness (ie. that all spaces that need to be filled in fact are filled), and return copy of agreement to customer duly signed on behalf of Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A. (I work for a CHASE affiliate and therefore cannot sign.)

Please note that the customer will want CHART as well as FUNDS TRANSFER (kindly help with the required CCAP set up forms.)

PLEASE SCHEDULE CUSTOMER INSTALLATION WITH MICROSTATION SUPPORT FOR THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE DATE.

6. Enhanced Nassau Capped AIP agreement and set up form. Please have someone sign the agreement for Chase and forward copy to the customer. Please advise customer and the undersigned of the AIP effective date.

7. Acknowledgement of Pre-Advising procedures, with a $ 10M threshold. Customer will revert with checkbook order specifics.
8. Chase Global Inbound Courier Service Agreement and relevant set up forms. Again, please implement cash letter and coordinate effective date with customer. Forward to customer signed copy of the agreement.

Please exchange test keys with customer. The corresponding package should be sent by courier to:

The fact that there is a related account with a similar name will almost surely present problems. PLEASE EDUCATE CUSTOMER ON HOW TO MINIMIZE POSSIBILITY OF ERROR, AND PICK A SHORT NAME THAT SUFFICIENTLY DIFFERENTIATES BOTH.

Please let me know if you need additional clarification or details.

Many Thanks.

This WIN is remarkable in many ways:

- It stems from a 10/92 proposal by Juan de la Cruz, proving the sales cycle is ageless.
- It covers a wide range of products, ie. DDA, CHART AIP, Micro Funds Transfer, Check Disbursement, Cash
- It typifies the non-credit driven type of opportunity we ought to pursue
- Projected revenue = $71M per annum

I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated April 11, 1995, wherein you request that CHASE establish a correspondent banking relationship with SWISS AMERICAN BANK LIMITED. I also acknowledge receipt of the accompanying signature authorizations, and of the completed service agreements that you subsequently forwarded.

Met with Brian Stuart-Young, Business Development Manager (No. 2 in the management chain), and with Romell Tiwari, Financial Controller (my day-to-day contact). Following our office meeting, these gentlemen, plus Director Alan Thompson, treated me to dinner.

SAB has 3 franchises in Antigua: an onshore bank, an offshore bank and a trust company. The onshore bank dates back to 1981 whereas the other two entities were created in 1983, upon passage of Antigua's offshore banking legislation.

Both onshore and offshore banks keep DDA's with Chase, but the latter is the one with significant activity and the one which resulted from a negotiated business proposal.

My main goal was to press subjects for full delivery of anticipated transactional / revenue stream. We negotiated a piece of business worth $70M per annum nearly 1 year ago and are only seeing a run rate of $48M. Tiwari promised further growth, blaming the underplan position on: (1) the fact that their (offshore) customers continue to wire-in funds through Bof A, and (2) the hurricane hitting the island last September, which cut down service, set back growth objectives, etc. He promised to broadcast Chase as the preferred pay-thru bank in customer statements and undertake other efforts to grow our IMT volume.

I believe SAB has been cautious not to fully convert to Chase until giving our systems / service a fair trial. The fact that there have been no major dissatisfiers, coupled with assurances I gave them about our commitment to the market, should move them to flush out at least another $12M worth of annualized IMT business over the next 6 mos., without considering new product initiatives.

The following new product initiatives were in fact discussed and drew strong preliminary interest:

- Beneficiary Deductions - SAB would convert their non-sensitive IMT traffic to Beni D.
- Premier Collections - A natural candidate, given that SAB is an existing cash letter customer.

They liked the fact that they could cease to demand cashier checks on some of their transactions calling for up-front funds availability commitments.

- CMIS Referring Institutions Program - They liked this scheme very much, and said they were about to ask if we had a comparable product had I not brought it up first. This program would enable them to outsource to Chase's CMIS provision of individualized brokerage services to their retail client base.

- Investment Management - When I asked them to tender some of their own institutional liquidity for investment management, they came up with the following criteria: 8% return net after taxes, 3 to 12 month average maturities and an AAA rating. The tendered funds pool is currently $5MM but could grow to $30MM given scheduled implementation of new products and services. It is currently invested in Bermuda.

It is premature to estimate volume / revenue payoff from some of these product initiatives. Yet SAB management conceptually thought each of them could help them. I will follow up to insure progression of the sales cycle.

During our meeting, I raised the subject of money laundering and asked what procedures SAB had in place to deter it. They said this matter was of utmost concern to them, and cited requirements embedded in account conditions delivered to every new customer (in fact, they provided me with a copy). They also said this subject is covered in internal guidelines to marketing officers. In general, I found that the threat of money laundering is explicitly recognized and guarded against by Antiguan bankers. They tend to put it in the context that it is not worth risking the legitimate offshore business: tax avoidance and asset protection, for the huge downside of taking on the illegitimate offshore business: drug-related.

My sources tell me that "international financier" Bruce Rappaport, the alleged owner of Swiss American, is an Israeli shipowner who established Maritime Bank in Switzerland, now BONY-Maritime with Rappaport still the Chairman. We once had credit lines to Maritime, but we became "uncomfortable" and cancelled them (this all happened before BONY bought into the operation).

Rappaport is a controversial figure - his supporters would probably characterize him as aggressive, innovative and entrepreneurial. His detractors would probably choose far less kind words to describe him. As best as I can tell, however, he could be called a "Donald Trump type", but not a "Robert Vesco type", i.e., he's a wheeler-dealer but has no known involvement with any truly nefarious activities (e.g., drugs). Obviously, our colleagues at BONY seem to consider him a respectable partner.

Topics covered during the meeting:

- U.S. Court Ruling in Boston, Massachusetts favored Swiss American Bank Ltd. the second time around after the U.S. Government appealed its case to collect $7 million from subject. Mr. Stuart-Young gave the background on this case whereby the U.S. government insisted collecting the above amount from them after it tried to collect this amount from the Minister of Finance in Antigua which refused to turn it in. At the time this occurred, there was no treaty between the U.S. and Antigua on handling suspected money laundering assets. Presently, a Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty is in place. Swiss American Bank is under the jurisdiction of the latter and at their request submitted the funds to them; funds belonging to a reputed money launderer. A recent article from the WSJ published the outcome of the decision, etc. Documentation of this case was provided to us by Mr. Stuart-Young for our review and reference ; copy to be forwarded to Chase risk management for discussion.

Customer account base is only 2% South American, 20% European and the rest is North America (primarily Canadians). Less than twenty accounts have deposits of more than $500K, three or four accounts have $1 million and up. Trust and private banking business derived primarily by word of mouth.

International Portfolio Report is a promotion publication which gives the fax flavor for each Caribbean island.

- CPS - Check Print - Proposal was sent prior to the visit and Vere Hill indicated that they were excited with the product, seemed better than Gold. Check issued is now closed to 2,000 per month and likely to double in 1999. Part of the volume is coming from checks issued to winners of the virtual casino players on the internet; their customers instruct payee to be paid via fax and an indemnification is provided. Virtual casino is licensed in Antigua. An article from the Interactive Gaming Council titled "Congress Strips Internet Gaming Prohibition From Final Budget Bill" dated October 21, 1998 was given to us (dated October 21, 1998). Original contract of CPS-Check Print was handed to subject along with the authorized signature form for digital purposes for their completion. Agreement was received on 11/13/98.

Mr. Hill inquired if technical assistance could be given as to the direction, software, structure, protocol, administrations, security for their customers to interface (import) information to Swiss American Bank.

- Chase Insight - with the use of CPS-Check Print and subject wanting to further automate their transactions, a proposal will be sent out.

- FT/PC Updated Authorized Security Individuals Documentation provided for execution. This is needed prior to Andy Benjamin (FT/PC technical support) visit for implementation and training. Subject needs to be converted from microstation. We also recommended using FT/PC as an interim while they evaluate the merits of Chase Insight. Updated documentation received and forwarded to FT/PC technical support.

- Future interest looking into: 1) They are looking into the internet (E-Commerce) as to how they can develop this market to find a niche, taking into consideration the "free zone" to license and that they have good communications with Cables and Wireless. Gerardo spoke on digitizing payment via clearing house (ACH) due to lower costs but slower processing (next day basis) on CPS. Writer spoke about the project on ID Certification, a multilateral function to be offered by Chase and other participating banks. Mr. Stuart-Young requested to be posted on this project. 2) Euro - volume minimal presently but recognizes importance in the future. 3) Has a multicurrency account with Midland Bank PLC - may think of moving this to Chase since real-time account information is important. Swiss American Bank assets are now $95 million, financial statements requested for evaluation of our Chase London to see if subject meets criteria.

I call Vere and Brian. Again, Brian is very cooperative. They want IM, CPS and "all functions, to know what you have"

He will call me the next time he comes to Miami, to get together (this time I was out when he came).

call 11/15/98 Ken Brown his boss is furious about the news published in the Wall Street J. on the US Gov't losing the case against SAB for lack of merit. (Jo has all the paper clips).

He wants to close the account. I tell him no unless we have a universal policy in the region, but it is up to them.

A couple of days later, the boss reluctantly relented. For the time, at least, they are OK.

The pressure from the USGov't is likely to keep increasing, so these kind of accounts are very likely to die any time soon, anyway, because of the cost of complying with rules, if for nothing else.

vis't 11/10/98 /USA Gov't sues them part: Brian Stuart-Young, Vere Hill, Lilrose Camacho; Jo Robinson, GIC .

I came with Jo for a call

The issue of a sue by the US Gov't against them just hit the Wall Street Journal.

Brian S-Y was very dedicated to showing us the clarity of their position. he showed copies of the resolution by a Boston (twice) turning down the US Gov't case; also, copies of their promotion and operational material showing stature and honesty. brian himself is a well known public figure in the island, involving in giving stature to the legislation and the banking community, as a survival mechanism. For details of the case itself, see copies of the docs that Jo has.

Antigua became independent in '91, and they were established in '93 - they are the oldest international bank (offshore).

They have a local bank, with 4 branches, a Trust company, established in '83. The funds in the trust are 83MM plus 7MM in equity base.

There are articles about them in several international publications: OFC of 98/99, and "Portfolio Int'l" of Nov98.

The reason behind the increase in transactions with us, mainly paper checks, is because they are conducting the payments for the casinos in the island, especially those that use the internet. They are very careful to send winners' checks immediately, via mail, directly from the island to the beneficiary, as soon as they are so requested, to avoid damaging the casino's image. The way this works is that the gaming occurs by debiting a credit card, and winners get a refund if winning the same tday as the original debit; any positive balance, or wins over current account, are sent via check.

Brian was extremely interested in the possibility of using ACH to replace credit card processing for this business. We also talked about Chase's "pay button". he wants to keep abreast of what goes on.

action item: They feel they need training in payments basics. I promised a commercial payments manual.

Ken,

Set out below are the instances in which Swiss American Bank has come to the attention of our department under circumstances which cause concern:

6/96 - $23,000 in PMO's were in one deposit and bore the name of the same payee

2/98 - We received a phony telex from a German bank instructing us to credit the amount of $45,000 to the account of Swiss American Bank for further benefit of another party. It was similar to messages which had originated in Nigeria. The ultimate beneficiary of this transaction had come to our attention in connection with a prime bank-standby letter of credit scam in 1993.

8/98- Another US bank informed us that two of their customers were victims of unauthorized funds transfers totalling $64,786 which were sent via Chase to Swiss American bank for further credit to a third party. Attempts to recall the funds were unsuccessful.

9/98- A German national under investigation in Germany for criminal activity is suspected of transferring $20,400 from his wife's account there to Swiss American Bank for further benefit to a third party.

Hope this sufficient for your purposes.

Hi Ante,

FYI, we have an understanding of the items used at gambling establishments. Integrated Payment Systems Inc. (IPS) has some sort of an arrangement with credit card companies whereby gamblers are able to get a cash advance on their credit cards at gambling establishments and get in return what looks like a check but is a money order. We see saw this instrument being used in NYC Off Track Betting establishments before we saw them being used in like manner in gambling establishments in Aruba and Antigua. Our understanding is that the purchaser is not exchanging cash for these instruments, but is simply taking out a credit card advance, presumably so that he or she can keep on gambling.

Whereas we know that NYC OTB is a gambling establishment and that Keno Palace and Kings Casino are gambling establishments, we don't know what C.M.S. International and Coral Reef are. I would guess they are gambling establishments, but we are doing our due diligence to find out for sure so that we can explain the transactions.

In one instance, Swiss American Bank made a deposit with us in July of a string of these instruments issued by IPS. Each instrument has a different purchaser (or recipient of a credit card advance), with the purchaser identification information, but they are all made payable to C.M.S. International, and the instrument shows the number of the credit card used for the cash advance.

In the other instance, Antigua Overseas Bank Ltd. made a deposit with us in August of a string of these same instruments, purchased by different persons but all made payable to Coral Reef.

We were wondering if C.M.S. International and Coral Reef are gambling establishments, and if not, what type of businesses they are and if the explanation is any different from our understanding of what these transactions represent.

Say hello to Carlos for me. Hope you have a good holiday!

Subject: Bank of NY - Inter maritime

As per a conversation with Swiss American's Brian Stuart-Young this morning:

1. Swiss American Bank Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank of Antigua, both of which are incorporated in Antigua, are 100% owned by Swiss American Holdings, S.A., a Panamanian corporation.
2. Swiss American Holdings S.A. is 100% owned by Carlsburg, S.A. (or Carlsberg, S.A.), another Panamanian company which is essentially fully owned by Bruce Rappaport.
3. Inter maritime has no present ownership nor business affiliation with Swiss American Bank Ltd. nor Swiss American National Bank of Antigua. A correspondent relationship used to exist.
4. Bruce Rappaport used to be a prominent shareholder in Inter maritime. Approximately 5 years ago, Bank of New York bought into Inter maritime, which resulted in the latter changing its name to Inter maritime-Bank of NY, and which positioned Bank of New York as at least another (if not THE) most prominent shareholder in Inter maritime.
5. Bruce Rappaport is believed to have direct stock ownership in Bank of New York.

My conclusion here is that we MAY have some indirect, common ownership by Rappaport in Swiss American and in Inter maritime. However, whereas his ownership of Swiss American is full and unquestionable, it is unclear whether he even has principal or controlling interest in Inter maritime-Bank of New York. Brian Stuart-Young can address the Swiss American ownership details, but it would be unreasonable for me to press him for details on the Inter maritime side of the ledger.

As I believe you're aware, there's a "sister" bank in Antigua, Swiss American, which is believed to share common ownership with your customer (e.g., Bruce Rappaport) and which also has DDAs with CMB-NY. To the best of my knowledge (and this means essentially a lack of knowledge) these two institutions operate separately.

However, given the recent revelations about Inter maritime, I wondered what actions, if any, you were taking regarding continuation of their DDA with CMB. Swiss American is a CTS-only customer (Latin America: Caribbean) and we're reviewing that "relationship".

Hablé con la filial onshore esta mañana, y me pidieron abrir cuentas FX en Londres. Me confesaron que el Midland se las había cerrado. Luego, ahora en la tarde, Vere Hill de la offshore también me pidió abrir lo mismo. Cuando le pregunté que si era que Midland los estaba echando a granel, me dijo que a la onshore aún no, pero que lo veían venir, que Midland estaba saliéndose de este negocio en el Caribe, etc.

Lo que yo veo venir en Chase, es una situación similar a Carlsen, donde nos manejamos sin eventualidad con lo existente, pero al momento de querer abrir una cuenta(s) nueva(s) se presentaron complicaciones, pues se requiere que Risk Management apruebe, etc. No sé que irá a pedir Joff Henley, el Ken Brown de Londres, pero seguro va a querer algo del Client Manager (???), y a quién le pedimos que avale el nombre ?

Que hacemos ? Vere Hill va a estar toda la próxima semana en Miami Beach en un seminario de BAI, pero Brian no viene. Será hora de decirle francamente que abrir nuevas cuentas nos presentaría muchos problemas ? .....lo cual me pone a pensar.....les envié recién una propuesta de Syracuse Controlled Disbursement para resolver el espinoso problema del CPS Check Print que no es capaz de pre-avisar a Chase NY. Me pregunto ahora si Ken Brown autorizará esa nueva cuenta ? Que me recomiendas ?

Then, now in the afternoon, Vere Hill of the offshore also asked me to open the same. When I asked him if Midland was doing it in large quantities, he told me that the onshore wasn't doing it yet, but they saw it coming, that Midland was getting out of this business in the Caribbean, etc.

What I see coming at Chase is a situation similar to Carlsen, where we operate with no eventuality [sic] with what exists, but when it comes to opening a new account[s], there are complications, since they require that Risk Management approve, etc. I don't know what Joff Henley, the Ken Brown of London, will ask, but he will certainly want something from the Client Manager (???), and whom will we ask to guarantee the name?

What should we do? Vere Hill is going to be in Miami Beach at a BAI seminar all next week, but Brian isn't going. Is it time to tell him frankly that opening new accounts would give us a lot of problems? ..... which makes me think .... I just sent them a proposal from Syracuse Controlled Disbursement to resolve the thorny problem of CPS Check Print which cannot pre-notify Chase NY. I'm now asking myself if Ken Brown will authorize that new account? What do you recommend?

(Just recently, Brown and John Lanza have been asking about the nature of a client of SAB, because of a series of MO's that had passed through [?] the account and whose name they did not recognize.

PRIVATE / CONFIDENTIAL / OFF THE RECORD

SAB is getting too much bad press - it's even used as a Case Study in our Money Laundering Training. It must be rigorously examined without further delay. If Credit raises the issue, they're "under attack" from the outset. If you raise the issue ("the best defense is a good offense"), you may still have a shot. [And if we all do nothing, we will all look like idiots. plus any request for new accounts/services will most probably be denied.]

Here's what I suggest:

- A) Lay out the background on SAB
- B) Describe what you want to do, and
- C) Describe how you propose to "police" them.
- D) Get Skea's support (since Ken Lay is lame duck at this point)
- E) Seek concurrence of John Stevens & Chris Carlin

By "background", I mean a succinct but honest listing of the pluses and minuses, such as (not necessarily complete):

PLUSES:

We solicited them, not them/us.
DDA has been conducted properly - no issues whatsoever.
Good revenue generator
I've reviewed their Cash Letters - nothing suspicious.
To best of our knowledge, their strategy (soliciting PBI types via Frequent Flyer magazines and Website) is completely legal - probably no different from our own PBI activities.
Per their statement, customer base is about 80% US/Canadian; 20% European; only 2% Latin American (i.e., not the Medellin Cartel).
Only 15 customers have accounts > $500M; only 4-5 > $1MM (again, not exactly major drug dealer profile).
Management completely open with us.
They themselves have been quick to pull the plug on suspicious customers.

MINUSES:

Not a "strategic" customer.
Their domicile (Antigua) lax.

4257

They've been drawn into several frauds/money laundering incidents but were cleared.
Their strategy undoubtedly attracts individuals evading taxes in their home countries.
Ownership (Bruce Rappaport) is controversial.

By "what you want to do" I mean:
Absolutely no credit facilities (I presume)
Maintain existing business plus accept new accounts (I presume)

By "how to police them" I mean:
CMB visits
Other conditions, controls, informational requirements, etc (for example, continuing to review Cash Letters, getting info on customer base, etc on a periodic basis)

I received a call today from Frances Melleson-Miller Tel. (268) 480-2250 or 2201. She was calling in regards to the Euro account which they want to open with Chase. I indicated to her that you were currently on a business trip. However, I agreed to relate the message to you.

PS. During my visit this customer mentioned that they were interested on FT/PC, AIP Investments and ChaseLink service, maybe you could follow up on this with her.

Gents,
I quick search of APS showed the CSO on this account as Isabel Alonso. However, I think Ken was more concerned with the process, which was answered by Ed, then determining who opened the account. Also, I believe this is an established CTS relationship as evidenced by their main DDA number (it's a 001).

I should clarify that "of course - with no signoff from my area" was not meant as a sarcastic remark (although I am prone to sarcasm). We never see Syracuse openings - I presumed the logic to be: whatever is OK for CMB-NY is OK for Syracuse. I really don't know what the formal procedures dictate - it was an honest question from one who is in the dark.

May 30, 2000

Dear Mr. Stuart-Young,

I am in receipt of your letter of April 29, which was sent to me via e-mail. This letter shall serve to address the various issues you raise in your letter.

First, in response to your request that Chase review your banking relationship and reconsider its decision to terminate that relationship, please be advised that Chase will not conduct any further review of your relationship and, instead, will proceed to terminate your relationship as we informed you on April 28, 2000. Chase does agree, however, to extend the date of the termination by two weeks. This should allow you adequate time to orderly move your balances and services to another banking institution. The new due date for closing of your account and services is June 15, 2000.

Second, in response to your request that we terminate only the correspondent accounts and not your corporate account, Chase denies your request. On June 15, 2000 Chase will terminate all of your banking relationships as Chase is entitled to do pursuant to the agreements entered into by you with Chase. In this regard, your relationship with Chase pursuant to the Chase Insight Software License Agreement will also be terminated. Pursuant to the terms of the Software License Agreements, Chase expects that you will return the software to Chase promptly.

I hope that the extension of time we have given you will allow you to transfer your accounts to another banking institution in a smooth fashion.

I remain truly yours,

Gerardo L. Cahn

After having conducted such a review of the Swiss American National Bank of Antigua account, account no. 011-879285, ("the Account"), we have concluded that your institution does not meet our criteria.

Accordingly, this letter will serve as notice to you that unless sooner closed by you, we intend to close the Account thirty (30) calendar days from the date of this letter. At that time, all contracts between us for cash management or other services (including Chase Electronic Banking Software License, Funds Transfer Agreement for Personal Computer and Chase Global Inbound Courier Service Agreement will also terminate. We suggest that you discontinue drawing checks against any of the Account two weeks prior to the close date. Upon closure of the Account, we will mail to your address of record our official check in the amount of your remaining collected balances, less fees and charges to the date of closing. You may, of course, withdraw collected balances before that time at your convenience.

SECURE FINANCIAL SERVICES VIA THE INTERNET

In the growing market of on-line Internet commerce, a secure and confidential means of transferring sensitive data is essential. Responding to this need, InterSafe Global LLC specializes in offering secure Internet transaction processing to provide a vital link between customers and merchants.

Many Internet based businesses depend on efficient and secure credit card transactions. However, they lack the financial base and infrastructure to support the required processing system. InterSafe offers these businesses and their customers an opportunity to take advantage of the highly specialized transaction process, which it has established.

THE TECHNOLOGY

Combining sophisticated hardware, software and cutting edge encryption/decryption techniques we have developed a Global Electronic Currency (GEC) account. If you wish to sell or purchase goods or services via the Internet you simply open a GEC Account with InterSafe.

Purchases

The entire transaction process is controlled and carried out by InterSafe servers. When you submit the on-line form from your PC, our server immediately generates a unique encryption code, which it sends to your PC. The server then retrieves the encrypted data from your PC via the Internet. This ensures confidentiality of the data and protects it from unauthorized access through the Internet media.

Deposits and Withdrawals

Funds deposited into your GEC Account are available for transfer to InterSafe's approved merchants. These merchants may also use our services for processing refunds at your request.

THE BENEFITS

Flexibility

As the holder of a GEC Account you have as much control of your funds as you would with a regular bank account. Funds are held in your name, and are available for withdrawal 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

Security

A problematic link in the Internet commerce chain has been that of security. Using state-of-the-art technology, InterSafe has developed enhanced financial services to offer solutions to these security issues. Adding another dimension to the built-in security of our GEC account, we have obtained the rights to use "Smart Card" technology. InterSafe has strengthened the "Smart Card's" capability in an innovative way, integrating unique software to protect sensitive data from unauthorized access or usage. Merchants and customers can now feel confident to undertake any type of transaction via the Internet, particularly the use of credit cards.

1. How do I make a deposit to my account?

In order to make a deposit you must first download our software by clicking FREE DOWNLOAD anywhere throughout our web site. Then you need to open your real money account.

If you have done this and received your user name and password for real money, you are ready to make a deposit to your Casino on Net bankroll:

- Start Casino on Net program
- Enter your real user name and password in the "connect" screen
- Select "Cashier" and then select the "Deposit" screen
- Select the desired deposit method

We strongly recommend using your credit card for making a deposit. We use the latest encryption and protection technologies to assure your credit card data is fully protected. There is nothing to worry about – submitting your credit card information on our secure form is probably safer than using your card at your local gas station. Learn here more about making a credit card deposit.

For further information about the different deposit methods click here:

- Credit Cards - Online or by Fax
- Western Union
- Wire Transfer

2. How long does it take to process my deposit?

Credit card deposit: your account will be credited within 2-5 minutes.
 Western Union deposit: once we receive your e-mail message informing us of the transfer it will take up to 5 minutes to credit your account.
 Wire transfer: a wire transfer will take 2 business days to arrive at our bank. Your account will be credited as soon as our bank receives the transfer.
 Check: a check may take over a month to process due to slow mail service and clearing time.

3. How do I cash out my winnings?

In order to cash out money from your account go to the Cashier and select the "cash out" screen.
 The money you cash out will be refunded to your credit card account.

All cash out requests are automatically refunded to your credit card account. This policy protects our clients from credit card fraud, and eliminates the unauthorized use of credit cards. It is also the quickest way to pay winnings, and most convenient to our clients. There are no charges for credit card refund, and the full amount will be refunded to your card.

The refund will be made to your credit card only up to the total amount that was deposited with that credit card. If you have cashed out more than your total deposits, the balance of your cash out request (which was not refunded to your credit card) will be sent as a bank draft or wire transfer, according to your selection (company checks are not available). This limitation on the amount that can be refunded to your credit card is imposed by the credit card companies, and is not in our control.

Bank drafts will be sent by registered mail to the address you have submitted. The charge for a bank draft cash out is 0.25%, with a minimum charge of $5 (which means that any cash out up to $2,000 will be charged only $5). Please allow up to two weeks for delivery due to slow mail service.

If you select Wire transfer as the preferred method for receiving the balance of your cash out, you will be asked to send us further information such as account number, bank name etc. The charge for a wire transfer cash out is 0.5% with a minimum charge $5 (which means that any cash out up to $1,000 will be charged only $5).

Cash out requests are processed within 3 business days. You will be notified by e-mail when a cash out request is processed, so you can follow up and make sure the money was received.

You can track the status of your cash out requests on your PC, by entering the Cashier in our casino and selecting the "cashout" screen.

4. What are the deposit limits?

The limits are as follows:

- Credit Cards
Minimum single deposit $50
Maximum single deposit $1000

Western Union

Minimum single deposit $100
No maximum limit

Wire Transfer

Minimum single deposit $100
No maximum limit

Casino on Net and Intersafe Global LLC (our E-Cash operator) reserve the right to change these limits and set different limits for individual players according to credit history.

5. What are the gambling limits?

The table limits are as follows:

- Roulette:
the minimum bet is $1 and the maximum bet is $50 (you may place a maximum total of $50 on the table, in any combination of $1, $5 and $50 chips).
- Blackjack:
the minimum bet is $1 and the maximum initial bet is $50. You can increase the initial bet by doubling down or taking insurance (if you are not familiar with these terms, go to our Help file by selecting "help" or pressing F1 in our casino).
- Slots:
the minimum bet is $0.25 and the maximum bet is $3.
- Video poker:
the minimum bet is $1 and the maximum bet is $5.
- Baccarat:
the minimum bet is $1 and the maximum bet is $150.

6. How do I make a credit card deposit? Is it secure?

We strongly recommend using our secure on-line credit card system. It is quick, user friendly, and completely secure. We use SSL technology for securing our transaction server and MD5 encryption technology for the data transfer. It is probably safer than using a credit card at your local gas station.

If you are still not convinced, we do offer the option of printing out the deposit form and faxing it to us.

Before you make a deposit you must first download our software and have your real account opened.

Credit card deposit by on-line secure form:

1. Start the Casino on Net program
2. Enter your real money user name and password in the "Login" screen
3. Go to the "Cashier"

Dear Mr. Roach,

I enclose my sworn Statement, with 3 attached Exhibits, for attention of the Subcommittee.

Yours truly,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to be 'P. Herrington', written over the words 'Yours truly,'.

THE SENATE PERMANENT SUBCOMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS

I, PETER FREDERICK HERRINGTON of P.O.Box 492, Sullivan, MO 63080, make the following Statement pursuant to the Rules of Procedure of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee:-

1. This Statement is made pursuant to the publication of the Subcommittee's Report on the role of U.S.correspondent banking in international money laundering, and, specifically, to pages 8-12 of that Report entitled "(b) The Fitzgerald Case – Drugs and Terrorist money", attached hereto as Exhibit "A".
2. At all times I would have been willing and able to be called as a witness by the Subcommittee, being a permanent resident of the United States, and anxious to assist the United States Government in its investigations of the "Fitzgerald case". It appears that no attempt was made to obtain first-hand testimony, of which the most important during the period 1985-7 would have been mine.
3. I understand the Subcommittee sat between 1st-6th March, 2001, and my first notice of such hearing was receipt of copies of newspaper articles which appeared in the Bermuda Press on 12th and 16th March, 2001, of which copies, and my response to the Reporter, are annexed as Exhibit "B".
4. Rule 15 of the Subcommittee's Rules of Procedure allow any person who has been defamed, or whose reputation has been adversely affected by mention in a Subcommittee Report to request a personal appearance to testify before the Subcommittee, or to file a sworn Statement of facts. Having been refused the opportunity of a personal appearance, this Statement is respectfully submitted.
5. Exhibit "A" contains many references and statements, unsupported by direct testimony, which are defamatory and injurious, of which the underlined extracts, numbered 1 – 5, will serve as specific examples:-
  - a) Extract 1 refers to a money laundering case from "1985 to 1997. Between 1985 and 1987, when I dealt with Fitzgerald, there were no anti-money laundering laws in the USA or Antigua. There was nothing improper or unusual in my dealings with Fitzgerald, and subsequent laws, and knowledge of his associations (unknown to me at the time) cannot make them so.
Extract 1 also refers to Fitzgerald as a money launderer for "the Murray Brothers". This was unknown to myself, or the Bank, at the time and, as sole signatory and dealer on his accounts, we were entitled to regard him as sole beneficial owner of the funds he deposited. At no time did we receive any third party requests or instructions concerning any of the Fitzgerald accounts. Furthermore, the only withdrawals during my tenure were at his instruction, and for such amounts, as were reasonable for living expenses. We had therefore no reason or opportunity to suspect the source of funds (which arrived through normal and respectable banking channels), or any improper use thereof.

- b) Extract 2 refers to funds deposited by Fitzgerald "and other members of the drug organization" which, as already stated, is incorrect. He was the only depositor, and we had no reason or information to suspect the source of the funds.
  - c) Extract 3 refers to my refusal to disclose to Rappaport the identity of the owner of the funds, and implies that it was from improper motives. As a non-executive shareholder of the parent company of the Bank, Rappaport had no legal right to this information, and I would have been in breach of my fiduciary duty to my customer, had I done so. In view of the reported subsequent misappropriation of the funds by the Bank, I consider my actions to have been fully justified in practice, as well as at law.
  - d) Extract 4 refers to "a number of irregularities" found by a hired auditor, when examining the documentary records of the Fitzgerald accounts. It would be speculation for me to wonder whether the records had been "doctored" after my departure, but they were regular and complete during my tenure, as evidenced by the annual Audit Reports of the Bank conducted by (as memory serves) Price Waterhouse.
  - e) Extract 5 confirms, in fact, that the funds arrived through normal banking channels, and bely the whole impression of improper banking practise by the Antigua Bank depicted by the Report. Conclusions appear to have been drawn without proper regard for the then subsisting law and practise, and with the benefit of subsequent knowledge and state of the law.
6. The establishment by me of the Fitzgerald accounts through bearer share companies, to avoid probate and proving of Wills by heirs and successors, was an entirely normal, and required, service, provided at that time by international trust and banking companies. Furthermore, all the "irregularities" complained of by use of cash transfers were internal transactions between accounts owned by one person, and on his instruction, and did not hide the source of incoming funds, or destination of outgoing funds, to or from his accounts.
7. Since my departure from Antigua, I have volunteered my assistance at all times to the US Authorities, from travel from Great Britain to attend the Grand Jury in Boston in 1991, to maintaining contact, and co-operating, in the prosecution of the case against the Antigua Bank in 1998. As Exhibit "C" shows, the defamatory material in the Subcommittee Report are, by and large, a repeat of similar erroneous statements and conclusions drawn during that case, and in similar circumstances of ignoring the opportunity of direct testimony from me. It is respectfully submitted that I should have been given an opportunity to testify on my own behalf.

8. The damage done to my reputation as the result of publication of the erroneous material contained in the Subcommittee Report is amply demonstrated by the newspaper articles contained in Exhibit "B"
9. I respectfully request that the Subcommittee issue a written retraction to me of all references in their Report tending to defame, or be injurious to my reputation, coupled with an acknowledgement that, on the information at its disposal, I acted entirely within the laws of the USA extant at the time of my dealings with Fitzgerald, and that it is reasonable to suppose that I had no knowledge, express or implied, of the source of the Fitzgerald funds as either drug or IRA money.

I, Peter F. Herrington, solemnly swear, under threat of perjury, that the above Statement is true and correct to the best of my knowledge, this 4th day of June, 2001.

Antiguan governments because the accounts contained funds related to drug sales and the Irish Republican Army.

John Greaves, General Manager of Swiss American Banking Group from 1988 to 1995, was involved in a number of controversial matters during his tenure at Swiss American Banking Group and was in the leadership of two other banks and a management firm that were engaged in a number of controversial activities, described in other parts of this report.

(b) The Fitzgerald Case - Drugs and Terrorist Money

EXTRACT 1. From 1985 to 1997, SAB and SANB were significantly involved in a money laundering case involving a man named John Fitzgerald. The involvement began when Fitzgerald, a money launderer acting on behalf of the Murray brothers, leaders of a drug organization in Boston, deposited, between 1985 and 1987, approximately $7 million into accounts that had been established at SAB and SANB.<sup>8</sup> Four of the accounts were in the name of bearer share IBCs, that is, corporations whose ownership was vested in the individuals who controlled the certificates of the shares of the corporation. Two of the accounts (one at SAB and the other at SANB) were in the name of Guardian Bank, a bank licensed in Anguilla in 1986. Those two Guardian Bank accounts eventually became the repository for most of the funds deposited by Fitzgerald and other members of the drug organization. Three bearer share IBCs were listed as the owners of that bank.

EXTRACT 2.

The General Manager of the Swiss American Banking Group at the time was Peter Herrington who assisted Fitzgerald with the formation of all of the IBCs and the management of the accounts at SAB and SANB. The formation of the accounts was handled by Antigua International Trust. Herrington served as Director of all of the IBCs and Guardian Bank and performed transactions in the SAB and SANB accounts.

EXTRACT 3 Most of the funds were initially deposited into accounts at SAB and then transferred into other accounts at SAB and SANB. By mid-1987, the $7 million Fitzgerald accounts in the name of Guardian Bank constituted approximately one third of all deposits at SAB. SAB owner Rappaport, concerned that an unknown party controlled one-third of Swiss American Banking Group's deposits, asked Herrington to identify the beneficial owner(s) of Guardian Bank. When Herrington refused to do so, he was immediately suspended and was dismissed from his position one month later (June 1987). Between the time of Herrington's suspension and his termination, he notified Fitzgerald of Rappaport's concerns.

At that time, Herrington resigned as the director of Guardian and the IBC. When efforts to resolve the matter failed, the attorney who claimed to be the new director of Guardian Bank <sup>8</sup> It has been reported to the Subcommittee staff that the Murray brothers and Fitzgerald were also involved in the sale of weapons to IRA terrorists and that some, or even all, of the funds deposited into the accounts at SAB and SANB were associated with the IRA.

EXTRACT 4.

filed a lawsuit in Antigua and Barbuda requesting the court to recognize him as the director of Guardian and to authorize the withdrawal of funds in the Guardian Bank accounts at SAB and SANB which held Fitzgerald's money. At that same time, Swiss American Banking Group officials began to investigate the accounts opened by Herrington and hired an auditor to review the accounts. The review identified a number of irregularities. In addition, the Group learned from law enforcement officials that the funds may be tied to drug and arms trafficking. They contacted the Antiguan government and in June 1990 the Minister of Finance for the government of Antigua and Barbuda instructed Swiss American Banking Group to freeze the funds. In December 1990, the High Court of Antigua ruled that Guardian Bank's director did not have the proper corporate authority to file the suit, and the funds remained frozen at SAB/SANB.<sup>9</sup>

EXTRACT 5.

An October 1989 report by the Special Branch of the Royal Bermuda Police Force and the U.S. grand jury indictment issued against Fitzgerald provide a description of the trail of the funds that is instructive as to how the international banking system is used to move and launder illicit funds. In early 1985, Fitzgerald established a St. Lucian corporation by the name of "Halcyon Days Investments, Ltd." and opened an account in that corporation's name at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in St. Lucia. Between January and March 1985, Fitzgerald and other members of the drug organization deposited $3 million into the account. In May 1985, the account was closed and all of the funds (in excess of $3 million), were transferred to the Guinness Marn and Company Bank in the Cayman Islands through a bank check issued to the Guinness Bank. The total in the account subsequently grew to $5 million. In the fall of 1985, the $5 million in funds were wire transferred from the Guinness Bank account to Philadelphia to Manufacturers Hanover Bank in New York to the Bank of Bermuda and on to SAB. The wire transfer of $5 million was divided equally between two accounts at SAB (Rosebud Investments and White Rose investments). The funds were subsequently transferred into the accounts of Guardian Bank (one at SAB and one at SANB). According to the police report, "not only is this path murky, but subsequently Guinness Marn sold their subsidiary in Cayman because of their embarrassment at the management. Regrettably Guinness Marn have chosen not to reveal why they were embarrassed or the source of the money."

The Special Branch report also detailed the irregularities and lack of controls attendant to the accounts and the operations of SAB/SANB during Herrington's tenure:

One of the accounts (Rosebud investments) received $450,000 in cash from the Bank of Bermuda. The funds appear to have come from a safety deposit box at the Bank of Butterfield. In October 1985 Herrington used Swiss American's relationship with the Bank of Bermuda to influence the staff there to accept the cash deposit. When the funds were transferred to the account at Swiss American, they were "held" until Herrington made the book entries.

Another account (Jones Enterprises) was used as a "feeder" account for some of the other Fitzgerald accounts. According to the police report, "[l]arge cash deposits were made into the account and later diverted to others but as the clients' statements are missing it is not possible at this stage to say where the cash originated."

Banks slips were written up as 'cash' and 'deposit' when money was being transferred from one account to another as a way to disguise its destination. Only by checking other banking records can the accountants identify whether true cash was handed over and frequently it was not.

Many of the loans made by the banks are to companies c/o AIT and no other details are available.

In May 1993, Fitzgerald was indicted for racketeering conspiracy and money laundering, and in August 1993 he pleaded guilty to the charges. As part of the agreement, he forfeited all of the proceeds of those illicit activities that had been deposited in the accounts at SAB and SANB. A final order of forfeiture was issued in May 1994. In early 1994, U.S. authorities approached Antiguan officials to seek their assistance in freezing the funds, providing public notice of the forfeiture action and to facilitate the return of the funds once the forfeiture notice was final. Negotiations lasted for nearly two years.<sup>10</sup> Finally, in November 1995, Washington, D.C. counsel for the Antiguan government informed U.S. authorities that nearly one year before - sometime between December 1994 and January 1995 -- approximately $5 million of the Fitzgerald funds were transferred to the Antiguan government by officials from the Swiss American Banking Group. Counsel informed the U.S. officials that the funds in the Fitzgerald accounts had been transferred to the Antiguan government, which had spent the funds to pay pending debts and therefore the money was no longer available. At first, Antiguan officials maintained that the Swiss American Banking Group had unilaterally transferred the funds. In January 1998 Antigua wrote:

In 1994, prior to the payment, but after the U.S. Court order, the Banks and the Government discussed the appropriate disposition of these funds. While the Banks initiated these discussions, the Government understood all of the facts and circumstances regarding this account and acting in the public interest of Antigua and Barbuda released the freeze order on the funds and approved the disposition of the funds in a manner agreed by the Banks and approved by the Government.

Swiss American Banking Group officials claim the $5 million were transferred on January 23, 1995. The Antiguan government claimed the transfer occurred on December 28, 1994. The U.S. government was later informed that the remaining $2 million of Fitzgerald funds

Documents related to the companies associated with the accounts were missing.

The source of many deposits was unknown, as was the ownership of the companies.

Over $500,000 in cash was deposited directly into the accounts at Swiss American Bank. Another $500,000 came through a cash deposit at the Bank of Bermuda.

The police report also captures what appears to have been a general lack of concern about illicit activities on the part of bank officials. The report notes that the Assistant Manager of the Swiss American Banking Group, MacAllister Abbott, who with Peter Herrington was a signator on the corporate accounts set up for Fitzgerald "thought Guardian was established to hide the profits skimmed from casino operations. He thought Jack Fitzgerald had a controlling interest and also thought that Herrington maintained a second set of books on behalf of the company. Abbott has been described as a person who would turn a blind eye to tax evasion but appears to have no knowledge of drug involvement." Mr. Abbott is currently General Manager of Antigua Overseas Bank.

<sup>10</sup>Although the U.S. had been asking Antigua to freeze the funds since early 1994, it wasn't until November 1996 that Antigua informed the U.S. that the funds had been frozen on its (Antigua and Barbuda) order in June of 1990.

had been retained by the bank. It is unclear whether the funds were retained as a set off against outstanding Antiguan loans or whether they were retained to cover expenses incurred by the bank.

Moreover, the Minority Staff received a copy of a letter written in early 2000 that alleged that $880,000 of the Fitzgerald funds were "transferred between January 22-25, 1995, to Inter Continental Bulk Traders S.A. account #4763751 at Bank of Bermuda, Hamilton." The Minority Staff confirmed that the account does exist at Bank of Bermuda and that a transfer of $880,000 did occur in the January 22-25, 1995, time period. It has been reported to the Minority Staff that those funds were paid upon a resolution of the Swiss American Banking Group board as payment against a series of invoices submitted by a number of people who, at the request of Rappaport, had engaged in a review of SAB. One explanation offered to the Minority Staff regarding the transfer was that Inter Continental Bulk Traders was an account controlled by Rappaport and the funds were transferred to that account rather than directly paying those who submitted the invoices, because Rappaport engaged the services of those people to provide an independent review of the accounts at Swiss American Banking Group, which he controls. However, the ownership of the Inter Continental Bulk Traders account has not been confirmed, and that does not explain why the payments would be made through the Inter Continental Bulk Traders account rather than directly to those who performed the services. Moreover, it has been reported to the Minority Staff that the funds were transferred out of the account at the Bank of Bermuda in two tranches, which seems inconsistent with the contention that payments were made to a number of individuals. Without confirmation from the Bank of Bermuda on the ownership of the account and what happened to the funds in question, the fate of the $880,000 remains unclear.

For the next two years - November 1995 to December 1997- the U.S. government continued to press for a detailed explanation and accounting of the transfer of the funds, and records relating to each of the Fitzgerald accounts. Although the Antiguan government identified the source of the funds that were transferred from SAB and SANB, it informed the U.S. that the records of the accounts were not available because they had been destroyed in a hurricane.<sup>11</sup>

<sup>11</sup>It has been alleged that the funds transferred to the Antiguan government were returned to the Swiss American Banking Group as repayment for outstanding debts that the government of Antigua and Barbuda owed to SANB. This included millions of dollars of promissory notes that the Antiguan Government had issued to an enterprise called Roydan Ltd. Roydan Ltd. was the company that owned and operated a melon farm in Antigua called Roydan Farms, that used a high-technology tropical irrigation system. The operation was owned by an Israeli named Maurice Sarfati, and is discussed at length in a report, "Guns for Antigua" by the Commission of Inquiry established by the Governor-General of Antigua and Barbuda to look into the circumstances surrounding the shipment of arms from Israel to Antigua. The report was issued in 1990 by Louis Blom-Cooper QC, the appointed Commissioner. According to the report, Sarfati received governmental approval for his agricultural project in August 1984, and operation on the farm commenced in 1985. Throughout its inception and operation, the enterprise borrowed heavily for startup and operation costs. Sources of funds included the U.S. Overseas Private Investment Corporation and SANB and SAB. The Government of Antigua and Barbuda issued a series of promissory notes to Roydan Farms. In addition, SANB had extended an overdraft facility to Roydan Ltd., and has allowed it to escalate to over $1 million without any board resolution or any collateral agreement. In March of 1988, a receiver was placed in control of the venture at the insistence of OPIC and the two Swiss American banks. By July 1988, Roydan

In December 1997, the U.S. Department of Justice filed a civil complaint alleging that SAB, SANB, Swiss American Holdings S.A. and BNY-IMB intentionally seized and converted the $7 million in illicit proceeds located in accounts at SAB and SANB that had been forfeited to the U.S. Government.

In September 2000, the Federal District Court judge presiding over the case dismissed the U.S. Government's claim for lack of personal jurisdiction over the defendants. The government is going to appeal the matter.

(c) The Gherman Fraud

Henry Gherman served as a financial adviser to individuals and medical practice pension funds in the Miami area. Between 1982 and 1988, while claiming to make purchases of Certificates of Deposit for his clients, Gherman transferred client funds to his corporate accounts which he controlled. The funds were wired to other accounts or used for the benefit of Gherman and his family members.<sup>12</sup>

Ltd. was $8 million in debt. At the request of the Antiguan cabinet, the banks agreed to conditionally revoke the receivership for 90 days. By February 1989, Roydan Ltd. was no longer in existence.

However, its owner, Sarfati, was at the same time in the midst of brokering a deal for the shipment of Israeli arms through Antigua to the Medellin drug cartel. The linkage was discovered after a raid on the Colombian farm of Medellin Cartel leader Jose Gansalo Rodriguez Gacha in December 1989. It was also discovered that one of the weapons included in the shipment was used to assassinate Colombian Presidential candidate Luis Carlos Galin.

The Commission of Inquiry was critical of Roydan's management and the influence Sarfati was able to exert within the Antiguan government:

...[A] lucrative market around the world was quickly jeopardised by the management structure of Roydan to enable it to service its loans, especially from an agency of the U.S. government, the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC). ... Throughout 1986 Roydan experienced continuous cash flow crises due to lack of management cost control systems and the use of antiquated accounting procedures. Financial statements were tardily produced and reflected a superficial financial picture.

...[A] report in 1987 to a U.S. Congressman stated that "because of its demonstrated helter-skelter system of spending, without any type of fixed controls, Roydan's credit history is devastating, both in the USA and in Antigua." (p.51)

... The story of the melon farm trail, and other incidental events, discloses a tale of insinuation and influence of a man with a remarkable talent for getting from a vulnerable administration in Antigua almost anything he desired. (p.121)

One of Commissioner Blom-Cooper's recommendations was:

"A judicial inquiry should be set up to investigate the dealings in 1985-1987 between Maurice Sarfati and the Government of Antigua. The enquiries currently being undertaken by a firm of U.S. Attorneys are welcome but do not meet the justifiable demands of an inquiring public in Antigua and abroad. This should include the administration of Roydan Ltd and the issue of promissory notes." (p.132)

<sup>12</sup> On August 8, 1988, Gherman left the country leaving notes to his clients apologizing for his actions. Shortly before his departure, Gherman withdrew $4.4 million in cash from his corporate accounts at Commerce bank in Miami. On August 10, 1988, 25 creditors (some of Gherman's victims) petitioned the Dade County Circuit Court and secured the appointment of a receiver and a freeze of Gherman's corporate assets and the assets of his family. On August 28, 1988, the federal government filed a criminal complaint against Gherman, charging him with wire fraud and the embezzlement of $9.8 million. A warrant for Gherman's arrest was issued on August 29, 1988. In

Dear Ms. Mallon,

Copies of your articles in the Royal Gazette, of 12th and 16th March, have been forwarded to me.

I will be happy to respond to any enquiries, as the articles paint a false picture of my involvement in the affairs of Rappaport, and will cause concern to those who were my friends and co-workers at the Bank of Bermuda.

In the meantime, I attach a copy of correspondence with the U.S. Attorney's Office in 1998, the last time I was contacted, which will provide some enlightenment. Suffice it to say that, at no time during my tenure in Bermuda was I aware of the existence of Fitzgerald or the other named persons. As regards my dealings in Antigua, exhaustive internal and external banking enquiries and audits; lawsuits and judicial enquiries have never resulted in any action or pursuit of me in any jurisdiction, for the simple reason that I committed no wrong-doing.

Please also note, from the attached documentation, that the U.S. Government asserted the funds in question had been derived from drug dealing – nothing to do with the IRA.

It seems that the Bermuda Special Branch took it upon themselves to form judgments without proper investigation, and without seeking my testimony.

I am delighted to have this opportunity to set the record straight, particularly as no implication of impropriety should be raised against the Bank of Bermuda, or any of its Staff.

If there is a "disgraced banker" in the plot, he will not be found to have worked in Bermuda or Antigua!

Yours sincerely,

Disgraced banker held top post at Bank of Bermuda

By Mairi Mallon

Peter Herrington, who was named in a US Senate investigation into money laundering, is a former senior member of staff at the Bank of Bermuda. The Royal Gazette has learned.

Herrington is accused in the report of using "influence" on staff at the Bank of Bermuda to get them to accept bundles of cash believed to belong to criminals.

Herrington is also named as the disgraced General Manager of Swiss American Banking Group and is a central figure in the US Senate report on the laundering of $7 million, said to be linked to the Irish Republican Army (IRA) and the drugs trade.

Of that $7 million, the documents from the probe appear to indicate that 85 percent ($5.96 million) was laundered through the Bank of Bermuda.

Documentary evidence also has information from Special Branch division of the Bermuda Police Service who looked into the matter.

Herrington worked at the Bank of Bermuda in Hamilton for several years in senior positions in the early 1980s before moving to the Cayman Islands to take up the top job with the Swiss American Banking Group.

He is closely linked with the central character in part of the Senate investigation, John Fitzgerald, who was convicted of racketeering conspiracy and money laundering in the United States in connection with the $7 million of mob money.

The Minority Staff of the US Senate Permanent Sub-committee on Investigations report on Correspondent Banking: A Gateway to Money Laundering revealed this week that: "In October 1995, Herrington used Swiss American's relationship with the Bank of Bermuda to influence staff there to accept the cash deposit."

The report also states: "The General, Manager of the Swiss American Banking Group was at the time Peter Herrington who assisted Fitzgerald with the formation of all IBCs (a type of share-owned corporation) and management of the accounts at SAB (Swiss American Bank) and SANB (Swiss American National Bank). The formation of the accounts was handled by Antigua International Trust. Herrington served as director of all the IBCs and Guardian Bank and performed transactions in the SAB and SANB accounts."

Swiss American Banking Group is owned by financier Bruce Rappaport, a former Bermuda resident who is believed to have held millions of dollars in Bank of Bermuda accounts during the 1980s.

Herrington was suspended and then sacked from his job in Swiss American in 1987 when he refused to tell Rappaport who ran the accounts.

The report said: "Between the time of Herrington's suspension and his termination, he notified Fitzgerald of Rappaport's concerns."

According to a Bermuda Police Special Branch report extract in the published Senate report, the sum of $450,000 in cash was believed to have been taken out of a Bank of Bitterfield safety deposit box, and taken in cash to the Bank of Bermuda, where it was deposited with Herrington using the "influence" of the Antiguan bank.

The report goes on to state: "When the funds were transferred to the account at Swiss American, they were 'held' until Herrington made the book entries."

There is a further mention in the Special Branch report of $5 million, which they say was put through a wire transfer to Bank of Bermuda and on to Swiss American Bank.

The Bermuda Police said it was a "murky trail". It said: "Between January and March 1985, Fitzgerald and other members of the drug organisation deposited $3 million into the account (in the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, St. Lucia). In May 1995, the account was closed and all of the funds (in excess of $3 million), were transferred to Guinness Marn and Company Bank in the Cayman Islands through a bank cheque issued to the Guinness Bank.

"The total in the account subsequently grew to $5 million. In the fall of 1985, the $5 million in funds were wire transferred from the Guinness Bank account to Philadelphia to Manufacturers Hanover Bank in New York to the Bank of Bermuda and on to Swiss American Bank."

The Special Branch report also states: "Another $500,000 came through a cash deposit at the Bank of Bermuda". It is not clear if this is a separate amount to the $450,000 mentioned earlier in the same report.

The extracts are from the section of the report called The Fitzgerald Case — Drugs and Terrorist Money which repeatedly puts Herrington and Swiss American Banking Group at the centre of the scandal.

While living in Bermuda, Herrington is believed to have worked closely with Barry Shailer, now Chief Compliance Officer at the Bank of Bermuda, and the then chief executive officer Donald Lines, who helped set up Lines Overseas Management.

Herrington, who for some time held the position of assistant manager, corporate banking, legal and secretary was then given the additional responsibility in mid 1983 for the Bank of Bermuda's corporate loans and letters of credit facilities under the direction of Barry Shailer, who was at the time manager of corporate banking.

Mr. Shailer and Mr. Herrington have been described as "the best of friends" by colleagues who said Herrington "lived the life of Riley" while in Cayman with his own beach-front property, tennis courts and a chauffeur. It is not known where Herrington currently resides.

The Bank of Bermuda was contacted on Friday with a list of questions about Mr. Herrington. The questions included how long he worked at the Bank, what positions he held, how he came to be employed by the Bank and why he left.

They also included a question on whether Herrington had any connections with the Bank after leaving.

As of press time, the Bank of Bermuda had not responded to the questions. Anyone with knowledge or information on Mr. Herrington is asked to contact Mairi Mallon at 295-5881, extension 247.

Alleged money launderer worked for Island bank—claim

By Mairi Mallon

The man named in a US Senate investigation into money laundering, who is alleged to have been involved in the IRA, drugs and gun-running while still working at the Bank of Bermuda, according to a Bermuda Special Branch investigation report.

And the same report, states Peter Herrington was promoted three times while working at the Bank of Bermuda.

Herrington worked at the Bank of Bermuda between 1979 and 1985, at least part of the time as senior legal counsel, before he went on to work as the General Manager of Swiss American Banking Group.

Herrington is accused in a US Senate report, released last week, of using "influence" on staff at the Bank of Bermuda to get them to accept bundles of cash believed to belong to criminals while working at the Caribbean bank, Swiss American.

It is during his period at Swiss American in Antigua that he became a central figure in the money laundering process, according to the US Senate report on the laundering of $1 million said to be linked to the IRA and the drugs trade.

The Special Branch report, dated October 1985, states: "Herrington lived in Bermuda for five years and received three promotions at the Bank of Bermuda."

"He has been described as a difficult character, not easy to get along with and arrogant, but always maintaining a professional manner. He had a keen interest in rugby and played for Renegades RFC whilst residing on the island."

And the Special Branch report, obtained by The Royal Gazette after the release of the Senate report, adds that some of the drugs money first appeared in the Bank of Bermuda while he worked there.

The report states that $250,000 was held in the Bank of Bermuda by Reinberg/Murray.

Joseph Paul Murray is an Irish money mobster from Boston who served ten years for his part in organising the sale of arms to the IRA.

A web of accounts at Swiss American were used to launder the money and included one held by Murray's wife, Suzanne Jay Murray, who was said to be using the name Susan Jay Reinberg.

The Reinberg/Murray account in the Bank of Bermuda was originally held in an account nominally held for residents and the Special Branch said: "Certain other irregularities could not be explained."

It added: "What they (the directors of Swiss American) did know was that Herrington was working at the Bank of Bermuda when the account was opened and when he went to Antigua the money later went with him."

"He even paid large penalty fees to transfer the money in October 1985."

The Special Branch report says that this money appears to be the first aid the "suspect deposits" secured with the transfer of the Reinberg/Murray money.

Murray and his gang hit the headlines when they were jailed in connection with events on the American registered trawler Valhalla, when it crossed the Atlantic in 1984 and transferred weapons to an Irish ship that was later detained by Security Forces.

The Valhalla returned to Boston and was detained. Murray and whether true cash was handed over and frequently it was not.

"Herrington appears to have had total control of the funds and manipulated the charges and fees on accounts."

It also adds that many of the loans made out by Herrington are to Antigua National Trust Ltd, a part of Swiss American which Herrington also managed — with no further details available.

It adds: "Funds transferred from Bermuda appear to have been held until he returned to Antigua and made the appropriate book entries."

Of that $1 million investigated for money laundering, the documents from the Senate probe and the Special Branch appear to indicate that 65 percent ($65 million) was laundered through the Bank of Bermuda, and includes documents from Bermuda Police Special Branch investigations into the case.

Swiss American Banking Group is owned by financier Bruce Rappaport, a former Bermuda resident who is believed to have during the 1980s held millions of dollars in Bank of Bermuda accounts.

The report also states Herrington tried to buy the bank from Rappaport for $2 million in conjunction with one of Murray's gang. Rappaport instead fired him, the report states.

It adds: "After his dismissal Herrington was allowed to return to the bank for six weeks and during this time was seen by other staff to remove boxes of records."

"Herrington was detained in Geneva on May 25 1987 after a complaint of 'Damage to Property and Disloyal Management'. Local police decided they had no jurisdiction and he was released. This appears to be Rappaport reacting to events in Antigua."

The whereabouts of Herrington are not presently known.

Dear Mia,

United States v. Swiss American Bank Ltd. et al
97 Civ. 12811RWZ

Thank you for your letter of the 10th instant, enclosing a copy of the Complaint.

As I hope you are now aware, paras 22 and 23 of the Complaint are inaccurate and misleading.

At no time during my dealings with Fitzgerald was I made aware of the identities of any partners he may have had, and I had no knowledge of the source of funds, illegal or otherwise.

As I informed you, I discussed with Lesley Ann Gerson, the U.S. Consul to Antigua at the relevant times, my dealings with Fitzgerald, and whether the U.S. Government had any concerns. At that time, no money laundering laws such as we enjoy today existed, and it was not unusual for sizable sums of money to be transferred from one Country's banking system to another. Only if large sums of cash were to be presented for credit of an account, would any alarm bells ring.

Para 23 is particularly repugnant, as the confidentiality laws of Antigua (as with most other Countries at that time), were designed to protect all customers - Fitzgerald was no different from the hundreds of other Customers we dealt with in that respect. It was the ownership of accounts that was protected - location, source and nature were not relevant.

Para 30 requires clarification. Fitzgerald was regarded by me, at all times, as the beneficial owner of the accounts, and it was on his instructions that the bearer shares were handed to him.

Paras 34, 35 & 36 are incorrect and misleading. The transfers mentioned were between accounts owned by the same person, and no attempt at concealment therefore applies. Any cash transfers out of those accounts (and not between accounts) would have been for moneys requested by Fitzgerald, and designated by him as living expenses. As he was regarded as the beneficial owner of those funds, there would have been nothing unusual in those transactions, particularly as Fitzgerald was living in Antigua.

As all these matters were given a full airing at the time of the Grand Jury I attended in Boston, and as I then offered my full co-operation in recovery of the funds to the U.S. Government, I am surprised and disappointed to find myself the target of accusations of improper behaviour. It was because I was not prepared to indulge in any dishonesty, either for the Owner of the Antigua Bank Group, or for Fitzgerald, that the U.S. Government has the opportunity to recover these funds.

My Wife tells me you warned that the Complaint would contain objectionable material. Can you please give me assurances that the inaccuracies will be corrected by amendment.

As always, I remain able and willing to assist in any way proper.

Yours sincerely,

2. Defendants Swiss American Bank Limited and Swiss American National Bank are foreign corporations with their principal place of business in St. Johns, Antigua, West Indies.
3. Defendants Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama and Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva are foreign corporations with their respective principal places of business in Panama and Geneva, Switzerland.

6. Venue is proper before this Court pursuant to Title 28 U.S.C. Sections 1391(b) (2)&(3).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

7. This action is commenced by the United States of America ("United States"), under applicable law, including federal common law, to recover debts owed the United States wrongfully and intentionally converted by defendants Swiss American Bank, Ltd., Swiss American National Bank, Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama, and Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva (hereinafter, collectively referred to as "SAB") in contravention of this Court's May 4, 1994, Final Order of Forfeiture in United States v. Fitzgerald, United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts Criminal Action No. 93-10149-Z.

8. Brothers Joseph and Michael Murray, along with other family members and associates, established one of the largest marijuana smuggling rings in the New England region of the United States during the 1980s, smuggling over 200 tons of marijuana into the United States between 1979 and 1986.

9. Joseph Murray was primarily responsible for the smuggling aspects of the drug organization, while Michael Murray oversaw financial matters.

10. Michael Murray was assisted in the financial aspects of the Murray brothers' drug organization by John E. Fitzgerald ("Fitzgerald"), a United States citizen.

11. Fitzgerald served as the principal money launderer for the Murray brothers' drug organization.

12. SAB owned and operated Antiguan banks that accepted deposits from customers residing in the United States.

13. Between 1985 and 1987, in excess of seven million U.S. dollars of proceeds from the illegal drug activity of the Murray brothers' drug organization was deposited in accounts at SAB's Antiguan branches. Those accounts (collectively referred to hereafter as the "Fitzgerald accounts") were controlled by Fitzgerald for the Murray brothers' drug organization.

14. The deposit of funds into the Fitzgerald accounts created a debt owed by SAB to the depositor, which debt was a property interest of the depositor that SAB had no lawful right to extinguish, without the consent of the depositor, except by paying the sum evidenced by the balance in the account.

15. On or about January 13, 1994, following an eighteen-day jury trial held in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, Michael Murray was convicted of conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute a controlled substance (in violation of Title 21 U.S.C. Section 846) and several substantive violations of possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance (in violation of Title 21 U.S.C. Section 841).

16. On or about April 25, 1994, Michael Murray was sentenced to thirty years imprisonment and fined $10 million for his conviction on these charges.

17. During the course of the prosecution, Michael Murray admitted that the funds on deposit at SAB in the Fitzgerald accounts were the proceeds of his narcotics trafficking and that Fitzgerald had been responsible for seeing that the funds were deposited at SAB.

18. The Fitzgerald accounts were held in the names of a series of foreign shell corporations (identified in paragraphs 24 through 27) that had been established by Fitzgerald on the advice and under the supervision of Peter F. Herrington ("Herrington").

19. Herrington, at all material times, was the General Manager and/or lawful employee of SAB.

20. While employed at SAB, at all material times, Herrington was also the General Manager and lawful employee of Antiguan International Trust, Limited ("AIT"), a company wholly owned and controlled by defendants Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama and Inter-Maritime Bank, Geneva.

21. AIT was authorized to register companies under the Antiguan International Business Corporations Act and provided corporate and trust services to the purchasers and shareholders of companies incorporated by AIT for the benefit of those third parties.

22. Herrington was aware of Fitzgerald's need to move large sums of money from the Murray brothers' drug organization in Massachusetts to bank accounts outside the United States. Herrington also knew of the need to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

23. Herrington advised Fitzgerald to establish a series of offshore companies whose bank accounts at SAB would be used to move monies from Massachusetts to these accounts in order to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

24. Between September and November 1985, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of three Antiguan business entities: Rosebud Investments Ltd. ("Rosebud"), White Rose Investments Ltd. ("White Rose"), and Handel Investments, Ltd. ("Handel").

25. On or about May 1986, Herrington, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of three Antiguan business entities, named Harlequins Ltd., Hoyslake Ltd., and Saracens Ltd. ("HHS"), to serve as holding companies for an Anguillan (another Caribbean island) business entity named Guardian Bank Limited ("Guardian Bank").

26. On or about June 1986, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, supervised the incorporation of Guardian Bank, of which the controlling shares were issued to HHS.

27. On or about June 1986, Herrington and Fitzgerald, through AIT, also supervised the incorporation of an additional Antiguan business entity named J&B Investments Corporation ("J&B").

28. Immediately after the incorporation of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS, AIT, through Herrington, issued bearer shares for each individual company.

29. Initially, all bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS were held in trust by AIT through Herrington.

30. Herrington, in his capacity as General Manager of AIT, on the instructions of the true beneficial owners of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS, lawfully transferred all bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS to Fitzgerald.

31. At all material times, Fitzgerald and/or Michael Murray held and were the rightful owners of all the lawfully issued bearer shares for Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and HHS.

32. Between September of 1985 and June of 1987, Herrington opened accounts at SAB and purchased certificates of deposit from

SAB in the names of Rosebud, White Rose, Handel, J & B, and Guardian Bank. Those certificates of deposit constituted some, or all, of the Fitzgerald accounts, as defined in Paragraph 13 hereof.

33. Herrington was a signatory for the Fitzgerald accounts.

34. Herrington engaged in a series of transactions to move funds between and among the various Fitzgerald accounts. These transactions were designed to disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

35. On several occasions, Herrington prepared withdrawal vouchers for "cash" from certain Fitzgerald accounts, but actually used the "cash" notation to facilitate the transfer between and among Fitzgerald accounts without records showing the ultimate destination of the transfer.

36. The transfers by Herrington using the "cash" notation were designed to avoid detection and tracing of the movement of funds from and among the Fitzgerald accounts, and to further disguise and conceal the ownership, location, source, and nature of these monies.

37. On or about August 17, 1993, in Criminal Action Number 93-10149-Z, in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts, Fitzgerald pleaded guilty to conspiring to violate the RICO statute, Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1962(d), and attempting to engage in money laundering, in violation of Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1957, and agreed to forfeit the Fitzgerald accounts to the United States, pursuant to the RICO forfeiture statute, Title 18 U.S.C. Section 1963.

38. On or about November 9, 1993, pursuant to Fitzgerald's guilty plea, the Court, in Criminal Action Number 93-10149-2, entered a preliminary Order of Forfeiture against Fitzgerald, forfeiting to the United States:

the property described in the forfeiture allegations of Count One, namely, funds which were deposited into the Swiss American Bank, Ltd., and the Swiss American National Bank in St. Johns, Antigua during the time period September 1985 through June 23, 1987, plus any interest which has accrued since that time, into any accounts (including, without limitation, certificates of deposit thereon) held in the name of Rosebud Investments, Ltd., White Rose Investments, Ltd., Handel Investments, Ltd., J & B Investments Corp., and Guardian Bank, Ltd. These funds have been identified as interests which the defendant acquired or maintained in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1962 or constituted property which was derived from, or proceeds which the defendant obtained from, directly and indirectly, the pattern of racketeering alleged in the Indictment.

39. The effect of the Order of Forfeiture was to transfer Fitzgerald's interest in the Fitzgerald accounts -- i.e. his right to be paid the sum of money evidenced by the balances in all of those accounts -- to the United States, so that the debt SAB had previously owed to Fitzgerald was owed to the United States.

40. Notice of the District Court's November 9, 1993, Order of Forfeiture was published for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in Antigua in February and March

3. That the United States be awarded such other and further relief as the Court deems proper and just.

UNITED STATES' OPPOSITION
TO MOTION OF BANK OF NEW YORK-INTER MARITIME BANK, GENEVA
TO DISMISS FOR FAILURE TO ADEQUATELY PLEAD
ALLEGATIONS OF ALTER EGO LIABILITY

The government respectfully submits this Opposition to the Motion of Bank of New York-Inter Maritime Bank, Geneva to Dismiss for Failure to Adequately Plead Allegations of Alter Ego Liability.<sup>1</sup> In its Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Adequately Plead Allegations of Alter Ego Liability, filed pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) and 9(b), Inter-

<sup>1</sup> Additionally, the government is simultaneously filing, two other oppositions in response to Inter Maritime Bank, Geneva, Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank's (collectively "Defendants") other motions to dismiss - (1) United States' Opposition to Motion of Bank of New York-Inter Maritime Bank, Geneva and Motion of Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank to Dismiss the Complaint for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction and (2) United States' Opposition to Motion of Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank to Dismiss the Complaint for Improper Service, Failure to Join an Indispensable Party and on the Grounds of Forum Non Conveniens. The United States incorporates these other oppositions as if fully restated herein. The government has organized its responses in this manner for the Court's convenience in the event that the Court again chooses to address the issue of personal jurisdiction before any other preliminary issue.

Maritime Bank, Geneva ("Geneva")<sup>2</sup> claims it should be dismissed from this lawsuit for two reasons. First, Geneva asserts that the government's claims against Geneva do not meet the pleading requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a) or 9(b). Second, Geneva contends that the government has not stated a claim as to Geneva's alter ego basis for liability. Because the government has alleged its claims against Geneva with sufficient particularity to satisfy the requirements of Rules 8(a) and 9(b) and has stated a claim upon which relief can be granted, Geneva's motion should be denied. Moreover, the appropriate remedy for failing to sufficiently plead alter ego liability is not outright dismissal of Geneva. Instead, if the pleadings are deficient, the Court should afford the government an opportunity to amend the Complaint to remedy any alleged deficiency.

Finally, because Geneva's motion seeks to have the Court consider matters outside the pleadings, namely the March 12, 1998 Affidavit of Stephen Beekman, Geneva is actually requesting relief pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 56. Because Geneva is requesting summary judgment, it is appropriate for the Court to exercise its discretion to grant the United States leave to conduct discovery to probe the relationship between and among the

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

From 1985 through 1987, John E. Fitzgerald ("Fitzgerald") arranged for the deposit of over $7 million in illegal drug proceeds into accounts ("forfeited funds") that he opened at Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank ("SAB"). (Complaint at ¶ 13; see September 26, 1991 Sworn Statement of Peter Herrington at p. 33, attached hereto as Exhibit A). During this time, Fitzgerald's contact persons at SAB were its General Manager, Peter Herrington ("Herrington"), and Manager, McAlister Abbott ("Abbott"). (Complaint at ¶¶ 18-20; Exhibit A at pp. 37-39). None of the SAB accounts under Fitzgerald's control were opened in Fitzgerald's name, but, rather, in the name of shell-corporations incorporated by Herrington for Fitzgerald. (Complaint at ¶¶ 18-32; Exhibit A at pp. 5-6 & 10-11). Herrington created the Fitzgerald shell-corporations in his capacity as the General Manager of the Antigua International Trust Limited ("AIT"), a "trust" company that incorporated shell-corporations for SAB's customers. (Complaint at ¶¶ 20-32; Exhibit A at pp. 10-11). For all practical purposes, although they performed different functions, AIT and SAB acted as one business entity. AIT and SAB had the same offices, used the same post office box, had common officers and employees, and, most importantly, were owned by, controlled by, and answered to the same principals, namely, Defendants Swiss American Holding Company S.A. of Panama ("SAHC"), Geneva, and their principal shareholder, Swiss-Israeli businessman Bruce Rappaport ("Rappaport"). (Compare Unauthorized Annual Return for Guardian filed by AIT and March 7, 1988 Letter from McAlister Abbott to Bruce Rappaport/IMB, attached hereto as Exhibits B and C, respectively; Exhibit A at pp. 5-7 & 42-43).<sup>4</sup>

By May 1987, most of Fitzgerald's deposits at SAB, which at that time accounted for almost one third of SAB's deposits, were held in the name of a shell-corporation called Guardian Bank Limited ("Guardian"). (October 19, 1989 Investigatory Report of Prospect Special Branch, attached hereto as Exhibit E at pp. 1-2). Guardian was actually owned by three holding companies, wholly controlled and owned by Fitzgerald. (Complaint at ¶ 25;

<sup>4</sup> In 1987, SAB and AIT were owned and controlled by Defendant Swiss American Holding Company of Panama, S.A., which in turn was owned and controlled by Defendant Geneva, which in turn was owned and controlled by Bruce Rappaport. (See Excerpt of the December 6, 1989 Summary of Testimony by Marc Sturzenegger, attached hereto as Exhibit D at p. 8; Exhibit A at pp. 42-43).

see Exhibit A at pp. 39-40 & 45-46). The corporate documents for Guardian and these holding companies were held in trust by AIT for the benefit of Fitzgerald. (See Exhibit A at p. 46; Exhibit E at p. 8). From June 1986 to June 1987, Herrington was the sole director of Guardian and of the various holding companies that owned Guardian. (See Exhibit A at pp. 39-40, & 45-46).

Although most of the facts are in the control of the Defendants, the United States has learned that by the end of May 1987, Mr. Rappaport became concerned that an unknown depositor controlled one-third of SAB's deposits and ordered Herrington to travel to Geneva's Swiss offices for a face-to-face conference. (Affidavit of A. J. de Kluiver, previously filed on April 15, 1998 ("de Kluiver Aff."), attached hereto, at ¶ 4a). When Herrington arrived in Geneva, Mr. Rappaport asked Herrington to identify the beneficial owners of Guardian, but Herrington refused. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶¶ 4b & 4c). As a result, Rappaport removed Herrington as the General Manager of AIT and SAB. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶ 4c). Thus, Rappaport was apparently able to exert enough control over the corporate structure of the Defendants to remove Herrington.

Upon his return to Antigua, Herrington contacted Fitzgerald and informed the latter of Rappaport's inquiries about Guardian. (See Exhibit A at p. 45). Herrington and Abbott resigned as officers of Guardian and its holding companies and Herrington transferred all corporate documents relating to the ownership of Guardian to Fitzgerald. (Exhibit A at p. 46). Fitzgerald, armed with Guardian's corporate documents, elected a new director for Guardian, who then attempted to withdraw funds from SAB.

(Exhibit A at p. 46; Exhibit E at p. 2). SAB refused to honor the request made by Guardian's new director who attempted to negotiate a release of part of Guardian's SAB funds. (See Exhibit E at p. 2). Finally, after attempts at a negotiated settlement failed, Guardian's director filed a lawsuit in Antigua in 1989, asking the court to recognize him as the sole director of Guardian and for authority to withdraw approximately $4.15 million from Guardian's SAB accounts. (See Exhibit E at p. 2). In December 1990, the Antiguan court ruled that Guardian's director did not possess the proper corporate authority to file the lawsuit and dismissed the case for lack of standing.<sup>5</sup>

The United States possesses copies of most of the pleadings and exhibits filed in the aforementioned Antiguan litigation.<sup>6</sup> These documents show that immediately after Herrington's dismissal in 1987, SAB, through its agent AIT, appears to have engineered a takeover of Guardian.<sup>7</sup> On June 22, 1987, AIT issued proxies to Suzanne Wolf, a resident of Geneva, Switzerland, allegedly giving her the authority to operate the voting shares in Guardian held by the three holding companies owned by Fitzgerald, even though AIT did not hold the bearer shares to the holding companies, was not the named director of the holding companies, and did not have Fitzgerald's permission to operate the holding companies. (de Kluiver Aff. at ¶ 4d; see Documents from Unauthorized Guardian Bank Shareholder Meeting of June 23, 1987, attached hereto as Exhibit G; Exhibit A at pp. 45-46; Exhibit B; Exhibit E at p. 8). Then, on June 23, 1987, using the bogus proxies, Ms. Wolf appointed AIT as director of Guardian and passed a corporate resolution freezing Guardian's accounts at SAB "to protect the interests of the bank and its customers." (Exhibit G; Exhibit A at pp. 45-46). When Guardian was incorporated in June 1986, all 5,000 voting shares were issued to the three holding companies controlled and owned by Fitzgerald. (See Guardian Stock Certificates Issued to Harlequins Limited, Hoylake Limited, and Saracens Limited, attached hereto as Exhibit H; Exhibit A at pp. 10-11, 39-40 & 45-46). After Fitzgerald

ARGUMENT

I. The Government has Pleaded its Claims Sufficiently Under Rules 8(a) and 9(b)

Geneva argues that the Complaint does not meet the minimum pleading requirements of Rule 8(a) or the particularity requirements of Rule 9(b), and as such, the Complaint must be dismissed. The government has fulfilled its pleading obligations; however, if the Court finds that the Complaint is insufficiently pleaded, then the proper remedy for the Court is to allow the government to amend, rather than to dismiss, the Complaint.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a) requires that a pleading set forth a short and plain statement of the claim, showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. The notice pleading standard eliminates the need in pleadings for a detailed statement of the facts upon which the claim is based, leaving development of the facts to the discovery phase of the litigation. J.D. Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 47 (1957). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b) requires that fraud be pleaded with particularity. In determining whether the requirement to plead fraud with particularity has been satisfied, the First Circuit has

|                 | that Mr. HERRINGTON that that is a true summary of the legal proceedings to date?                                                                                                                                      |
| PH              | Yes, I just wish to add that eh, I sought clarification from the Court because I would be in breach of the laws of Antigua by volunteering to give this information without the benefit of an Isle of Man Court Order. |
| BJS             | And are you satisfied now that you are covered by the Isle of Man Order?                                                                                                                                               |
| PH              | I am satisfied that I'm obliged to give the information, although I'm still technically in breach of the law of Antigua.                                                                                               |

Yes, indeed.

MK

Could you tell us sort of the gist of your conversations with him and what he told you about himself and what you told him about the Bank?

PH

As I would say to all of my customers who came in, I would describe the various types of accounts we operated, I would have described how Bank confidentiality operated

MK

Why don't you explain to us what you mean by those things, - the types of accounts and how the Bank's confidentiality operated?

PH

Well, as in any banking operation there are a range of accounts between current accounts and chequing accounts going through to interest bearing deposits for various terms, that would be the normal context obviously there are certain borrowing customers as well, but that wouldn't be relevant in this case.

MK

And what did you explain about confidentiality?

PH

I explained that er, as I again said with all my customers who required confidentiality that they were able to open accounts in the name of Corporations which they would own, but the records of those Corporations would only indicate that

| PH                 | I don't recall from my knowledge, but I have seen                                                                                                                                               |

| MK              | Now, was he looking at investment projects or did he say he was considering investment projects off of Antigua or only on Antigua?                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| PH              | No, I think we always understood that Mr. Fitzgerald was open to making investment in the Caribbean area, not only in Antigua but I think my Manager and I em presented proposals to him over the period of time and I think Mr. Fitzgerald probably also discussed proposals which he had found himself over a certain period of time. |
| MK              | They were off island?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| PH              | No, not all of them...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH              | Some are and some aren't                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| MK              | Now after there was a total of seven or more million dollars deposited into accounts that he was controlling. Did you have a conversation with him on how those accounts should be handled or                                                                                                                                           |

| PH              | Yes, certainly, when I knew that we were going to receive this amount of five million dollars, I'm assuming it would have been sometime probably em, before its actual receipt, I would have discussed with Mr. Fitzgerald how those deposits should be dealt with in our bank and how in fact, what type of accounts they should be held in. |
| MK              | Did this conversation take place at the bank - or was it a series of conversations?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| PH              | I can't promise you that every one took place in the bank, some may have taken place wherever he was staying, and some may even have taken place at my home, but eh...                                                                                                                                                                        |
| MK              | Did they all take place in Antigua?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| PH              | Oh, Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| MK              | And they all were face to face?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| PH              | I, to the best of my knowledge, er, I never met Mr. Fitzgerald anywhere else but Antigua.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| MK              | Good, and would anybody else have been present in your conversations other than you and Mr. Fitzgerald?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| PH              | Oh yes, Mr. Abbot would be privy to all our conversations and dealings.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| MK                 | When you say...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH                 | I wouldn't of thought that anybody else would be present, not to my recollection                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| MK                 | Yeah, well, be fair to say that Mr. Abbot would have been present at some of your conversations with Fitzgerald but not all of them?                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| PH                 | If, If we were going to discuss the conduct of his account in any material form, then if both Abbot and I were on the island and in the bank we would have met with him almost certainly together. There will have been a number of occasions however when either Mac or myself would have discussed things with him separately. |
| MK                 | OK, would that also be true of your initial conversations when you first set up the White Rose and Rose Bud accounts?                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| PH                 | Oh I can't recollect whether, when he first came in, he saw just me or both of us, or even whether his initial contact may have been with Mac and me later.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| MK                 | But as things developed over the initial period of time when you were having conversations with him, would it be accurate to say, sometimes you might                                                                                                                                                                            |

may have been present?

Yes, or sometimes he may have spoken with Mr.
Abbot alone.

Abbot alone, OK...

Oh yes.

After you had this discussion with him about how to change the structuring or depositing of the seven million, did you in fact take certain steps
with his approval?

Yes I did. I recommended that in view of the size of the deposit as against the funds that were lodged in the bank, as its capital, by its owner
that I didn't think it appropriate that he were just a deposit customer of the bank, I suggested that in view of the size of the funds and in view of the fact that they were going to be on-used at some point for development, that they should be used to form a bank, so that he would in fact be the owner of a bank in which all of these funds would be deposited, and then that bank would on-lend its funds to Swiss American Bank.

OK, and did you in fact set up such a corporate structure?

| PH                 | Yes, I did, it was called Guardian Bank Ltd, andand it set up in Anguilla                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| MK                 | And what was the reason for setting it up inAnguilla?                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| PH                 | Because that was the most flexible jurisdiction inorder to set up a bank at that time.                                                                                                                                                                       |
| MK                 | And what was flexible about it?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH                 | In terms of its capital requirements, in terms ofits management, in terms of its share holding, itrepresented the simplest and easiest jurisdictionin which to form a bank, which wasn't going tooperate or be licensed to deal with the public. |
| MK                 | And what were the Corporations that owned theshares in Guardian Bank?                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| PH                 | Hoylake Ltd, Sarasins Ltd and Harlequins Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| MK                 | And who picked the names for the threecorporations in the Bank?                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| PH                 | I did.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| MK                 | And what was the significance in the three namesfor the three corporations?                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH                 | They were all rugby clubs from the UK                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| MK                 | And you are a rugby fan?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| PH                 | Yes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| MK                 | OK. And Guardian Bank? - just because it                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                    | good?                                                                                                                                                                            |
| PH                 | Guardian Bank again was my name, and yes, because it had an appropriate ring to it.                                                                                              |
| MK                 | Now, were there ever accounts set up in the name of JONES or HANDEL, H-A-N-D-E-L, for Mr. Fitzgerald's benefit?                                                                  |
| PH                 | Yes, em, my recollections, both were set up for his benefit                                                                                                                      |
| MK                 | OK, at this time, without having the benefit of bank records which I know might be helpful, do you recall any other accounts that were set up for the benefit of Mr. Fitzgerald? |
| PH                 | Well, apart from Guardian, there was White Rose, Rose Bud, J&B, Handel, Jones Enterprises, I think thats it.                                                                     |
| MK                 | Did Handel and Jones play any particular role, that they were set up for? or were they just holding accounts...                                                                  |
| PH                 | I wasn't aware of any particular role, I think they were just company accounts in which he deposited funds.                                                                      |
| MK                 | And do you know if Chelsea Ltd and Newington were affiliated at all with him?                                                                                                    |
| PH                 | No, they were nothing to do with him                                                                                                                                             |

| MK              | Now, at some point you, would it be fair to say you had your differences with the management of the three banks?                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH              | It would be a classic understatement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| MK              | OK, and when did you first learn that you were having some differences with the management, not the management, the ownership?                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| PH              | That surfaced, I think towards the end of January when the owner of the parent bank in Geneva one Mr. Rappaport, instructed an Attorney from I think Washington, from one of the prime firms in Washington to come to the island to discuss the state of the Government of Antigua's accounts with the local bank |
| MK              | OK, and at that point did you have some conversation with Mr. Fitzgerald?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| PH              | No, I wouldn't of said it was at that point, em, following the visit from the US Attorney....                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| MK              | You mean the Attorney from the United States as opposed to someone of the title that you were describing...                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| PH              | Yes, indeed, in private practise in the States, yes. It became obvious to me that Mr. Rappaport was about to enter into one of his fights with the                                                                                                                                                                |

|                 | Antigua Government. I had indicated that they shouldn't involve the bank because the Government's accounts with the bank were entirely satisfactory. Sometime in February, Rappaport sent two people from Geneva to make an internal inspection. One of those people told me quite openly when he came that he was designated as my successor. At that point I knew that my time was limited..                                                       |
| MK              | What year was this?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| PH              | This was the beginning of '87.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| MK              | And at that point did you tell Mr. Fitzgerald anything, because of what you had learned?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| PH              | Er, as soon as I appreciated that this man had been sent to replace me, I warned certain of my customers that Mr. Rappaport was going to replace me, that it was inevitable, that I personally had no confidence or trust in Mr. Rappaport, and that although it was not for me to tell them what to do, I advised that they considered their continuing relationship with the bank, in view of the activities that Mr. Rappaport was embarked upon. |
| MK              | And did Mr. Fitzgerald take...                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

|                 | respect to em the advice you gave him or if not the advice, but the conversation you had concerning this?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| PH              | I think between, lets say the middle or end of February, lets say towards the end of May, during that period we will have had several conversations.                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| MK              | This is what year?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| PH              | And Mr. Fitzgerald chose to do nothing about the situation, which indeed was his entitlement.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| MK              | When did you terminate your relationship with the three banks?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| PH              | I was suspended from duty well, em, in terms of my signing power and ability to do things I think from around the end of February, during the time that the two internal inspectors were there, em, but my formal dismissal from the bank was probably around towards the middle or end of June, I can't be specific because I haven't got my files with me. |
| MK              | Now when you were, after you left the bank or perhaps just before you left the bank, did you take any action with respect to the three Corporations that owned the shares in the Guardian                                                                                                                                                                    |

| PH              | Bank, or the Guardian Bank itself?Well yes, em at some point. I will have advised Mr. Fitzgerald that I was definitely not going to be with the bank any longer, that I was at war with Mr. Rappaport, and that therefore I should resign from the Guardian Bank, as indeed should my Manger, and that he should appoint new officers to run the bank because it would not be fair to him to have me as an officer in charge of the Bank, when I was at war with my employer and soon to be not able to assist him in banking terms any longer. |
| MK              | And did you in fact carry out that transfer?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| PH              | Yes indeed, both Mr. Abbot and myself and I think Belgrove Gregory who is another officer at the bank, we all three resigned at the same time.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| MK              | Would you remember roughly what time that was?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| PH              | It would have been some time in May or at the beginning of June, I'm afraid I don't have any recollection of the date.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

SWISS AMERICAN BANK OF ANTIGUA

INTRODUCTION

This report has been prepared following information received by the Deputy Commissioner about irregularities which have surfaced in the operation of the above bank and some of its other interests. Special Branch and the FBI are now investigating various aspects of the information and it seems likely that other agencies may be called upon to assist in unravelling the fraud and money laundering that has been identified.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

2. Swiss American Bank of Antigua (SAB) was founded by an Israeli citizen, Bruce RAPPAPORT, who is a resident of Switzerland. During the oil embargo on Israel in the early 1970s, Arab nations would only sell oil to companies that had an existing refinery. At this time RAPPAPORT bought a small operation in Antigua to secure his financial interests. Being a wealthy man he later made other investments in Antigua and one of these was the establishment of the Swiss American Bank of Antigua. This is an offshore bank and to accommodate domestic business Swiss American National Bank of Antigua was incorporated. The American aspect in the titles refer to an American partner who helped establish the banks but withdrew a short time after their inception.

3. RAPPAPORT is described as being totally reputable and many of his interests are looked after by the Bank of Bermuda. Due to his wealth he paid little attention to SAB. The first manager was incompetent and he subsequently hired:

1. Peter Frederick HERRINGTON
Born 13.01.44 - U.K.

to be the General Manager of the two banks and a management company, Antigua International Trust Ltd. (AIT). HERRINGTON was at that time employed at the Bank of Bermuda as Secretary and Assistant Manager - Legal.

1989 INVESTIGATION

4. It is apparent that due to business links in Bermuda:

2. Alan THOMSON
Thomson Associates Ltd.
7 Reid Street
Hamilton
3. Susan WILSON
Masters Ltd.
Hamilton

were added to the Board of Directors. They learnt that SAB had assets of US$ 24 million and liabilities of US$ 22 million. Eighty-seven percent (87%) of the loan

...of approximately $14 million is delinquent. The bank directors privately admit to a liquidity problem although they believe that they have returned the bank to a correct footing.

3. The directors also learnt that the major deposit account was valued at US$ 7 million and was subject to a withdrawal attempt. US$ 5 million of the $7 million was deposited at one time and is at the centre of this investigation. Furthermore the circumstances surrounding the attempt to withdraw the money, which was held in the name of Guardian Bank of Anguilla, were strange. On 13/14th April, 1988 a woman calling herself:

4. Eileen DILLON
Antiques Dealer

presented herself at the company offices in Geneva, Switzerland together with the following persons and claimed ownership of the account

5. John FULLER
Lawyer
P.O. Box 1168
St. Johns
Antigua
Antiquan/American Nationality.

6. Subsequently FULLER produced bearer certificates in respect of three (3) companies which own the Guardian Bank. The companies are Saracens - 50%, Harlequins - 25% and Moylake - 25%. The bank refused to accept the certificates and the matter will come before the Courts in Antigua on the 14th November, 1989. FULLER has been described as a 'Mr. Fixit' who has a dubious reputation tainted with political corruption.

7. The directors also came to suspect their own bank lawyer after he came to a private agreement with FULLER to return the $7 million over a period of five (5) years.

8. In September, 1989 the directors engaged local accountants, Coopers and Lybrand to perform some accounting and investigative enquiries. The basis for the investigation was to look at the accounts controlled by AIT where HERRINGTON, then General Manager of the bank was the sole signatory on bank accounts of these companies at SAB during the period 1985 - 1987. During the same month THOMSON and

Accountant
Coopers and Lybrand
Bermuda

visited Antigua and examined the transactions of SAB and the records of Guardian Bank. A number of major problems were highlighted which included:

(a) All of the documents for companies controlled by HERRINGTON were missing.

(b) HERRINGTON was the sole signatory on the accounts and had freedom to move funds at will.

(c) HERRINGTON had made some strange bank entries which indicated account 'skimming' at the very least. He also operated personal and company accounts all within the same gambit.

(c) The source of many deposits was unknown as was the ownership of the companies/accounts being managed by AIT.

(d) As many loans were also arranged by HERRINGTON this is probably another way he has defrauded the company.

9. The companies primarily of interest because they were controlled exclusively by HERRINGTON are:

Rosebud Investments Ltd.
Jones Enterprises
Chelsea Ltd.
White Rose Investments Ltd.
J and B Investments Inc.
Guardian Bank Ltd.
Leonora Investments Inc.
Nelson Holdings Ltd.
Handel Investments Ltd.

10. A more detailed look at the transactions will follow later in the report.

11. The investigation did of course reveal the source of some funds and names and addresses or telephone numbers of HERRINGTON's contacts. The directors noted that a deposit totalling $250,000 was received from National Commercial Foreign Exchanges Corporation of Canada which they learnt to be a suspect bank named in the 'Pizza Connection' drug case where money was laundered through Bermuda. They also saw that one:

7. Susan Jay REINBERG

had transferred $252,151 from the Bank of Bermuda, Peter HERRINGTON had transferred $454,430 from the Bank of Bermuda and they eventually tracked a $5 million deposit on a route which took it from the Cayman Islands through the Bank of Bermuda to Swiss American.

12. The directors attempted to trace some of the people and also called telephone numbers which had been used in 1986 by HERRINGTON on his private line at the bank. (An extensive listing is being made available). They found that some of the numbers were call boxes in the Boston area whilst others were in bars or unsavory parts of the city. At some stage

8. Paul FIELD
Safeguard Security Ltd.
Hamilton

was hired to assist. His contacts in the United States established that the numbers called were at locations considered to be very Irish with strong IRA links. It was also learnt that Suzanne J. REINBERG(S) was most likely

9. Suzanne Jay MURRAY (Nee SHAFER)
Born 26.12.51

6 Abena Shores
 LeLgrade
 Maine
 Previously resided at 51 Allston Street
 Charlestown
 Maine
 and 100 Nokomis Road
 Hingham
 Mass., USA
 (REINDERG/MURRAY may also be Eileen DILLON #4 of this report).

MURRAY is the wife of 10. Joseph Paul MURRAY Jr.

 Born 18.03.46
 Newspaper Compositor
 51 Allston Street
 Charlestown
 Maine

13. MURRAY is presently serving 10 years for his part in organising the sale of arms to the IRA in September 1984 when an American registered trawler, "Valhalla", crossed the Atlantic and transferred weapons to an Irish ship that was later detained by Security Forces. The "Valhalla" returned to Boston and was detained shortly after arrival. MURRAY and two other men

11. Robert ANDERSON
 USC aged 49 years

12. William WINN
 USC aged 55 years

were convicted and jailed. Others arrested at the time remain at large and include

13. Patrick NEE
 USC aged 44 years

14. Michael NIGRO
 USC aged 34 years

15. John McINTYRE
 USC aged 36 years
 Quincy, Mass.

14. McINTYRE disappeared in November, 1984 and has been the subject of much speculation and press coverage after it was alleged that he had been killed by the IRA. Both the British and American governments have been accused of allowing him to be killed.

15. MURRAY and others also pleaded guilty to importing about 30 tons of cannabis into the USA using a trawler carrying the drug buried beneath gravel and steel plates. He commenced his sentence in 1987 and could be released in about two (2) months.

16. At about this time the directors also established that the $252,156 in the account of REINBERG/MURRAY at the Bank of Bermuda was originally held in an account normally used by residents and certain other irregularities could not be explained. What they did know was that HERRINGTON was working at the Bank of Bermuda when the account was opened and when he went to Antigua the money later went with him. He even paid large penalty fees to transfer the money in October, 1985. They also established that the $454,000 deposited by HERRINGTON at the Bank of Bermuda in October, 1985 was in cash. SAB used the Bank of Bermuda as a clearing bank and this relationship seems to have influenced the staff to accept the money. As will be seen it now seems likely that the cash came from a safety deposit box at the Bank of Butterfield.

17. After a number of meetings between the directors and accountants it was decided to alert the Police. There was unanimous agreement that the money was the proceeds of crime and a fear that when it became known that the funds would not be returned the IRA would take revenge. The directors also believed that MURRAY was storing the profits from his IRA gun running and possibly other IRA funds as well. SB/FBI believe the funds to be proceeds of crime until other evidence surfaces.

HERRINGTON AND AIT COMPANIES

18. HERRINGTON lived in Bermuda for five (5) years and received three (3) promotions at the Bank of Bermuda. He has been described as having a difficult character, not easy to get along with and arrogant, but always maintaining a professional manner. He had a keen interest in Rugby and played for Renegades RFC whilst residing on the island.

19. HERRINGTON was recruited for his new job whilst the founder was visiting Bermuda and former colleagues surmise that he was thought to be the man who could sort out the mess at SAB.

20. During his tenure:

- i. The suspect deposits appear to have started with the transfer of the REINBERG money.
- ii. He travelled on business and charged the expense to more than one account, sometimes travelling with female companions.
- iii. Bank slips were written up as 'cash' and 'deposit' when money was being transferred from one account to another as a way to disguise its destination. Only by checking other banking records can the accountants identify whether true cash was handed over and frequently it was not.
- iv. HERRINGTON appears to have had total control of the funds and manipulated the charges and fees on accounts.
- v. Many of the loans are to companies c/o AIT and no other details are available.

vi. Funds transferred from Bermuda appear to have been 'held' until he returned to Antigua and made the appropriate book entries.

vii. In the early part of 1987 an attempt was made to withdraw money from Guardian and HERRINGTON appears to have already formed a link with FULLER. He later made an attempt to buy SAB from RAPPAPORT for $2 million and the directors surmise that this was in collusion with FULLER so that they could buy a 'shell' at a time when the founder was dismayed with events. RAPPAPORT reacted to the offer by dismissing HERRINGTON who has since commenced legal action for wrongful dismissal.

viii. HERRINGTON was named in an Antiguan newspaper as being of interest to the DEA because of the reputation of SAB.

ix. After his dismissal HERRINGTON was allowed to return to the bank for six (6) weeks and during this time was seen by other staff to remove boxes of records.

x. HERRINGTON was detained in Geneva on 26th May, 1987 after a complaint of Damage to Property and Disloyal Management. Local Police decided they had no jurisdiction and he was released. This appears to be RAPPAPORT reacting to events in Antigua.

21. A brief summary of suspect and fraudulent actions follows.

ROSCBUD INVESTMENTS

This account was opened in September, 1985 and was the subject of an earlier accounting report. During the next few weeks, $450,000 was deposited in cash and this was followed by two cheques from the suspect bank in Canada. Within three (3) weeks of being opened the Susan REINBERG/MURRAY $252,151 was transferred from Bermuda and the $450,000 cash that HERRINGTON had deposited in Bermuda also moved. On November 11th, $2.5 million which was the proceeds of the $5 million that had travelled from Cayman to Bermuda to Antigua was deposited. HERRINGTON made all of the decisions alone apart from the Canadian deposit.

The directors have since learnt that the $5 million was transferred by wire upon the instructions of Guinness Marn and Co., London from their bank in Cayman to Philadelphia to Manufacturers Hanover, New York, to Bermuda, to Cayman. Not only is this path murky but subsequently Guinness Marn sold their subsidiary in Cayman because of their embarrassment at the management. Respectably Guinness Marn have chosen not to reveal why they were embarrassed or the source of the money.

JONES ENTERPRISES

This account was used as a 'feeder' account for Roscbud, Handel and Chelsea. Large cash deposits were made into the account and later diverted to others but as the clients' statements are missing it is not possible at this stage to say where the cash originated.

On 1st April, 1986 Jones received via the Bank of Bermuda International Ltd., $60,000 from Recovery Services Ltd., a Cayman corporation. Again no process is available.

CHELSEA LTD.

Chelsea was opened when the $60,000 mentioned above was transferred from Jones on 3rd April, 1986 and the account was later used by HERRINGTON to obtain US cash and East Caribbean dollars.

The account was used extensively and most likely for his own use and to provide funds to buy real estate in Florida. He also used the account to move sterling from his own personal company account in the name of 'Nelson'.

WHITE ROSE INVESTMENTS

This account was the recipient of the other $2.5 million of the $5 million transfer from Cayman by Guinness Marn. The significant transactions occurred some months after the transfer and there is reference to transactions being authorised by telephone.

J AND B INVESTMENTS CORP.

This account was opened in June, 1986 with transfers from White Rose and a deposit from Rosebud/White Rose. It was used by HERRINGTON to obtain substantial cash amounts and in November 1986, $11,909 was moved to Ireland Holdings to buy a house. Funds were also paid to S and S Adams which may represent rental payments for accommodation used by

16. Jack FITZGERALD
USC aged about 50 years
15 Fairway Drive
McKee City
New Jersey
609 645 7517

who has a long history of being a 'minder' for Joseph MURRAY. FITZGERALD visited SAB on occasions and is believed to have withdrawn money when he was gambling at the casino in Antigua. He now lives on a semi-permanent basis in Antigua and according to the FBI can always be found where MURRAY has his funds.

Guardian Bank lawyer/owner John FULLER is also claiming ownership of J and B Investments.

This account also illustrates that substantial amounts of cash were being manipulated by HERRINGTON on no known instructions and some of it ended up in his own companies.

GUARDIAN BANK OF ANGUILLA

This account was the recipient of all funds from the initial deposits made to Rosebud and White Rose. There were several withdrawals of cash by HERRINGTON for which no slips are available. However, the money eventually ended up in this account and as has been stated earlier, Guardian Bank is supposedly owned by three (3) bearer companies, Saracens, Moylake and Harlequins. Whoever owns the bearer share certificates, as FULLER claims he does, has access to $7 million. Assistant Manager of SAB

17. MacDonald ABBOTT

has been interviewed by the directors and stated that he thought Guardian was established to hide the profits skimmed from casino operations.

He thought Jack FITZGERALD had a controlling interest and also thought that HERRINGTON maintained a second set of books on behalf of the Company. ABBOTT has been described as a person who would turn a blind eye to tax evasion but appears--to have no knowledge of drug involvement.

HANDEL INVESTMENTS LTD.

This account was opened in January, 1986 and $92,000 transferred from Jones Enterprises. The money remains on deposit.

LEONORA INVESTMENTS LTD.

This account was opened in May, 1986 and appears to have been used to buy an unidentified house in Florida.

NELSON HOLDINGS LTD.

This account was opened in January, 1986 by HERRINGTON to be his own personal company. Once again HERRINGTON used this account to transfer money between different companies and hide true destinations. Some money appears to have been transferred from the Bank of Bermuda to the account.

It should be noted that Ireland was his first wife's maiden name and Leonora is a christian name of his present wife. The directors have been told that the other names refer to names used in Ireland for matters of secrecy and possibly have IRA connotations.

A number of other companies have yet to be investigated by the accountant but to facilitate this many of the bank records for the years under review have been flown to Bermuda for access and security.

BANK RECORDS IN BERMUDA

Bank of Bermuda

agreed to meet with Mr. Larry NEAVES from the FBI and DCI SMITH together with Mrs. WILSON. It had initially been indicated that the $450,000 deposited by HERRINGTON had been cash which he was carrying on his person whilst on his way to Geneva. The bank only agreed to accept same as they knew HERRINGTON and SAB used them as a clearing house. However, LINES indicated that upon reflection his staff thought that HERRINGTON was accompanied by two other men and the money had been brought from a safety deposit box at the Bank of Butterfield. He also produced a copy bank draft for $9000 payable to:

19. Dr. Bernard MITTER
Florida.

This man may be associated with a health clinic telephoned a number of times by HERRINGTON.

Mr. LINES admitted that the first account opened by REINBERG/MURRAY was one for US dollars normally used by residents of Bermuda. He could not explain either why a second account had no mailing or home address.

On Friday 13th October, DCI SMITH visited the Bank of Butterfield and met with:

20. Mansfield BROCK
Manager
Bank of Butterfield
21. Peter Rogers
Bank Lawyer
Bank of Butterfield
22. John GRAHAM
Head of Security
Bank of Butterfield

to discuss the rental of safety deposit boxes and other related matters. The bank officers said that they could not release any information without production of a Search Warrant although they were sympathetic to the request. Mr. ROGERS indicated that the bank had been named in the "Pizza Connection" trial for accepting money in suitcases and they had no wish to be named again. Furthermore the involvement of the IRA could perhaps lead to reprisals if account matters were released and the bank had a responsibility to their employees to provide safe working conditions.

He did, however, reveal that an enquiry had been made previously by telephone from the United States about certain drafts obtained by MURRAY in June

1982 and August, 1983. He thought the person making the enquiry was:

23. Mr. DUBOIS
US Treasury Department

ROGERS told DUBOIS that such matters would have to be dealt with on an official level through British representatives in the US. According to ROGERS he conducted an enquiry at the time and the banking officers were satisfied that the cash deposits were from a legitimate customer. He refused to acknowledge the 'cat was out of the bag' and Mr. BROCK said a warrant must be produced.

It is suspected that the FBI did not follow up on their earlier enquiry because the Bank of Butterfield made it clear no cooperation would be forthcoming.

It was also established that REINBERG/MURRAY had deposited money at the Bank of Bermuda on the following dates:

7th August, 1983
8th November, 1983
14th November, 1983
10th January, 1983
3rd July, 1983
21st August, 1983

Enquiries are still continuing.

(CIVIL)

SUIT NO. 123 of 1989

BETWEEN:

GUARDIAN BANK LIMITED

Plaintiff

-and-

SWISS AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ANTIGUA

Defendant

AFFIDAVIT

I, MARC STURZENEGGER, of 12 Grand' Rue, Geneva, Switzerland make oath and say as follows:

1. I am a solicitor of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, and I am, and have been, employed in the legal department of International Maritime Services Company Limited of Geneva Switzerland since December 1983. I have assisted the Defendant in relation to various matters since that date. I make this affidavit to the best of my knowledge, information and belief being derived from documents and information supplied to me from time to time in connection with this matter in particular by the directors of the Defendant and of Antiguan International Trust Limited. I have also been provided with information by Mr. Peter Mitchell of Coopers & Lybrand, which is an international firm of accountants. Mr. Mitchell is a partner in the firm based in Bermuda who has carried out an investigation into the affairs of the Defendant, and transactions concerning Mr. Herrington.

three Antiguan shareholding companies. A copy of the minutes is at Exhibit "JG 12" to the supplemental affidavit of Mr. Greaves sworn herein. An annual return was made on 20 July 1987, a copy of which is exhibited as "JG 14" to the original affidavit of Mr. Greaves sworn herein. I believe that Mr. Fuller did not become a director of Guardian Bank Limited.

10. In this affidavit I have endeavoured to address certain of the legal issues which arise on the present application. However, it is appropriate that I should inform this Honourable Court of certain of the background to the present case. Mr. Herrington ceased to be General Manager of AIT in May 1987 following the discovery of various substantial irregularities which had come to light in relation to his conduct as General Manager and a director of the Defendant, Swiss American Bank Ltd. and AIT. Further inquiries have revealed (inter alia) that:-

- (1) Mr. Herrington made a large number of cash withdrawals in particular from accounts at Swiss American Bank Ltd. without any apparent authority to do.
- (2) Mr. Herrington made transfers from time to time in the books of account of the Banks to companies owned or controlled by him from other accounts maintained at the Banks, without any apparent authority to do so.
- (3) Mr. Herrington failed to account to AIT for directors' fees arising from companies incorporated by AIT. He kept the fees for himself.

(4) Mr. Herrington made unauthorised loans to companies owned or controlled by himself, thus benefiting himself at the expense of his employers.

(5) Mr. Herrington was instrumental in causing loans to be made which were not prudent or proper as ordinary banking transactions and which exposed the Banks to substantial losses on loans which ought never to have been made and for which there was totally inadequate security.

(6) Mr. Herrington apparently took a secret commission on a loan authorised by him.

11. The Defendant has had an investigation carried out by the international firm of accountants and auditors, Coopers & Lybrand. I have been informed by Mr. Peter Mitchell, the audit partner of that firm responsible for the investigation that he identified a number of transactions in which funds were transferred by Mr. Herrington from the account of third party clients, namely individuals or companies not owned or controlled by Mr. Herrington, of the two banks to companies in which Mr. Herrington was personally interested. The instances identified are as follows:

(a) On 3 April 1986, Mr. Herrington transferred US$60,000.00 from the account of Jones Enterprises to that of Chelsea Limited, a company owned by Mr. Herrington. The debit notice issued to Jones Enterprises and the credit notice issued to Chelsea Limited are both made out to cash, although it is believed by Mr. Mitchell that cash was not disbursed or received for the transaction. Mr. Mitchell has pointed out that by documenting the transaction in this way, the recipient of

Mr. Mitchell has pointed out that by documenting the transaction in this way, the recipient of the funds cannot be identified except after a detailed review of all transactions carried out on the date of the debit.

(b) Mr. Mitchell believes that US$10,000.00 was transferred by Mr. Herrington from the account of Whiterose Investments Limited to that of Leonora Investments Limited. Leonora Investments Limited was a company used to fund and transact personal business of Mr. Herrington, and from its accounts, a number of transfers were made to accounts of other companies of Mr. Herrington. The account of Whiterose Investments Limited was debited for this amount on 13 May 1986 and the account of Leonora Investments Limited was credited with the same amount on 14 May 1986. The respective debit and credit advices were both made out to "cash" and both bear the sole signature of Mr. Herrington.

(c) On 17 November 1986, Mr. Herrington transferred US$11,909.00 from the account of J & B Investments Corporation to the account of Ireland Holdings Limited, a company controlled by him. Ireland Holdings Limited was the company through which he purchased his residence at Crossbys and which obtained a finance facility of US$150,000.00 for that purpose. The loan was secured by a mortgage from the company. Following Mr. Herrington's departure from Antigua, the company defaulted on the loan and summary judgement has been entered in favour of the mortgagee. The proceeds of sale of the property are insufficient to satisfy the outstanding debt. There is nothing in the records of SAB identifying the nature of the payment made by Mr. Herrington from J & B Investments Corporation to Ireland Holdings Limited or disclosing the transaction to the Board of Directors of SAB.

12. A series of 22 cash withdrawals were made by Mr. Herrington over the period from June 1986 to June 1987 from accounts of J & B Investments Corporation. The total so drawn amounts to US$141,533.18. The debit advices issued to the company, which served as withdrawal instructions, were made out in manuscript by Mr. Herrington and were signed by him. The stamp and markings appearing on the debit advices show the payment of cash. No documentation was located disclosing the disposition of these cash drawings.

13. The documentation purporting to evidence a deposit with the Defendants by Guardian Bank Limited originated from Mr. Herrington whilst he was the General Manager of the Defendant. In fact Guardian Bank Limited has not itself deposited money with the Defendant. It was only formed as a company on 4 June 1986. Each of its shareholders were themselves incorporated on 22 May 1986. In the period up until 26 May 1987, Mr. Herrington was both the sole director of Guardian Bank Limited and the General Manager of the Defendants. The Defendant does not accept that any sums are owed by it to Guardian Bank Limited. The Statement of Claim does not seek to explain on what grounds it is said that the Defendant is indebted to Guardian Bank Limited. It simply refers to account numbers on documentation which originates from Mr. Herrington when he was also the sole director of Guardian Bank Limited, which he himself had been instrumental in incorporating. Despite persistent inquiries made by the Defendant's auditors and others acting for the Defendant, Mr. Herrington has refused to reveal the identity of any third party from whom funds have been received by the Defendant, which are said by Mr. Herrington to have given rise to indebtedness to Guardian Bank Limited.

Hon. Mr. John E. St. Luce MP
Minister of Finance Ministry of Finance
High Street
St. John's
ANTIGUA

Dear Hon. Minister:

We write to request that you exercise the authority vested in you as Minister of Finance, under the Laws of Antigua and Barbuda, to immediately freeze certain accounts now held in Swiss American Bank Ltd. for reasons which are set out hereunder.

It has been drawn to our attention by authorities in the United States of America and Bermuda that the funds in the aforementioned accounts are believed to have been the proceeds of drug trafficking and sale of firearms for terrorist purposes. In support of this, we attach the following correspondence on a confidential basis:-

- a. Letter dated 13th June, 1990 from U.S. Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation; and
- b. Letter dated 13th June, 1990 from Attorney-General's Chambers, Bermuda.

The accounts in question are the following:-

|                       |                    |
|-----------------------|--------------------|
| 1. Handel Investments | - US$ 92,000.00   |
| 2. Chelsea            | - US$ 20,000.00   |
| 3. J & S              | - US$ 228,000.00  |
| 4. Guardian Bank      | - EC$ 500,000.00  |
| 5. Guardian Bank      | - US$5,580,980.00 |

We also wish to point out that the Registrar of Companies in Anguilla has informed us that the Minister of Finance intends to revoke the licence issued to the Guardian Bank. Attached is the Notice of Intended Revocation signed by the Minister on 6th June, 1990.

Note should be taken that Guardian Bank Ltd. was incorporated in Anguilla in 1986 and its three shareholders are the three offshore companies - Harlequins Ltd., Saracens Ltd. and Hoylake Ltd. - which were incorporated under the International Business Corporations Act 1982 of Antigua and Barbuda. In view of the proposed revocation of the Guardian Bank's licence, it would seem both necessary and appropriate that an investigation be held in Antigua into the shareholder companies in order to determine the course of action which should be taken. In light of such an investigation, the freezing of these accounts would be absolutely necessary.

Hon. Mr. John E. St. Luce MP

We have instructed our legal counsel, Mr. Cordell Sheppard, to prepare a memorandum of the Laws of Antigua and Barbuda under which you are entitled to act as Minister of Finance. This memorandum will be delivered to you on Monday, 18th June, 1990.

In view of the Inquiry, recently set up, we know that you would share our view that it would be unfortunate if Antigua and Barbuda were to be once more linked to dealings which raise questions that might lead to the conclusion that it is involved in facilitating the laundering of funds related to illegal trafficking in drugs and international terrorism.

It is in the circumstances of the above that we request that you urgently instruct us to freeze the accounts referred to herein.

Yours sincerely,

John Greaves

Fraud Enquiry - Guardian Bank Ltd. of Anguilla

This letter will confirm that the Bermuda Police are continuing to investigate the activities of Peter Herrington, the former general manager of Swiss American, in connection with the use of a bank in Bermuda to transfer money on behalf of criminal elements.

The investigation has thus far identified Joseph Paul Murray Jr., presently serving 10 years imprisonment for drug and firearms offences, as having 'laundered' at least US$1.25 million through a Bermuda account.

This money is believed to have been the proceeds of drug trafficking and forms part of Swiss American's deposit into the account of Guardian Bank Ltd. of Anguilla. Murray has also been involved in the exportation of arms from the United States to the Irish Republican Army.

Enquiries are continuing in co-operation with the FBI.

Yours sincerely,

Andre M. Garneau, Q.C.
Acting Attorney General.

Gentlemen:

This is to advise you of an official investigation being conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) concerning alleged money laundering of funds derived from illicit drug trafficking. The subjects of this investigation include Joseph Paul Murray and several of his family members and associates. It is believed that accounts opened at Swiss American Bank by your former Director Peter Harrington and the Guardian Bank were used to facilitate these illegal accounts. This investigation, in addition to the money laundering issue, is attempting to determine the source of funds used to purchase and transport weapons to the Irish Republican Army.

The goals of this investigation are to pursue criminal prosecution of individuals involved in drug trafficking, money laundering, or possible illegal sale of firearms and the civil forfeiture of any illicit funds derived from these illegal activities.

Your assistance and cooperation in this investigation to the fullest extent will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

June 18th 1990

TO: Board of Directors
SWISS AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ANTIGUA

FROM: Cordell B. Sheppard

SUBJECT: GUARDIAN BANK LTD. - FREEZING OF FUNDS

I have been requested by the Board of Directors of Swiss American National Bank of Antigua to give an opinion as to whether or not the funds held by SANB & SAB can be frozen by the Minister of Finance if it can be determined that the said funds are linked to arms smuggling and terrorism.

I understand that the Minister has been supplied with investigative reports from Bermuda which establish such a link, and I base this opinion on the premise that the reports exist and that their contents are true.

Guardian Bank Limited is a company incorporated in June 1986 under the laws of Anguilla, to carry on the business of Banking. It is accepted, for the purposes of this opinion only, that the shareholders of Guardian Bank Ltd. are Sarcens, Hoylake and Harlequins, companies incorporated under the International Business Corporation Act 1982.

Section 230 (1) of the Act states, inter alia, that the licence of any off shore Company must be issued on application, if the appropriate official has no reason to believe that it would be contrary to the public interest to do so.

I am informed that the information now in the hands of the Minister of Finance, who is responsible for administering and policing the Act, suggests that the whole object for setting up the three off shore companies was to hold the shares in Guardian Bank Ltd. and thereby control the funds deposited in the Swiss American Banks in the name of Guardian Bank Ltd.

All the threads of this illegal conspiracy were drawn together by Peter Herrington in Antigua, and Antigua became the financial pivot for the proposed arms smuggling activities of the persons investigated.

If the "appropriate official" mentioned in section 230 [1] above had been aware of these circumstances he would indubitably have refused to licence the companies concerned under Section 230 [1].

The aforesaid Section 230 [1] speaks of the interest of the public as a pre-licensing requirement. It is this writer's view that the public interest would not cease to predominate on the issue of the licence, but must continue to subsist as an operative and positive requirement during the life of the company, the licence of which may be terminated in the interest of the public good.

The duty placed upon the licensing authority to ensure that the public interest is protected, does not dissipate or disappear or lose its virility when the licence is granted. The appropriate official has a continuing duty to ensure that a company operating under the International Business Corporation Act does so in the public interest in accordance with what the Minister perceives this to be.

The reports which have been submitted to the Minister must lead him to the conclusion that the continued existence of Sarcens, Hoylake and Harlequins are not in the public interest, since their very existence is based upon a criminal purpose. The Minister can therefore revoke the companies' charter under Section 236 [1] [b] of the IBC Act, on the ground that those companies are in breach of an implied condition not to act in a manner inimical to the best interests of the State and Citizens of Antigua & Barbuda.

If the Minister uses his powers under this Section, then Guardian Bank Ltd. would be without shareholders, and incapable of corporate existence; it is no longer a bank by virtue of the revocation of its banking licence by the Anguillian authorities, and, the funds held in its accounts by SAND & SAB may properly be declared frozen by Ministerial order, pending proper representation of the true beneficial owners. In the absence of evidence of such beneficial ownership, the funds would escheat to the Crown after a suitable period.

Dear Sir,

I refer to your letter of 15th June, 1990 concerning certain accounts which are held in your bank and which are believed to have been the proceeds of drug trafficking and sale of firearms for terrorist purposes.

You will remember that the accounts in question are as follows:-

INDICTMENT

The Grand Jury charges that:

1. From a date in or before 1983 through a date in or about 1992, the exact dates being unknown to the Grand Jury, in the District of Massachusetts and elsewhere, the defendants

JOSEPH CARDONE and JOHN E. FITZGERALD

along with Joseph P. Murray, Jr., and other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury did constitute an Enterprise within the meaning of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1961(4), that is, a group of individuals associated in fact which engaged in various criminal activities, consisting of acts indictable under Title 18, United States Code, Section 1952 (relating to interstate travel in aid of racketeering), Section 1956 (relating to the laundering of monetary instruments), Section 1957 (relating to engaging in monetary transactions in property derived from specified unlawful activity), under Title 21, United States Code, Section 841 (relating to the possession with intent to distribute and the distribution of controlled substances), Section 846 (relating to conspiracy to violate controlled substances laws), and under Title 31, United States Code, Section 5324 (relating to evading currency reporting requirements), and Sections 5316 and 5322 (relating to the international transportation of currency or monetary instruments).

The Racketeering Conspiracy

2. From a date in or before 1983 through a date in or about 1992, the exact dates being unknown to the Grand Jury, in the District of Massachusetts and elsewhere, the defendants along with Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, being employed by and associated with the Enterprise described in paragraph 1 of this Count, did unlawfully, wilfully and knowingly combine, conspire, confederate and agree together with each other, with Joseph P. Purposes of the Conspiracy

JOSEPH CARDONE and JOHN E. FITZGERALD

3. It was part of the conspiracy that JOSEPH CARDONE and Joseph P. Murray, Jr., and others would engage in the possession with intent to distribute and distribution of narcotics.

The Acts of Racketeering

7. The pattern of racketeering activity, as defined by Title 18, United States Code, Section 1961(1), through which the defendants conducted and participated in the conduct of the affairs of the Enterprise, and conspired to do so, consisted of the following acts:

A.
Racketeering Acts Involving the Possession with Intent to Distribute and Distribution of Controlled Substances

Racketeering Act A-1

From in or before early 1984 through in or about late 1984, in the District of Massachusetts, JOSEPH CARDONE did knowingly and willfully combine, conspire, confederate and agree with Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, to possess with intent to distribute and to distribute a quantity of cocaine, a Schedule II Controlled Substance, in violation of Title 21, United States Code, Section 841(a)(1).

b, or both, of sub-paragraph B-4, or of sub-paragraph D-9, constituting one act of racketeering.

Overt Acts of the Racketeering Conspiracy

9. In furtherance of the racketeering conspiracy and to effect the objects thereof, the defendants and their coconspirators committed the following overt acts, among others, in the District of Massachusetts and elsewhere:

(a) In approximately 1979, two individuals went into business with Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and another coconspirator, importing shiploads of marijuana into the Boston area from Columbia.

(b) From approximately 1979 through 1983, one individual purchased approximately 12 tons of marijuana from Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and his associates.

(c) Beginning in 1981 and continuing through early 1983, two other individuals purchased over $3,000,000 of marijuana from Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and his associates. One of these individuals was told by Joseph P. Murray, Jr. that the Murray organization smuggled ship loads of marijuana into the Boston area by off-loading ships at sea and transferring the loads onto trucks once the off-load ships docked.

(d) On April 6, 1983, Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s brother, Michael F. Murray, and others were in possession of over 11 tons of marijuana secreted inside a warehouse in South Boston.

(e) During the summer of 1983, for the purpose of obtaining the assistance of JOSEPH CARDONE in the marijuana business, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. told CARDONE that he imported marijuana into the Boston area by meeting ships at sea with approximately 20 individuals who would off-load marijuana from the mother ship and return with the marijuana to the coast where the marijuana would be loaded onto trucks. Joseph P. Murray, Jr. informed JOSEPH CARDONE that each "off-loader" would be paid approximately $20,000 per load. JOSEPH CARDONE told Joseph P. Murray, Jr. that he would be interested in such work.

(f) During 1984, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. sold approximately sixteen kilograms of cocaine to JOSEPH CARDONE for $50,000 per kilo.

(g) In 1984, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. told a coconspirator that during 1980-1984 his smuggling operation had brought in twenty-three shiploads of marijuana into Boston with only one lost load.

(h) In the late summer of 1984, JOSEPH CARDONE agreed to operate a marine salvage business, "Commercial Marine Exchange, Inc." as a front for Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s smuggling of ships loaded with marijuana.

(i) On approximately November 16, 1984, the "Ramsland," a 200 foot freighter with over 36 tons of marijuana secreted under gravel ballast, and the first ship scheduled to utilize the cover of Commercial Marine Exchange, arrived in Boston harbor.

(j) Sometime in 1983 or 1984, one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators told JOSEPH CARDONE that Joseph P. Murray, Jr. had made approximately five to six million dollars through trafficking in narcotics.

(j) In early 1985, acting on the instructions of one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators, JOHN E. FITZGERALD established a St. Lucian corporation named "Halcyon Days Investments, Ltd." and opened a bank account at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on St. Lucia in the corporation's name.

(k) In January or February of 1985, in Boston, Massachusetts, a coconspirator gave JOHN E. FITZGERALD $100,000 in cash to deposit into the Halcyon Days account at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on St. Lucia.

(l) Between approximately January and March of 1985, at one of Joseph P. Murray Jr.'s coconspirator's direction, JOHN E. FITZGERALD and others deposited approximately $3,000,000 into the Halcyon Days account at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on St. Lucia.

(m) In approximately May of 1985, acting at the direction of this same coconspirator, JOHN E. FITZGERALD closed the Halcyon Days account at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on St. Lucia and provided the proceeds of the account, which totalled $3,000,000 plus interest, in the form of a bank check issued to Guinness Bank to another individual, who informed JOHN E. FITZGERALD that the money was being taken to the Cayman Islands.

(n) On September 25, 1985, in Boston, Massachusetts, a coconspirator gave $50,000 in cash to JOHN E. FITZGERALD to take to Antigua.

(o) On September 27, 1985, JOHN E. FITZGERALD incorporated "Rosebud Investments Ltd." in Antigua and opened an account in the corporation's name at the Swiss American Bank in Antigua with the $50,000 provided by one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators.

(p) At the direction of one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators, on October 7, 1985, JOHN E. FITZGERALD travelled from Massachusetts to Bermuda and met an man and a woman at a hotel who gave JOHN E. FITZGERALD approximately $460,000 in cash. FITZGERALD caused the cash, along with $252,000 in the form of time deposit slips issued to another individual, to be deposited into the Swiss American Bank in Antigua via the Bank of Bermuda.

(q) In October of 1985, in Boston, Massachusetts, one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators informed JOHN E. FITZGERALD that $5,000,000 would be wire transferred to the Swiss American Bank and that another corporation with an account at the Swiss American Bank should be formed and the money divided equally between the two accounts.

(r) On October 31, 1985, a wire transfer of $5,000,000 to the Swiss American Bank was initiated.

(s) In November of 1985, JOHN E. FITZGERALD met one of the coconspirators in Boston, Massachusetts. The individual gave two $125,000 checks made out to cash as well as $200,000 in cash to JOHN E. FITZGERALD to transport to Antigua and deposit into the Swiss American Bank account. The two $125,000 checks were deposited into the Rosebud account at the Swiss American Bank on November 5, 1985. The following day, the $200,000 in cash was deposited into the same account.

(t) On November 6, 1985, JOHN E. FITZGERALD incorporated "White Rose Investments Ltd." in Antigua and opened an account in the corporation's name at the Swiss American Bank.

(u) On November 11, 1985, the funds from the wire transfer which originated on October 31, 1985 were deposited into the Swiss American Bank accounts as follows: $2,500,000 into the Rosebud account and $2,500,000 into the White Rose account.

(v) On November 17, 1985, after receiving an additional $200,000 in cash from a coconspirator in Boston, Massachusetts, JOHN E. FITZGERALD transported the money to Antigua and deposited it into the Rosebud account at the Swiss American Bank.

(w) On November 18, 1985, acting on the instructions of one of Joseph P. Murray's coconspirators, JOHN E. FITZGERALD incorporated "Handel Investments Ltd." in Antigua and opened an account in the corporation's name at the Swiss American Bank.

(x) On December 17, 1985, after receiving $300,000 in cash from Joseph P. Murray, Jr. in Boston, Massachusetts, JOHN E. FITZGERALD transported the money to Antigua and deposited it into the Rosebud account in the Swiss American Bank.

(y) On June 4, 1986, JOHN E. FITZGERALD caused the "Guardian Bank, Ltd." to be incorporated in Anguilla and an account opened in its name at both the Swiss American Bank and Swiss American National Bank.

(z) Between June and September of 1986, the money which was held in the Rosebud and White Rose accounts was gradually transferred to the Guardian Bank accounts at both the Swiss American Bank and Swiss American National Bank.

(aa) On June 9, 1986, "J & B Investments Corp." was incorporated at JOHN E. FITZGERALD'S request in Antigua and a corporate account at the Swiss American Bank was opened in its name. A portion of the monies from the Rosebud and White Rose accounts was transferred into this account.

(bb) From June 1986 through June 1987, the bulk of the money held in the Swiss American Bank and Swiss American National Bank was continually reinvested in certificates of deposit upon the instruction of JOHN E. FITZGERALD.

(cc) In July of 1987, approximately one month after the Swiss American Bank and the Swiss American National Bank placed a hold on the money preventing their transfer or withdrawal, one of the coconspirators telephoned JOHN E. FITZGERALD and told him to leave the island of Antigua.

(dd) On March 28, 1989, Joseph P. Murray Jr. and his coconspirators, in the name of the Guardian Bank Ltd., filed suit against the Swiss American National Bank of Antigua in the High Court of Antigua and Barbuda, seeking the release of funds held in SANBANK accounts 132731 and 132732, held in the name of the Guardian Bank Ltd.

(ee) On the instruction of one of Joseph P. Murray, Jr.'s coconspirators, JOHN E. FITZGERALD travelled on approximately four occasions to Antigua in connection with the litigation pending between the Swiss American National Bank and the Guardian Bank Ltd. On one of these occasions, December 7, 1989, JOHN E. FITZGERALD executed an affidavit in Antigua to be filed on behalf of the plaintiff in the lawsuit, the Guardian Bank Ltd. for the purpose of securing the release of the money to Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and his coconspirators.

(ff) In approximately January of 1990, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. gave approximately twenty-eight pounds of marijuana to JOSEPH CARDONE to sell.

(gg) In March of 1990, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. gave to JOSEPH CARDONE one hundred thousand dollars in cash ($100,000).

(hh) On March 25, 1991, in Warwick, Rhode Island, Thomas Murray, an associate of Joseph P. Murray, Jr., stated, during a narcotics transaction financed by Joseph P. Murray, Jr. and in order to assure the supplier of the marijuana to be purchased that the Murray organization had the necessary funds to complete future large scale purchases, that seven years earlier Joseph P. Murray had put eight million dollars in the Caribbean.

(ii) On March 26, 1991, Joseph P. Murray, Jr., along with other individuals, attempted to purchase over five hundred pounds of marijuana for over four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000) in Warwick, Rhode Island.

(jj) In March of 1991, Joseph P. Murray, Jr. purchased 23 Country Club Road, Melrose, Massachusetts for three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000). JOSEPH CARDONE converted twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) in cash which he obtained from Joseph P. Murray, Jr. into a treasurer's check to be used as part of the purchase price of the residence.

All in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1962(d).

Re: United States v. John E. Fitzgerald
Criminal Number: 93-10149 Z

Dear Ms. Hassett:

This letter sets forth the agreement entered into between the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts (the "U.S. Attorney") and your client, John E. Fitzgerald, ("Defendant") in the above-captioned case. This agreement specifically incorporates the letter of agreement executed by your client on December 3, 1992, which is attached hereto. The agreement is as follows:

1. Change of Plea

On or before August 17, 1993, John E. Fitzgerald will plead guilty to Counts One and Three of the above-captioned Indictment.

2. Penalties

The defendant faces a maximum penalty of 20 years' incarceration and a fine of up to $250,000 on Count One (18 U.S.C. §1962(d)) and a maximum penalty of 10 years' incarceration and a fine of up to $250,000 on Count Three (18 U.S.C. §1957).

3. Sentencing Guidelines

The parties will both take the following position at sentencing with regard to offense conduct, adjustments and criminal history under the United States Sentencing Guidelines:

The offense conduct is governed by U.S.S.G. §2E1.1 (RICO), which, in this case, is governed by the offense level applicable to the underlying racketeering activity - Laundering of Monetary Instruments. The base offense level for this conduct is 23 (U.S.S.G. §2S1.1(a)(1)). Because the value of the funds exceeded $6 million, the offense level should be increased by 8 (U.S.S.G. §2S1.1(b)(2)). This results in an offense level 31.

The base offense level should be decreased by 2 levels due to the defendant's minor participation in the charged criminal activity. (U.S.S.G. §3B1.2(b)).

The base offense level should be further decreased by 3 levels due to the defendant's acceptance of responsibility. (U.S.S.G. §3E1.1(a) and (b)(1)).

Based upon presently available information, the defendant's criminal history category is I.

Based upon an offense level of 26 and a criminal history category I, the resulting guideline range is 63-78 months. The possible term of supervised release is at least 2 years but not more than 3 years (U.S.S.G. §5D1.2(b)(2)). For an offense level 26, the minimum fine is $12,500; the maximum fine is $125,000 (U.S.S.G. §5E1.2(c)(3)). The special assessment is $100 (U.S.S.G. §5E1.3).

Nothing herein shall be construed to limit the right of either party to appeal the sentence pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §3742.

4. Cooperation

a. Terms of Cooperation

The defendant will continue to cooperate fully with law enforcement agents and government attorneys as set forth in the letter of agreement, executed on December 3, 1992.

b. Substantial Assistance Motion

In the event that the defendant provides substantial assistance to the government, the U.S. Attorney agrees that, at or before the time of sentencing, the government will make or file a motion under 18 U.S.C. §3553(e) and U.S.S.G. §5K1.1, disclosing to the sentencing court the nature and extent of his assistance to the government so that the sentencing court will have the authority to impose a sentence below that which otherwise would be required under the Sentencing Guidelines and the relevant statutes. Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §3553(e) and U.S.S.G. §5K1.1, a sentencing court may, but is not required to, impose a sentence below that which otherwise would be required, in order to recognize a defendant's substantial assistance to the government in the investigation and prosecution of another individual or individuals. The determination whether your client has provided substantial assistance to the government rests solely in the discretion of the U.S. Attorney and is not subject to appeal or review.

c. Sentence Recommendation with Substantial Assistance

In the event that the defendant provides substantial assistance to the government, subject to all the provisions of the letter of agreement executed on December 3, 1992 and paragraph 3(b) above, the U.S. Attorney will advise the sentencing judge of the full nature, extent and value of the cooperation provided to the government.

The U.S. Attorney will also recommend the following sentence:

A five year term of probation which includes a condition of probation requiring the defendant to continue to assist the United States in the recovery of the forfeited assets listed below in paragraph 6.

Waiver of the mandatory fine.

Imposition of the $100 special assessment.

d. Letter Immunity

In return for the defendant's full and truthful cooperation, the U.S. Attorney agrees not to use any information provided by the defendant after his plea of guilty and pursuant to this agreement (or any information directly or indirectly derived therefrom) against the defendant in any criminal case except in a prosecution for perjury or obstruction of justice, or for making a false statement after the date of this agreement.

If the U.S. Attorney determines that the defendant has made any false, incomplete or misleading statement to any law enforcement personnel, grand jury or court, the U.S. Attorney may terminate this agreement, and may also prosecute the defendant for any and all offenses that could be charged against him in the District of Massachusetts, including but not limited to false statements and perjury. Furthermore, the defendant fully understands that should he breach any provision of this agreement, the government will have the right to use against the defendant at any trial, hearing or for sentencing purposes, any statements made by him, and any information, materials, documents, or objects provided by him to the government pursuant to this agreement, without any limitation.

5. Court Not Bound by Agreement

The sentencing recommendations made by the parties and their respective calculations under the Sentencing Guidelines are not binding upon the United States Probation Department or the sentencing judge. Within the maximum sentence which the defendant faces under the applicable law, the sentence to be imposed is within the sole discretion of the sentencing judge. The defendant's plea will be tendered pursuant to Fed. R. Crim. P. 11(e)(1)(B). The defendant may not withdraw his plea of guilty regardless of what sentence is imposed. Nor may the defendant withdraw his plea because the United States Probation Department or the sentencing judge declines to follow the Sentencing Guidelines calculations or recommendations of the parties.

6. Forfeiture

The defendant agrees to forfeit to the United States the following property:

The proceeds [of the conduct charged in paragraph 8 of Count One of the indictment to which the defendant is agreeing to plead guilty in paragraph 1 of this agreement] and property, namely the funds which were deposited into the Swiss American Bank, Ltd. and Swiss American National Bank in St. Johns, Antigua during the period September 1985 through June 23, 1987, plus any interest which has accrued since that time, into any accounts (including, without limitation, certificates of deposit thereon) held in the name of Rosebud Investments, Ltd., White Rose Investments, Ltd., Handel Investments, Ltd., J & B Investments Corp., and Guardian Bank, Ltd.

The defendant agrees to facilitate the forfeiture and transfer to the United States of all forfeitable property by taking any and all steps deemed necessary by the U.S. Attorney or the U.S. Marshals Service to pass clear title in those assets to the United States as soon as requested by the U.S. Attorney or the United States Marshals Service. The defendant also agrees to fully assist the government in the recovery of any and all domestic and foreign assets which are subject to forfeiture to the United States.

7. Civil Liability

The U.S. Attorney by entering into this agreement does not compromise any civil liability the defendant may have incurred or may incur as a result of his conduct and his plea of guilty to the charges specified in paragraph One of this agreement, including but not limited to any tax liability.

8. Rejection of Plea by Court

Should the defendant's guilty plea not be accepted by the Court for whatever reason, or later be withdrawn on motion of the defendant, this agreement shall be null and void at the option of the United States. In this regard, the defendant hereby waives any defense to any charges which he might otherwise have under any statute of limitation or the Speedy Trial Act.

9. Breach of Agreement

If the U.S. Attorney determines that the defendant has failed to comply with any provision of this agreement, the U.S. Attorney shall be released from his commitments under this agreement by notifying the defendant in writing. The defendant recognizes that no such breach by him of an obligation under this agreement shall give rise to grounds for withdrawal of his guilty plea.

10. Who is Bound by Agreement

This agreement is limited to the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, and cannot bind the Attorney General of the United States or any other federal, state or local prosecutive authorities.

11. Complete Agreement

This agreement (as it incorporates the letter of agreement signed by your client on December 3, 1992) is the complete and only agreement between the parties. No promises, agreements or conditions have been entered into other than those set forth in this letter (except as incorporated by the December 3, 1992 letter of agreement). This agreement supersedes prior understandings, if any, of the parties whether written or oral. This agreement cannot be modified other than in a written memorandum signed by the parties or on the record in court.

If this letter accurately reflects the agreement entered into between the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts and the defendant, please have the defendant sign the Acknowledgment of Plea Agreement below. Please also sign below as witness. Return the original of this letter to Assistant U.S. Attorney Gregg L. Sullivan.

| Luego del Estecio Tagula, el sistema financiero local ha evidenciado una recuperación que llevó al mercado financiero a experimentar cambios radicales. La cantidad de players cayó en aproximadamente un 20 % y los top players fueron claros ganadores mediante el denominado fly to quality process. Todos los indicadores macroeconómicos nos facilitan muestras claras de esta recuperación entre Dic 95 y Dic 96: el PBI creció en un 5.28%, los préstamos un 10 % y la mora neta sobre éstos disminuyó prácticamente en un 5%. Durante 1997 estos índices han mantenido su tendencia creciente, y es por este motivo que se han fusionado bancos locales, en la Argentina y en la región con bancos extranjeros como el Santander, Hong Kong Shanghai, Bilbao Vizcaya y el Nova Scotia. Se espera un crecimiento importante en la tasa de bancarización, dado a una mayor competitividad que generará menores spreads, pero que igualmente generará rentabilidad respecto al resto de otras regiones. |                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                             |                                                                 |                          |                         |         |         |        |         |         |        |         |        |        |           |        |        |            |        |        |

| Market / Industry Issues:After the Tequila Effect, the local financial system showed a recovery that caused radical changes in the financial market. The number of players decreased by approximately 20% and the top players were clear winners through the so-called fly to quality process. All macroeconomic indicators show clear signs of this recovery between December '95 and December '96: the Gross Domestic Product increased by 5.28%, loans by 10%, and the net arrears on these decreased by nearly 5%. During 1997 these indices maintained their growth trend, and it is for this reason that local banks have merged, in Argentina and in the region, with foreign banks such as Santander, Hong Kong Shanghai, Bilbao Vizcaya, and Nova Scotia. Significant growth is expected in the rate of bank usage, tied to greater competitiveness which will generate smaller spreads, but which also generate[s] profitability with respect to the other regions. |                            |                                                                                                                           |  |                                                               |                                                            |                                   |                     |                            |                                |

Business Strategy:

Citibank has had a business relationship with this client since 1989. Until late 1994 / early 1995, they had granted them lines of credit, selling them cash management services. During the Tequila crisis, the lines with this client were discontinued, and the situation has not changed. At the current time, MA uses only the bank's International Cash Management service.

Mercado Abierto S.A.: Is an agent of Mercado Abierto and specializes in the purchase and sale of public securities, but its strategy in recent years has been principally as an Assets Management company handling approximately $400 million. They have recently created three common investment funds:

- 1) Fondo Fondagro: Direct investment fund whose objectives were the planting, harvesting, and sale of cotton, corn, and soy during the 97/98 season; approximately $2 million.
- 2) Fondo Provincial y Municipal: an investment fund comprised exclusively of provincial and municipal securities, with a net worth of approximately $2.3 million.
- 3) Fondo Mercosur: mixed payout investment fund consisting of public securities, shares, negotiable obligations, options, and futures.

Moreover, they are creating a financial trusteeship with the objective of financing construction projects in various areas of the Federal Capital. It has a significant private banking [component] that participates in its common investment funds. At the same time, it maintains good business relationships with PyMEs [TR.: an acronym for "small and medium-sized businesses"], which participate in the common investment funds.<sup>1</sup>

Moreover, MA owns:

M.A. Casa de Cambio: Created only for internal purposes of its own operations. It has no customer service in general (it does not have counter service on the street), it is only used for currency exchange transactions with its clients.

M.A. Bank: An offshore bank in the Cayman Islands. They use it to ensure that the group's clients will have direct access to the international financial market. It also offers foreign investors participation in local investment funds. It operates actively in the NYSE and in CBT [TR.: probably the Chicago Board of Trade].

M.A. Capital Markets: The branch of the group in charge of the investment bank. It has assumed the role of Lead Manager in the issuance of ON [TR.: probably "negotiable obligations"] under the PyMEs system for companies of this size.

Deloitte & Touche S.A. is in charge of auditing all these vehicles.

Administrative management and representation of the Common Investment Funds is the responsibility of a company known as "Mercofond Sociedad Gerente de Fondos Comunes de Inversión S.A.," and they have established a company to take care of these funds: "Custodia Sociedad Depositaria de Fondos Comunes de Inversión S.A."

History:

Mercado Abierto was established in 1983. It is an open market agent, specializes in the purchase and sale of public securities, and is one of the most important brokers in the market. At the current time its principal activity is Asset Management; it has created various common investment funds. It was previously the majority and minority underwriter in the privatization of telephone companies and YPF.

Key Subs:

M.A. Valores S.A.
M.A. Capital Markets
M.A. Bank Limited
M.A. Casa de Cambio
Fondo Mercosur

S.W.O.T. Analysis

Strengths:

- Very good knowledge of the local market
- Good level of management
- Very good primary distribution at the local level
- Market niches through distribution and trading of provincial funds

Weaknesses:

- Arrival of large foreign funds in the local market

Opportunities:

- Creation of niches through its management of the local market

Threats:

- High levels of competition, decrease of spreads.

  - Transactions that are inconsistent with the normal activity of a particular customer.
4. Considerations to be taken when analysing suspicious transactions
- Just because a transaction appears on the list does not mean that it involves illicit activities; it only means that the transaction requires closer scrutiny.
  - Many of these activities are suspicious only because they are inconsistent with the normal customer behaviour.
  - Many such transactions will be found, upon closer examination, to result from legitimate business activity.
  - Reporting to the relevant authority is mandatory when, upon a closer scrutiny of the customer and its transactions, the managers and / or directors are not completely assured about its legality.

COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON, DC 20510-6250

March 31, 2000

Ms. Mariela Caravetta, Esquire
6325 Van Nuys Blvd., Suite 205
Van Nuys, CA 91401

via mail and facsimile: 818-902-9978

Dear Mr. Caravetta:

The U.S. Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations is conducting an investigation, at my request, into money laundering activities which make use of services provided by financial institutions operating in the United States. The current phase of the investigation is an examination of correspondent banking services and anti-money laundering safeguards in the correspondent banking field.

Public pleadings in a civil forfeiture case, United States v. $1,830,708.57 in US Currency, indicate that the United States has frozen, as allegedly illegal narcotics proceeds, approximately $1.8 million located in two Citibank correspondent bank accounts belonging to your clients, M.A. Bank, Limited ("M.A. Bank") and M.A. Casa de Cambio, S.A. ("M.A. Casa de Cambio"). It would greatly assist the Subcommittee's understanding of this matter if the minority staff could interview representatives of M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio and obtain some documents and information related to the operation of their organizations and the alleged money laundering that occurred through their Citibank accounts. This would also enable M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio to present their perspectives on these matters. However, I recognize that such an interview would necessitate travel and other arrangements that could be burdensome to all parties. Therefore, as an alternative that will ensure the Subcommittee receives the information that it needs and that M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio can present their perspectives on these matters in a convenient manner, I am submitting a list of written questions and requests for information. RE: U.S. vs. $1,830,708.57 in U.S. Currency

Dear Honorable Susan Collins:

Please be advised that this office now represents M.A. Bank, Limited ("M.A. Bank") and M.A. Casa de Cambio, S.A. ("M.A. Casa de Cambio"). I am in receipt of your letter of March 31, 2000.

I am not in a position to address your inquiries at this time. I have just been retained on this case, which has been on going for several years. Obviously, I am just now learning about the facts, and as I am sure you are aware this is a complex case which cannot be mastered in a moment's time.

I will be meeting with my clients face to face in the very near future and I will continue in my efforts to review the extensive materials. I will write you again when I learned the facts of this case. Obviously I cannot comply with your April 26, 2000 deadline.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sr. Gutfraind:

The U.S. Senate Governmental Affairs Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations is conducting an investigation at my request into correspondent banking by financial institutions operating in the United States. In the course of this investigation we have been reviewing a number of correspondent relationships Citibank has had with foreign and offshore banks. M. A. Bank has come to our attention as one such bank, and we have a few questions we hope you will be able to answer for us.

We understand from the work we have done thus far that M.A. Bank is licensed in the Cayman Islands but does not have a physical presence there. We have also been told that although M.A. Bank services Argentine clients, it does not have a license or physical presence in Argentina, either. Reference has been made to an administrative office of M.A. Bank in care of your office in Montevideo, and that is why we are writing to you at this address. To increase the Subcommittee's understanding of Elenberg y Asociados' relationship with M.A. Bank and M.A. Bank's correspondent relationship with Citibank, I would appreciate your providing the following information by October 6, 2000.

1. Please tell us what relationship M.A. Bank has with Elenberg y Asociados, including a description of the services Elenberg y Asociados performs or has performed and the time period of any such relationship.
2. Please list each location M.A. Bank or any of its legal representatives or subsidiaries has in Uruguay. For each location, please describe the activities that are conducted at such location and tell us whether the location is in an office or a house or apartment, whether customers can and do physically present themselves at the location and conduct their banking business there in person, how many employees work at the location, and whether M.A. Bank is licensed to do business in Uruguay.

Mr. Jorge Gutfraind

3. If not addressed in response to questions 1 or 2 above, please identify any entity in Uruguay that performs "back office" functions such as managing, monitoring, or preparing reports or statements on client accounts for M.A. Bank. For any such entity, please provide its address, telephone number and number of employees.

This letter is intended to provide Elenberg y Asociados with the opportunity to present to the Subcommittee this and any other information that it believes would lead to a more accurate understanding of Elenberg y Asociados' relationship with M.A. Bank and M.A. Bank's correspondent relationship with Citibank. Please send your written response to Robert Roach, Counsel the Minority, Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, 193 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510, or fax the response to the attention of Mr. Roach at (202) 224-1972. If you have any questions or would like to discuss this request by phone, Mr. Roach can be reached in Washington at (202) 224-9505.

Thank you for your assistance.

Dear Cr. Gutfraind:

Thank you for your response to the inquiries made to you by Senator Levin on September 15, 2000. The information contained in your letter is helpful to the Subcommittee's investigation. However, there are a few questions that have arisen as a result of your responses and I ask that you clarify the following points to make sure that the staff correctly understands your answers to the questions submitted by Senator Levin:

1. With respect to your answer #1, is it your understanding that M.A. Bank itself is subject to inspection, registration and supervision by the Central Bank of Argentina? It is the understanding of the Subcommittee staff that since M.A. Bank is not licensed in Argentina, it is not permitted to operate in Argentina and is not subject to inspection, registration or supervision by the Central Bank of Argentina.
2. Your answers to questions 4, 5 and 6 detail your firm's complete relationship with M.A. Bank and list all of the services that the firm performs for, and on behalf of, M.A. Bank. Is that correct?
3. Based on your answers, you are not aware of any location that M.A. Bank or any of its legal representatives or subsidiaries has in Uruguay, other than the office of Elenberg - Gutfraind & Asoc. Is that correct?
4. Based on your answers, you are not aware of any entity in Uruguay that performs "back office" functions such as managing, monitoring, or preparing reports or statements on client accounts for M.A. Bank. Is that correct?

Your response to these follow up questions will ensure that we correctly interpret the information you have submitted to us. It would be most helpful if you could provide responses to these questions by October 24, 2000. As with your previous communication, please send your

b. Citibank New York account number 36111386 (see paragraph 2(d) of this affidavit) received a total of $7,768,649 since August 1997. The following is a chronological listing of wire transfers of laundered funds sent to this account from the UC Operation<sup>12</sup>:

<sup>12</sup> While the number of this account remained the same throughout the investigation, the name on the account did not. Originally "M.A. Bank LTD.," the name was changed to "Junquera S.A." sometime between August 22, 1997, and October 24, 1997. On February 20, 1998, CRIL gave me a copy of a facsimile transmission that he had received from ALVAREZ-TOSTADO containing a listing of account holder names to use with this account number. After a money pick up, either ALCALA-NAVARRO or ALVAREZ-TOSTADO contacts CRIL with instructions as to what name to use when sending the laundered funds. The UC Operation sent laundered funds to this account number on the listed dates and under the listed names.

8 PROBABLE CAUSE FOR FORFEITURE

9 The Investigation of the Juarez Cartel

10 8. In 1995, the United States Customs Service ("USCS")
11 commenced an undercover investigation focusing on the large-scale
12 laundering of illicit drug proceeds by, among others, a drug 13 cartel in Mexico now known as the "Juarez Cartel." The 14 Undercover Operation ("UC Operation") was established as a full-15 service money laundering operation conducted by the Organized
16 Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force ("OCDEF Group"). The UC
17 Operation was to conduct "money pick-ups" and then launder the 18 currency.

19 9. A "money pick-up" occurs when undercover government 20 agents posing as illicit money brokers agree, for a fee, to 21 receive large amounts of U.S. currency from drug traffickers for 22 the purpose of laundering the funds and returning them to the 23 narcotics trafficker. The operation described herein included
24 investigations into the organizational management of drug
25 trafficking cartels and the corporate facilitators who support
26 their illicit business.

1           10. A substantial portion of the investigation focused on 2 the narcotics trafficking and money laundering activities of 3 Victor Manuel Alcala-Navarro ("Alcala-Navarro").

4           11. In November 1995, a confidential reliable informant,
5 "Martinez", acting in an undercover capacity as a money
6 launderer, offered to launder narcotics trafficking proceeds by 7 accepting currency and placing it into the banking system.
8 Martinez was told by a Colombian money broker operating in Cali, 9 Colombia, that Martinez should expect a page from someone in 10 Chicago, Illinois using "code 26" as identification. The broker 11 told Martinez that the person using "code 26" needed someone to 12 launder approximately one million dollars derived from the sale
13 of narcotics. Martinez did receive such a page and set up a 14 meeting with the man using the code. The man was later
15 identified as Alcala-Navarro.

16           12. OCDETF Task Force Officer Sergeant John Ortega
17 ("Sergeant Ortega") attended a meeting with Martinez and Alcala-
18 Navarro on November 28, 1995 in a hotel room in Aurora, Illinois.
19 During the meeting, Alcala-Navarro gave Sergeant Ortega two 20 suitcases containing approximately $1,100,299.00 in United States
21 Currency. Alcala-Navarro told Sergeant Ortega that he worked 22 with a narcotics smuggler in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico whom he 23 referred to as "Senor Ford," and that he and Senor Ford worked 24 for Amado Carrillo-Fuentes ("Carrillo-Fuentes"). Carrillo-
25 Fuentes was a major narcotics kingpin and one of the most wanted
26 men in the world. Carrillo-Fuentes reportedly died in 1996
27 during a botched plastic surgery operation. One of his

1 lieutenants, Jose Alvarez-Tostado, is believed to have taken over
2 the money laundering functions. Alcala-Navarro also said that 3 his organization was expecting a large shipment of cocaine into 4 the Chicago area, and that his group was selling kilograms of 5 cocaine in Chicago for $28,000 per kilogram. According to 6 Alcala-Navarro, there were currently 50 tons of cocaine staged in 7 Ciudad Juarez intended for future distribution in the United 8 States. Alcala-Navarro also said that he was the person who 9 arranged the export of the proceeds of cocaine sales out of the 10 United States and into Mexico for the Juarez Cartel.

11 13. On July 15, 1996, Martinez met with Alcala-Navarro, who 12 stated that his friends in Guadalajara, Mexico had sent 220
13 kilograms of cocaine to Chicago the prior week. Alcala-Navarro
14 told Martinez that his organization operated and distributed 15 cocaine in Los Angeles, Chicago, and Houston, Texas. Later on 16 the 15th, Sergeant Ortega, acting in an undercover capacity, met
17 with Alcala-Navarro and Martinez. During this meeting Martinez
18 and Sergeant Ortega offered Alcala-Navarro money laundering and 19 narcotics transportation services. Alcala-Navarro said that 20 several weeks prior to the meeting he had received approximately 21 2.5 tons of cocaine in Los Angeles and that, after the Juarez
22 Cartel sold the cocaine, he had arranged to launder approximately 23 $24 million in currency in Mexico.

24 14. In a meeting of July 16, 1996 between Alcala-Navarro,
25 Martinez, and Sergeant Ortega, Alcala-Navarro told Sergeant
26 Ortega that the Juarez Cartel could guarantee narcotics shipments 27 from Cancun, Mexico to the United States border. However, the 28

1 guarantee did not apply once the narcotics crossed into the 2 United States.

6 Chicago Pick-Ups

7 15. A substantial part of Alcala-Navarro's work for the 8 Juarez Cartel was the laundering of drug proceeds in Chicago.
9 Toward that end, Alcala-Navarro routinely contacted Martinez and 10 requested that UC operatives pick up large amounts of narcotics
11 proceeds in Chicago for laundering purposes. Alcala-Navarro
12 represented himself to the UC Operation as the person responsible 13 for the export of cash proceeds of the Juarez Cartel's cocaine
14 sales from the United States to Mexico.

15 16. Alcala-Navarro contacted Martinez on numerous occasions 16 between May 1997 and May 1988 to arrange for the UC Operation to 17 pick up and launder large amounts of U.S. currency earned from 18 the sale of narcotics in Chicago.<sup>1</sup> The following is a listing of 19 the amount of narcotics proceeds picked up by USCS operatives for 20 laundering purposes and the dates of the pick-ups:

21 1. $ 999,939 (5/6/97)

22
23 <sup>1</sup> As described in the paragraphs above, Alcala-Navarro said
24 that the money picked up by the UC Operation came from the sale
25 of cocaine. On January 5, 1998, as a result of follow up
26 investigations conducted from these pick ups, approximately 374
27 kilograms of cocaine were seized in a house in Chicago. In a 28 separate incident (also related to follow up investigations conducted subsequent to Chicago pick ups), approximately 94 kilograms of cocaine were discovered in a residence in Berwyn, Illinois, on February 3, 1998.

Transfers To The Subject Accounts

17. The following is a list of transactions in which the UC Operation transferred Juarez Cartel funds to the accounts from which the defendant funds were seized. The UC Operation received instructions as to where to send the funds from Martinez, who was given the instructions by either Alcala-Navarro or Alvarez-Tostado. Because these transactions involved known narcotics proceeds and were undertaken for the purpose of concealing or disguising the nature, source, location, ownership and control of said proceeds, the funds involved in those transactions were subject to forfeiture pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1)(A) and (b). While the funds that were seized (the defendant funds) are not the actual funds initially wired, they are nevertheless subject to forfeiture pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 984(b)(1)(B) as monies found in the same account as the property involved in the offense that is the basis for the forfeiture.

- a. Citibank New York account number 36137631 in the name of M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. received a total of $3,983,650.00. The following is a chronological listing of wire transfers of drug proceeds sent to this account from the UC Operation<sup>2</sup>:

<sup>2</sup> In the instructions given to the UC Operation concerning this account, the account number remained the same throughout the investigation. However, the instructions eventually changed with respect to the name in which the account was supposedly held (the instructions began referring the account as to "Cambio Garcia Navarro Ramaglio" sometime between August 22, 1997, and October 24, 1997). In fact, the actual account remained in the name of M.A. Casa de Cambio at all times.

The Argentine Conspiracy

1 18. During 1997, a real estate agent in Argentina named
2 Nicolas Di Tullio became acquainted with Jorge Iniguez
3 ("Iniguez") and Jaime Martinez-Ayon ("Martinez-Ayon") who, on 4 information and belief, asked for Di Tullio's help in purchasing 5 real estate in Argentina with drug proceeds earned in the United 6 States by the Juarez Cartel.

7 19. Iniguez is a former Group Supervisor of the Mexican 8 Federal Judicial Police ("MFJP"). While so employed, Iniguez
9 became involved in the distribution of marijuana in Mexico. In 10 1991, Iniguez was arrested in California and eventually convicted 11 on federal charges of conspiracy to import approximately 800
12 pounds of marijuana into the United States.

13 / / /

15 20. Di Tullio had been friends with Ducler (one of the 16 three individuals who own and control M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de 17 Cambio, see ¶5) for many years, although Di Tullio had never done 18 business with either M.A. Bank or M.A. Casa de Cambio prior to 19 1997.

20 21. Di Tullio recommended that Iniguez open an account with 21 M.A. Bank and/or M.A. Casa de Cambio in order to facilitate the 22 laundering and transfer of American drug proceeds into Argentina.
23 Di Tullio then arranged a meeting among Di Tullio, Ducler and 24 Iniguez.

25 22. At the meeting arranged by Di Tullio, Ducler refused to 26 allow Iniguez to open any accounts in his (Iniguez') own name 27 because of the source of the funds to be laundered through the 28

1 account(s). Instead, Ducler suggested that one or more accounts
2 be opened in Di Tullio's name and that such account(s) be used to 3 transfer Iniguez' funds to Argentina.

4 23. As a result of this meeting, Ducler caused to be opened
5 one or more accounts at M.A. Bank, M.A. Casa de Cambio and/or 6 Mercado Abierto in the name of Di Tullio. It was understood by 7 Ducler, Di Tullio and Iniguez that said accounts would be used to 8 transfer drug proceeds from the United States to Argentina, and 9 that said proceeds would then be paid out of the account(s) to Di
10 Tullio for delivery to Iniguez. The government is informed and 11 believes and thereon alleges that the opening of the account(s)
12 in Di Tullio's name was designed to disguise the nature, source
13 and ownership of the drug proceeds that were to be filtered
14 through the account(s), and that Ducler was aware of the true 15 nature and source of the funds, i.e., drugs. In opening the 16 account(s), Ducler intentionally dispensed with virtually all of 17 the standard internal controls and processes generally required
18 to open accounts with M.A. Bank and/or M.A. Casa de Cambio.

19 24. Drug proceeds belonging to the Juarez Cartel would be 20 picked up in Chicago, as set forth in ¶16 above, and then wire 21 transferred to the Citibank accounts of M.A. Casa de Cambio and 22 M.A. Bank, as set forth in ¶17(a) and (b) above. The monies
23 would then be credited and paid by M.A. Casa de Cambio and M. A.
24 Bank to di Tullio.

25 25. Despite the various names given as the beneficiaries of 26 the money transfers listed above, all of the transferred funds
27 were in fact paid by M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio to Nicolas
28

1 Di Tullio ("Di Tullio"), either in U.S. currency or by cashier's
2 check. The government is informed and believes and thereon
3 alleges that Di Tullio, Ducler, Iniguez, and Martinez-Ayon, among 4 others, were participants in a money laundering conspiracy, the 5 object of which was to convert drug proceeds from the Chicago
6 pickups into currency and checks issued by M.A. Bank and M.A.
7 Casa de Cambio in Argentina.

8       26. Based upon the above facts, there is probable cause to 9 believe that M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio knowingly used the 10 Citibank accounts referred to in ¶17(a) and (B) to launder money
11 in violation of 18 U.S.C. §§ 1956(a)(1), 1956(b), and 1957.
12 Accordingly, there is further probable cause to believe that 13 funds contained in the above-referenced accounts are subject to 14 seizure and forfeiture to the United States pursuant to 18 U.S.C.
15 § 981(a)(1). Additionally, to the extent that the specific funds 16 contained in the accounts are not the same monies that were 17 involved in the money laundering transactions, there is probable
18 cause to believe that those funds have merely replaced identical 19 property previously on deposit in the accounts (which identical 20 property was in fact involved in money laundering) and are 21 therefore subject to seizure and forfeiture to the United States
22 pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 984.

23       WHEREFORE, the United States prays that:

24       (1) due process issue to enforce the forfeiture of the 25 defendant currency and that due notice be given to all interested 26 parties to appear and show cause why forfeiture should not be 27 decreed;
28

1           (2) judgment be entered declaring that the defendant
2 currency is forfeited to the United States of America for 3 disposition according to law;

4           (3) the United States of America be awarded all of its 5 costs, expenses and disbursements; and

6           (4) the United States of America be awarded any other
7 and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

23 IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED by and between Plaintiffs, United 24 States of America, United States Department of Justice, and the 25 Treasury Department, through its representative, Assistant

1 United States Attorney Steven R. Welk, and Claimants, Messrs.
2 Aldo Ducler, Miguel Iribarne, and Hector Scasserra, through
3 their representative, Mr. Roger J. Rosen, Esq., as follows:

4 1. This action shall be settled and this judgment entered
5 pursuant to the following terms. In settlement of this action
6 and without further limitation, Plaintiff, UNITED STATES OF 7 AMERICA, agrees to dismiss the complaint in this action with 8 prejudice and agrees to return to Claimants the sum of U.S.
9 $605,000.00 (six hundred and five thousand dollars, U.S.),
10 representing that portion of the defendant currency, U.S.
11 $1,830,708.57. The remaining $1,225,708.57 is hereby judicially 12 forfeited to Plaintiff by this consent judgment. The United 13 States of America shall dispose of said funds in accordance with 14 law. This settlement sum shall be paid in full and complete
15 satisfaction of any and all claims, demands, rights, or causes
16 of action of whatever kind and nature, foreseen and unforeseen,
17 arising from or related to the subject matter of this action,
18 which Claimants, their heirs, executors, administrators,
19 assigns, and any of them, including without limitation, Aldo
20 Ducler, Miguel Iribarne, and Hector Scasserra, now have or may 21 hereafter acquire against the United States, its agencies,
22 agents, officers, or employees. Upon the payment of the monies
23 called for above, the parties shall forthwith execute and file a 24 request for dismissal with prejudice of this action.
25

1           2. Claimants and their heirs, executors, administrators,
2 and assigns, and all of them, hereby execute a general release
3 in favor of the United States, its agencies, agents, officers,
4 and employees, including the United States Department of Justice
5 and the Treasury Department, named and unnamed, and agree to 6 accept the settlement sum described in paragraph 1 (above) in 7 full settlement and satisfaction of any and all claims, demands,
8 rights, and causes of action of whatever kind and nature,
9 arising from and related to any and all known and unknown,
10 foreseen and unforeseen, claims for damages, including without 11 limitation claims for damages or interest, which they may have 12 or hereafter acquire against the United States, its agencies,
13 agents, officers, or employees, on account of the same subject
14 matter that gave rise to this action. By this stipulation, and 15 upon Plaintiff's payment of the settlement sum by the payment
16 date, Claimants expressly agree to waive any and all claims for 17 interest in consideration of the settlement sum described 18 heretofore in paragraph 1.

20           3. In addition, and notwithstanding anything to the 21 contrary herein, Claimants expressly release any and all claims, 22 demands, rights, and causes of action against the United 23 States, its agencies, agents, officers, and employees, named and 24 unnamed, which Claimants do not know or suspect to exist in 25 their favor at the time of execution of this stipulation and

1 general release, and which, if known to Claimants, could have 2 materially affected this settlement.

3 4. This stipulation of compromise settlement and dismissal
4 of action shall not constitute ANY admission of liability or 5 fault on the part of the Claimants, MERCADO ABIERTO S.A., M.A.
6 BANK Limited, M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO S.A., MR. ALDO DUCLER, MR.
7 MIGUEL IRIBARNE, and MR. HECTOR SCASSERRA or the Plaintiff, the 8 UNITED STATES, its agencies, its agents, officers, or employees,
9 and is entered into by all parties herein solely for the purpose
10 of compromising disputed claims and avoiding the expenses and 11 risks of further litigation of this action.

12 5. It is expressly agreed by and amongst the parties that 13 the settlement sum described in paragraph 1 above represents the 14 entire amount of the compromise settlement of the parties; that 15 the parties will each bear their own fees, costs, interests, and 16 expenses associated with this matter; and that any attorney's or 17 other fees paid or owed by the Claimants will be paid out of the 18 settlement sum, and not paid by the Plaintiff in addition 19 thereto. Claimants expressly agree that no attorney's fees or 20 costs will be sought under the Equal Access to Justice Act, 28
21 U.S.C. Sec. 2412, or any other provision, in connection with 22 this action.

23 6. Payment of the amount set out in paragraph 1 shall be 24 made to and received by the respective Claimants forthwith, but 25

1 no later than fifteen days from the entry of this judgment by 2 the court. Plaintiff shall cause a check to be drawn on the 3 Treasury of the United States in the respective settlement sum
4 described in paragraph 1 above and made payable to: "Roger J.
5 Rosen, Client's Trust Account." This check shall be forwarded
6 to Claimant's attorney Roger J. Rosen, Esq., who shall have the 7 sole responsibility of distributing the respective settlement
8 sum to the Claimants, or at their direction. It is hereby 9 further agreed between the parties that in lieu of the above
10 described check being issued, Plaintiff, United States of 11 America, through its representative, AUSA Steven R. Welk, will 12 immediately or within fifteen calendar days, cause to be wire-13 transferred the settlement sum described in paragraph 1 to the 14 following account: City National Bank (Century City Office 1800
15 Century Park East, Los Angeles, CA 90067) Routing #122016066, 16 Roger J. Rosen Attorney at Law Clients Trust Account #019408701.
17 In the event that the settlement sum is not received by 18 Claimants' attorney on or before the payment date, and upon 19 application of Claimants, the District Court shall enter an 20 order in favor of Claimants and against Plaintiff for Claimants'
21 respective attorney's fees at the Los Angeles market rates, 22 costs of suit, and settlement sum, the latter amount being the 23 reasonable estimate of the forfeiture judgment that would have 24 been entered in Claimants' favor had this matter gone to trial.
25

1           7. In consideration of the payment of the settlement sum
2 described in paragraph 1 above and upon receipt by Claimants of 3 the full and complete settlement sum, Plaintiff agrees that a
4 REQUEST FOR DISMISSAL of this action shall be filed with the 5 U.S. District Court within one week and that thereafter the said
6 action shall be dismissed with prejudice, and that no future
7 civil proceedings of any sort whatsoever arising out of the 8 facts and transactions described in the complaint shall ever be 9 brought by Plaintiff against Defendant currency, Claimants,
10 acting on behalf of MERCADO ABIERTO S.A., M.A. BANK LIMITED,
11 M.A. CASA de CAMBIO S.A. or in their individual capacities,
12 officers, directors, agents, or employees of these entities.

13           8. Provided payment of the settlement sum is made and 14 received by the payment date, the parties hereby expressly agree 15 that there was reasonable cause for the seizure of the funds at 16 issue in this case. This stipulation of compromise settlement
17 and dismissal shall be construed as a certificate of reasonable
18 cause pursuant to 28 U.S.C. Sec. 2645.

19           9. As a part of this settlement agreement, and in 20 Claimants' continued efforts since the initiation of the 21 seizures to fully cooperate with Plaintiff and its agents in 22 this investigation, Claimants state, and Plaintiff acknowledges, 23 through the terms and conditions of this settlement and 24 compromise agreement that it has always been M.A. Bank Limited's
25

1 contention that: (1.) the monies received in its account number
2 36111386 at Citibank were never deposited in such a manner
3 that would, could, or did, raise any question(s) that the origin
4 of said funds were either suspicious or illegal. (2.) The funds
5 deposited in said account were wire-transferred in for the 6 benefit of a well-known client of M.A. Bank Limited. Said
7 Client always provided prior written notice to M.A. Bank Limited
8 of the upcoming arrival of the monetary transfers in amounts and 9 dates, which turned out to be consistent with each actual 10 transfer. (3.) The transfers always originated from other first-
11 rate banking institutions within the United States, causing M.A.
12 Bank Limited to believe that said institutions had been 13 satisfied through their own internal controls of the legitimate 14 source of each transfer. (4.) M.A. Bank Limited, at all times, 15 followed all applicable and required legal and internal 16 regulations. Claimants further contend that: (5.) M.A. Casa De
17 Cambio S.A. limited its business to the performance of currency-
18 exchange operations, always informing the Argentine authorities
19 of its transactions, which were correctly registered in M.A.
20 Casa De Cambio S.A.'s ledgers subject to the supervision and 21 inspection of Argentine banking and fiscal authorities. (6.) No
22 inferences of wrongdoing could be drawn from M.A. Casa De Cambio
23 S.A.'s business practices in this matter, as the monies received 24 in its account number 36137631 in Citibank were sent to a known
25

1 client who always provided prior notice of the upcoming arrival
2 of the transfers in amounts and dates consistent with every 3 actual arrival. (7.) The transfers always originated in first-
4 rate banking institutions within the United States, thereby
5 causing M.A. Casa De Cambio S.A. to believe that said
6 institutions had been satisfied through their own internal 7 controls of the legitimate source of each transfer, and (8.)
8 M.A. Casa De Cambio S.A. followed all applicable legal and 9 internal regulations.

10
11 Mr. Aldo Ducler, Director of M.A. Bank Limited and M.A.
12 Casa De Cambio S.A., has submitted a sworn statement to 13 plaintiff affirming that he and the institutions he represents 14 always acted in good faith, that he followed the laws of the 15 jurisdictions in which each institution is registered, and that 16 at no time was he aware of any facts or circumstances from which 17 he could have concluded or suspected that the transfer of funds
18 to the aforementioned accounts of M.A. Bank Limited and M.A.
19 Casa De Cambio S.A. were of an illicit origin. Said statement
20 was considered by Government counsel in reaching this settlement
21 agreement. Finally, it is noted that on May 15, 2000, AUSA
22 Steven R. Welk met in Buenos Aires Argentina with the directors
23 of M.A. Bank Limited and M.A. Casa De Cambio S.A., Messrs.
24 Ducler, Iribarne and Scasserra in the course of which he (Mr.
25 Welk) was able to request additional information about the

1 business operations of all three entities, which information was 2 openly provided by the said Directors, as they had been all
3 along responding to each and every request that the United 4 States agents had made of them since the beginning of the 5 investigation, and to which M.A. Bank Limited and M.A. Casa De
6 Cambio S.A. had consistently provided documentation,
7 testimonies, interview statements, and tours of the entities,
8 all of which contributed in an essential way to the development
9 of the U.S. investigation of this matter.

10
11 These facts as stated by Mr. Aldo Ducler contained in this 12 paragraph No. (9) have been considered, along with all other 13 evidence received, and has been a relevant factor in concluding 14 that it is in the best interest of Plaintiff, United States of 15 America, to dismiss this case as a result of having entered into 16 this settlement agreement with Claimants.

17 10. This written stipulation contains all of the 18 agreements between the parties and is intended to be, and is,
19 the final and sole agreement between them. The parties agree 20 that any prior or contemporaneous representations or 21 understandings not expressly contained in this written 22 stipulation, whether written or oral, are of no further legal or 23 equitable force or effect. Any subsequent modifications to this 24 stipulation must be made in writing and must be signed and 25

1 executed by the parties through their respective 2 representatives.

3 11. The undersigned represent that they have reviewed and 4 understand this stipulation and agree to be bound by its terms.

LA VERDAD DE LOS HECHOS

1.- La publicación del Diario Clarín del día 28 de julio es sólo la reiteración de una falsa denuncia presentada por funcionarios mexicanos en noviembre de 1999. Después de 8 meses, y a falta de pruebas, es de aplaudir la fotocopia de su propia mentira.

2.- Los hechos, en lo que a personas físicas, se refieren a la transferencia de fondos por cuenta y orden de terceros entre julio de 1997 y agosto 1998, provenientes de bancos argentinos de primerísima línea y dentro del territorio de los EE.UU.

3.- Desde mayo de 1998 y habiéndonos comunicado la presunción del origen ilícito de los fondos transferidos, hemos colaborado, según correspondió, con el gobierno de los EE.UU. en la investigación de los hechos, tal como lo seguimos haciendo con la Justicia argentina.

4.- Las conclusiones de esta colectiva investigación se plasmaron en la firma de un convenio bilateral entre los Estados Unidos de América, el Departamento de Justicia y el Departamento del Tesoro de los EE.UU. y nuestras entidades y directivos suscrito el 8 de junio de 2000 y homologado en sede Judicial del Distrito de California, el 13 de junio por el Juez Spencer Latta.

Por dicho acuerdo el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos desiste de toda acción judicial, dejando expresamente que no exista culpa o falta de diligencia de las partes.

Más específicamente se elimina la posibilidad de cualquier nuevo reclamo legal recíproco sobre el caso. Además implica el reconocimiento otorgado y aceptado por parte de EE.UU. de:

- Que las directivas de Mercado Abierto siempre actuaron en cumplimiento de todas las normas legales aplicables y con absoluta buena fe.

- La inocencia en todo momento de conocimiento o sospecha alguna por nuestra parte del supuesto origen ilícito de los fondos recibidos, provenientes en todos los casos de entidades bancarias estadounidenses de primerísimo nivel, operando dentro del territorio de los EE.UU.

- La real cooperación que brindamos junto con nuestros abogados desde el inicio de las investigaciones, colaboración que ha sido reconocida y debidamente agradecida por los EE.UU. Esto se puede manifestar en una nota que el Fiscal General de los EE.UU. (Steven Waks) envió a nuestro abogado, en la cual pide (nombrándonos expresamente) que se nos transmita su agradecimiento por la atención recibida en Buenos Aires y nuestra cooperación en la investigación. Dato relevante en una nota que envió en su momento el Departamento de Justicia de los EE.UU. y con la firma de quien actúa en nombre del Fiscal Federal del Distrito de California (Alejandro Mayorkas), sería impensable si el Gobierno de los EE.UU. no tuviera la convicción de que el trámite con personas de bien que nada tienen que ver con el lavado de dinero.

5.- Frente a la reiteración de la falsa denuncia, la nueva difusión pública y ante el insólito hecho que en estos 8 meses los funcionarios mexicanos no han presentado pruebas alguna a la Justicia argentina (simplemente porque no existen), resulta suspecta esta nueva insistencia mediática, con falsas fechas y columnas.

¿Nada que los denunciados estén dentro de intereses económicos personales, con un desprecio total por la verdad y el honor de sus empresas?

¿Será que algunos quieren presionar a la Justicia argentina en su propio beneficio?

¿Será que algunos crean en la Justicia de los EE.UU.?

¿Cuál son los verdaderos intereses que tanto entusiasmó los promueve? Seguramente ninguno que tenga que ver con la Justicia.

Porque nuestro propósito prevalecerá la verdad.

Re: Request from Argentina for Assistance in the Matter of Victor M. ALCALA NAVARRO, et al.
(Your ref. "John Doe/Violation of Law 23.737")

Dear Dr. Dibur:

I refer to the requests in the above-captioned matter submitted on behalf of Dr. Rodolfo Canicoba Corral, Federal Court in Criminal and Correctional Matters No. 6, Buenos Aires; Case No. 14.032/99) pursuant to the Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty (MLAT). As a follow-up to the meeting in Buenos Aires in May 2000 between Dr. Canicoba and me, Assistant U.S. Attorney Steven Welk, FBI Legal Attache William Godoy, U.S. Customs Attache Larry Mulkearns, and U.S. Customs Special Agent Anne Littleton, we would like to provide to the following information for Dr. Canicoba concerning the resolution of the civil forfeiture action entitled United States v. $1,830,708.57 in U.S. Currency, Case No. CV 00-1493 JSL (Central District, California). The following information is provided by Mr. Welk, who prosecuted the civil forfeiture case. We are providing this information to you and to Mexican authorities of the Procuraduria General de la Republica (PGR), who have inquired about this matter, in order to clarify the steps taken by U.S. authorities in this civil forfeiture action and the legal effect of those actions under United States criminal and forfeiture law.

The civil forfeiture action arose as a direct result of the investigation known as "Operation Casablanca." The monies which the government sought to forfeit were seized from two interbank accounts at Citibank New York held in the names of M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio (the "M.A. entities"). The U.S. sought forfeiture on the ground that the seized funds, being identical in kind to the tainted funds actually wired into the accounts months earlier, were subject to forfeiture under a statute that allows the government to forfeit fungible property found in the same place as tainted property which has been removed.

The civil forfeiture complaint was filed after several months of additional investigation and settlement negotiations following the seizure. Following that filing, the parties entered into further settlement negotiations, which included a meeting between Assistant United States Attorney Steven R. Welk (the prosecutor of the action), the three principals of the M.A. entities (Aldo Ducler, Miguel Iribarne and Hector Scasserra), and their attorneys (American and Argentine) in Buenos Aires. That meeting eventually resulted in the settlement that was outlined in the consent judgment (a copy of which is enclosed).

The consent judgment called for the forfeiture to the United States of $1,225,708.57 of the defendant currency and resolved the civil case without having the matter judicially determined. According to the terms of the consent judgment, the settlement was entered into "solely for the purpose of compromising disputed claims and avoiding the expenses and risks of further litigation of the action." (Consent judgment, page 4, lines 10-12). It was agreed that the consent judgment did not constitute an admission of liability or wrongdoing on the part of the claimants. Id. at lines 3-6. At the same time, however, the consent judgment did not constitute an agreement by the United States that the claimants committed no illegal acts, or that the claimants lacked guilty knowledge of the illegal acts described in the complaint.

The essential purpose of the consent judgment was to divide the seized funds while leaving open the question of whether the claimants committed, or were knowledgeable of, the illegal acts described in the complaint. This is not particularly unusual. Under U.S. law, a civil forfeiture action seeks to determine whether the asset itself (in this case, the money) was involved in the illegal activity alleged. The guilt or innocence of the claimant, while often relevant, need not necessarily be determined. As a result, an asset may be forfeited on the ground that it was involved in money laundering even where the owner of the asset is never arrested for or charged with a crime. The issue is the "guilt" of the asset, not the individual owner or claimant. In this case, the parties agreed to divide the money as described in the consent judgment without a final judicial determination of the guilt or innocence of the defendant funds. The guilt or innocence of the M.A. entities and their principals was never directly at issue in the civil case, and no agreement was made by the parties concerning that guilt or innocence. In essence, the parties "agreed to disagree" concerning that question. That being said, it should be noted that this office would not have entered into the consent judgment unless it believed that there was a valid factual basis for the forfeiture of the funds.

The consent judgment applied only to the civil forfeiture case in which it was entered. It did not provide for immunity for any party (corporate or individual) with respect to potential criminal conduct. The United States made no representations whatsoever about further investigation or prosecution concerning the criminal conduct described in the complaint. The government did agree that it would take no further action against the funds returned to the M.A. entities as a result of the consent judgment, i.e. it would not attempt to forfeit the monies being returned. However, the consent judgment is not evidence that the United States exonerated the M.A. entities or their principals or that the government believed that the allegations of the complaint were not true.

Finally, AUSA Welk's letter to Mr. Rosen (the American attorney for the M.A. entities) (copy enclosed) was merely a courtesy letter to opposing counsel following the entry of the consent judgment. Nothing in that letter was intended or could reasonably be construed as an "apology." The consent judgment itself contains an explicit agreement that the government had reasonable cause for its seizure of the defendant funds.

We hope that the foregoing explanation is helpful to you. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me or U.S. Customs Attache Larry Mulkearns in Montevideo at 598-2-401-1835.

Between M.A. Bank Ltd. (the "Bank") and D. TULLO; NICHOLS
_____
(the "Depositor")
Account # 25913

The Depositor understands and agrees that, in consideration of the Bank establishing her account(s), the following terms and conditions shall apply in connection with the account(s). If more than one person sign this Agreement, the term "Depositor" shall mean and include all persons signing this Agreement and each of them, jointly and severally.

- (1) Opening of the account(s), signing of the application or the signature card or acceptance of a copy thereof by the Depositor shall constitute the Depositor's agreement to these terms and conditions.
- (2) Mail addressed and sent to the Depositor at his address of record with the Bank, shall be deemed to be properly mailed. The Depositor agrees to advise the Bank promptly in writing of any change in his address.

The Bank will, unless the Depositor has given the Bank instruction to the contrary, send periodically to the Depositor, at his address of record, a statement of account(s).

The Depositor will exercise reasonable care and promptness in examining such statement to discover any irregularity and, if any exists, will notify the Bank in writing, before the seventh calendar day subsequent to the date that such statement was mailed or available to the Depositor.

In those situations in which the Depositor has instructed the Bank to hold his correspondence, the date of the statement or any other communication from the Bank will be considered in all cases, as the date in which such statement or communication was available to the Depositor.

The statement of account(s) shall be, in the absence of manifest error, conclusive evidence of the transactions and other matters set forth therein.

- (3) The application, the signature card, the mandate(s) or other authorization by the Depositor (in the form of an authorized signature book or otherwise) contains specimens of the signatures, which are hereby acknowledged by the Depositor as the authentic signatures of the persons authorized by the Depositor to enter into transactions between the Depositor and the Bank, and the Bank is entitled to rely thereon.

- (4) All items deposited in any account or cashed for the Depositor are received by the Bank as agent for the Depositor and subject to collection. Any item not finally collected may be charged back to any account of the Depositor whether such item was obtained or deposited.

The Bank will use diligence in the selection of collection agents and correspondent banks (hereinafter collectively "Correspondents"), but will not be liable for the insolvency, neglect, misconduct, mistake or default of any such Correspondent or for the loss or destruction of any item in transit or in the possession of others.

The Bank is authorized to accept for the Depositor's account(s) all remittances or funds or other property from third parties.

The Bank or any Correspondent may waive presentment, notice and protest on all items received for deposit or collection for the Depositor's account(s).

- (5) The Bank will not be responsible if it honors any check more than fifteen days after receipt of an oral order to stop payment on such check or more than six months after receipt of a written order to stop payment on such check or if, through inadvertence, accident or oversight, it prematurely honors any postdated check.

Within such limits the Bank will endeavor to honor all such stop payment orders but will not be responsible if, with the exercise of ordinary care, it nevertheless honors such check.

The Depositor agrees to indemnify the Bank against any loss or cost resulting from the nonpayment of any check instructed by the Depositor.

- (6) Delivery for deposit or collection of drafts, checks and other items to the Bank is at the Depositor's sole risk of loss and the Bank has no liability whatsoever for failure or lateness of any delivery thereof or for the loss, damage or mutilation of any thereof until actually received by the Bank at its office.

The Depositor is responsible for maintaining clear and legible photocopies of the front and back of all drafts, checks and other items delivered to the Bank for deposit or collection. In the event of any loss, damage or mutilation of any thereof, the Bank will use its best efforts to obtain collection based on such photocopies.

- (7) If the Depositor gives an order or instruction of payment in excess of Depositor's available funds or line of credit, the Bank reserves the right to encash such payments only up to the amount covered, choosing the transactions and the order or priority thereof to be carried out, without reference to the date of the item or the time of arrival of Depositor's instructions or whether such insufficiency of funds resulted from the payment of other items, the debt of any item not finally collected or the debt of any payment to the Bank, including service or maintenance fees or charges.

- (8) Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding paragraph, the Bank is hereby authorized, at its sole discretion, to pay any check or other instruction or payment order even if there is not a sufficient balance in the account(s) and, in such case, to create an overdraft loan in such account.

Such overdraft loans shall be due and payable in full upon the Bank's demand together with interest accrued thereon, and the Bank shall have the right, at its sole discretion, to transfer funds from any other account of the Depositor to pay such amounts.

- (9) The Bank is authorized to charge and set off against any credit balance (in the account(s) of the Depositor, the amount of any liability or indebtedness due by the Depositor to the Bank, whether direct or indirect.

- (10) Without limiting the generality of other provisions of this Agreement or any other agreement between the Bank and the Depositor, the Bank shall not be liable to the Depositor for any failure, omission, delay or error in the performance of the terms and conditions of this Agreement due to causes beyond the control of the Bank. The Bank's sole liability and obligation with respect to any account shall be to pay to the Depositor any credit balance in such account(s) after giving effect to the applications, transfers, reductions and deductions permitted under this Agreement.

- (11) If the Bank believes, at its sole discretion, that any instruction which it agrees to accept might expose it to claims, suits, losses, expenses, liabilities or damages, whether directly or indirectly, it may require from the Depositor, before following such instructions, the establishment of a guarantee satisfactory to the Bank.

- (12) The Bank may, at any time, terminate any account established under this Agreement by mailing notice of termination to the Depositor's address of record. At the time of such termination or within a reasonable time thereafter the Bank may, at the Depositor's risk, mail to the Depositor at such address a check for the balance of such terminated account, if any.

- (13) The Bank reserves the right to change from time to time the terms and conditions of this Agreement. The making of the Depositor's address of record of such changes shall constitute due and sufficient notice to the Depositor. Such changes will become effective the sixteenth calendar day subsequent to the date on which such notice of change was mailed or available to the Depositor.

- (14) The rights, duties and obligations hereunder of the Bank and the Depositor shall be governed by the laws of the Cayman Islands, B.W.I.

INTERVIEW CONDUCTED BY:

SSA

THE FOLLOWING IS PERTINENT INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE ABOVE SUBJECTS:

1. Alicia Lopez, Superintendent of Cambios, answered most of the questions that SSA and asked. The Central Bank of Argentina provided the following information:
  - a. M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO has one location (one office) in Buenos Aires, Argentina. They are located at Corrientes 415, 6th Floor, 1043 - Buenos Aires, Argentina.
  - b. M.A. BANK LIMITED is not licensed to operate as a bank in Argentina. They have no information and no records regarding M.A. BANK.
  - c. The Central Bank, or any other Argentinean authority, would not regulate M.A. BANK because it is not a licensed institution. The "Limited" designation means that M.A. BANK is an offshore bank.
  - d. M.A. BANK can exist in Argentina, they can only exist as a client of a licensed bank (in other words, a regular account holder like anyone else). They are not allowed to conduct banking business. If they are taking in deposits and dispensing withdrawals, they must be licensed as a bank.
  - e. M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO should, by law, maintain a diskette in which they record all transactions of more than $10,000. This includes wire transfers. M.A. BANK, as a client, can obtain these reports for U.S. Customs, but they will have to get them from their bank.
  - f. In accordance with Argentinean law, M.A. BANK can only exist as a

INTERVIEW CONDUCTED BY:

SSA

THE FOLLOWING IS PERTINENT INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE ABOVE SUBJECTS:

1. SSA interpreted throughout the interview. After SSA interviewed the subjects regarding the wire transfers sent to M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO, the interview addressed the transaction set to Nicolas DI TULLIO at the M.A. BANK account at Citibank New York. During the course of the questioning, SSA noted that Miguel IRIBARNE answered most of the questions regarding M.A. BANK. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA the following:

2. Miguel IRIBARNE said he worked at the Argentinean Ministry of Economy for fourteen years. He finished at the Ministry as the Undersecretary of the Economy in about 1982. In 1983 he formed MERCADO ABIERTO. He is the President of MERCADO ABIERTO and M.A. BANK. SSA once again asked how many companies are involved with MERCADO ABIERTO. Miguel IRIBARNE said only the four discussed previously (reference previous ROI under this case number). MERCADO ABIERTO is the holding company and the three entities under MERCADO ABIERTO are M.A. BANK, M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO, and M.A. VALORES S.A. Previously attorney Caravatta told SSA that the companies associated with MERCADO ABIERTO could be found at an Internet address: www.masacdm.ar, and were as follows:

- (1) MERCADO ABIERTO S.A.
- (2) M.A. VALORES S.A. SOCIEDAD DE BOLSA
- (3) M.A. BANK LIMITED
- (4) M.A. CAPITAL MARKETS S.A.
- (5) MERCADO SOCIEDAD GERENTE DE FONDOS COMUNES DE INVERSION S.A.

SSA asked about these other companies. Miguel IRIBARNE said that the only companies under MERCADO ABIERTO were the three already mentioned. Miguel IRIBARNE also said that Aldo DUELER, Hector SCASSERRA, and he were partners in three other companies:

- (1) CEREALDESTE S.A.
This company is a grain merchant since 1974 and owns four grain silos in the country.
- (2) FUTURES AMERICANA
This is a trust company that makes products saleable to clients, mostly in the real estate field.
- (3) CUSTODIA

3. SSA asked to see the articles of incorporation of the Argentine equivalent for MERCADO ABIERTO. On June 24, 1999, the officers provided SSA with a copy of these documents (exhibit M1-37). Translation is pending at the time of this AOI. The officers told SSA that the shareholders and directors of MERCADO ABIERTO are Miguel IRIBARNE, Hector SCASSERRA, and Aldo DUELER.

4. M.A. BANK does not advertise; they pick up clients by word-of-mouth referrals. M.A. BANK's prime reason to exist is to provide offshore banking services to MERCADO ABIERTO's existing clients, whether that client is investing in stocks and bonds or someone using the services of M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO. M.A. BANK has no branches in Argentina. M.A. BANK has no account in Argentina (such as their account at Citibank in the United States). In fact it sounded to SSA as if the account in the United States may be the only account M.A. BANK maintains. M.A. BANK has no office in Argentina; the "bank" operates out of MERCADO ABIERTO's offices.

5. Miguel IRIBARNE said that M.A. BANK is an offshore bank registered in the Cayman Islands, and M.A. BANK has no account or physical offices in the Cayman Islands. When SSA asked what kind of license they possessed to operate in Argentina, Miguel IRIBARNE said they did not need a license because it is an offshore bank. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA that the administrative offices for M.A. BANK are located in Montevideo, Uruguay. SSA obtained the address for this office from M.A. BANK's Cayman Island Articles of Association (exhibit M1-24). M.A. BANK's offices are located in the identifying data section at the end of this ROI). When SSA asked, why do they do this? Miguel IRIBARNE responded that M.A. BANK is an offshore bank, if they had offices in Argentina they would be subject to regulation by the Central Bank.

6. When SSA reviewed the Cayman Island Articles of Association for M.A. BANK (exhibit W1-24) he saw that MERCADO ABIERTO owned 60% of the stock in M.A. BANK, and a company called SIGMA FINANCIAL CORPORATION LIMITED owned the other 40%. SSA asked Miguel IRIBARNE, who is SIGMA FINANCIAL? After a pause, Miguel IRIBARNE said, they are. Miguel IRIBARNE said that he, Hector SCARISERRA, and Aldo DUELER own 100% of SIGMA FINANCIAL. They did this for "tax purposes."

7. Miguel IRIBARNE explained that the Cayman Islands have rules about the amount of capital M.A. BANK must have in relation to deposits. Over the years M.A. BANK has increased their amount of capital. This makes the profits subject to taxation in Argentina. So, they received authorization from the Cayman authorities to establish another corporation that owns 40% of M.A. BANK. This reduces their taxes in Argentina by 40%. Miguel IRIBARNE stated that SIGMA FINANCIAL is only in the Caymans, the only function it has is to exist and own 40% of M.A. BANK, so they do not have to pay the taxes in Argentina.

NOTE:

a) SSA asked to see the SIGMA FINANCIAL Articles of Association or other documentation from the Caymans (in order to see who was listed as directors and shareholders). On June 24, 1999, the officers gave SSA a copy of SIGMA FINANCIAL CORPORATION LIMITED's minutes of the meeting of the board of directors held in the Caymans on December 14, 1998 (exhibit W1-39).

b) After reviewing the document, SSA asked, who is Rodolfo Jose MASCHNITZ, a name appearing in the minutes as Sole Director of SIGMA at the close of the meeting (in fact, no name appearing in the minutes was familiar to SSA). Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA that MASCHNITZ is a former employee of MERCADO ABIERTO. They did this for "tax purposes" so none of their names would appear on the documents for SIGMA FINANCIAL. Miguel IRIBARNE and Hector SCARISERRA told SSA that the Articles of Association for a company like SIGMA were different from that required for a licensed bank such as M.A. BANK. Miguel IRIBARNE said there would be no designation of shareholders or list of directors.

c) Miguel IRIBARNE and Hector SCARISERRA told SSA that company called Coutts & Company Limited represents them (as SIGMA) in the Caymans and Hector SCASSERRA and he has the power of attorney. SSA said he wanted to see the power of attorney and documentation reflecting that Miguel IRIBARNE, Aldo DUCLER, and Hector SCASSERRA are SIGMA FINANCIAL.

4) On July 20, 1995, SSA received a mailed copy of a Company Administration Agreement & Indemnity on Coutts & Company letterhead from MERCADO ASIERTO's attorney Mariella Caravetta (Exhibit W1-4C). This document is not familiar to SSA as a power of attorney. However, the body of the agreement clearly states that if requested to do so by the account holders, Coutts & Company will provide one or more persons to serve as the director/directors of the company. Miguel IRIBARNE and Hector SCASSERRA are listed, and signed, as the account holders.

5. Miguel IRIBARNE said he has known Nicolas DI TULLIO since 1997, a little longer than Hector SCASSERRA. Nicolas DI TULLIO has just the one account at M.A. BANK. Miguel IRIBARNE said they have "Know Your Client Rules" similar to those in the U.S. In order to start an account at M.A. BANK one must be referred from an existing client, already an investment client of MERCADO ASIERTO, or someone known to the officers of M.A. BANK. M.A. BANK does not take clients off the street.

6. To start an account with M.A. BANK one needs to be referred, fill out an application form, provide information on other accounts they may have, and provide references. M.A. BANK then checks the references and conducts credit checks on the prospective client. They only required Nicolas DI TULLIO to fill out the application form (a copy of which has already been provided to SSA listed as exhibit W1-6). When asked why, Miguel IRIBARNE said that Nicolas DI TULLIO is a friend of a friend of Aldo DUCLER's, and the DI TULLIO name is so well-known in the real estate field that references were not necessary. SSA asked if a separate application process existed for clients of M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO. Miguel IRIBARNE said no, only the one application is required.

10. SSA asked to see the signature card for Nicolas DI TULLIO. They said they could provide a copy of the card on the following day. SSA asked to see the original signature card. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA that the original is kept at the administrative offices in Uruguay. Daniel PATRISQUICH said Nicolas DI TULLIO is the only signatory on the card. Miguel IRIBARNE said that the owner of an account can authorize someone else to withdraw money from that account on a case-by-case basis. (At a later point in the interview, in an attempt to determine if any of these authorizations existed, SSA asked for the custom correspondence file for Nicolas DI TULLIO. Daniel FAIVISOVICH and Miguel IRIBARNE said they do keep a file, but they had already given SSA everything the file contained).

a) SSA received a copy of an M.A. BANK signature card on June 24, 1993, that was sent via facsimile transmission from Uruguay (exhibit W1-35).

b) Note: On June 24, 1993, SSA also received a blank example of an M.A. BANK signature card from M.A. BANK officials (exhibit W1-36). Upon looking at the back of the signature card, SSA discovered a place for other names authorized to use the account. The copy of the signature card given to SSA (exhibit W1-35) only showed the front of the signature card with Nicolas DI TULLIO's name as account holder and did not include the "Authorized Signatures" section.

SSA asked if M.A. BANK had monthly statements for Nicolas DI TULLIO. Miguel IRIBARNE said that they had given SSA the only statement they had. Miguel IRIBARNE said that Nicolas DI TULLIO could request a printout of any portion of his account and they would provide that, but they do not provide monthly statements.

11. Senior Special Examiner (SSE) asked how does Nicolas DI TULLIO get his money? Miguel IRIBARNE replied that Nicolas DI TULLIO received the money (cash) at the MERCADO ABIERTO offices at a teller type window.

12. SSE then asked the officers how a customer, such as Nicolas DI TULLIO, could receive money in Argentina if M.A. BANK did not have a branch or account in Argentina? At this point SSA noticed that the officers, especially Miguel IRIBARNE, became agitated (talking fast and all at once). Miguel IRIBARNE began by explaining how the world banking system worked. After SSA refocused his attention on SSE question, Miguel IRIBARNE explained the process worked as follows:

- 1) For example, Nicolas DI TULLIO sends the M.A. BANK account at Citibank in the United States $100,000.
- 2) If MERCADO ABIERTO has the cash on hand in their vault in Argentina, Nicolas DI TULLIO comes into the MERCADO ABIERTO offices and they give him the $100,000 in cash at the teller window. Nicolas DI TULLIO signs the receipt and leaves.
- 3) If MERCADO ABIERTO does not have the cash, they contact a licensed bank or cambio in Argentina that has a branch in the U.S. (for example purposes, Bank Boston). They tell Bank

Boston that they (M.A. BANK) are going to wire $100,000 to the Bank Boston Branch in the U.S. Bank Boston receives the wire in the U.S. and holds the funds in a temporary account for M.A. BANK. Then someone from M.A. BANK officer goes into Bank Boston in Argentina. Bank Boston, Argentina, checks to make sure they have received the wire in the U.S. and then releases the $100,000 in cash to the M.A. BANK officer. The officer takes the cash back to MERCADO ABIERTO and places the money in the vault until Nicolas DI IULLIO arrives to receive the $100,000.

13. Daniel FAIVISOVICH said there is no account for M.A. BANK in Argentina, they always use other institutions. SSA asked if they keep a record of the $10,000 transactions for M.A. BANK transactions as they do for M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO transactions (see paragraph 1k of previous FOI)? Miguel IRISARNE said they do not have to report any of the M.A. BANK transactions to the Central Bank or keep a record. Miguel IRISARNE said this is because the money does not come into Argentina. SSA asked him to explain this further. Miguel IRISARNE said that if a bank is licensed in Argentina they would have to report the transaction and keep the log, but an offshore bank like M.A. BANK does not. This is because the wire transfer activity takes place offshore using "undeclared" funds. The report would be the responsibility of Bank Boston, if and when they transferred $100,000 to Argentina to cover the withdrawal (Note: at the time of this interview Argentina had no requirements to report cash transactions, only money transferred into or out of Argentina).

14. Daniel FAIVISOVICH took this opportunity to describe how the MERCADO ABIERTO Treasurer is constantly receiving orders and requests on behalf of all the clients. The Treasurer then buys and sells various instruments to satisfy these clients. Daniel FAIVISOVICH further explained that all the companies under MERCADO ABIERTO use one Treasurer. All transactions for all companies are conducted in bulk during the day, and at the end of the day, the Treasurer records the transactions under the proper set of books. The four companies are the one vault at MERCADO ABIERTO. Daniel FAIVISOVICH said that during the day, one company can lend another money as needed to meet commitments, the books are then balanced at the end of the day to reflect the various movements of money between the companies.

15. SSA directed the next set of questions to Nicolas DI IULLIO's M.A. BANK account 25314. Using the account statement for Nicolas DI IULLIO that was provided to Exhibit 11, SSA asked about $1.05 million wire transfer on January 12, 1988. SSA asked how could Nicolas DI IULLIO receive a wire transfer from the M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO's bank account to his M.A. BANK account for that amount if Nicolas DI IULLIO had withdrawn the money from M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO as they described in the previous 101)? The officers appeared to become agitated at this question and all began to speak at once; Hector SCASSERRA looked and sounded angry. At first, Miguel IRIBARNE said that the cambio does not maintain a balance. If Nicolas DI TULLIO did not receive his funds right away, they would have put the funds in his account and very possibly the transfer was an investment in bonds. SSA then asked, why does the statement not show the $1.95 million leave the account and indicate the funds went back to the cambio so Nicolas DI TULLIO could withdraw them at a later date (in other words, it appeared that Nicolas DI TULLIO received $1.35 million twice)? Daniel FAIVISOVICH then said that Nicolas DI TULLIO used the $1.95 million transfer to cover an overdraft in his account (during this time period the statement shows a negative $1,345,697.82 balance in the account).

16. SSA again asked, how can almost two million dollars leave Nicolas DI TULLIO's account (to cover the overdraft), and how can he also receive the same amount in an operation from M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO. Once again the officers all began to speak at once. Finally, Daniel FAIVISOVICH said that SSA is missing a document showing Nicolas DI TULLIO received the funds from M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO and had the funds transferred to his account to cover his overdraft. Miguel IRIBARNE agreed and said he would provide SSA with the missing document. Miguel IRIBARNE said the operation would have to occur this way because a casa de cambio in Argentina, by law, must complete an exchange when someone sends them money. In order for Nicolas DI TULLIO to use the funds to cover his overdraft, he had to complete an exchange. On June 24, 1999, SSA received an M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO receipt (Exhibit M1-42) showing that M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO exchanged $2,000,000 into pesos for Nicolas DI TULLIO, and Nicolas DI TULLIO then sold $1.95 million in dollars back to the cambio for a dollar transfer on January 2, 1998.

NOTE: When one examines the statement (Exhibit M1-25) for January 12, 1998, one can see the $1.35 million is immediately withdrawn on the same day. Also, on the same day, sale of $4,600,000 sale of securities by Nicolas DI TULLIO covered the overdraft.

17. SSA then asked about the other overdrafts. While viewing the statement (Exhibit M1-25) one can see that beginning in November 1997, Nicolas DI TULLIO carried an overdraft in his account of approximately $2,000,000 until January of 1998. Again, between August 1998 and April 1999, Nicolas DI TULLIO had an overdraft that varied between a zero balance and a negative $835,279.49. Daniel FAIVISOVICH said CASA DE CAMBIO was not involved. Daniel FAIVISOVICH said that SSA is correct that the $1.95 million Nicolas DI TULLIO carry was incorrect. Daniel FAIVISOVICH said that Nicolas DI TULLIO bought stock from Green Tree USA for $4,000,000 from a sale in November 1997 that they used as collateral on the overdraft at that time. Daniel FAIVISOVICH and Miguel IRIBARNE said Nicolas DI TULLIO has no other collateral than what is listed on the statement.

18. SSA asked them why they let Nicolas DI TULLIO overdraw his account in early 1998, again, when it looked like Nicolas DI TULLIO lost a lot of money on his investments. Daniel FRIVISDVICH said that yes, Nicolas DI TULLIO lost a lot of money on the investments. Miguel IRIBARNE said that SSA has not seen a breakdown of the actual value of Nicolas DI TULLIO's investments at the end of each month. Miguel IRIBARNE said he would provide this. Miguel IRIBARNE further said that in early 1998 Nicolas DI TULLIO had plenty of collateral to cover his overdraft. Miguel IRIBARNE said that a fund called Fondango FOD Agrario that Nicolas DI TULLIO had invested in took a sudden down turn and lost a lot of money. They, M.A. BANK, did not know this until June 1998. By the time they knew, U.S. Customs had already effected the seizure of their account. This is why Nicolas DI TULLIO's statement shows a $815,668 overdraft. Until Fondango took a dive, Nicolas DI TULLIO had money to cover his overdraft.

- 1) NOTE: On June 24, 1998, Miguel IRIBARNE provided SSA with a breakdown of Nicolas DI TULLIO's investments and values by month for the time period July 31, 1997, to May 30, 1998 (exhibit W1-43). It does appear that these investments cover the overdrafts however, the statements are confusing and will need more analysis and explanation from M.A. BANK.

19. SSA asked if it was a normal business practice for M.A. Bank to let clients overdraw their accounts in this manner. Miguel IRIBARNE said it is not a common practice at all. Both Hector SODASERRA and Miguel IRIBARNE said that they rarely let an overdraft happen. When SSA asked, why did they let Nicolas DI TULLIO overdraw his account in this manner? Miguel IRIBARNE said it was a decision they made. They normally base that decision on:

- 1) Do they know the client well?
- 2) Do they know a transfer is on the way to cover the overdraft?
- 3) Does the client have collateral to cover the overdraft? In this case they knew that Nicolas DI TULLIO had the money to cover the overdrafts.

20. SSA also asked the officers how some of the amounts for the incoming of the transfer are separated into smaller increments on the statement. Hector SODASERRA said that M.A. BANK through notification letters, exhibit W1-41 that he was expecting whole amounts. Miguel IRIBARNE said it is possible they received the wires, but they had no instructions on what to do.

21. SSA _____ then asked the officers, who signed the receipts for the cash? Miguel IRIBARNE said that Nicolas DI TULLIO did. Miguel IRIBARNE said that usually Nicolas DI TULLIO would call and tell them he would be coming in to withdraw some money, then he would show up and sign the receipt. SSA _____ also asked why the receipts looked different as compared to the "official" appearance of M.A. CASH DE CAMBIO's receipts? Miguel IRIBARNE said that the M.A. CASH receipts are a private receipt. The transactions are not reportable to the government, so they can generate them any way they want. SSA _____ asked, why is EURO-AMERICA FINANCE printed on the receipts (it looks like a receipt Nicolas DI TULLIO generated)? Miguel IRIBARNE said the form is in the computer; Nicolas DI TULLIO can ask to have anything put on the receipt and they would do it, they did not care. SSA _____ asked about EURO-AMERICA FINANCE. Hector SCASSERRA said Nicolas DI TULLIO did not want the local tax authorities to know about, and tax him on, the money coming from the U.S. EURO-AMERICA is a company name Nicolas DI TULLIO uses to avoid the tax authorities.

22. When asked about the initial $5,000,000 Nicolas DI TULLIO used to open the account, Daniel FRIEDSOVICH said the money came in the form of a wire transfer to their Citibank New York account from a Bank of New York account in New York City. SSA [redacted] asked if they could provide the wire transmittal document showing the incoming wire transfer. Miguel IRIARNE told SSA that M.B. BANK has an electronic connection with Citibank through the Internet. The records they receive from Citibank are all electronic. They can "screen print" the records, but Miguel IRIARNE said they have not had hard copy records for years. They only have wire records that they receive on their computer screen from the Citibank interface. Miguel IRIARNE offered to get a copy of this "screen print" to SSA. On June 24, 1999, Miguel IRIARNE gave SSA [redacted] a computer generated form showing that Cayman Bank, BANK OF BUTTERFIELD INTERNATIONAL LIMITED, by order of ALEXANDRIA S. ANCO, LIMITED sent Nicolas DI TULLIO the initial $5 million used to open his M.B. BANK account (exhibit NC 44).

23: SSA asked why did Nicholas R. TULLIO leave his money in loans to stock (the initial $1,000,000 transferred into Nicholas R. TULLIO's account was used to purchase securities that appeared to be constant; those values never fluctuated). He did not know why Nicholas R. TULLIO did it, but that no one knew the investments would prove the costly.

14. 458A [redacted] then asked about the participation of the Nicolz of TULLIO sent to N.A. BANK (EXHIBIT 41-3); these letters were sent five ahead of the actual wire transfers. Miguel IBIGARRA confirmed the Nicolz of TULLIO sent the letters. Miguel IRIBARNE said that one person at MERCADOS ASIERTO watches for wire transfers. This person, a female, watches about 20 to 30 wire transfers a day arrive. When Nicolas DI TULLIO's wire transfer arrived she would call one of the officers. Miguel IRIBARNE said clients do not have to send letters, they can call by telephone. Miguel IRIBARNE said that sometimes people do not call at all and some wait for as much as thirty days after the wire transfer arrives. SSA asked, how do they keep organized and make sure that the proper client receives the right amount of money? Miguel IRIBARNE said they check a client's claim that money had been sent 20 days ago for example, by looking for the amount sent and the date. He said they always are able to match amounts with the client in this manner. If they cannot find the wire on the computer system or in the statements that Citibank New York sends them, they do not credit the client. Miguel IRIBARNE said they have never had a problem or been unable to match a client's claimed amount with an actual wire transfer.

15. SSA then asked, how did they match Nicolas DI TULLIO as the recipient of the approximately $4,294,339 in wire transfers that came into M.A. BANK for further credit to a third party name (Notes Nicolas DI TULLIO still sent the notification letters for these wire transfers to M.A. BANK with only his name listed as the recipient, he never mentioned the third party names in the letters - see ROI 4 under this case number). Miguel IRIBARNE said they knew these wire transfers belonged to Nicolas DI TULLIO because Nicolas DI TULLIO advised them of the amounts before the wires were sent. Miguel IRIBARNE said it is their responsibility to credit the client and if there is no match, to send the money back; he stated that they had sent money back in the past that had been sent to M.A. BANK in error.

16. SSA once again asked Miguel IRIBARNE, how did they know to match these transfers to Nicolas DI TULLIO and not send them back; the names were different? Miguel IRIBARNE said they used the amount and date to match them to Nicolas DI TULLIO (Notes the letters were sent several days before the operation sent the wire transfers and listed no dates to expect the wire transfer). Miguel IRIBARNE went on to explain that they (M.A. BANK) normally receive many "fantasy names" on the wire transfers they receive, so they just use the amount and date to match them to the proper client. When SSA asked about these "fantasy names," Miguel IRIBARNE said clients do this so the funds are not "regulated." Miguel IRIBARNE also explained that it is also their responsibility to check off the wire transfer instruction, and M.A. BANK is the one that sends the money to the client. He stated that the clients claim the bank sent the money and M.A. BANK could not find the transfer. Miguel IRIBARNE stated that their clients trust the bank, especially the non-

1. Discovered funds." SSA inquired if the funds were non-declared for tax purposes, and Miguel IRIBARNE said yes.

27. SSA next asked about sub-account 26051 that Nicolas DI TULLIO maintains at M.A. BANK. Specifically, why did they let Nicolas DI TULLIO withdraw the money when he had an overdraft situation in the main account. Miguel IRIBARNE said that Nicolas DI TULLIO told them he wanted a sub-account attached to his main account for "very minimal" wire transfers that he (Nicolas DI TULLIO) would be receiving (this sub-account received approximately $5,109,000 - all monies sent to this sub-account were further credited to third party names other than Nicolas DI TULLIO). Miguel IRIBARNE explained that there is no difference between the sub-account and the main account. Miguel IRIBARNE said M.A. BANK treats them as one account. Miguel IRIBARNE said that no signature card or new account application is needed. Nicolas DI TULLIO only had to send a letter requesting the sub-account (this letter can be found as part of exhibit M1-3). They do not know why he set up the sub-account. Also, at the time Nicolas DI TULLIO had other collateral in securities and bonds to cover the overdraft.

28. At this time SSA agreed to meet the next day at the MERCADO ASIERTO offices to view the operation and to obtain the documentation promised at this interview.

INVESTIGATION CONTINUES.

INTERVIEW CONDUCTED BY:

SSA

THE FOLLOWING IS PERTINENT INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE ABOVE SUBJECTS:

1. When SSA and Co. arrived at the offices of MERCADO ABIERTO, Av. Corrientes 415, 6th Floor, (1043) Buenos Aires, Miguel IRIARNE gave them a tour of the MERCADO ABIERTO operations. During this tour SSA made the following observations:

- 1) Upon arrival, after exiting the elevators on the 6th floor, SSA saw a large sign with the MERCADO ABIERTO name and logo (a two-tone blue v-shape with a red crescent on top) displayed prominently in a reception area with a desk and secretary.
- 2) In a section of offices opposite the MERCADO ABIERTO reception area/room, SSA saw a sign for M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO with the MERCADO ABIERTO logo. Also, in this section of the office SSA saw some teller-type signs.
- 3) SSA also observed a sign for M.A. VALORES S.A. bearing the MERCADO ABIERTO logo.
- 4) SSA saw no signs or other indication of existence for M.A.

NAME displayed in the public section of the officer's

- 5) SSA [redacted] saw approximately thirty people working in various parts of the MERCADO ABIERTO offices. SSA [redacted] saw the largest collection of individuals, about twenty, in a large, computer filled, room that Miguel IRIBARNE said was a trading room. In this room MERCADO ABIERTO receives instructions from clients to buy and sell securities and other investments.
- 6) Miguel IRIBARNE introduced SSA [redacted] to a lady named Guillermina Fida, Transfer Supervisor, for MERCADO ABIERTO. She sits in a small office at a computer. Miguel IRIBARNE said that Fida is the person who reviews all incoming wire transfer information from Citibank. Fida's responsibility is to get the paperwork on the wire transfers to the proper department in MERCADO ABIERTO, I.E., MERCADO ABIERTO, M.A. BANK, M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO etc. If, for some reason Fida cannot figure out where a transfer is to go, she will approach Daniel FAIVISOVICH. Daniel FAIVISOVICH is responsible for crediting the proper clients. Miguel IRIBARNE also said that from here they can send back any money sent to them in error. Miguel IRIBARNE said that in the past Citibank sent them $1,000,000 by mistake, and they returned the funds. Miguel IRIBARNE let SSA [redacted] look at the computer screen. SSA [redacted] saw transfers listed that looked like the transfer provided in exhibit M-44. Also SSA [redacted] saw that some of the wire transfers on the screen listed further credit information for clients, and some of the listings did not have further credit information.
- 7) Miguel IRIBARNE showed SSA [redacted] the teller windows and the vault, located in the M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO section of the offices. All the offices are accessed from inside MERCADO ABIERTO. As SSA [redacted] passed the teller window, Miguel IRIBARNE pointed out a man at one of the windows. Miguel IRIBARNE said that man just received $21,000.
- 8) Once past the windows, Miguel IRIBARNE showed SSA [redacted] the vault. The vault in vault occupied a large portion of the room behind the teller window. Immediately on the vault door to the left from the door to the vault was a large sign and a large safe deposit box. SSA [redacted] saw with some effort in the lock. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA [redacted] that the safe was very difficult to open and that the client could not enter the vault. SSA [redacted] asked what was on the client and Miguel IRIBARNE said that the client was a man and appeared to be a black Caribbean. SSA [redacted] asked what happened to the client. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA [redacted] that the man in fact took certificates that kept most of their certificates in their deposit box at their bank; this was just the overflow.

- 2) SSA [REDACTED] referring to the teller window and the vault, asked Miguel IRIBARNE if this is the place he would bring (for example) $100,000 as a customer of M.A. BANK, and have M.A. BANK wire transfer that money somewhere else? Miguel IRIBARNE said, yes that is correct. They, M.A. BANK, would keep the money in the vault until they could transport it to the bank, after which they would transfer the money. SSA also asked that if he received money from the United States as a customer of M.A. BANK, would someone from MERCADO ABIERTO pick up the cash at the bank in Argentina, bring it to MERCADO ABIERTO and place the money in the vault, and would he receive the money at the window right here (see the previous report for details of this process)? Miguel IRIBARNE said that is correct. MERCADO ABIERTO operates just like a real bank; they have security on the vault, and they have armed guards in the vault room twenty-four hours inside MERCADO ABIERTO.
- 10) SSA mentioned the offshore, unregulated funds. Miguel IRIBARNE told SSA that he believes that all offshore accounts belonged to people avoiding taxes. Miguel IRIBARNE said maybe the money sometimes comes from other illegal activities as well. SSA asked him if he thought M.A. BANK's clients were hiding money to avoid taxes? Miguel IRIBARNE said sure, most of the customers have overseas account so they do not have to report income. Miguel IRIBARNE said he does not care. The customers are the ones not reporting, not him.
- 11) After the tour of the MERCADO ABIERTO offices, MERCADO ABIERTO officials gave SSA copies of documents he had requested the day before (see previous two reports for these exhibits). In addition, MERCADO ABIERTO officers provided the following documents:
- MI-38 A facsimile copy of the front of the Citibank New York Signature Card for M.A. BANK's account 36111366. Miguel IRIBARNE, Hector SORASERRA, and Aldo DUCKER's names appear in the section listing authorized signers.
  - MI-39 M.A. BANK application form and requirements for opening a corporate account (blank).
  - MI-40 Sixty pages of M.A. BANK DE CAMBIO's Banco Valores Account showing the checks that M.A. BANK DE CAMBIO drew from Miguel SORASERRA. The pages were selected by SSA CRISTO SANCHEZ to show the checks.

- W1-42 Listing of overseas companies investing in Argentina, and their local (Argentinean) affiliates.
- W1-43 An Argentinean government publication for the prevention of drug addiction and how to fight narcotics trafficking.
- W1-44 Central Bank of Argentina regulations on how to prevent money laundering and identify suspicious transactions.

3. Miguel IRISARNE instructed the accountant for MERCADO ABIERTO, Juan Jose SOBRADO, to show SSA the log for transactions of more than $10,000 that MERCADO ABIERTO keeps per Central Bank regulations. ROMANO showed SSA the log book of transactions, and SSA was able to locate all of Nicolas DI TULLIO's M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO transactions. ROMANO told SSA that he informs the Central Bank, monthly, on the transactions (in and out) for M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO. He further advised SSA that they are only required to report the total transactions for the cambio. They keep the log and a record of the transactions on a diskette, as they are required, in the event that the Central Bank sends in auditors to look at M.A. CASA DE CAMBIO. They do not keep a log or a diskette of transactions for M.A. BANK business, as described previously, and due to the way they structure the transactions, they are not the party that must report the transactions. ROMANO told SSA that he has held his position as MERCADO ABIERTO accountant and internal auditor for approximately fifteen years, and he is the only internal auditor for MERCADO ABIERTO.

4. SSA has asked, prior to the trip to Argentina and during the previous interview, for monthly statements for Nicolas DI TULLIO's account. Miguel IRISARNE told SSA that the statement they already provided are the only statements they keep. Miguel IRISARNE stated that if Nicolas DI TULLIO did not ask for a monthly statement file, a breakdown of his account, they would not provide one.

5. Hector SCASSERAN took the opportunity to tell SSA that they never let Nicolas DI TULLIO overdraw his account. Hector SCASSERAN said Nicolas DI TULLIO always had a credit with his investments. Only in May of 1998 did Nicolas DI TULLIO truly overdraw the account and only then because the Fondero fund lost so much money.

6. SSA asked the officers what kind of action and/or legal action they have taken against Nicolas DI TULLIO in the past year to recover the overdraw. Miguel IRISARNE said they have not filed any legal actions to recover Nicolas DI TULLIO. Miguel IRISARNE stated they are working on the outside of the U.S. Customs services. Miguel IRISARNE said they need to consider their actions because it is complicated. They have conducted a search and could find no assets that Nicolas DI TULLIO might have that they could go after. They do not know when they will institute action to get their funds back.

7. SSE then asked them if they had a collateral agreement with Nicolas DI TULLIO to use Nicolas DI TULLIO's investments as collateral for the overdrafts. At first the officers said they did not have one. Then they said they would send the agreement to SSA. Finally, Miguel IRIBARNE said that the collateral agreement was part of the original application agreement. Miguel IRIBARNE said they would have to order this from the administrative offices in Uruguay, and they would send SSA a copy. SSE said this sounded as if they were issuing unauthorized credit. Miguel IRIBARNE said, no Hector GARCERRA authorized the credit; the problem is that he authorized the credit before he found out about the Fondargo Fund. This was a mistake on their part, but Nicolas DI TULLIO had been a good client for a year up to that point.

8. After the conclusion of this interview, Mariela Caravetta asked to speak to SSA alone. SSA and CA met Caravetta at her temporary offices in Buenos Aires. During this meeting Mariela Caravetta stated that she wanted to sit in on the interview with Nicolas DI TULLIO. Not only did she want to sit in on the interview, so did Maria del Sol Munoz, Attorney, Law Offices of Raul C. Sanguinetti (the attorney representing MERCADO ABIERTO in Argentina).

9. SSA said he did not like that idea. Caravetta said the U.S. Customs Service owed it to her since she found Nicolas DI TULLIO and was providing him for "testimony." SSA thanked her and said that was nice, but U.S. Customs could find him themselves. She said he would not talk to Customs if she was not present. SSA told her no less than five times that this appeared to be a conflict of interest since he supposedly still owed her clients money. SSA also said it appeared as if she and Maria del Sol Munoz wanted to influence, monitor, and control what Nicolas DI TULLIO would say at the interview. Caravetta kept threatening to make Nicolas DI TULLIO unavailable for interview regardless of how it was "look." She said she and Munoz just wanted to protect their clients' interests.

10. SSA said Caravetta he would see back to her on the subject.

MEMORANDUM

Mayo 30, 1998

Ref.: GRUPO MERCADO ABIERTO

---

En la fecha me reuni con los Sres. Hector Scaserra y Miguel Iribarne -Presidente y vice del Grupo Mercado Abierto - para recabar datos referentes a los embargos que sufrieron las DDAs M.A.Bank y M.A.Casa de Cambio, por instruccion de Customs Service EEUU.

Hector Scasserra me comento que desconoce al ordenante de dichas transferencias, y dio instrucciones al estudio juridico del Dr.Sanguinetti, para que por su intermedio contrate un abogado americano para diligenciar las investigaciones .

Este abogado americano necesitara una carta autorizacion emitida por el presidente del Grupo M.A. a los efectos que Citibank N.Y. le brinde la informacion necesaria para iniciar los tramites judiciales pertinentes.

M.A. ejerce severos controles de anti Money Laundering, mediante acta de asamblea tiene documentado los procedimientos a seguir y su politica de KYC.

MEMORANDUM

May 30, 1998

Ref.: GRUPO MERCADO ABIERTO

Today I met with Messrs. Hector Scaserra and Miguel Iribarne - President and Vice President of Grupo Mercado Abierto - to gather information about the attachments to which the M.A. Bank and M.A. Casa de Cambio DDA's [TR.: Possibly "Demand Deposit Accounts"] were subject on instructions from the US Customs Service.

Hector Scaserra told me he does not know who ordered said transfers, and he gave instructions to Dr. Sanguinetti's law offices that, through him, an American attorney should be hired to deal with the investigations.

This American attorney will need a Letter of Authority issued by the President of Grupo M.A. to the effect that Citibank NY should provide him the information required to initiate the appropriate legal proceedings.

M.A. exercises strict anti-money laundering controls. The procedures to be followed and its KYC policy are documented in Meeting minutes.

El 15 de mayo me reuni con los Sres. Iribarne y Scasserra con la finalidad de realizar un seguimiento de su operatoria.

Mercado Abierto S.A. es agente de Mercado Abierto y se especializa en la compra-venta de titulos publicos, pero su estrategia en los ultimos años ha focalizado principalmente como empresa de Asset Mgmt. manejando aprox.USD 400MM en activos .

Recientemente han creado tres fondos comunes de inversion:

2.-FONDO PROVINCIAL Y MUNICIPAL: fondo de inversion compuesto exclusivamente por titulos prov. y municipales; patrimonio de USD2,5MM

3.-FONDO MERCOSUR: renta mixta, compuesto por titulos publicos, acciones, ON, opciones y futuros.

Por otro lado, estan creando un fideicomiso financiero con el objeto de financiar proyectos de construccion en diversos barrios de la Capital, destinados al segmento medio/medio bajo de poblacion.

On May 15 I met with Messrs. Iribarne and Scasserra to follow up on their operation.

Mercado Abierto S.A. is an agent of Mercado Abierto and specializes in the purchase and sale of public securities, but its strategy in recent years has been principally as an Assets Management company handling approximately US$ 400 million in assets.

They have recently created three common investment funds:

- 1) Fondagro: Direct investment fund whose objectives were the planting, harvesting, and sale of cotton, corn, and soy during the 97/98 season; approximately US$ 2 million.
- 2) Fondo Provincial y Municipal: an investment fund comprised exclusively of provincial and municipal securities, with assets of US$ 2.5 million.
- 3) Fondo Mercosur: mixed payout consisting of public securities, shares, ON [TR.: probably negotiable obligations], options, and futures.

Moreover, they are creating a financial trusteeship with the objective of financing construction projects in various areas of the Capital, intended for the middle/lower middle population segment.

They have strict money laundering policies and do not accept clients who do not have references from the house's old clients, which at this time number about 3000.

Mercado Abierto's vehicles are:

M.A. Valores Soc. de Bolsa
M.A. Bank
M.A. Capital Markets
M.A. Casa de Cambio
Mercofond Soc. Gte. de fondos de inversión
Custodia Soc. dep. de fondos de inversión

Deloitte & Touche is in charge of auditing all these vehicles.

Amalia

Attn.: Mr. Franklin Mc Intyre
By Hand

Dear Mr. Mc Intyre:

Several weeks ago, you sent us information about the existence of an order issued by a Federal court levying an attachment on our account No. 36111386 in that Bank, and funds were debited therefrom to be transferred to the order of said Federal court.

As you advised us, this concerns an investigation being carried out by a Federal government agency. This is of great importance to us and causes us reasonable concern inasmuch as many transactions resulting from our commercial activity are carried out through the affected current account, and credits and debits in favor of an undetermined number of clients flow through this account.

Therefore, having received no notice from you other than that which was provided verbally, we request that you furnish us a report on the origin, cause, [and] authority acting on the attachment order received, as well as all actions taken by you whose objective was to make disposition of funds in our current account No. 36111386, as far as possible, providing us an exact copy of the documentary evidence attesting to the existence of such judicial order and of the transfers or other actions taken by you as a consequence thereof.

The purpose of this request is [to enable us to] take a position with respect to the court or acting governmental authority and even with respect to you. We would like to make it clear that we want to cooperate with any investigation emanating from competent legal authority, but you are aware of the duties with regard to protecting privacy and confidentiality that stem from our relationship with you and with our clients, which we must respect as long as they are not legitimately abolished by competent authority or by decision of our clients themselves, which we must request in each individual case.

Hoping to receive the requested information, sincerely yours,

I met with Hector Scasserra to learn about the referenced investigation. Scasserra advised me that Customs requested the attachment of its DDA's [TR.: Possibly "Demand Deposit Accounts"] since transfers in favor of one of its clients, which are being investigated, have been deposited in them [TR.: Ambiguous. It seems to be the transfers that are being investigated].

However, through its attorney in the United States, M.A. has cooperated with Customs, making all the information available to it in order to facilitate the investigation. The Court has not yet issued [a decision] in this regard.

Reason for the meeting:
Monthly visit to review the relationship and learn about new needs.

At this time, I offered the move from CCM to Citibanking because of the communication problems they are having. Moreover, the reconciliation of balances and movements from all their local accounts [which are] open in various banks is causing them serious administrative problems. Therefore, I offered them Datanet, and I sent them the contract, technical requirements, and record layout.

Furthermore, and considering Mercado's principal activity, we checked their Anti-Money Laundering procedures.

Re: Your letter dated June 4, 1999 [Ref.: KA/dml - License: 91057]

Dear Mr. Adamsons,

This is in reply to your most recent letter regarding information of proceedings in the United States.

We believe it may refer to the only legal matter in the United States which is an ongoing investigation from the U.S. Customs Service of funds deposited in M.A. Bank account in New York (Citibank, NA a/c # 36111386) for and in the benefit of third parties, namely one single customer of the Bank in Argentina.

Pursuant to a request made by the U.S. Customs Service to the Federal Court of the Central District of California, there was a seizure of USD 1,595,110.34 from such account. Aside from that event, the account has been unencumbered and fully operative to date.

The customer, who is a well known businessman in Argentina, connected with real estate development projects, has given his consent to disclose all the details of such transfers to the U.S. Customs Service.

The reimbursement to M.A. Bank, Ltd. of the funds withdrawn has been formally requested to the U.S. Customs Service and it is still an outstanding claim. Meanwhile, to the effect of protecting the depositors, the Bank's shareholders have made a pledge deposit for an equivalent amount. ||

RE: M.A. Bank Limited
Citibank NY Account No 36111386

Dear Mr. Adamsons:

My client, M. A. Bank Ltd., has requested me to report you the nature and status of the legal proceeding in connection with M. A Bank Ltd.'s (herein after referred as "the bank") account at Citibank New York, Account No 36111386.

The U.S. Customs Service ("Customs") is investigating financial and banking transactions within the United States that are supposedly related with money laundering activities. On May 14, 1998 the Customs requested the Federal Court of the Central District of California seizure of funds deemed connected with the investigation, deposited at several different banks within the United States. Customs submitted an affidavit in support of the Petition for Seizure where it was specifically indicated the transactions deemed connected to illegal activities. The Federal Court granted the petition and $1,596,110.34 were seized from account N° 36111386 of the Bank.

From the date we received notice of these proceedings, we have been working with Customs in order to facilitate their investigation. Since the transactions investigated by Customs and laid down in the affidavit are all funds deposited for order and to the benefit of one client of Bank, with this client's consent we provided Customs with history and records of the customer relations with the Bank and his personal testimony as well. In addition, we have sent Customs not only the Bank's business profile and balances but also other relevant institutional documentation about other companies of the group.

Aside the preventive proceeding to preserve funds deemed connected with the ongoing investigation, Customs has not pursued any action at Court against either the Bank or its client.

Attention: Mr. Richard Austin

Dear Mr. Iribane:

We refer your letter dated 7 June 1999 and further to a letter dated 17 June 1999 from your attorney, MARIELLA CARAVETTA, in connection with the seizure of bank funds in the USA allegedly connected with money laundering activities.

Please note that the content of the above letters did not provide sufficient details to enable the Monetary Authority to obtain a clear and complete understanding of the circumstances surrounding the alleged money laundering activities. Consequently, we would be grateful if you provided us with the following information/clarification:

1. In your letters you state that the seized funds were deposited with Citibank "for order and to the benefit of one client of Bank". You further state that the Bank has "ownership of the funds". Please clarify providing full details of the transactions involved, and obtain client's consent for the disclosure of such information as was done for the US Customs.
2. Please provide us with a copy of the US Customs affidavit, petition and any other relevant court documents, as well as the information and records provided to US Customs referred to in your attorney's letter dated 17 June 1999.
3. What are the offences connected with the alleged money laundering activities? How was the bank's customer involved?
4. Is the client involved a significant customer of the bank?

5. Is the client affiliated with the bank or to any of its officers or principals other than as a customer?

8. Please provide us with a copy of the bank's anti-money laundering policies, procedures and controls.

Re: Your letter dated 6-July-99 (your ref.: KA/tm)

Dear Mr. Adamsons,

We have received your letter requesting additional information about the proceeding and investigation initiated by the U. S Customs Service.

As required, we are explaining the case further and attaching documentation as well; however, we would like to remark that while the Federal Court Case No. 98-1191 ordering the seizure is public, the whole administrative proceeding and investigation of the U. S. Customs is reserved and not open to public consultation, therefore, we kindly request the privacy of documents and information learned in this letter.

1. The U.S. Customs Service is investigating eighteen (18) wire transfers received in account No 36111386 of M. A. Bank, Ltd. at Citibank NA, New York from August 12, 1997 to April 1, 1998. All those transfers were received for the account of Mr. Nicolás A. Di Tullio, a very well known businessman in Argentina with a long established tradition in the real estate market. At the time of the seizure ordered in Federal Court, Mr. Di Tullio's account had a negative balance (overdraft) of U.S. $242,375.51 as a result of withdrawals made under an overdraft facility. Therefore, the balance in our account at Citibank, New York, at the time of the seizure had no relation with the transfers received for Mr. Di Tullio's account..

We have obtained Mr. Di Tullio's consent to provide you with the statements and documentation reflecting all transactions and records with reference to his account that were attached as Exhibits to the Petition as explained at (2).

6. No employee, official, director or controller for the Bank is involved in any offence referring this case.
7. No other regulatory or legal action has been initiated against the Bank, its employees or officers.
8. As requested, we are attaching herein a copy of the Bank's anti-money laundering policies, procedures and controls.

3. Transactions to be closely monitored and reported to the management

- Accounts with a large number of deposits in cashier's checks, money orders, and/or wire transfers, when the nature of the accountholder's business does not justify such activity.
- Sudden and inconsistent change in currency transactions or patterns.
- An account that sends and receives wire transfers (especially to / from banks in haven countries), without an apparent business reason or when inconsistent with the customer's business or history.
- An account that receives many small incoming wire transfers or makes deposits using checks and money orders, and almost immediately wire transfers all but a token amount to another city or country, when such activity is not consistent with the customer's business or history.

- Regularly depositing or withdrawing large amounts (over U.S. $500,000) by wire transfers to, from, or through countries that are known sources of narcotics or whose bank secrecy laws facilitate the laundering of money.
- Receiving wire transfers and immediately purchasing monetary instruments prepared for payment to a third party.
- An account opened in the name of a money exchange house that receives wire transfers and/or structured deposits.

- A request for loans to an offshore company, especially one located in a heaven country, or for a loan secured by obligations of an offshore bank.
- A customer who purchases a number of cashier's checks, money orders, or traveller's checks for large amounts (over U.S. $100,000) just under a specified threshold or without apparent reason.
- Transactions that are inconsistent with the normal activity of a particular customer.

4. Considerations to be taken when analysing suspicious transactions

- Just because a transaction appears on the list does not mean that it involves illicit activities; it only means that the transaction requires closer scrutiny.
- Many of these activities are suspicious only because they are inconsistent with the normal customer behaviour.
- Many such transactions will be found, upon closer examination, to result from legitimate business activity.
- Reporting to the relevant authority is mandatory when, upon a closer scrutiny of the customer and its transactions, the managers and / or directors are not completely assured about its legality.

De nuestra consideración:

El presente informe tiene por objeto actualizar los datos ya enviados a esa entidad respecto de la investigación que la Aduana de los Estados Unidos ("La Aduana") se encuentra desarrollando y por la que se dispusiera, con fecha 14 de Mayo de 1998, el embargo de fondos correspondiente a la cuenta N° 36137631 de M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. en el banco Citibank N.A. de Nueva York, por un monto total de USD 234.598,23 (dólares estadounidenses doscientos treinta y cuatro mil quinientos noventa y ocho con veintitrés centavos).

Tal como se adelantara oportunamente, los fondos a los que se atribuyera origen ilícito fueron transferidos desde prestigiosas entidades financieras estadounidenses a un solo cliente de M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. y en su propio beneficio. No se han visto afectadas por la medida ordenada las transferencias recibidas con posterioridad a la fecha del embargo, operando M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. en forma normal y sin limitación alguna desde entonces con el banco de Estados Unidos (Citibank N.A.) y en la cuenta referida.

Nuestro cliente, que es un conocido comerciante argentino vinculado desde hace muchos años al negocio inmobiliario, ha autorizado expresamente a M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. a brindar toda la información que pudiera ser requerida por autoridades competentes.

Por otra parte, se ha solicitado formalmente a la Aduana la devolución de los fondos embargados, con sustento en que al momento del embargo éstos no pertenecían a nuestro cliente sino que eran de exclusiva propiedad de M.A. Casa de Cambio

Letter to Banco Central Argentina from Scasserra

Dear Sirs:

The purpose of this report is to update the data already sent to that entity with respect to the investigation that US Customs is carrying out for whatever purposes deemed appropriate, dated May 14, 1998 the embargo of funds, accounts 36137631 for MA Casa Di Cambio for US dollars 234,598. 23 and MA Bank 36111386 for an amount of US dollars 1,596,110.34.

As will become apparent in due course, the funds to which illegal origin is attributed were transferred from prestigious U.S. financial entities to a single client of M.A. Casa de Cambio SA and to his benefit. Transfers received after the date of the embargo have not been affected by the measure ordered, with MA Casa de Cambio SA operating normally and without any limitation whatsoever since then with the US bank (Citibank NA) and in the referenced account.

Our client, who is a well-known Argentinian merchant who has been involved for many years in real estate has expressly authorized MA Casa de Cambio to provide all information that may be required by the competent authorities.

Moreover, Customs has formally been requested to return the embargoed funds based on the fact that at the time of the embargo they did not belong to our client but were the exclusive property of MA Casa de Cambio which was not involved in the activities under investigation. The request has not yet been resolved by said authority.

We would also like to report that our attorney in Los Angeles, Dr. Mariela Caravetta.... (address) ... is in charge of this matter. We have requested that she provide a full report of the administrative procedural status of MA Casa de Cambio with respect to Customs and this report is attached herewith in order to amplify the information provided.

De nuestra consideración:

Nos ha solicitado Ud. un informe respecto de la naturaleza y situación de la investigación que la Aduana de los Estados Unidos ("la Aduana") se encuentra desarrollando y por la que se dispusiera, con fecha 14 de mayo de 1998, el embargo de fondos depositados en las cuentas n° 36137631 de M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. por un monto total de U$$. 234.598,23 (dólares estadounidenses doscientos treinta y cuatro mil quinientos noventa y ocho con veintitrés centavos) y n° 36111386 de M.A. Bank Ltd. por un monto total de U$$.1,596,110.34 ( dólares estadounidenses un millón quinientos noventa y seis mil ciento diez con treinta y cuatro centavos), ambas en Citibank N.A. de Nueva York.

Estimamos conveniente resaltar que, mientras las órdenes de embargo emanadas de la Corte Federal de los Estados Unidos son de carácter público, la totalidad del procedimiento administrativo e investigación de la Aduana es reservado y no se encuentra abierto a la consulta pública, por lo tanto, rogamos a ustedes la absoluta reserva y privacidad de la información contenida en este documento.

La Aduana se encuentra investigando transacciones financieras dentro de los Estados Unidos que estarían relacionadas con actividades ilícitas. En mayo de 1998 requirió a la Corte Federal del Distrito Central de California el embargo de fondos aparentemente conectados con la investigación y que habían sido depositados en diferentes bancos de los Estados Unidos. La Corte Federal accedió a la solicitud, procediéndose al embargo, entre otros tantos pertenecientes a diversas entidades financieras, de los montos y en las cuentas señalados en el párrafo primero.

Desde el momento en que fuimos notificados de estos procedimientos, hemos cooperado con la Aduana a fin de facilitar su investigación. Como las transacciones investigadas correspondían a fondos depositados por orden y en beneficio de un cliente determinado, el Sr. Nicolás Di Tullio, con su consentimiento hemos provisto a la Aduana de información y hemos ofrecido asimismo su testimonio, como también los de los Directores de M.A. Bank Ltd. y M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A., testimonios que se han llevado a cabo en la Ciudad de Buenos Aires y que refuerzan la posición de ambas entidades en cuanto a que los fondos secuestrados eran de su exclusiva propiedad y que no existe vinculación alguna entre ellas y las maniobras supuestamente ilícitas investigadas.

En las entrevistas mencionadas hemos aportado toda la documentación relevante solicitada por los agentes investigadores, resaltando en todo momento la desvinculación total de nuestras entidades con las maniobras investigadas por la Aduana. Asimismo, nuestro cliente ha brindado información abundante sobre los destinos a los cuales ha aplicado los fondos recibidos, ha entregado documentación respaldatoria de sus dichos y ha brindado datos específicos sobre sus mandantes, insistiendo en el desconocimiento total propio y por parte de M.A. Bank Ltd. y M.A. Casa de Cambio del presunto origen ilícito de los fondos.

Es importante destacar que, al momento de ordenarse los embargos, la cuenta de Nicolás Di Tullio en M.A. Bank tenía un balance negativo de US$ 242,375.51 como resultado de extracciones realizadas con facilidades otorgadas por el banco para girar en descubierto. Por lo tanto, los balances en las cuentas de M.A. Bank Ltd. y M.A. Casa de Cambio en Citibank New York al momento del embargo no tenían relación alguna con las transferencias recibidas en favor de la cuenta de Nicolás Di Tullio.

Asimismo, la Aduana no ha iniciado ninguna acción judicial contra M.A. Bank Ltd., M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. o su cliente fuera del procedimiento preventivo para preservar los fondos que consideraron conectados con la investigación que se está llevando a cabo. Más allá de la información general contenida en el informe que el Agente investigador de la Aduana presentara a la Corte Federal con el objeto de obtener el embargo de los fondos, el gobierno americano no ha provisto pruebas específicas de hecho y de derecho para justificar el secuestro de los fondos.

Por otra parte, se ha acreditado ante la Aduana que nuestro cliente, que es un conocido comerciante argentino vinculado desde hace muchos años al negocio inmobiliario, no es un cliente significativo de M.A. Bank. En efecto, durante el período julio 1997 - mayo 1998, en el que la cuenta se encontraba operativa, el cliente recibió transferencias por US$ 16.2 millones, lo que representó un 1.3% de la actividad total (US$ 1,284.4 millones) de la cuenta del banco en Citibank New York. Más aún, las transferencias por 7.8 millones de dólares estadounidenses investigadas por la Aduana representan tan sólo un 0.6% de la actividad total mencionada "ut supra".

Habiendo presentado evidencia de la plena propiedad de los fondos por M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. y M.A. Bank Ltd. al momento del embargo y requerido oportunamente su restitución, confiamos en que la Aduana resolverá favorablemente esta controversia sin otra acción.

M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A.
Authorized by the Central Bank of the Argentine Republic

Buenos Aires, 22 October 1999

Citibank N.A.
Buenos Aires Branch
Attn: Mrs. Amalia IGLESIAS

Dear Mrs. Iglesias:

You requested from us a report concerning the nature and current status of the investigation being conducted by United States Customs ("Customs"), pursuant to which, on 14 May 1998, attachment [embargo] was ordered of the funds deposited in accounts no. 36137631 of M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. in the amount of US$ 234,598.23 (two hundred and thirty four thousand five hundred ninety eight dollars and twenty-three cents) and no. 36111386 of M.A. Bank Ltd. in the amount of US$ 1,596,110.34 (one million five hundred ninety six thousand one hundred ten dollars and thirty-four cents), both with Citibank N.A. in New York.

We consider it advisable to stress that, although the attachment order issued by the United States Federal Court is a matter of public record, the whole administrative and investigative proceeding by Customs is confidential [reservado] and not open to public consultation; we therefore request from you the utmost discretion and privacy as regards the information contained herein.

Customs is investigating financial transactions within the United States which are thought to be related with illegal activities. In May of 1998 it asked the Federal Court of the Central District of California to order attachment of funds apparently connected with the investigation which had been deposited at various banks in the United States. The Federal Court granted the request and ordered attachment of the sums in the accounts referred to in the first paragraph above, among a number of others belonging to various financial entities.

From the moment when we were notified of these proceedings, we have cooperated with Customs in order to facilitate the investigation. Since the transactions being investigated corresponded to funds deposited by order of and for the benefit of a given client, Mr. Nicolas Di Tullio, we provided information to Customs, with his consent, and we have also provided his testimony, as well as that of the Directors of M.A. Bank Ltd. and M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A.; said testimony was taken in the city of Buenos Aires and it supports the position of the two financial entities to the effect that the frozen funds are exclusively their own property and that there does not exist any link between these financial entities and the allegedly illegal activities being investigated.

During the aforementioned meetings we have provided all the relevant documentation requested by the investigators, always emphasizing that our institutions are completely unrelated to the dealings under investigation by Customs. Likewise, our client has provided abundant information about the uses to which he has put the funds received, has provided documentary backing for his statements, and has come forward with specific information about his principals, stressing that neither he nor M.A. Bank Ltd. And M.A. Casa de Cambio have any knowledge of the ostensible illegal origin of the funds.

1/00 15:55 FAX 202 863 8383

00 11/11 2000 10:00

It is important to stress that, at the time the attachment took effect, the account of Nicolas Di Tullio with M.A. Bank had a negative balance of US$ 242,375.51 as a result of withdrawals made through overdraft facilities granted by the bank. Therefore, the balances on the accounts of M.A. Bank Ltd. and M.A. Casa de Cambio at Citibank New York at the time of the attachment were completely unrelated with the transfers received in favor of the account of Nicolas Di Tullio.

Moreover, Customs has not initiated any judicial proceedings against M.A. Bank Ltd., M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. or its client beyond the preventive proceeding to preserve funds which they considered connected with the investigation being conducted. Beyond the general information contained in the report which the Customs Investigator presented to the Federal Court in order to obtain the attachment of the funds, the U.S. Government has not provided specific factual or legal evidence in support of the attachment of the funds.

Further, it has been shown to Customs that our client, who is a well-known Argentine businessman involved for many years in the real estate business, is not a significant client of M.A. Bank. Indeed, during the period July 1997-May 1998, when the account was active, this client received transfers for US$ 16.2 million, which accounted for 1.3% of the total activity (US$ 1,284.4 million) on the bank's account with Citibank New York. And the transfers for US$ 7.8 million investigated by Customs account for only 0.6% of the total activity mentioned above.

Having presented evidence of full ownership of the funds by M.A. Casa de Cambio S.A. and M.A. Bank Ltd. at the time of the attachment and having requested their timely restitution, we trust that Customs will favorably resolve this matter without further action.

We are at your disposal to clarify any doubt or provide any further information you may consider necessary.

Yours sincerely,

Tal como te anticipara telefonicamente, en mayo de 1998 se embargaron las cuentas 36137631 de M.A.Casa de Cambio por USD 234,598.23 y M.A.Bank 36111386 por un monto de USD 1,596,110.34 a raíz de la investigacion llevada a cabo por Customs de EEUU..

Ambas empresas, que pertenecen al grupo Mercado Abierto, de amplia y prestigiosa trayectoria en el mercado, pusieron un abogado en EEUU y en junio 1999 invitaron a la Reserva Federal y Customs Service a visitar sus oficinas en BsAs y presentarles todos los antecedentes de las transferencias investigadas como así tambien al cliente beneficiario de las mismas.

Este cliente de MA Bank y Casa de Cambio, es un conocido empresario del negocio inmobiliario y demostro que opero de buena fe, mostrando escrituras de los bienes comprados con los montos de las transferencias.

Segun me confirmo el abogado de Bs.As que se hizo cargo del tema a pedido de Mercado Abierto, en este momento no hay causa judicial – solo administrativa.
Y la Reserva Federal con todos los antecedentes recabados en Bs.As. se expedira en breve.

Te enviare por fax, la carta que me hizo llegar la empresa.

No obstante esto y aun conociendo que los accionistas son muy conocidos en el mercado y la empresa tiene estrictos controles de anti money laundering, estaríamos dispuestos a cerrar sus DDA's si lo consideras necesario.

Quedo a la espera de tus comentarios

Hector:

As I told you before by telephone, in May of 1998 attachment was ordered on accounts 36137631 of M.A. Casa de Cambio for US$ 234,598.23 and M.A. Bank 36111 for an amount of US$ 1,596,110.34 as a result of the investigation being conducted by US Customs.

Both companies, which belong to the Mercado Abierto group, which is very prominent in the market, put a lawyer in the US and in June 1999 invited the Federal Reserve and Customs Service to visit their offices in Buenos Aires and presented to them all the background of the transfers investigated as well as the client who was the beneficiary of the same.

This client of MA Bank and Casa de Cambio is a well-known businessman in the real estate business and showed that he had acted in good faith, showing the deeds for the properties bought with the amounts from the transfers.

As confirmed to me by the Buenos Aires lawyer who dealt with the matter at the request of Mercado Abierto, at this time there is no judicial proceeding —only an administrative one. And the Federal Reserve, with all the information received in Buenos Aires, will reach a decision soon.

I will send you by fax the letter I got from the company.

Notwithstanding this, and even knowing that the shareholders are very well known in the market and the company has strict anti-money-laundering controls, we would be prepared to close the DDAs if you consider it necessary.

I look forward to your comments.

Thank you,
Amalia

Como te dije las transferencias vienen en su mayoria del Bofa.
 Si bien creemos que Mercado Abierto justifico bien su caso ante los reguladores (junio 99), le informaremos que queremos cerrar las cuentas a modo de

M.A.Bank recibio entre agosto 97 y abril 98, 18 transferencias que estan siendo investigadas por la Aduana americana, por un monto promedio de USD 500M, segun detalle :

- a) Ordenante : Income Properties
 Bco.debito : Bank America
 Total : 12 transferencias
- b) Ordenante : integration Services
 Bco.debito : Bank America
 Total : 3 transferencias
- c) Ordenante : Dorado Trading
 Bco.debito : Bank United
 Total : 2 transferencias
- d) Ordenante : Southwest Capitol Investment
 Bco.debito : NationsBank FL
 Total : 1 transferencias

Los beneficiarios de estas transferencias fueron los siguientes :

Nicolas Di Tullio : 9 transfer.

Maria Alonso (esposa de Di Tullio) : 2

En las 7 restantes si bien el beneficiario es un tercero, fueron cobradas por Di Tullio, dado que segun informa M.A. respondian al pago de propiedades inmobiliarias adquiridas por estos y a cuyo nombre estan extendidas las escrituras.

M.A. controlaba la informacion que Di Tullio les proporcionaba acerca de los pagos a recibir con los boletos de compra-venta de las operaciones y de esta manera efectuaba el pago.

En la reunion concertada en Bs.As con representantes de Customs Service y Reserva Federal, tanto M.A. como Di Tullio pusieron a disposicion de estos, toda la informacion que atestigua la genuinidad de las operaciones llevadas a cabo con los montos involucrados en dichas transferencias.

Between August 97 and April 98 M.A. Bank received 18 transfers which are being investigated by US Customs, for an average amount of US$ 500,000, as per the following details:

A) From: Income Properties
 Debit bank: Bank America
 Total: 12 transfers

B) From: Integration Services
 Debit bank: Bank America
 Total: 3 transfers

C) From: Dorado Trading
 Debit bank: Bank United
 Total: 2 transfers

d) From: Southwest Capital Investments
 Debit bank: NationsBank FL
 Total: 1 transfer

The beneficiaries of these transfers were as follows:

Nicolas Di Tullio: 9 transfers

Maria Alonso (wife of Di Tullio): 2

As for the 7 remaining ones, although the beneficiary is a third party, they were collected by Di Tullio, because according to report of M.A. they corresponded to payment for items of real property purchased by them and in whose name the deeds are made out. [sic]

M.A. controlled the information which Di Tullio provided them about the payments to be received with the purchase slips of the transactions and in that manner effected the payment.

In the meeting held in Buenos Aires with representatives of the Customs Service and Federal Reserve, both M.A. and Di Tullio put at their disposal all the information attesting to the authenticity of the transactions conducted with the amounts involved in said transfers.

El viernes nos reunimos en las oficinas del Dr. Raul Sanguinetti – abogado de Mercado Abierto – a los efectos de analizar la situación actual de la empresa con respecto a la investigación de 18 transferencias que Customs Service esta llevando a cabo y la posibilidad de cancelar la relación comercial que la empresa mantiene con el Banco desde 15 años.

M.A. y el Dr. Sanguinetti nos manifestaron que conocen al beneficiario de dichas transferencias desde hace mas de 20 años, que es un conocido agente inmobiliario y que sus operaciones representan solo 0.3% del volumen total de M.A.

En junio pasado, mantuvieron una reunión en Bs.As con representantes de Customs Service y Reserva Federal, donde mostraron todos sus registros, las políticas de KYC y AML establecidas mediante acta de Directorio, le presentaron a su cliente quien demostro que los fondos involucrados en las transferencias obedecían al pago de propiedades inmobiliarias y que las comisiones cobradas por dicha intermediación estaban dentro del standard para ese mercado.

Sugerimos el cierre de las DDA's, proponiendo que abran cuentas en otros bancos, pero manifestaron que dado que están en negociación con un banco extranjero para vender parte de su Private Banking, la desvinculación con Citibank podría ocasionarles un serio perjuicio debido a que dicho bco. está en conocimiento de la situación judicial de M.A.

Por tal razón, nos ofrecieron que sus abogados de EEUU mantengan una reunión con el Compliance Officer de Citibank N.Y. a los efectos de presentar todo lo diligenciado hasta el momento y demostrar que la empresa es totalmente ajena a las maniobras de lavado de dinero investigadas.

Hector : desearía que analices este requerimiento de M.A. y si lo consideras viable me avises para coordinar la cita.

Por otra parte, te estare enviando por DHL, copia de la carpeta de antecedentes al respecto, que nos entregaron en esta reunión.

On Friday we met at the office of Dr. Raul Sanguinetti, attorney for Mercado Abierto, in order to examine the present situation of the company with respect to the investigation of 16 transfers that Customs is conducting and the possibility of canceling the commercial relationship that company has had with the Bank for 15 years.

M.A. and Dr. Sanguinetti told us that they have known the beneficiary of those transfers for more than 20 years, that he is a well known real estate businessman and that his operations account for only 0.3% of the total volume of M.A.

Last June they had a meeting in Buenos Aires with representatives of the Customs Service and Federal Reserve where they showed all their records, the KYC and AML policies established by decision of the Directorate, introduced their client, who showed that the funds involved in the transfers corresponded to payments for items of real estate and that the commissions charged for that brokerage were within the standard for that market.

We suggested the closing of the DDAs, proposing that they open accounts at other banks, but they indicated that they were in negotiation with a foreign bank to sell part of their Private Banking, and breaking the relationship to Citibank could be seriously prejudicial to them because said bank was aware of the judicial situation of M.A.

For this reason, they offered that their lawyers in the US should have a meeting with the Compliance Officer at Citibank NY in order to present all that had been done so far and to show that the company is entirely unrelated to the money laundering dealings under investigation.

Hector: I would like you to analyze this request from M.A. and if you consider it viable let me know so that I can arrange the meeting.

~~I will also be sending you by DHL the file of background materials in this respect, which were given to us at the meeting.~~

Greetings,
 Amalia

Mercado Abierto es un cliente que tiene 12 años de actividad con Citibank sin presentar ningún problema. Sus accionistas Aldo Ducler, Miguel Iribarne y Hector Scasserra son personas de buena reputación en el mercado local. La actividad principal de Mercado Abierto es el manejo de fondos de personas (PBG) para lo cual tienen una extrabursatil dueña a su vez de un banco offshore y una casa de cambio que se usa exclusivamente con la clientela del private banking.

El resumen de los hechos fue la siguiente

1.- En 1998 la Aduana de EEUU ordena un embargo de u$ 1.7 MM en dos cuentas de entidad en Citi New York. El embargo no ordena congelamiento de las cuentas. Como MA desconocía el motivo del embargo contrata abogados en New York y comienza a dialogar con la Aduana a través de sus abogados. Citi New York no nos notificó el motivo del embargo ni recomendó el cierre de las cuentas. No se vieron afectadas por la medida ordenada, las transferencias recibidas con posterioridad a la fecha del embargo, operando ambas cuentas con normalidad.

2.- Recien en junio 99 MA se reúne con funcionarios de la Aduana al cual le presentan al cliente beneficiario de los fondos de nombre Nicolas Di Tullio- el cual es un conocido agente inmobiliario, amigo personal de Aldo Ducler- quien es cliente desde 20 años atrás- y merecedor de toda su confianza. Nicolas Di Tullio trabaja para Norheimer & Minola segun dicen los directivos de MA. En esa reunion le muestran a la Aduana que a) las transacciones se hicieron con las comisiones que son practica de mercado, b) se encuentran en la contabilidad de la entidad y fueron reportadas a BCRA. Es importante aclarar que segun lo dicho por los directivos de MA: a) la Aduana no ha iniciado ninguna accion judicial contra M.A.Bank ,M.A.Casa de Cambio ni sus directores y accionistas y c) el expediente se encuentra en tramite administrativo y c) Ellos conocian al cliente y recibieron los fondos desde el Bofa lo que les dio seguridades de que ya habian sido filtrados por el KYC de dicho banco.

Desde el punto de vista de Citibank Buenos Aires los pasos que seguimos fueron los siguientes:

- Interiorizarnos de la situacion y del feedback positivo que tenian de la Aduana de EEUU.
- Consultar en octubre pasado a Citibank New York (Hector Noreña) si debiamos cerrar esta cuenta. El tema se hablo con abogados y creemos que Hector lo consulto con su compliance ya que nosotros pensabamos que de acuerdo a la trayectoria de los accionistas y a como estaba planteada la operacion estos no se encuentran involucrados en forma conciente en ninguna actividad ilicita.
- Citi New York tiene en su poder el BIR del cliente y las politicas de control de lavado de dinero del mismo.
- Pedirle copia de lo actuado hasta el momento.
- Luego de hablar con Guillermo Stanley y Carlos Fedrigotti solicitamos el cierre de la cuenta por la alta exposicion que implicaria la divulgacion publica de la investigacion. Al pedido de cierre nos respondieron pidiendonos tiempo para abrir cuentas en otros bancos y nos ofrecieron que sus abogados viajaran a EEUU para hablar con abogados o compliance.

Desde el punto de vista de proceso Citibank Bs As no puede hacer el control de cuentas en Citi New York. El seguimiento de las mismas esta a cargo de AML y nunca hemos recibido ninguna comunicacion al respecto. Los montos involucrados no llaman la atencion por tratarse de transferencias individuales de u$ 500 M insignificantes en los movimientos del cliente.

PS000353

4551

Conclusion / Action Plan:

Los cierres de cuenta ya estan decididos pero la situacion actual nos obliga a esperar algunos dias hasta que el tema deje de ser publico. El tema se hace publico ya que existe un exhorto de las autoridades de Mexico queriendo recuperar las propiedades compradas con estos fondos ya que los mismos provendrian de bancos Mexicanos.

Este caso puede ser utilizado politicamente para presionar sobre el Congreso por la pronta sancion de las leyes de lavado de dinero.

Aun creemos que MA actuo de buena fe en este caso pero el estado publico que tanto hara que la entidad sufra hasta el punto de tener que cerrar sus operaciones.

^Los comunicaremos con Citi New York para consultar si se puede tomar alguna medida preventiva con respecto a esta cuenta.

 Subject: Mercado Abierto - Action Plan

Mercado Abierto is a client which has done business with Citibank for 12 years and has had no problems. Its shareholders, Aldo Ducler, Miguel Iribarne and Hector Scarserra are people of good reputation in the local market. The principal business of Mercado Abierto is handling funds for people (PBG) for which it has an unlisted company [extrabursari] which in turn owns an offshore bank and an exchange house which is used exclusively with the private banking clientele.

The following is a summary of the facts:

1. In 1998 US Customs ordered an attachment on US$ 1.7 million in two accounts of the company with Citi New York. The attachment does not order a freezing of the accounts. Since MA did not know the reason for it, it began talks with Customs through its lawyers. Citi New York did not advise us of the reason for the attachment nor did it recommend closing the accounts.

The measure ordered did not affect transfers received after the date of the attachment, and both accounts operated normally.

2. In June 99, MA met with officials of Customs and introduced the client who was the beneficiary of the funds, Nicolas Di Tullio, who is a well-known real estate agent, a personal friend of Aldo Ducler—who has been a client for 20 years—and enjoyed his full trust. Nicolas Di Tullio works for Norbeimer & Minola, according to MA executives. At that meeting it was shown to Customs that a) the transactions were done with the commissions that are normal practice in the market, b) they are accounted for in the accounts of the entity and were reported to the Central Bank of Argentina. It is important to clarify that, according to what was said by the MA executives: a) Customs has not begun any judicial action against M.A. Bank, M.A. Casa de Cambio or its officers and shareholders, b) the case is going through administrative proceedings, and c) They knew the client and received the funds from Bofa, which made them feel assured that they had already been filtered through the KYC of that bank.

From the standpoint of Citibank Buenos Aires, the steps we took were as follows:

- a) Analyzing the situation and the positive feedback from US Customs.
- b) Consulting Citibank New York last October (Hector Norens) on whether we should close the account. This was discussed with lawyers and we think that Hector consulted about it with his compliance people, since we believed that in light of the record of the shareholders and given the posture of the transaction, they were not consciously involved in any illegal activity.
- c) Citi New York has in its possession the client's BIR and the money laundering policies of the same.
- d) Asking for a copy of what had been done so far.

c) After talking with Guillermo Stanley and Carlos Fedigoni, we requested the closing of the account due to the high exposure implied by the public disclosure of the investigation. The request for closure was answered by a request for time in order to open accounts at other banks and they offered to have their lawyers travel to the US to speak with lawyers or with compliance.

From the standpoint of process Citibank Buenos Aires cannot exercise control over accounts at Citi New York. The follow-up of that is the task of AML and we have never received any communication in that regard. The amounts involved are not very significant because these are individual transfers of US 500,000, insignificant in the movements of the client.

Conclusion / Action Plan:

The closing of the accounts is already decided but the present situation obliges us to wait a few days until the issue ceases to be public. The subject is being aired publicly because letters rogatory have come from the Mexican authorities seeking to recover properties purchased with these funds, since the funds apparently come from Mexican banks.

This case can be used politically to pressure the Congress for prompt passage of laws on money laundering.

We still believe that MA acted in good faith in this case, but the public character it has taken on will mean hardship for that entity to the extent of having to close its operations.

We will communicate with Citi new York to ask whether any preventive action can be taken with respect to this account.

We would be grateful for your comments or suggestions with regard to this case to this account.

Yo no seguiria con la relacion.

Si como me comentara Amalia Iglesias,ellos han realizado la denuncia del tema al BCRA, debemos lograr tener copia de esos tramites. En caso contrario deberiamos analizar si no lo tenemos que hacer nosotros.

Deberiamos tambien comenzar a armar un file con los comprobantes de la operatoria local (extracto de cuentas locales, comprobantes de transferencias, etc.) pues seguramente va a ser solicitado por la Gerencia de Requerimientos y Control del BCRA.

De acuerdo con las normas, deberia haber sido inmediatamente informado ante la primer noticia del hecho.

Nestor I agree about the closing but we should coordinate it with Willy who handles the press. These transfers will go into the New York account. The local accounts practically do not move.

12/2/99 5:24 P.M.

I would not follow with the list.

If, as Amalia Iglesias told me, they have reported the matter to the BCRA, we should get a copy of those proceedings. Otherwise we would have to analyze if we don't have them what we should do.

We should also start to build a file with the documentation/receipts from the local way of doing things (extract of local accounts, receipts of transfers, etc.) since it will surely be requested by the BCRA's management of requests and control.

In accordance with the guidelines, this should have been reported immediately given the first news of the event/action.

De acuerdo a lo informado por Graciela Acevedo (caja) para que los cheques sean bloqueo 1 es "cuenta inactiva". En consecuencia agradeceré su modificación.

As requested, the following is a brief overview of the Tampa Anti Money Laundering Unit. The AML Unit performs a sample monitoring of whole sale products, which can be found mentioned below. Sets of parameters are utilized to categorize and/or help identify the vast amount of information being reviewed. Once an investigation is initiated, the appropriate AMLCO is contacted. The AML Unit's monitoring works in conjunction with and is not to be considered a replacement of the countries and/or products Know Your Customer policies. Therefore, it should not to be considered the end to all monitoring.

John, Carlos: The reason for this request is to know about the flow of funds on the mentioned days to be able to determine what debits were made in both DDA's, amount, banks, and beneficiaries. The statements should not be sent to Buenos Aires so I would be grateful if you could perform this analysis and advise us as soon as possible. I am available if you have any questions. Thank you very much for your cooperation. Regards, Amalia.

Description of the event

On December 2, 1999 a front page article appeared in the newspaper La Nacion reporting money transfers from Bank of America to Mercado Abierto through accounts in Citibank NY that were being investigated by Argentine Courts. This information generated a search and seizure procedure in Mercado Abierto's offices in downtown Buenos Aires that same day.

This investigation started in May 1998, when the U.S. Custom Services issued a warrant to seize US$1.5MM from Mercado Abierto Bank and Mercado Abierto Casa de Cambio accounts in Citibank NY (Account # 3611389 and 36137631). Citibank NY informed the customer of the legal order and delivered the money to the court.

The legal order did not include either the freezing or the closing of the aforementioned accounts. We talked with the customer and they were surprised by what was going on. Afterwards they explained to us that they knew their client very well and were sure that there would not be any problem in the future. The decision was taken to keep the accounts opened at that time because we believed our customer and we did not have any elements in the past that would indicate that Mercado Abierto could be involved in any illegal procedure.

These accounts are monitored by US Anti Money Laundering. We have not received any report on any suspicious transactions done through these accounts since the seizure was ordered.

During checks made with the customer in October 99, they told us that they held meetings with US Customs during June 1999. In the meeting US Customs told our client that the procedure was in an "administrative" status.

After this meeting, we kept close contact with the client. This information is kept in our files and was sent today (December 3) to Compliance NY.

Our understanding of what happened

Mercado Abierto Casa de Cambio and M.A. Bank received $1.5 MM dollars from U.S. Banks (Bank of America, Nations Bank and United) in their correspondent bank accounts at Citibank NY. The final beneficiary of these transfers was Mr. Di Tullio and other companies represented by Mr. Di Tullio in Buenos Aires. This transaction did not attract the attention of Mercado Abierto as these were considered normal for the real estate business operations of Mr. Di Tullio with Mercado Abierto. The only condition Mercado Abierto required of Mr. Di Tullio was that the funds come from top tier American Banks.

Client Background

The customer is a very well respected Financial Institution in Argentina founded in 1983. It operates primarily in the asset management business as well as equity broker of the largest privatized companies in Argentina (YPF, Telefonos). It also has a large base of private banking customers. In order to perform the latter business, Mercado Abierto owns a brokerage house (M.A. Valores Sociedad de Bolsa), an offshore Bank in Cayman Islands (M.A. Bank), and FX house (M.A. Casa de Cambio) and an Over the Counter broker (M.A. Mercado Abierto). The company has hired Deloitte & Touche as their auditors for the whole group. The ownership is distributed among: Miguel Iribarne (33%), Aldo Ducler (33%) and Hector Soarez (33%). These three individuals are well known individuals in the local financial markets.

Citibank Buenos Aires started operations with the customer in 1989. We only provide Cash Management services to this customer.
 The company has an institutional web site at www.mesa.com.ar

Citibank's control procedures

With the information we currently have, we believe that Citibank has no responsibility in this affair, given that:

- We comply in Argentina with "know your customer policy", including the Basic Information Report and we also reviewed the customer's money laundering written policies.
- The US Anti Money Laundering Unit monitors account activity.
- The transfers under review by US Customs were not suspicious for our AML controls because they were similar to the amounts transferred by the customer in its everyday operations.
- All the transfers subject to this investigation have not been transferred to Mercado Abierto Citibank Buenos Aires bank accounts. Therefore, they transferred the funds to Argentina through other banks.

En el día de hoy atendí una llamada para ti de Hector Noreña. Quería conversar contigo respecto del caso MA. En este sentido me comentó que él está relativamente tranquilo respecto de este tema

REDACTED

REDACTED

Según Hector la responsabilidad respecto del manejo de este caso ante el embargo quedaba bajo el departamento legal ya que ellos estaban al tanto del origen del embargo y la única comunicación que a él le llegó era la de requerir la información en Oct-99 que fue facilitada por Citi Arg en tiempo y forma.

Respecto del cierre de la cuenta, Hector me comentó que Citi NY recibe diariamente gran cantidad de embargos sobre cuentas de clientes y que estos no originan de por sí un cierre de estas cuentas. El normal procedimiento es derivarlo al departamento legal y que este lo analiza y decide las acciones a ser tomadas.

PD: la idea de este email era no olvidar nada de la conversación mantenida debido a la importancia del tema.

Today I took a call for you from Hector Noreña. He wanted to talk to you about the MA case. In this respect, he told me that he is relatively at ease about this issue [redacted]

According to Hector, responsibility for managing this case with regard to the embargo rested with the legal department, since they were fully informed about the origin of the embargo and the only communication he received was the one requesting information in October 99 which was provided by Citi Arg on a timely basis and in the appropriate manner.

Regarding closing the account, Hector told me that Citi NY receives many embargos on customer accounts every day and that in and of themselves they do not result in the closing of these accounts. The normal procedure is for it to be sent to the legal department, which studies it and decides what action will be taken.

Maneja el tema tambien con John Llera para ver como se hace operativamente para seguir con el cierre de cuenta.

Pablo esto debe ser comunicado y coordinado con John Emert. Cuando yo hable con el cliente para comunicarle la decision del banco lo unico que pidio fue una carta con los motivos que fue redactada por Carlos Barrio y John Emert. Se ve que ahora quieren hacer un caso del perjuicio que les provocaria la decision, a nivel imagen en el mercado.

Creo que es importante que estes en conocimiento de este tema:
En la fecha llame a Hector Scasserra - Presidente de M.A. - porque el 14 y 16 de febrero se cumple el plazo para proceder al cierre de las DDAs y cuentas locales de acuerdo a las notificaciones enviadas oportunamente. A tal efecto le solicite que, con anterioridad a las fechas mencionadas, envíe carta de instruccion para la transferencias de los saldos que presenten dichas cuentas. (con el proposito de evitar dilatar el tramite).
Al respecto, H.Scasserra me manifesto que el directorio ésta totalmente disconforme con esta decision de Citibank y asi lo han hecho saber a BCRA, a quien elevaron la consulta formal acerca de si un Banco puede disponer el cierre de una cuenta arbitrariamente y por un tema mediatico con el grave perjuicio que ello ocasiona a la empresa.

Agrego que fueron auditados por BCRA y CNV con resultados satisfactorios y ningun banco del mercado ha dejado de operar con ellos. Razon por la cual dicen, no justificar la decision de Citibank que les provoca " un daño irreparable ".

Con respecto a las DDAs, no aceptan la carta enviada por John Llera por considerarla escueta y sin fundamentos debido a que N.Y. desde el principio conocio el tema del embargo y no obstante ello les permitio continuar operando normalmente. Sus abogados tanto en Bs.As como en N.Y iniciaran acciones legales contra Citibank.

Dijo tomar nota del motivo de mi llamado y pasar el tema al estudio juridico que los asesora.

Discussions are also being held with John Llera to see how to follow up operationally regarding the account closure. Pablo, this should be communicated and coordinated with John Emertz. When I spoke to the client to advise him about the bank's decision the only thing he asked for was a letter with the reasons drawn up by Carlos Barrio and John Emertz. We see now that they want to make a case for the damage that the decision would cause them in terms of their image in the market. Regards. Martin

February 2, 2000 4:01 P.M.

Pablo, I think it is important for you to be aware of this: today I called Hector Scasserra President of MA because on February 14th and 16th the time period ends for proceeding to close the DDA's and local accounts in accordance with the notifications that were timely sent. For that purpose, I asked him, before the aforementioned dates, to send a letter of instruction for the transfers of the balances in those accounts (for the purpose of preventing delays). In this regard H. Scasserra told me that the Board of Directors is in total disagreement with this decision of Citibank and they have so advised BCRA which formally asked if a bank can arbitrarily order the closing of an account [manipulatively??] with the serious harm that causes the company. I add that they were audited by BCRA and CNV with satisfactory results and no bank in the market has stopped working with them. Therefore, they say, that Citibank's decision is not justified and is causing them "irreparable harm". With respect to the DDA's, they do not accept the letter sent by John Llera because they consider it [skeletal/inadequate] and baseless due to the fact that New York, from the outset, knew about the embargo and nevertheless allowed them to continue operating normally. Their attorneys both in Buenos Aires and New York will bring legal action against Citibank. He said that he took note of the reason for my call and will pass the matter on to the lawfirm that is advising them. Regards, Amalia.

Dear Mr. Llera:

It was a pleasure talking to you this morning. You have been advised that I represent Mercado Abierto S.A. and companies in the reference, with regards to matters in the United States.

We are in receipt of your letter dated January 14, 2000 where you indicated Citibank's intention to close the accounts of reference, "based in part on the events of the last few months".

We believe, you are referring to the strong media campaign of which our companies have been victims during last December. As you may know, that campaign was motivated in political reasons to press the Congress to sanction the bill of anti-money laundering laws in Argentina.

In regards to the case of money laundering under investigation, we have not been charged nor convicted. Further, we have been actively cooperating with both Argentinean and U.S. governments to resolve the case.

Moreover, we found no reason in which you may base your closing of the accounts under the agreement and laws regulating our contractual relationship. We have acted with good faith and extreme diligence at all times during our long-time relationship. I believe we deserve your trust and confidence in our innocence, at least, until the Court rules otherwise.

Dear Ms. Caravetta,

We are in receipt of your letter dated February 11, 2000, wherein your client, Mercado Abierto, S.A., requested that Citibank defer its decision to close the above accounts.

Again, as stated in our January 14 letter to your client (specifically, the letter from Mr. John Liera of Citibank to Mr. Hector Scassera of Mercado Abierto), we hereby advise you and your client that for the reasons provided in that letter Citibank has decided to close the above accounts. Our January 14 letter provided your client with 30 days' notice of termination. Accordingly, the accounts will be closed on and as of February 21, 2000.

We again request that your client provide us with instructions for the transfer of the remaining balances of these accounts. Please ask Mr. Scassera to contact Mr. Liera regarding same. If we do not receive any other instructions, we will prepare a check for the available balance in each account and will send them to the address of record for each account.

The four M.A. accounts [DDA's 36964952; 36111386; 36137631 and 36964944] were placed on debit/credit no post pending actual closures of the accounts,

Per the letter dated Feb. 14, 2000 sent by Kyle Moran [Division Counsel] to Ms. Mariela Caravetta, the clients attorney, checks would be issued by Citibank for the available balances in each account and sent to the address of record for those accounts.

As Citibank New York has received no disposal instructions to date, kindly send a tested telex authorizing Citibank New York to proceed with the check disbursements, less any fees where applicable, and the closures of the accounts.

Subject: Closing of Federal Bank and American Exchange DDAs / Ciosi
----- Message Contents -----

John/James,

Based on your request I am forwarding the mail where was documented our conversation with the client about the closing (dated May, 8, 2000) and where you can find references to prior conversations).

Additionally, I am attaching some mails about the commercial strategy to be implemented for all the FI-Argentina customers (without any exception) about the closings of DDA for off-shore vehicles that are not consolidating under a local bank, and consequently regulated by the Local Central Bank (BCRA: Banco Central de la Republica Argentina). As you can see, the first mail is dated April 06, 2000, but again you can find references to prior conversations and meetings. Moreover, as a proof of this strategy implementation, you should have mails about the closing of other accounts done during this year.

Finally, I will try to find any other document about the definition of this strategy (that has begun during the first months of this year) and previous meetings.

I hope this information is enough to cover your concern about the closing of these 2 DDAs. As I already mentioned yesterday in my request, it could be helpful for you discuss this with John Emert.

Martin,

De acuerdo a lo que me pediste y en función de lo que ya le habías adelantado a Pablo Lucini, hoy me comuniqué con él y le dije que si no recibimos antes del 30-May-00 la solicitud del cierre de la DDA, en esa fecha le llegará una carta de Citi NY comunicándole que a los 30 días, es decir el 30-Jun-00, se cerrará la misma.

To the Shareholders of Federal Bank Limited:

We have audited the accompanying balance sheet of Federal Bank Limited (the "Bank") as of December 31, 1999 and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Bank's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing. Those Standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. 12. ASSETS UNDER ADMINISTRATION

The Bank holds securities in custody deposited by clients in the amounts of approximately $108,000,000 (1998 - $100,000,000).

13. FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Trading securities, forward purchase of securities and forward sales of securities are valued at quoted market prices which are considered to be equal to their fair values. All other financial instruments are assumed to be equal to their carrying values due to their short-term nature.

14. RISK MANAGEMENTCredit risk:

Credit risk arises from the failure of a counter party to perform according to the terms of the contract. From this perspective, the Bank's significant exposure to credit risk is primarily concentrated in cash due from banks, loans to customers, trading securities, money market instruments, debtors for sale of securities and forward purchases of securities. The deposits and investment transactions have been placed with high quality international institutions and corporations. The Bank limits the credit risk by dealing with customers that are credit worthy, and by the use of collateral and constant monitoring procedures.

Price risk:

Price risk is comprised of currency risk, interest rate risk and market risk. Currency risk emanates from the possibility that the value of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. The Bank minimizes this risk through various control policies and monitoring procedures.

Interest rate risk:

Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument may fluctuate significantly as a result of changes in market interest rates. The Bank's exposure to this is minimal as the relevant financial instruments are usually short term at fixed interest rates and are therefore re-priced on maturity.

Market risk:

Market risk is the risk that there will be a change in the value of a financial instrument due to changes in the market conditions. The Bank's significant exposure to market risk is primarily concentrated in trading securities and forward purchases and sales of securities. The Bank tends to minimize this risk through various control policies, monitoring procedures and hedging strategies.

DEBT-EQUITY SWAPS

[783,551] A National Bank Was Able to Pool Its Argentine "Debt Previously Contracted" Assets Into a Corporate Vehicle and Later Divest Its Ownership of the Shares in the Corporate Vehicle to Dispose of the Assets and Recover the Original Loan Value.

Frank Maguire, Acting Senior Deputy Comptroller, Interpretive Letter No. 643, July 1, 1992.

Debt Previously Contracted—Debt-Equity Swaps.—A national bank was able to pool its Argentine "debt previously contracted" (DPC) assets into a corporate vehicle and later divest its ownership of the shares in the corporate vehicle to dispose of the assets and recover the original loan value. Where the bank could show reasonable business reasons for handling DPC assets in this manner to maximize recovery on its loans, reliance on DPC authority to acquire assets in satisfaction of DPCs was justified. The bank must have shown valid business reasons for divesting the subsidiary over time rather than more immediately and the bank's total divestiture period could not exceed the holding period for the DPC assets. Where the subsidiary's function was to hold and be the means of divestiture under prior OCC approval, it was more appropriate to treat the subsidiary and its shares as DPC property of the bank, than as an on-going operating subsidiary and subject to the 80 percent ownership requirement of 12 CFR 5.34(c). A limited amount of non-DPC investments could be included in the pool where it was shown to be necessary to enhancing the bank's recovery of its original loan amount by facilitating the divestiture and not merely for speculative purposes. This was similar to the approved spending of additional funds on a DPC asset to bring it to a salable condition.

This is in response to your letter of June 12, 1992, and earlier communications between Citibank, N.A. ("Citibank" or "the Bank") and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("OCC") concerning Citibank's proposal to continue to engage in debt/equity swaps using its remaining Argentine public sector debt instruments and then to divest of its portfolio of Argentine equities held under its authority to acquire assets in satisfaction of debts previously contracted ("DPC" or "DPC authority"). This proposal would be accomplished through International Equity Investments, Inc. ("IEI" or "the Subsidiary"), an existing wholly-owned subsidiary of Citibank, and IEI's wholly-owned subsidiary, Citicorp Equity Investments S.A. ("CEI"). The proposal would involve the reduction of Citibank's interest in CEI over time through the issuance by CEI of stock to third parties as well as the sale by Citibank of CEI stock held by it. Subject to the representations, understandings, and conditions contained in your letter and set out below, the OCC agrees that Citibank's proposal is a legally permissible exercise of national banks' DPC authority and approves the proposed divestiture of the Subsidiary's ownership of CEI in the manner described.

I. The Bank's Proposal

A. Background

Citibank is a major lender to borrowers in Argentina and other Latin American countries. The Bank has been exploring and implementing a number of approaches designed to reduce its exposure and minimize its losses on such cross-border loans. Among these loans, the Bank has a portfolio of certain rescheduled loans to Argentine public sector companies guaranteed by the Republic of Argentina ("Argentine Debt Instruments" or "ADIs"). It is the Bank's view that it can significantly enhance the level of recovery of principal on its outstanding ADIs and/or the pace of that recovery by means of debt/equity swaps of ADIs held by the Bank for shares of Argentine companies made available through debt/equity swap programs of the Argentine Government.

The Bank has previously engaged in several such debt/equity swap transactions involving ADIs and currently holds equity interests in three Argentine companies acquired under the Bank's authority to acquire assets in satisfaction of debts previously contracted ("DPC"). The three companies are: Celulosa Argentina S.A. ("Celulosa"), a pulp and paper company; Celulosa Puerto Piray S.A. ("CPP"), another pulp and paper company; and Telefonica Argentina S.A. ("TASA"), a telephone company. The Bank holds these equity interests in Argentina through Citicorp Equity Investments S.A. ("CEI"), an Argentine corporation and a second-tier subsidiary of the Bank. CEI engages in no other business and simply serves to hold the Bank's equity interests in Argentine companies acquired DPC.

After the previous debt/equity swaps, the Bank continues to hold ADIs of approximately U.S. $ *** (face value, principal and interest). The Bank believes that its recovery on these ADIs would be significantly enhanced by debt/equity swaps. Accordingly, the Bank has been exploring opportunities for debt/equity swaps involving its remaining ADIs. The Argentine Government has a high level of interest and commitment to the successful privatizations of public sector companies and has announced its intention to privatize various state-owned companies. Based on statements by the Government of Argentina and the privatization experience to date, it is anticipated that, while some privatizations may be done on an all-ADI basis, the Argentine Government will continue to require a cash component, in addition to ADIs, as part of the purchase price of many assets to be privatized and that certain privatizations will be done on an all-cash basis. The Bank hopes to engage in additional debt/equity swap transactions in the Argentine Government's privatization program to convert its remaining ADIs.

In addition, the Bank also has been exploring methods by which it could improve the value and marketability of its existing DPC equity interests held in CEI and of any additional DPC assets acquired in further debt/equity swaps involving its remaining ADIs. By doing so, the Bank would enhance its ability to divest these DPC assets and recover all or part of its original loan exposure on its ADIs.

The Bank has determined that the most effective way to accomplish these goals (i.e., converting its remaining ADIs into DPC equity interests and then selling its DPC assets), is, in essence, to treat these Argentine DPC holdings collectively under CEI, rather than trying to arrange each debt/equity swap separately and then trying to dispose of each separate DPC equity holding individually. The Bank proposes to conduct a series of related transactions involving CEI that are designed to: (1) facilitate the Bank's continued conversion of its remaining approximately U.S. $ *** of ADIs (principal and interest) into equity DPC; (2) maximize the value of present and future DPC equity holdings; (3) facilitate the divestiture of the DPC properties; and (4) increase the Bank's capital.

B. Transaction Structure

The Bank proposes to accomplish these objectives through the following transactions:

1. CEI will continue to hold the existing Argentine DPC equity interest (CASA, CPP, and TASA).
2. The Bank will contribute its remaining ADIs to CEI which will thereafter exchange such ADIs in debt/equity swaps for Argentine assets being privatized by the Argentine Government.
3. CEI will raise cash through the issuance of new stock to new investors on a private and/or public basis in the Argentine market. The Bank will not be a cash investor; its capital contribution is limited to its ADIs and the existing DPC assets in CEI. In order to attract the new investors to CEI who will provide the cash component, it is necessary that CEI be able to make some investments using only cash, in addition to investments using all ADIs or cash and ADIs.

4. CEI will acquire additional investments through debt/equity swap transactions with the Argentine Government using the Argentine debt contributed by the Bank for this purpose and, in cases in which the Argentine Government requires a cash component, using cash raised by the issuance by CEI of shares discussed above, retained earnings, or future equity or debt issuances by CEI, if needed.

5. The Bank initially will continue as the manager and investment advisor for CEI.

6. The Bank may lend and have other banking relationships with companies in which CEI invests. Any such loans or other banking relationships will be on substantially the same terms as those prevailing at the same time for comparable transactions between the Bank and non-affiliated persons and will be approved by a separate part of the banking organization.

7. The Bank will divest its interest in the Argentine DPC assets through the public or private sale of the Bank's shares in CEI.

By June 30, 1992, the Bank will contribute its remaining ADIs to CEI and will sell privately or publicly shares of CEI held by it such that its ownership in CEI is reduced to approximately 90%. Thereafter, by year-end 1992, CEI will make a private and/or public issuance of stock in the Argentine market, and the Bank will sell at least an additional 14% of CEI on a public or private basis, with the result that Citibank's interest in CEI will be reduced to 52%. (The Bank may sell more than 14% to the extent needed to reduce the Bank's overall interest to 52%, taking into consideration the amount of new stock issued by CEI by year-end 1992.) The order of these transactions may vary depending on negotiations with potential investors.

These transactions in CEI stock will result in income to the Bank and an increase of Tier I capital from the income generated and the minority interest created. The initial sale by the Bank of its 10% interest in CEI is expected to produce income of *** and to increase Tier I capital by ***. The exact amount of such income and capital increase, as well as the impact of the transactions to be effected later this year, will depend on the price ultimately obtained for shares of CEI.

Citibank will continue to sell additional shares of CEI held by it so that it further reduces its interest in CEI to no more than 19.9% of the voting shares and 40% of the total equity by year-end 1997, at which time CEI will be managed by a third party. By *** (or possibly before that date), any shares of CEI still held by Citibank will be transferred to a Ci-citibank affiliate and will be held pursuant to the portfolio investment provisions of Regulation K.

C. Understandings and Conditions

Citibank believes that the proposed CEI transaction is the most effective way, in the circumstances, for Citibank to recover the greatest amount of its original loan exposure on the ADIs and Citibank intends to use its participation in CEI to maximize its reduction of ADIs. In this regard, Citibank intends for CEI to engage in transactions that use ADIs to the maximum extent feasible. However, some transactions by CEI may have a significant cash component, and as discussed above, CEI must retain the capability to do some transactions that may be all cash. Nevertheless, Citibank undertakes that CEI will engage mainly in transactions that use ADIs, so as to reduce Citibank's ADI exposure, and to engage in all-cash deals or principally-cash deals only secondarily and only to a limited extent in furtherance of the overall goal of reducing ADI exposure.<sup>1</sup>

Citibank further agrees that its investment in CEI and CEI's activities will be subject to the conditions set forth below:

1. The total amount of all-cash deals in the aggregate will be limited to 5% of the aggregate face value of the ADIs converted already, those ADIs to be contributed, and the cash raised by CEI in its offerings in 1992. Citibank expects that CEI will raise in the range of *** so that the total amount of CEI's assets for this purpose will be approximately *** of which 5% is ***. Citibank will provide the OCC with final figures.

2. Citibank shall notify and consult with the OCC prior to CEI's entering into any all-cash deal above $25 million or any principally-cash deal above $25 million in which the cash component exceeds 75% of the total; and Citibank shall not proceed with the transaction if the OCC objects.

3. Citibank shall provide regular (quarterly) notification and description to the OCC of all transactions, including all-cash, principally-cash, and ADI-deals, and of the resulting composition of CEI's holdings.

4. For any all-cash deals, whether above or below $25 million, and for any principally-cash deal, Citibank will be required to show what efforts it has made to do ADI-deals and what proportion of existing deals were ADI-deals, principally-cash deals, or all-cash deals; to demonstrate how the all-cash deal or principally-cash deal enhances the value of CEI; and to demonstrate why the proposed all-cash deal or principally-cash deal is necessary (including, where possible, a relationship between the all-cash deal or principally-cash deal and other ADI-deals) to assist Citibank overall in reducing its ADIs, in recovering the greatest amount of its original loan exposure, and in exiting from CEI. In cases requiring prior consultation with the OCC, these factors will be used in evaluating the proposed transaction. In cases not requiring prior consultation, documentation of these factors will be used during examinations to assess Citibank's compliance with DPC requirements.

5. All transactions are limited to entities located in Argentina.

6. No Citibank cash will be used as part of the purchase price in any of CEI's transactions. Citibank shall not purchase additional ADIs to do more investments in the CEI vehicle, but shall use only its existing ADIs.

7. Any all-cash investments will be limited to 19.9% of the voting interest, and 40% of the total equity, of the company invested in.

8. Citibank will sell additional shares of CEI and reduce its holding to 52% by December 31, 1992. Thereafter, Citibank shall advise the OCC of its efforts to divest its remaining CEI shares.

9. Citibank will sell additional shares of CEI and reduce its holding to a level no greater than 19.9% of the voting interest and 40% of the total equity by December 31, 1997.

10. Citibank will no longer hold any CEI shares under DPC authority by the end of the DPC holding period, computed to have begun on ***, at the time of Citibank's first acquisition of DPC assets in CEI (i.e., after extension, the DPC holding period will end on ***. However, a Citibank affiliate may hold CEI shares after (or before) ***, under the portfolio investment authority of Regulation K.

II. Discussion

Citibank asks the OCC to confirm Citibank's position that the activities contemplated in the proposal are consistent with the DPC powers of a national bank and to approve the proposed use of the Subsidiary in divesting of CEI.

A. Background: DPC Authority

The authority of national banks to acquire and hold equity securities in order to improve the prospects for recovery on loans that are in default, are nonperforming, or otherwise have a documented history of poor performance has long been established. This authority has been recognized by the courts. See, e.g., First National Bank of Charlotte v. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 92 U.S. 122, 127 (1875) ("In the honest exercise of the power to compromise a doubtful debt owing to a bank, it can hardly be doubted that stock may be accepted in payment and satisfaction."); Atherton v. Anderson, 86 F.2d 518, 525 (6th Cir. 1936), rev'd on other grounds, 302 U.S. 643 (1937) ("It has generally been thought, however, and we think the view is nowhere seriously disputed, that a bank has implied power when faced with a loss growing out of a legitimate banking transaction to acquire stocks or other property when it is honestly believed at the time that under more favorable circumstances a loss which would otherwise accrue might be averted or diminished."). The OCC, other regulators, and general banking practice also recognize this authority. See, e.g., 12 C.F.R. § 1.11 ("restrictions and limitations [on holding investment securities] do not apply to securities . . . acquired in good faith by way of compromise of a doubtful claim or to avoid a loss in connection with a debt previously contracted").

<sup>1</sup> For purposes of this discussion the following definitions apply: "All-cash deals" means transactions in which cash is the only component and there are no ADIs. "Principally-cash deals" means transactions in which the cash component exceeds 50% and the face value of the ADI component is less than 50%. "ADI-deals" means transactions in which the face value of the ADI component equals or exceeds 50%.

Moreover, in a DPC transaction, national banks may acquire assets that they are not otherwise authorized to purchase. With respect to real estate, 12 U.S.C. § 29 expressly provides authority for national banks to acquire real estate DPC. The incidental powers clause of 12 U.S.C. § 24(Seventh) is the source of authority for national banks to take other assets, including stock, in a workout arrangement as satisfaction for debts previously contracted. Drawing on the analogy to 12 U.S.C. § 29, the OCC has generally imposed certain restrictions on the holding of other DPC assets. These include requirements that national banks make a good faith effort to dispose of their DPC assets as soon as commercially reasonable and that they dispose of their DPC assets within time limits similar to those in 12 U.S.C. § 29.

In addition, the OCC previously has recognized that foreign public sector debt may be eligible for DPC treatment when, in the opinion of bank management, the acquisition of property in satisfaction of the debt is necessary to prevent anticipated loss. In this context, the rescheduled or nonperforming condition of the debt is viewed as sufficient evidence of adverse change in the financial capacity of the borrower to permit a bank to exercise its DPC authority. A series of OCC letters has addressed various proposals from banks proposing to exchange qualifying debt for equity in companies in the debtor country under various countries' debt/equity swap programs. Accordingly, the underlying components of the proposal, if done separately, would be within the scope of the OCC's earlier letters. That is, it would not be a significant expansion over the previous letters for Citibank (directly or through CEI) to: (1) continue separately to hold its existing DPC equity interests in Argentina, (2) hold its remaining ADIs, (3) exchange the remaining ADIs, and where necessary cash, in debt/equity swaps for additional DPC equity interests in Argentina; (4) hold such additional DPC equity interests; and (5) dispose of its existing and additional DPC equity interests separately company-by-company.

However, the Bank proposes to handle these DPC activities collectively through CEI, not separately. The change gives rise to several new issues with respect to national banks' DPC authority.

B. Application to Bank's Proposal

Citibank proposes to use CEI as a vehicle (1) to hold the Bank's existing DPC holdings in Argentina, (2) to acquire and hold additional DPC holdings in Argentina which CEI will obtain by exchanging the Bank's remaining ADIs and where necessary cash, (3) to raise any needed cash from investors other than the Bank, and (4) to accomplish the divestiture of the Bank's Argentine DPC holdings by selling the Bank's shares in CEI. The Bank believes that use of the CEI vehicle in this manner is a more effective way of disposing of the Bank's DPC holdings in Argentina than if the Bank were to acquire, hold, and attempt to divest of each DPC investment separately. The Bank also believes it will substantially increase the likelihood that Citibank will recover its original loan amounts, the face amount of its ADIs plus accrued interest. The Bank expects these results because there is substantially more investor interest in a diversified pool of investments, and that greater interest will effectively enhance the value of, and facilitate the Bank's disposition of, the DPC investments compared to what would occur if the investments were considered separately.

¶ 83,551

The Bank also believes that access to third-party investor capital and borrowings by CEI will allow Citibank to convert its remaining ADIs in Argentine governmental privatization programs without the need of providing any additional cash itself. In order to attract outside investors—both those investors who will buy shares from CEI, thereby providing the cash component for debt/equity swaps, and those investors who will buy CEI shares from Citibank, thereby accomplishing Citibank's divestiture of its DPC assets—the Bank believes CEI needs the ability to make a limited amount of all-cash investments in Argentina (e.g., privatization transactions in which the Argentine Government requires all-cash terms and does not include an ADI component). This is to provide flexibility to invest CEI funds in the event that suitable transactions involving ADIs are not available. The funds for any such all-cash deals would come from CEI sources other than the Bank. Such all-cash deals would not in themselves be DPC holdings with respect to the Bank because they do not involve ADIs.

This proposal raises three new issues with respect to national banks' DPC authority: (1) whether national banks may pool a collection of DPC assets under a "DPC holding subsidiary," (2) whether a national bank may divest of such DPC assets by selling its shares in the "DPC holding subsidiary" over time, and (3) whether a limited amount of non-DPC assets may be included in the pool of assets to improve marketability and enhance the bank's recovery on its original loan amount.

With respect to the first issue, the OCC finds nothing objectionable in a national bank pooling a group of DPC assets into and under a bank subsidiary formed to hold, manage, and dispose of the assets. Such an arrangement can be administratively useful for the bank and may serve various business and legal purposes related to holding, managing, and transferring the DPC properties. Finally, by providing a separate collective vehicle that can itself be sold, it gives a bank an additional technique for disposing of its DPC assets. These purposes are fully consistent with DPC authority. Where a bank can show reasonable business reasons for handling DPC assets in this manner to maximize recovery on its loans, then reliance on DPC authority is justified.

With respect to the second issue, the OCC believes a national bank that has established a "DPC holding subsidiary" to hold and dispose of a group of DPC assets has the authority to sell that subsidiary over time, by selling its shares in the subsidiary. The bank is not required to sell the entire subsidiary corporation at once. The bank must show valid business reasons for divesting the subsidiary over time rather than more immediately, and the bank's total divesti-ture period must not exceed the holding period for DPC property. In essence, the OCC believes that when the sole function of a subsidiary is to hold, and be the vehicle for disposition of, DPC assets, then it is more appropriate to treat the subsidiary (and its shares) as DPC property of the bank, subject to the DPC holding and divestiture rules, than to treat the subsidiary as if it were intended to be a regular on-going operating subsidiary and subject to the 80% ownership requirement of 12 C.F.R. § 5.34(c).

Although the 80% ownership requirement of section 5.34 does not apply, national banks still require prior OCC approval to establish a new subsidiary, or to use an existing subsidiary, to become a holding and disposition vehicle for DPC assets in a manner similar to Citibank's proposal. Any bank making a request regarding such a subsidiary should (1) show the business reasons justifying use of such a corporate vehicle to maximize recovery on the DPC assets, (2) explain why other means of handling the DPC assets are not available or not effective, and (3) provide a plan for divestiture of the DPC subsidiary within the DPC holding periods.

With respect to the third issue, the OCC believes that a limited amount of non-DPC investments (that are otherwise not bank permissible) may be included in a DPC pool when that is shown to be necessary to enhancing the bank's recovery of its original loan amount by facilitating the success of the pool vehicle and the bank's divestiture, and when the non-DPC assets are clearly incidental and subordinate to the overall goal of the bank's divestiture of the DPC assets and recovery on its loan amounts. Although such non-DPC assets would not be permissible holdings for a national bank by themselves, their inclusion in the greater pool of DPC assets can be a permissible exercise of DPC authority if the non-DPC assets are needed for the bank to achieve the best recovery.

In this respect, the inclusion of non-DPC assets in a DPC pool vehicle is (for DPC pool vehicles) the parallel to the established practice of spending additional funds on an individual DPC asset to enhance the bank's recovery. Such funds may be spent to improve or complete an asset to bring it to a salable condition, to buy out other creditors on the asset, or even to buy an adjacent property (such as a parking lot or an easement) to protect the bank's interest in its DPC property. In such cases, the additional funds are being spent on something that is not a bank permissible investment in itself but becomes a permissible exercise of DPC authority because of the connection of the new investment to the bank's recovery on its DPC asset. Of course, such non-DPC investments (whether additional assets in a pool or additional expenditures on an asset) are limited to what is required by business necessity for the bank to recover on its original loan and cannot be used merely for speculative purposes.

There are also analogies outside the DPC area for the concept that certain activities that are not bank permissible in themselves may be allowed when they have become an integral part of a larger whole and the whole is bank permissible. One example would be the provisions of the OCC's Interpretive Ruling on personal property leasing before the Competitive Equality Banking Act of 1987. See former Interpretive Ruling 7,340, 12 C.F.R. § 7,340, now codified at 12 C.F.R. Part 23, Subpart C. That ruling was based on the authority to offer lease transactions that were the functional equivalent of an extension of credit. Nevertheless, it authorized banks to retain a residual value (in effect an ownership interest in the leased property) of up to 25%. Since national banks, before CEBA, did not otherwise have the authority to own the leased property and there is no analog for residual value in a lending transaction, the authority for permitting such residual value was that it was permissible as an incidental part of the overall lease.

Another example would be the inclusion of general purpose computer hardware in the provision of financial data processing services. The sale of general purpose computer hardware is not, in itself, an activity that is permissible for national banks or bank holding companies. Yet both the Federal Reserve Board (for bank holding companies) and the OCC (for national banks and their operating subsidiaries) have allowed the sale of such hardware when it is an incidental part of the provision of a package of otherwise permissible financial data processing services. See 12 C.F.R. § 225.25(b)(7) (Federal Reserve Board Regulation, allowing impermissible hardware to constitute up to 30% of the cost of a package of permissible services); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 345 (July 9, 1985), reprinted in Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,515 (sale of impermissible hardware as part of a permissible services package is permissible when inclusion of hardware is necessary, convenient, or useful to providing the permitted services in the package taken as a whole, and the hardware is subordinate within the total package). The Federal Reserve Board's ruling and reasoning were upheld in court. See Association of Data Processing Service Organizations, Inc. v. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, 745 F.2d 677, 692-95 (D.C. Cir. 1984).

Finally, the fact that in Citibank's proposal the funds for the non-DPC assets do not come from Citibank but from the other investors in CEI provides a basis for an alternative approach. If Citibank were providing the funds for the non-DPC assets in the CEI DPC pool, as well as managing CEI, then all of the activities in CEI should be attributed to Citibank and analyzed for bank permissibility. In that case, the inclusion by a national bank of otherwise impermissible non-DPC assets would have to depend on the rationale that it is incidental to the disposition of the overall DPC pool (discussed above). But since the funds for non-DPC assets are being generated by CEI from other sources, then it may be more appropriate to view Citibank's role as an exchange of DPC assets (the various Argentine DPC holdings being exchanged for shares in CEI to be held by Citibank DPC) rather than attributing CEI's activities to Citibank.

In several earlier letters, the OCC has allowed national banks to exchange DPC assets already held by them for another asset to be held DPC. Typically, these situations involve the exchange of DPC real estate for a different piece of real estate or, more relevant here, for stock in a real estate company or shares in a fund set up to acquire, manage, and dispose of real estate from many sources. See, e.g., Letter from Donald G. Coonley, Chief National Bank Examiner (July 2, 1990) (unpublished) (exchange of OREO for limited partnership interests in real estate limited partnership); Letter from Robert J. Herrmann, Senior Deputy Comptroller for Bank Supervision Policy (February 3, 1989) (unpublished) (same); OCC Interpretive Letter No. 395 (August 24, 1987), reprinted in Fed. Banking L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 85,619 (exchange of OREO for preferred stock in a publicly traded real estate company).

In these DPC exchanges, the OCC viewed the shares being received in the exchange as DPC property, and the banks' continued holding of the shares was subject to DPC limitations. In particular, the banks were required to have plans for how they would divest the exchanged DPC assets within the appropriate holding period. The OCC did not view the underlying company or limited partnership as subject to DPC or other banking law limits. The OCC expressed concerns about the activities of the partnership only when the planned method for divestiture of the banks' DPC partnership interests was liquidation of the real estate assets and distribution of cash to the partners, rather than the banks selling their partnership interests to other investors in the market. If Citibank's proposal is viewed as an instance of a DPC exchange, then Citibank would treat its shares in CEI as its DPC property subject to DPC restrictions, and the other activities that CEI engages in would not be relevant, just as a bank may hold stock DPC in any type of company.<sup>2</sup>

ADIs are involved and Citibank initially owns most of CEI. But one can consider simpler versions of the proposal in

Based upon the foregoing, the OCC believes Citibank's proposal is a legally permissible exercise of its DPC authority. Citibank has articulated the reasons why it believes the pooling of its Argentine DPC assets into a corporate vehicle and then divesting its ownership of the shares in the corporate vehicle is a more effective business method in the circumstances for handling these DPC assets and recovering the Bank's original loan amounts. In particular, the context of seeking recovery on rescheduled foreign public sector debt and disposing of DPC assets in a foreign country can reduce the availability of other options and place unique limitations on what a bank may do. In addition, the various understandings and conditions (set forth earlier) which Citibank has included in its proposal—such as the commitment to a specific divestiture schedule, the undertaking to engage mainly in transactions that use ADIs, the fact that no new Citibank funds are invested in CEI, and the overall 5% limitation on non-DPC assets—help to support a determination that the purpose of the proposed transaction is DPC recovery on Citibank's original loan amount and not speculation or any other impermissible purpose.

III. Conclusion

Accordingly, based on the Bank's description of and representations regarding the proposed transaction and based on the Bank's commitment and adherence to the understandings and conditions set forth earlier, the OCC has determined that the proposed transaction is legally permissible for the Bank and hereby approves the proposed use of the Bank's Subsidiary in carrying out the proposal. Please be advised that all conditions of this approval shall be deemed to be "condition[s] imposed in writing by the agency in connection with the granting of any application or other request" within the meaning of 12 U.S.C. 1818. This approval is effective on June 30, 1992. ## AUDIT COMMITTEE REQUIREMENTS

[¶ 83,552] A Bank Holding Company's Audit Committee Was Able to Satisfy the Audit Committee Requirement for Its National Bank Subsidiary.

Eugene W. Green, Deputy Chief Accountant, Bank Accounting Letter No. 94-62, March 22, 1994.

Bank Holding Company—Subsidiaries—National Bank—Audit Committee Requirements.—A bank holding company was able to fulfill the audit committee requirements for its national bank subsidiary using the holding company's audit committee. Provision of "comparable services and functions" were required at the holding company level. Further required, was that each subsidiary bank had assets of less than $5 billion, or between $5 billion and $9 billion with a composite CAMEL (Capital, Assets, Management, Earnings and Liquidity) rating of "1" or "2." The holding company's audit committee must have met the membership requirements appropriate to the largest subsidiary. Finally, the duties of the holding company's audit committee had to be appropriate to the number, size and complexity of the subsidiaries overseen.

which the application of the DPC exchange approach would be more obvious. For example, if Citibank had already converted its remaining ADIs into a number of Argentine equities held DPC and simply exchanged those DPC assets for shares of CEI while other investors purchased 10-25% of shares from CEI for cash, then the proposal would be closer to the exchanges in the earlier letters. Or if, instead of placing its Argentine DPC assets in CEI, Citibank had be satisfied at the holding company level if certain conditions are met. First, the services and functions comparable to those required by the regulations must be provided at the holding company level. Second, each subsidiary bank must have assets of less than $5 billion, or of between $5 billion and $9 billion with a composite CAMEL rating of 1 or 2.

exchanged them for shares of an unrelated and much larger "Argentine Investment Fund," then the proposal would be quite similar to the DPC real estate exchanges in the prior OCC letters. The fact that the Citibank proposal has additional complications should not obscure the fact that it is fundamentally an exchange of DPC assets (the Argentine debt/equity swap equities) into another DPC asset (CEI shares).

PART I

ITEM 1. DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

CEI Important Notice

Reference is made to "CEI Important Notice" on page ii of this Form 20-F relating to the potential sale of CEI and other related transactions.

Introduction

CEI is a holding company primarily engaged through controlled companies and joint venture companies in the telecommunications business ("Telecommunications Business"), the cable television business ("Cable Television Business") and the media business (the "Media Business") in Argentina. CEI controls its joint venture companies, Cointel, Telefónica, Cablevisión, Atco and ACISA, jointly with TISA and, in the case of Cablevisión, Atco and ACISA, with other partners. CEI's unconsolidated Operating Cash Flow (as defined in Item 8: "Selected Financial Data—CEI Selected Consolidated Financial Information") for the year ended December 31, 1999 was Ps.70 million.

Telecommunications Business

CEI conducts its Telecommunications Business through its direct 50.0% joint venture interest in Cointel, which itself owns as a core asset 51.0% of the outstanding capital stock of Telefónica, Argentina's largest telephone company. Cointel is also entitled to certain rights with respect to approximately 1.9% of Telefónica's capital stock pursuant to certain repurchase transactions. TISA and Telefónica International Holding B.V. ("Telefónica International") own the remaining 50.0% of Cointel. TISA and Telefónica International are sometimes referred to herein as the "TISA Group".

Cointel's Operating Cash Flow (as defined in Item 8: "Selected Financial Data—Cointel Selected Unconsolidated Financial Information") for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1999 was Ps.157 million, while Telefónica's EBITDA for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1999 was Ps.1,763 million. CEI receives significant fees for financial advice and other services it renders to TESA as the technical operator (the "Operator") of Telefónica.

Telefónica is the largest communications company in Argentina based on net revenues. Until recently, Telefónica had been the only licensed supplier of fixed-link public telecommunications services and basic telephone services in the southern half of Argentina (the "Southern Region") and had owned virtually all public exchanges, the network of local telephone lines and the principal domestic long-distance telephone transmission facilities in the Southern Region. The Southern Region includes most of the province of Buenos Aires and more than half of the City of Buenos Aires (including most of the downtown business district). Recently, there has been a liberalization of the restrictions on competition in the market for telecommunications services in Argentina. New competitors are operating in the Southern Region and throughout Argentina and Telefónica is expanding its operations outside the Southern Region into the northern half of Argentina (the "Northern Region"). Currently, Telefónica's licenses permit it to provide local and domestic long-distance and international services, international data transmission and domestic and international telex services throughout Argentina.

Cable Television Business

CEI conducts its Cable Television Business through its indirect 35.9% joint venture interest in Cablevisión. CEI acquired a 33.3% interest in Cablevisión in October 1997 for US$380.6 million, a 2.4% interest in December 1998 for Ps.53.8 million (pursuant to a subscription of newly issued shares of Cablevisión) and the rights to an additional 0.2% of Cablevisión in December 1998 for US$31.5 million, which is currently held in trust pending payment of Ps.5.6 million in December 2000. The other direct and indirect shareholders of Cablevisión are TISA (35.9%) and Liberty Argentina Inc., ("Liberty"), a wholly owned subsidiary of Liberty Media Corporation ("LMC"), the second largest owner and cable operator and one of the largest providers of satellite delivered programming services in the United States (28.2%). On March 9, 1999, LMC became a wholly owned subsidiary of AT&T Corp. ("AT&T"). Cablevisión's EBITDA for the twelve-month period ended September 30, 1999 was Ps.212 million.

(1) Holdings of these entities constitute holdings of the Principal Shareholders.

(2) Owned by ATH.

According to the Stock Exchange Agreement, the HMTF Affiliates have made the following transfers of CEI shares: (i) on May 2, 2000, HMTF contributed to ATH its ownership interest in the Company, which, as of that date represented 40.4% of the capital stock and 47.4% of the voting power of CEI and (ii) on April 25, 2000, República Holdings and IIU contributed to ATH an amount of Class B shares of CEI which represents 27.3% of the capital stock and 21.9% of the voting power of CEI. On the same date, the shares contributed by República Holdings and IIU were transferred to Citibank, pursuant to an escrow agreement.

Reference is made to "CEI Important Notice" on page ii of this Form 20-F relating to the potential sale of CEI and other related transactions.

Option for the Purchase of Shares

IEI had granted to the República Group an option to be exercised until January 31, 2003 to buy shares of CEI representing 5.99% of CEI's capital stock (the "Option Shares"). The purchase price is US$4.40 per share plus an increase of 6% per annum from the closing date of the sale from IEI to HMTF and until the exercise date. República Holdings and IIU have assigned the option mentioned above to AMI LP, which has exercised such option as of the date of this Form 20-F. According to its terms, the execution of the option is subject to the payment and the consummation of the Stock Exchange Agreement before November 30, 2000 and after that date the option will be terminated. In addition, the parties to such option have agreed that the option will apply to shares of ATH and AMICH that IEI receives in exchange for the Option Shares.

Shareholders Agreement

IEI, HMTF and certain members of the República Group entered into a Shareholders Agreement that governs the exercise of some of their rights as shareholders of CEI. Among other things, it was established that as long as the current interests are kept as they are (i) HMTF shall have the right to designate six directors and the República Group and IEI shall have the right to designate two directors each and (ii) HMTF shall be entitled to designate two statutory auditors and IEI the remaining statutory auditor of the three that integrate the Statutory and Audit Committee. It also provides that in order to amend the By-Laws of the Company, 75.0% of the votes of the parties to the Shareholders Agreement would be necessary.

John/James,

Based on your request I am forwarding the mail where was documented our conversation with the client about the closing (dated May, 8, 2000) and where you can find references to prior conversations).

Additionally, I am attaching some mails about the commercial strategy to be implemented for all the FI-Argentina customers (without any exception) about the closings of DDA for off-shore vehicles that are not consolidating under a local bank, and consequently regulated by the Local Central Bank (BCRA: Banco Central de la Republica Argentina). As you can see, the first mail is dated April 06, 2000, but again you can find references to prior conversations and meetings. Moreover, as a proof of this strategy implementation, you should have mails about the closing of other accounts done during this year.

Finally, I will try to find any other document about the definition of this strategy (that has begun during the first months of this year) and previous meetings.

I hope this information is enough to cover your concern about the closing of these 2 DDAs. As I already mentioned yesterday in my request, it could be helpful for you discuss this with John Emert.

Martin,

De acuerdo a lo que me pediste y en función de lo que ya le habías adelantado a Pablo Lucini, hoy me comuniqué con él y le dije que si no recibimos antes del 30-May-00 la solicitud del cierre de la DDA, en esa fecha le llegará una carta de Citi NY comunicándole que a los 30 días, es decir el 30-Jun-00, se cerrará la misma.

Senate Permanent Subcommittee
On Investigations
EXHIBIT # 63d

Exhibit 63d.

Resolution No. 395 of the Central Bank of Argentina

PS018321

Resolution No. 395
Buenos Aires, 28 AUG 1996

Whereas:

Banco República, by memo dated 8/31/94, requests exclusion of the stock in Citicorp Equity Investments S.A., which as of 7/31/94 represented 16.89% of its "RPC" [computable equity], from the limits established with regard to spreading credit risk.

The entity bases its request on the fact that the special characteristics of the contract entered into by the shareholders of that company mean that, if Banco República is obligated to transfer the shares, the sale will be made under conditions unfavorable to the entity, and [therefore believes] that the requested exception would be consistent with the spirit and objectives of the guideline in question since, given the financial/investment nature of CEI's corporate purpose, its assets consist of shares of various companies, thus avoiding concentration of risk.

The analysis carried out by [the] Supervision [TR.: other documents say "Superintendency"] of Finance Entities (Report 551/070/94) reveals that:

- The investment in shares of CEI occurred on June 26, 1992, and represents 61.40% of the finance entity's computable equity as of June 30, 1992.
- On June 29, 1992, the bank made an offer of irrevocable sale of some of said shares to "Burton and Golman Financial Corporation." Finalization of the transaction was conditioned on the company exercising the purchase option, expiring on June 30, 1993, granted it by the agreement.
- The document signed on July 30, 1993, indicates that United Finance Company Ltd. (UFCO) is the buyer of the shares of CEI, paying 10% of the transaction [amount] in cash and being issued a loan for the balance ($25,207,000), which was paid early, on March 30, 1994.
- Banco República believed that both the shareholdings and the financing granted would not come about because of the current guidelines on dividing credit risk, the option not being included among the covered transactions, while the Supervision of Finance Entities believes that the ownership of shares of CEI - until the sale to UFCO - should be counted in its totality as stake[s] in other companies.

PS018322

It is believed that it would be feasible to grant the entity's request to except the stake in CEI capital from the limit in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, in consideration of the diversity of companies that constitute the investments made, having fragmented assets, and that it is also necessary to consider extending that exception to the beginning of the transaction with CEI and to the financing granted to UFCO, accomplished on the same bases.

- The analysis performed regarding Guidelines for Finance Entities (Report 144/683/94) shows:

- There is no basis for exempting transactions that, at the time the decision was made to acquire the stake in CEI (June 26, 1992), for the duration of the shareholding (until June 30, 1993), and during the [period] of assistance granted when divesting, were not in keeping with the current provisions.
- In terms of the regulations, there are also no reasons that would support application of a general measure regarding current shareholding, which provides for excluding the stakes in investment companies from the relationships specified in item 3 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, since they are essentially intended to diversify the credit risk among the different activities in the economy and, in turn, within each of them among different agents belonging to each sector.
- It is understood that it is the responsibility of the Superintendency to determine whether specific situations exist in terms of the bank that make it necessary to consider different treatment with respect to complying with the guidelines for diversifying risk vis-a-vis the aforementioned holdings in the capital of CEI.
- The conclusions set forth were made known to the entity verbally at meetings with entity officials. In this regard, Banco República S.A. submitted the memorandum of July 24, 1996, stating that "...given the arguments we have set forth, in an appropriate manner, at said meetings, we request that you kindly reconsider your position with respect to the classification of said situation...."
- As of May 31, 1996, Banco República S.A.'s non-liquid investments in fixed assets are principally:
  - Assets for use in the business, $7.1 million.
  - Various assets, $103.9 million. The principal asset that makes up this item is the Edificio Bouchard [Bouchard Building], $70.4 million.
- These items represent 115% of its Computable Equity ($ 96.6 million).
- In a memorandum dated June 11, 1995, Banco República states:

PS018323

- Together with the group Inversora Magna S.A., "... it presented itself as a bidder in the tender called by the Government of Mendoza for privatization of the official Banks - Banco de Prevision Social S.A. and Banco de Mendoza S.A. - ..." and that "... the future operation associated with those Banks will require a capital contribution to Banco República on the order of (I) US$ 5 M, paying the balance pending in connection with the commitment to contribute a total of US$ 10 M, undertaken on December 29, 1994, and (II) an additional contribution of US$ 25 M...."
- Both contributions will be made with shares of Citicorp Equity Investments S.A. (CEI).
- In "...plan to decrease the lockup of assets, Banco República S.A. has decided to divest itself of the Edificio República by selling it to a company comprised of the same shareholders as the entity, at an approximate price of US$ 98 M, which would yield the bank a profit of around US$ 30 M. The price would be paid with a loan issued by the seller, with a life of 10 years, with quarterly interest and repayments by means of the French system, with a mortgage that will encumber the same property ...."
- "...the cash flow to pay the loan would be obtained with the funds from renting the floors to top-flight companies, since the location is the site for [sic] that Building erected at the triangle of calles [streets] Bouchard and Viamonte and Avenida Madero of this city...."
- In this respect, the entity requests that:
  - It be agreed that the payment of the balance of the capital contribution of $5 million and the additional contribution of $25 million be accomplished with shares of Citicorp Equity Investments S.A.
  - Its holdings of shares of CEI be permitted to exceed the 15% limit of the Computable equity established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140. In this regard, the entity declares that this request is justified because "... CEI is an Investment Company (Law of Business Associations, Article 31), whose objective is precisely to acquire stakes in manufacturing and service companies. Therefore, the shares of CEI represent the Capital of the companies in which it invests. So, in the context of the limitation on ownership of shares of CEI by Banco República, it is not the "ownership of shares of a single company," but of various companies of different sizes and corporate purposes, as occurs in any holding company. In that context, Banco República is prepared to accept that in no case will its stake in operating companies, measured individually or through their presence in holding companies, exceed 15% of said banking entity's computable equity.
  - The classification of the loan to be granted the purchasers of the building be accepted under the aforementioned conditions.

- Banco República declares, by memorandum dated July 1, 1996, that on June 28, 1996, it proceeded to:
  - Sell the aforementioned building for $98 million, having received US$ 5 million in cash and arranged for the difference with a mortgage in the amount of US$ 93 million, payable in forty quarterly, equal, consecutive installments, including principal and interest, of US$ 3,294,639.22 each.
  - Receive a capital contribution for the equivalent of $30 million in class "B," registered, non-endorsable shares issued by "Citicorp Equity Investments S.A.," carrying one vote per share and with a par value of $1, which were quoted at $3.95 each, at the close of operations on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange.

CONSIDERING

- That the study of the steps taken by Banco República reveals the following pertinent facts:
  - Banco República's computable equity increases by 49% through payment of irrevocable contributions in the amount of $30 million and the profit generated by the sale of the property (approximately $16.9 million).
  - The percentage of non-liquid investment in fixed assets is reduced to 94.5% or 29.6%, depending on whether the $93 million loan issued to finance the sale of the property is considered a non-liquid investment.
  - Although the capital contributions were not carried out in the manner provided for in Document "A" 1858, there are certain bases for determining their value, since CEI is listed on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange. Also, precautions will be taken to ensure that the contributed shares remain registered at the lower of their equity value or current share price, which assures a specific, conservative valuation.
  - The entity's shareholdings in CEI increase to 37.9%, since they come to $54.5 million, against computable equity that increases to $143.5 million. Despite that, it should be taken into consideration that:
    - CEI is listed on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange, and is therefore subject to its controls and information system.
    - Banco República's total shareholdings come to 13.7 million shares, representing 4.3% of CEI's subscribed and paid-in capital.
    - CEI's balance sheets as of December 31, 1995, show that its assets are comprised of investments and shares in [illegible - possibly "companies"]. As an example, the principal stake ($422 million, 35% of its assets) is the ownership of 27.72% of the shares of Cointel S.A., which is the holding company for 55.96% of the shares of Telefónica de Argentina S.A.

- By memorandum dated June 11, 1996, the entity agreed that in no case will its stake in operating companies that are part of investments in CEI, measured individually or through their presence in holding companies, exceed 15% of said banking entity's Computable equity. This means that the entity will take steps to avoid assuming, in connection with its assets, positions that increase the risks taken through its stake in CEI.

- The purpose of this increased stake is to increase the capital of Banco República S.A.

- Within the context of encouraging this finance entity's increase in assets, it can be allowed to exceed the limit established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, with the following conditions:

Comply with the commitment assumed in the memorandum of June 11, 1996, and find the means necessary to include this relationship in three years.

The shareholdings should be registered at the lower of their equity value or current share price.

The profits generated as a result of this stake, in excess of the value of these shares as of June 30, 1996, determined in accordance with the above item, shall be deducted from the entity's computable equity for purposes of all the technical regulations and the guidelines on minimum capital.

The requirement for minimum capital above the excess reflected in the book value of the shareholdings of CEI, compared to the limit established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, shall be calculated using a coefficient of 0.5, a requirement 3.3 times higher than that established in the current guidelines (0.115).

- The entity shall refrain from carrying out any transaction that involves, even temporarily, directly or indirectly increasing the financing of CEI or assuming any risk connected with said company.

- The entity shall refrain from increasing its stake in other companies, except those that may eventually be associated with Banco Mendoza S. A. and Banco de Previsión Social S.A. or those that, on a temporary basis, originate in purchase transactions.

PS018326

- The purpose of the limitations set forth above is to prevent the entity from assuming inappropriate risks and to ensure that it values these holdings conservatively and does not increase its exposure to risks similar to those already assumed.
- With respect to the loan issued for the sale of the property at calle Bouchard, it is appropriate to permit it to be exceeded in the pertinent technical relationships to facilitate freeing up the assets of Banco República, with the following provisos:
  - The credit is maintained in normal status.
  - The entity shall refrain from granting new assistance to associated clients until it is included in the current technical relationships.
  - Banco República shall not increase its non-liquid investments, except for those that come about because of the needs of its business.
  - The entity shall proceed to increase the guarantees received because of this credit transaction, obtaining personal backing from the shareholders of República Compañía de Inversiones S.A. and reaching an agreement with this company regarding increasing the properly signed mortgage which gives Banco República S.A. the right, in the event of more than 30 days delay in payment of the credit, to have the mortgaged building transferred to it.
  - Banco República shall sell shares in the aforementioned credit, without liability, or take other steps to include it in all the technical relationships within five years.
  - The profit from the sale of the property shall be deducted (not shown on the books) from the computable equity, in proportion to the capital owing, for purposes of computing the minimum capital and all the relationships in which it is involved.
- Finally, the analysis of the entity's status up to May 1996, regarding spreading the credit risk, leads to the conclusion that:
  - Banco República declared these transactions in its memoranda of August 31, 1993 and August 31, 1994, although it misinterpreted the current guidelines.
  - Banco República has overreached itself with regard to this regulation in view of the recorded values [of] its shareholdings in CEI and the assistance afforded to UFCO Ltd. for the purchase of some of those shares.

The charges for application of the general provisions of Document "A" 2019 are disproportionate to the nature of the violation.

Therefore, there are mitigating circumstances that make it necessary to handle the situation in accordance with item 3.2.2 of Document "A" 2019, weighing the causes of the noncompliance. In this regard, all the steps taken by the entity to increase its assets and reduce its level of non-liquid investments are also taken into consideration.

The Directorate of Legal Studies and Reports has taken appropriate action, completely in accordance with the provisions of the National Law of Administrative Procedures No. 19549, article 7.

Therefore

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF BANCO CENTRAL DE LA REPUBLICA ARGENTINA RESOLVES

1. To allow Banco República to pay the balance of [the] capital contribution in the amount of $5 million and make a new contribution of $25 million with shares of Citicorp Equity Investments S.A. and, because of its ownership of these securities, exceed the limit established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, for three years starting with notification of this resolution, if and only if Banco República:
  - Complies with the commitment that in no case will its stake in operating companies that are part of CEI investments, measured individually or through their presence in holding companies, exceed the limits established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140.
  - Maintains the shareholdings in CEI registered at the lower of their equity value or current share price.
  - Deducts from the entity's computable equity, for purposes of all the technical regulations and guidelines regarding minimum capital, the profits generated because of increases in the value of this stake, in excess of the value of these shares as of June 30, 1996, determined as set forth in the previous item.
  - Calculates the requirement for minimum capital above the excess reflected in the book value of the shareholdings of CEI compared to the limit established in item 3.1 of Appendix II, Document "A" 2140, using a coefficient of 0.5.
  - Refrains from carrying out any transaction that involves, even temporarily, directly or indirectly increasing the financing of CEI or assuming any risk connected with said company.
  - Does not increase its stake in other companies, except those that may eventually be associated with Banco de Mendoza S.A.

PS018328

and Banco de Prevision Social S.A. or those of a temporary nature originating in purchase and sale transactions.

2.- To agree that the loan issued for the sale of the property located at calle Bouchard No. 685, Federal Capital, be maintained under the conditions already mentioned in the "considerations" section, as long as it is classified as situation normal and if and only if Banco Republica S.A.:

- Refrains from granting new assistance to associated clients until it is included in the current technical relationships.

- Refrains from increasing its non-liquid investments, except for those that come about because of the needs of its business.

- Proceeds, within 30 days of notification of this Resolution, to increase the guarantees received because of this credit transaction, obtaining personal backing from the shareholders of Republica Compania de Inversiones S.A., and to reach an agreement with this company regarding increasing the properly signed mortgage which gives Banco Republica S.A. the right, in the event of more than 30 days delay in payment of the credit, to have the mortgaged building transferred to it.

RESOLUCION N° 395

Buenos Aires, 28 AGO 1996

VISTO

- Que el Banco República, por nota del 31.8.94, solicita la exclusión de la participación accionaria en la sociedad Citicorp Equity Investments S.A., que al 31.7.94 representaba el 16,89 % de su RPC, de los límites establecidos en materia de fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio.
- Que la entidad basa su solicitud en que las características especiales del contrato celebrado entre los accionistas de dicha sociedad hacen que, de verse obligado el Banco República a enajenar las acciones, la venta se realizará en condiciones desfavorables para la entidad y que la excepción solicitada sería consistente con el espíritu y objetivos de la norma en cuestión dado que siendo el objeto social del C.E.I. financiero y de inversión, su activo se encuentra integrado por participaciones accionarias en varias sociedades, evitándose así la concentración del riesgo.
- Que del análisis efectuado por Supervisión de Entidades Financieras (Inf. 551/070/94) surge que:
  - La inversión realizada en acciones del C.E.I. se originó el 26.6.92, representando el 61,40 % de la RPC de la entidad financiera al 30.6.92.
  - El 29.6.92 el banco realizó una oferta de venta irrevocable de parte de dichas acciones a la firma "Burton and Golman Financial Corporation", cuya materialización estaba supeditada a que esa firma ejerciera la opción de compra que el convenio le adjudicaba, con vencimiento el 30.6.93.
  - De la escritura celebrada el 30.7.93 surge que la firma United Finance Company Ltd (UFCO) es la compradora de las acciones del C.E.I., abonando el 10% de la operación al contado y otorgándosele un préstamo por el saldo ($ 25.207 miles), financiación que fue cancelada anticipadamente el 30.3.94.
- Banco República interpretó que tanto la tenencia accionaria como la financiación otorgada no estarían alcanzadas por las normas vigentes sobre fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio, al no incluirse la opción entre las operaciones comprendidas mientras que Supervisión de Entidades Financieras entiende que la tenencia de acciones del C.E.I. hasta la venta efectivizada a UFCO- debe computarse en su totalidad como participación en otras sociedades.

- Se estima que resultaría viable acceder a lo solicitado por la entidad respecto de exceptuar del límite del punto 3.1 del Anexo II a la Comunicación "A" 2140 a la participación en el capital de C.E.I. atento la diversidad de empresas que conforman las inversiones realizadas y que cuenta con un activo atomizado, debiéndose contemplar asimismo extender dicha excepción al origen de la operación con el C.E.I. y a la financiación otorgada a UFCO, alcanzadas por iguales fundamentos.
- Que del análisis efectuado por Normas para Entidades Financieras (Inf. 144/683/94) surge que:
  - No se encuentran fundamentos para exceptuar operaciones que, tanto al momento de decidir la adquisición de la participación en el C.E.I. (26.6.92), durante el mantenimiento de la tenencia accionaria (hasta el 30.6.93) así como la asistencia otorgada al desvincularse de ella, no se hallaban encuadradas en las disposiciones vigentes.
  - Normativamente, tampoco se observan razones que meritúen la aplicación de una medida de carácter general sobre la tenencia actual, que contemple excluir las participaciones en sociedades de inversión, de las relaciones indicadas en el punto 3. del Anexo II a la Comunicación "A" 2140, dado que ellas fundamentalmente apuntan a diversificar el riesgo crediticio entre las diferentes actividades de la economía y, a su vez, dentro de cada una de ellas entre distintos agentes pertenecientes a cada sector.
  - Se entiende que corresponde al área de Superintendencia determinar si existen situaciones particulares del banco que hagan necesario contemplar un tratamiento diferencial en materia del cumplimiento de las normas sobre fraccionamiento del riesgo a las citadas tenencias en el capital del C.E.I..
- Que las conclusiones expuestas fueron puestas en conocimiento de la entidad en forma verbal en reuniones mantenidas con funcionarios de la entidad. Al respecto Banco República S.A. presentó la nota del 24.7.96 en la cual manifiesta que "...dado los argumentos que hemos expuesto oportunamente en dichas reuniones es que solicitamos tengan Uds. a bien reconsiderar su posición respecto del encuadramiento de dicha situación...".
- Que al 31.5.96 las inmovilizaciones de Banco República S.A. en activos fijos están conformadas principalmente por los siguientes conceptos:
  - Bienes de Uso por $ 7,1 millones.
  - Bienes diversos por $ 103,9 millones. El principal bien que integra este rubro es el Edificio Bouchard por $ 70,4 millones.
- Que estos conceptos representan el 115 % de su Responsabilidad Patrimonial Computable ($ 96,6 millones).

Que por nota del 11.6.95 el Banco República manifiesta que:

PS018322

- Junto con el grupo Inversora Magna S.A., "... se presentó como oferente en la licitación convocada por el Gobierno de Mendoza para la privatización de los Bancos oficiales -Banco de Previsión Social S.A. y Banco de Mendoza S.A.- ..." y que "... la futura operatoria vinculada con esos Bancos requerirá un aporte de capital en Banco República, del orden de (I) U$S 5 M, cancelando el saldo pendiente de integración del compromiso de aporte por un total de U$S 10 M, asumido en fecha 29 de diciembre de 1994, y (II) un nuevo aporte de U$S 25 M..."
- Ambos aportes se realizarían con acciones de Citicorp Equity Investments S.A. (C.E.I.).
- En "... plan de disminuir la inmovilización de activos, Banco República S.A. está decidido a desprenderse del Edificio República mediante su venta a una sociedad constituida por los mismos accionistas de la entidad, a un precio aproximado de U$S 98 M, que reportaría al Banco una utilidad de alrededor de los U$S 30 M. el precio se cancelaría con un préstamo otorgado por la vendedora, a diez años de plazo, con intereses y amortizaciones trimestrales por el sistema francés, con garantía hipotecaria que gravará el mismo inmueble..."
- "...el flujo de fondos para cancelar el préstamo se obtendría con los recursos provenientes del alquiler de los pisos a empresas de primer nivel, pues la locación es el destino dispuesto para ese Edificio erigido en el triángulo de las calles Bouchard, Viamonte y Avda Madero de esta ciudad..."

Que al respecto, la entidad solicita que:

PS018323

- Se admita que la integración del saldo de aporte de capital por $ 5 millones y el nuevo aporte por $ 25 millones se realice con acciones de Citicorp Equity Investments S.A.
- Se permita que su tenencia en acciones de C.E.I. supere el límite del 15% de la RPC fijado en el punto 3.1. del Anexo II a la Com. "A" 2140 . Al respecto la entidad señala que este pedido se justifica porque "... C.E.I. es una Sociedad de Inversión (Ley de Sociedades Comerciales, art. 31), cuyo objeto precisamente es adquirir participación en sociedades productoras y de servicios. En consecuencia las acciones de C.E.I. son representativas del Capital de las sociedades en que se invierte, de manera que, en el contexto de la limitación la propiedad de acciones de C.E.I. por parte de Banco República, no es la "tenencia de acciones de una misma empresa", sino de varias sociedades de diferente magnitud y diverso objeto social, como ocurre en todo holding. En ese contexto, Banco República está dispuesto a asumir que, en ningún caso, su participación en compañías operativas, medidas individualmente o a través de su presencia en sociedades controlantes excederá el 15% de la P.C. de dicha entidad bancaria.

Se admita el encuadramiento del préstamo a otorgar a los compradores del edificio en las condiciones señaladas anteriormente

- Que el Banco República manifiesta por nota del 1.7.96 que el 28.6.96 ha procedido a:
- Vender el edificio citado en la suma de $ 98 millones, habiendo percibido U$S 5 millones al contado e instrumentado la diferencia con un préstamo hipotecario por U$S 93 millones, pagadero en cuarenta cuotas trimestrales, iguales y consecutivas, comprensivas de capital e intereses, por U$S 3.294.639,22 cada una.
  - Recibir un aporte de capital por el equivalente a $ 30 millones en acciones emitidas por "Citicorp Equity Investments S.A.", de clase "B" nominativas, no endosables de 1 voto por acción y de $ 1 de valor nominal, que cotizaban a $ 3,95 cada una, al cierre de las operaciones de la Bolsa de Comercio de la ciudad de Buenos Aires.

CONSIDERANDO

PS018324

- Que del análisis de las medidas adoptadas por Banco República surgen como hechos relevantes que:
- Se incrementa la R.P.C. de Banco República en un 49% a través de la integración de aportes irrevocables por $ 30 millones y la utilidad generada por la venta del inmueble (aproximadamente $ 16,9 millones).
  - El porcentaje de inmovilización de la entidad en activos fijos se reduce al 94,5% o al 29,6%, según se considere o no como una inmovilización al préstamo de $ 93 millones, otorgado para financiar la venta del inmueble.
  - Si bien los aportes de capital no se efectuaron en la forma prevista en la Com. "A" 1858, existen bases ciertas para determinar su valor atento a que C.E.I. cotiza en la Bolsa de Comercio de Buenos Aires. Además se adoptarán los recaudos para que las acciones aportadas se mantengan registradas a su valor patrimonial o de cotización, de ambos el menor, lo que asegura una valuación cierta y conservadora.
  - La posición de la entidad en acciones del C.E.I. se incrementa al 37,90%, ya que alcanza a $ 54,5 millones frente a una RPC que aumenta a $ 143,5 millones. No obstante ello cabe contemplar que:
  - C.E.I. cotiza en la Bolsa de Comercio de Buenos Aires, estando por lo tanto sujeta a sus controles y régimen de información.

La tenencia total de Banco República S.A. alcanza a 13,7 millones de acciones, representativas del 4,3 % del capital suscrito e integrado de C.E.I..

De los estados contables de C.E.I. al 31.12.95 surge que su activo esta conformado por inversiones y participaciones en 61 empresas.

titulo de ejemplo la principal participación ($ 422 millones, 35% de su activo) es la tenencia del 27,72% de las acciones de Cointel S.A. quien es la holding del 55,96% de las acciones de Telefónica de Argentina S.A.

- Por nota del 11.6.96, la entidad ha comprometido que, en ningún caso, su participación en compañías operativas que formen parte de inversiones del C.E.I., medida individualmente o a través de su presencia en sociedades controlantes excederá el 15% de la R.P.C. de dicha entidad bancaria. Ello implica que la entidad adoptará las medidas conducentes para no asumir en sus activos posiciones que incrementen los riesgos tomados a través de su participación en C.E.I..
- Que el incremento de esta participación tiene como finalidad aumentar el capital de Banco República S.A..
- Que en el marco de favorecer el incremento patrimonial de esta entidad financiera puede admitirse que se exceda el límite fijado en el punto 3.1 del Anexo II a la Com. "A" 2140, con las siguientes condiciones:
  - Se deberá cumplir el compromiso asumido en la nota del 11.6.96 y arbitrar las medidas necesarias para encuadrar esta relación en tres años.
  - La tenencia accionaria deberá registrarse a su valor patrimonial proporcional o de cotización, de ambos el menor.
  - Las utilidades que se generen por esta participación, sobre el valor de estas acciones al 30.6.96 determinado según lo expuesto en el punto anterior, deberán deducirse de la R.P.C. de la entidad, a los fines de todas las regulaciones técnicas y las normas sobre capitales mínimos.
  - La exigencia de capital mínimo, sobre el exceso que registre el valor contable de la tenencia de acciones del C.E.I. frente al límite fijado en el punto 3.1. del Anexo II a la Com. "A" 2140, se calculará utilizando un coeficiente de 0,5, requisito superior en 3,3 veces al fijado en la normativa actual (0,115).
  - La entidad deberá abstenerse de realizar toda operación que implique, aunque sea transitoriamente, incrementar directa o indirectamente las financiaciones al C.E.I. o asumir cualquier riesgo relacionado con dicha empresa.
  - La entidad deberá abstenerse de incrementar sus participaciones en otras sociedades, exceptuando las que eventualmente pudieran corresponder a los Bancos de Mendoza S.A. y Banco de Previsión Social S.A. o las que, de carácter temporario, estuvieran originadas en operaciones de compraventa.

Que las limitaciones expuestas anteriormente tienden a que la entidad no asuma riesgos inconvenientes, valúe esta tenencia en forma conservadora y no aumente su exposición en riesgos similares a los ya asumidos.

Que con respecto al préstamo otorgado por la venta del inmueble sito en la calle Bouchard, cabe admitir que el mismo se exceda en las relaciones técnicas pertinentes a fin de facilitar la desinmovilización del activo de Banco República, con las siguientes consideraciones:

- El crédito se mantenga en situación normal.
- La entidad deberá abstenerse de otorgar nueva asistencia a clientes vinculados hasta tanto se encuadre en las relaciones técnicas vigentes.
- Banco República no incremente sus inmovilizaciones, exceptuando aquellas originadas en las necesidades de su giro.
- La entidad deberá proceder a ampliar las garantías recibidas por esta operación crediticia obteniendo avales personales de los accionistas de República Compañía de Inversiones S.A. y convenir con esta empresa una ampliación de la hipoteca oportunamente suscripta que de derecho al Banco República S.A., ante una mora en la cancelación del crédito superior a los 30 días, a obtener la transferencia a su favor del edificio hipotecado.
- El Banco República deberá vender participaciones en el citado crédito, sin responsabilidad, o tomar otras medidas a fin de encuadrarlo en todas las relaciones técnicas en el plazo máximo de cinco años.
- La utilidad originada por la venta del inmueble sea deducida extracontablemente de la Responsabilidad Patrimonial Computable, en forma proporcional al capital adeudado, a los fines del computo de capitales mínimos y de todas las relaciones en la que ella intervenga.

PS018326

Que, por último, del análisis de la situación de la entidad hasta mayo de 1996, en materia de fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio se concluye que:

- El Banco República ha declarado estas operaciones en sus notas del 31.8.93 y 31.8.94 aunque ha interpretado incorrectamente la normativa vigente.
- Banco República se ha excedido en esta regulación atento a los valores que ha registrado su tenencia accionaria en el C.E.I. y la asistencia otorgada a UFCO Ltd para la compra de parte de esas acciones.

Los cargos resultantes por aplicación de las disposiciones generales de la Com. "A" 2019 resultan desproporcionados frente a la naturaleza de la infracción.

Que en consecuencia existen circunstancias atenuantes que hacen necesario aplicar el tratamiento previsto en el punto 3.2.2. de la Com. 9584/2019.

ponderando las causales que originaron el incumplimiento. Al respecto, además se contempla el conjunto de medidas adoptadas por la entidad para aumentar su patrimonio y reducir su nivel de inmovilizaciones.

- Que la Gerencia de Estudios y Dictámenes Jurídicos ha tomado la intervención que le compete, en un todo de acuerdo con lo previsto por la Ley Nacional de Procedimientos Administrativos N° 19549, artículo 7.

Por lo expuesto

Justificación de las excepciones:
BR tiene en su activo operaciones de trading

- Se autoriza a la entidad para operar en la categoría "C" a partir de Julio '89 (Comercio Exterior).
- En 1991 el grupo adquirió el 8.8% de Cointel, accionista mayoritaria de Telefónica de Argentina (60%). En 1992 compraron el 33% de Citicorp Equity Investments.

Explanation for the exceptions: BR has in its asset[s] trading transactions and repos [TR.: "repurchase agreements"] that "artificially" affect the capitalization index (since they are "matched" and low risk assets). Moreover, BR has a "hidden profit" of 50 MM because of its ownership of shares of CEI (see file).

Describe very briefly company's history and the key events that have led to its current position/situation:

- Established as Financiera República S.A., December 20, 1977.
- BCRA approves the entity's change to a bank, October 1983. It was one of the first wholesale entities to become a bank.
- The entity is authorized to operate in category "C" starting July 1989. (Foreign trade).
- The group acquired 8.8% of Cointel, majority shareholder of Telefónica de Argentina (60%) in 1991.
- Bought 33% of Citicorp Equity Investments in 1992.

PS 018272

- The entity became one of the leaders in the market in brokerage of bonds; operates as an "over-the-counter" broker.
- During the crisis of 1995, suffered significant withdrawals of deposits (like other wholesale entities), but confronted them thanks to the support of the shareholders and its financing with lines from abroad.
- In 1996, wins the bid for two banks in the province of Mendoza, Banco de Mendoza and Banco de Previsión Social.
- In 1998, Banco [de] Mendoza and Banco de Previsión Social merge, and at the same time increase their stake to 66%.
- In August 1998, Grupo República exercises a call it had on shares of CEI. | Market / Industry Issues:El contexto macroeconómico reinante durante los últimos 18 meses, llevaron al mercado financiero a experimentar cambios radicales. La cantidad de players cayó en aproximadamente un 20 % y los top players fueron claros ganadores mediante el denominado fly to quality process. Este proceso, según consultoras locales y extranjeros no ha finalizado y se espera que para el año 2000 queden en el mercado solamente el 60% de las entidades actuales, pese a la duplicación esperada en la base de depósitos. |                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                              |                                              |                           |  |  |            |            |            |         |     |     |     |           |     |     |     |           |     |     |     |            |     |     |     |            |       |     |       |

MARKETING / INDUSTRY ISSUES

El Sistema Financiero Argentino ha mostrado un importante crecimiento desde 1991 fecha en la que comenzó el actual plan de Convertibilidad. A fines de Diciembre de 1994 se produjo una crisis cambiaria en México, lo que generó una fuerte desconfianza en los inversores externos de este país y una caída en los precios de la deuda externa. Esta crisis se trasladó, en menor medida, al mercado argentino, donde los títulos públicos disminuyeron fuertemente sus precios y se produjo una fuerte demanda de dólares que el BCRA atendió en su totalidad. Este contexto de incertidumbre produjo que algunos inversores traspasaran sus depósitos en pesos a dólares y los redistribuyeran entre bancos tratando de disminuir el riesgo o bien directamente retirar sus depósitos del sistema. A fines de Marzo '95 los retiros de depósitos se extendieron a la totalidad de la banca generando un retiro de $8,000 MM el cual a Junio del '96 ya había sido recuperado por el sistema financiero.

El sistema financiero argentino demostró su capacidad para superar totalmente la crisis de liquidez a comienzos de 1995, sin ayuda externa, sin poner en peligro el plan de convertibilidad monetaria y comprometer la situación fiscal del estado nacional. Esta salida masiva de capitales fue soportada gracias a la solidez patrimonial de las principales entidades y a la capacidad de fondos adicionales del Banco Central.

Actualmente los depósitos del Sistema son superiores a los existentes al comienzo de la crisis bancaria. El importante crecimiento de los depósitos en los bancos de primera línea creó un excedente de liquidez en estas entidades que se ha canalizado hacia el otorgamiento de créditos en forma muy moderada debido a la escasa demanda existente, en parte fruto de la incertidumbre laboral que constituye un desaliento a la toma de préstamos por parte de las familias, y en parte debido a que el acceso al mercado internacional dio lugar a una menor utilización del crédito local por parte de empresas mas grandes. Las tasas de interés a Sept '96 se ubican por debajo de los niveles de fines de diciembre de 1994 y se acercaron los rendimientos entre pesos y dólares hecho que pone de manifiesto confianza en el mantenimiento de la paridad cambiaria.

El sector bancario se encuentra en pleno proceso de cambio ya que gran cantidad de entidades se encuentran redefiniendo su estrategia para adecuarse al nuevo escenario de mercado. Asimismo, la gran cantidad de fusiones y adquisiciones producto de la crisis ha hecho que varias entidades estén en proceso de reestructuración. Varias entidades realizaron venta de sus carteras lo que les permitió reducir sus niveles de actividad y resolver problemas de liquidez. En el último año el total de entidades financieras se redujo de 183 a 152 en Junio '96.

En el mediano plazo se espera:

- Crecimiento del volumen de depósitos como contrapartida de una mayor bancarización, de la repatriación de capitales y de la venta de títulos públicos por parte de los residentes locales a los inversores externos. Este crecimiento se prevee en mayor medida para un grupo reducido de bancos, favoreciendo a los bancos mas sólidos.
- Que continúe el proceso de reestructuración del sector por disminución del número de entidades y la privatización de la mayoría de la banca provincial.
- Altísima competencia en el segmento de banca minorista y PYMES.
- Reducción en las tasas de interés en el segmento minorista.
- Colocación de créditos ligada a la reactivación de la economía y a mayores índices de empleo.
- La reactivación del mercado de capitales como negocio de ventas y distribución y como fuente de fondos.

BUSINESS STRATEGY

El banco participa activamente en diversos sectores de la actividad bancaria, y mantiene un liderazgo en el trading de títulos en el mercado over the counter y el volumen de operatividad con acciones en el mercado continuo. En el segmento comercial apunta a un segmento alto-medio de clientes tratando de obtener buenas garantías.

El segmento de préstamos a compañías medianas y grandes enfrentó una importante caída de spreads. Ante este escenario el banco demostró una buena estrategia para mantener sus volúmenes y aumentar sus resultados en la operatividad financiera. Es importante destacar que luego de la crisis el banco se vio afectado en la reducción de volúmenes de trading y en el retiro de depósitos.

Recientemente la entidad ha decidido adquirir dos bancos mendocinos privatizados con la intención de volcarse al negocio minorista. Cabe aclarar que el management no tiene experiencia en este segmento de mercado, que actualmente es uno de los mas competitivos de la banca en el país.

MARKETING / INDUSTRY ISSUES

The Argentine Financial System has shown significant growth since 1991, when the current Convertibility plan was initiated. In late December 1994 there was a foreign exchange crisis in Mexico, which led to much lack of confidence among investors outside Mexico, and a drop in the cost of the foreign debt. This crisis was transferred, to a lesser degree, to the Argentine market, where prices of government securities dropped sharply and a strong demand for dollars arose and was fully met by BCRA. This context of uncertainty resulted in some investors changing their deposits in pesos to dollars and redistributing them among banks, trying to decrease the risk, or directly withdrawing their deposits from the system. In early March 1995 the withdrawals of deposits extended to all banks, resulting in a withdrawal of $8,000 MM, which had already been recovered by the financial system in June 1996.

The Argentine financial system demonstrated its ability to totally overcome the liquidity crisis in early 1995, without outside help, without endangering the monetary convertibility plan and compromising the government's fiscal situation. This massive outflow of capital was weathered thanks to the principal entities' financial soundness and Banco Central's capacity for additional financing.

At present, deposits in the System exceed deposits at the start of the banking crisis. The significant growth of deposits in the top-rated banks created excess liquidity in these entities, which has been channeled into extending loans which are very reasonable due to the limited existing demand, partly the result of labor uncertainty, which discourages families from taking out loans, and partly due to the fact that access to the international market resulted in less utilization of local credit by the largest companies. Interest rates in September 1996 are below the levels of late December 1994, and the returns in pesos and dollars are close, which demonstrates confidence in the maintenance of exchange rate parity.

The banking sector is undergoing a change, since many entities are redefining their strategy to adjust it to the new market scenario. Moreover, the many mergers and acquisitions resulting from the crisis have led to the restructuring of several entities. Several entities sold their portfolios, which allowed them to reduce their levels of activity and resolve liquidity problems. Over the last year, the total number of financial entities decreased from 183 to 152 in June 1996.

In the middle term, the following is expected:

- Growth in volume of deposits as a counterpart to increased bank usage, repatriation of capital, and the sale of government securities by local residents to outside investors. This growth is expected to [occur to] a greater extent for a small group of banks, favoring the strongest banks.
- Continuation of the restructuring process in the sector because of a decrease in the number of entities and privatization of most provincial banking.

PS018283 [cont.]

- Very high level of competition in the retail banking sector and [among] small and medium-sized companies.
- Reduction of interest rates in the retail sector
- Underwriting of loans associated with reactivation of the economy and higher rates of employment.
- Reactivation of the capital market as a sales and distribution business and as a source of funds.

They have a centralized system for credit approval consisting of a Committee comprised of Raul Moneta or Jaime Lucini as senior signatures [sic] that meets twice a week to approve lines of credit or special transactions.

The Commercial Director, Administrative Director, Commercial Manager, and Risk Manager participate in decision making.

The Committee meets after reading the proposal for lines and invites the accounts officer to present the proposal and answer the Committee's questions. At the counter they have a system to control operators' limits and the Bank's overall position, differentiating the risk in accordance with the volatility of the security in the portfolio.

There is a team of internal auditors which verifies that procedures are being followed, in addition to the analysis of Deloitte & Touche, outside auditors.

| El sistema financiero local ha evidenciado una recuperación luego del efecto tequila en donde llevó al mercado financiero a experimentar cambios radicales, en donde la cantidad de players cayeron en aproximadamente un 20 % y los top players fueron claros ganadores mediante el denominado fly to quality process. Todos los indicadores macroeconómicos nos facilitan muestras claras de esta recuperación entre Dic.95 y Dic. 96: el PBI creció en un 5.28%, esperando un crecimiento para este año de aprox. 7%, los préstamos en un 10 % y la mora neta sobre éstos disminuyó prácticamente en un 5%. Durante 1997 estos índices han mantenido su tendencia creciente, y es por este motivo que han desembarcado, comprando banco locales, en la Argentina y en la región, bancos extranjeros como el Santander, Hong Kong Shanghai, Bilbao Vizcaya y el Nova Scotia. Se espera un crecimiento importante en la tasa de bancarización, atado a una mayor competitividad que generará menor spread, pero que igualmente generen rentabilidad respecto al resto de otras regiones. |          |

| El banco participa activamente en diversos sectores de la actividad bancaria, y mantiene un liderazgo en el trading de títulos en el mercado over the counter y el volumen de operatoria con acciones en el mercado continuo. En el segmento comercial apunta a un segmento alto-medio de clientes tratando de obtener buenas garantías. El segmento de préstamos a compañías medianas y grandes enfrentó una importante caída de spreads. Ante este escenario el banco demostró una buena estrategia para mantener sus volúmenes y aumentar sus resultados en la operatoria financiera. Es importante destacar que luego de la crisis el banco se vio afectado en la reducción de volúmenes de trading y en el retiro de depósitos. Recientemente la entidad ha decidido adquirir dos bancos mendocinos privatizados con la intención de volcarse al negocio minorista.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |          |

MARKETING / INDUSTRY ISSUES

The local financial system has shown evidence of a recovery after the Tequila effect, which caused radical changes in the financial market, in which the number of players fell approximately 20% and the top players were clear winners through the so-called "fly to quality" process. All macroeconomic indicators give clear signs of this recovery between December 95 and December 96: the Gross Domestic Product increased 5.28%. Increase of the Gross Domestic Product for this year is expected to be approximately 7%, loans are expected to increase 10%, and the net arrears on these dropped almost 5%.

During 1997, these indexes maintained their growth trend, and therefore foreign banks such as Santander, Hong Kong Shanghai, Bilbao Vizcaya, and Nova Scotia have entered the picture, buying local banks in Argentina and the Region. Significant growth is expected in the rate of bank usage, tied to greater competitiveness which will generate less spread, but which also generates profitability with respect to the rest of [the] other regions [sic].

BUSINESS STRATEGY

The bank actively participates in different sectors of banking activity and maintains leadership in trading securities in the over-the-counter market and the volume of transactions with shares on the continuous market. In the commercial sector, it aims for an upper-middle segment of customers, trying to obtain good guarantees.

The area of loans to medium-sized and large companies confronted an important drop in spreads. Given this scenario, the bank demonstrated a good strategy for maintaining its volumes and increasing its profits in financial operations. It is important to point out that after the crisis the bank was affected in terms of reduction of trading volumes and withdrawal of deposits.

Recently, the entity decided to acquire two privatized banks in the province of Mendoza with the intention of getting into the retail business.

PS000833

In August 1998, Grupo República exercises a call it possessed on the shares of CEI. When Grupo Wertheim sold its shares (in total to the equity fund "Hicks, Muse, Tate & Furst") and in part Citicorp (17%), Grupo República exercised the call and increased its stake in CEI to 39.9 %, thus becoming the largest shareholding group in this company, with approximately US$ 1700 MM. At the same time, Raúl Moneta was designated president of CEI in place of Ricardo Handley.

- In April 1999, Banco Mendoza is suspended by the BCRA. Given the interrelationship that developed between this retail bank (Banco Mendoza) and Banco República, Banco República suffers a loss of deposits, and subsequently BCRA suspends it.

PS000834

We have no evidence or information from third parties to the effect that Grupo República was or is carrying out illicit money laundering transactions with the knowledge of its management or shareholders.

1. Risk Summary (This question should be answered last)

(a) Highlight in order of priority significant risks/mitigants associated with the exposure to this bank that could lead to a downgrade in the ORR or a FRR — e.g., Y2000 compliance, EMU, financial, industry, etc. - (note: include CCCP-defined "unusual risks").

Riesgo Macro: crisis sistémica (Probabilidad: media, Impacto: alta): pese a que el sistema financiero prácticamente no ha sufrido inconvenientes durante las últimas crisis internacionales, por las características que posee el Banco República, es más vulnerable que otras entidades a sufrir salida de depósitos en caso de corrida contra el sistema.

PS000870

Justificación:

Como explicamos en el industry study, el Sistema Financiero local se encuentra mucho mejor preparado para enfrentar este tipo de corridas que en el pasado, debido a una serie de medidas que ha ido implementando el Banco Central (pases contingentes, mayores RML, Sedesa, etc).

Banco República ha soportado crisis como la del Tequila, gracias a la imagen que posee Raúl Moneta entre inversores y bancos corresponsales, pero sobre todo a la disponibilidad de activos que permiten a sus accionistas obtener fondos via equity swaps que realizan frecuentemente con bancos del exterior (contra acciones de CEI, Telecom, Telefonica).

Además, este banco asume poco descalce de plazos ya que una parte importante de su cartera (45% aprox.) esta compuesta por operaciones de trade, calzadas en plazo y moneda. Es importante mencionar que Banco República se encuentra modificando la composición de sus depósitos, siendo actualmente en su mayoría depósitos "retail" (de individuos de alto patrimonio que confían en Moneta). En el pasado captaban muchos fondos de inversores mayoristas, pero dada la volatilidad de los mismos, han reducido su exposición en este sentido.

Adicionalmente a todo lo mencionado, gracias a la adquisición de los bancos provinciales (BR posee una participación mayoritaria del 57%), el Banco República posee acceso a una fuente estable de depósitos retail por $615 mm. Estos depósitos son 3.4x mayores a los depósitos de BR, y duplican el monto de préstamos que posee Banco Mendoza, evidenciando el buen nivel de liquidez que posee esta entidad.

- Competition (probabilidad: alta, Impacto: medio): Banco República actualmente posee básicamente dos negocios: comercio exterior y banca minorista en la región de Cuyo (a través de su subsidiaria, Banco de Mendoza). Su primer negocio ha sufrido una reducción de spreads importante y mayor competencia durante los últimos años. Con respecto al segundo, en el mediano plazo es posible que los grandes bancos incrementen su penetración en la banca regional. Estos big players compiten con mejores productos, tecnología y economía de escala.

Justificación: En cuanto a la amenaza de los big players en la región de Cuyo, Banco República, al igual que los otros bancos privados que han participado en la privatización de los bancos provinciales, ha adquirido la figura de "agente financiero de la provincia", esto quiere decir que el Banco de Mendoza posee hasta diciembre del 2001 un contrato de exclusividad para el manejo de los fondos de la provincia que incluye el pago de haberes a los empleados públicos y el manejo de liquidez de la provincia. Esta característica convierte a este negocio en un nicho de mercado, con altas barreras de entrada y lo posiciona como "dominant player" de la región (posee actualmente un market share de 40%). Este posicionamiento se origina por la importante presencia que el sector público posee aún en las economías provinciales (al tener pago de sueldos, le pueden dar tarjetas de crédito y préstamos personales con descuento por planilla, reduciendo mucho la incobrabilidad). Respecto del negocio de trade, BR visto la disminución de spreads y el alto nivel de competitividad que posee este negocio, ha decidido reducir sus esfuerzos en este negocio focalizándose en banca de individuos en la región de Cuyo.

- Adquisición de Banco Mendoza (probabilidad: alta, Impacto: medio): BR nació y creció en el negocio de brokerage/banca mayorista. No tienen experiencia en el negocio retail, ni tampoco en la región de Mendoza. Además, el Bco de Mendoza continúa arrastrando problemas propios de una entidad estatal y continua mostrando pérdidas en su balance.

Justificación: Los accionistas de Banco República, luego de un año en donde no han obtenido los resultados esperados, han decidido reemplazar al management y nombrar gente de mucha confianza para dirigir el negocio en Mendoza. Esta decisión se encuentra alineada con la decisión de fusionar los bancos (provincial y BR) en los próximos seis meses. Un reflejo de esta decisión es que han nombrado a Jorge Maldiera (Director administrativo de BR, con 15 años de experiencia en la banca) como Gerente General de Banco Mendoza. Banco de Mendoza posee sin duda un importante potencial de desarrollo, es el "agente financiero" de la provincia, y con un aceptable manejo de su cartera y una mínima re-estructuración debería alcanzar rápidamente su break-even y pasar a obtener resultados positivos en el corto plazo (1 ó 2 años).

- Inmovilización (probabilidad: alta, Impacto: medio): BR tiene todo su patrimonio neto inmovilizado, debido fundamentalmente a su tenencia de acciones de CEI.

Justificación: BR planea fusionar su balance con Banco de Mendoza en los próximos meses, y previo a la fusión BR sacará las acciones que posee de CEI de su balance (21MM de acciones que representan aprox. 50MM a valor libros). De esta forma liberará aproximadamente 42% de su patrimonio actual y al fusionar los balances conseguirá una buena porción de liquid capital en su patrimonio (ver pro-forma balances consolidados).

Por otro lado, CEI continúa con su intención de emitir ADRs en NYSE con lo que le otorgaría mayor liquidez a sus acciones. Durante este año han intentado realizar esta emisión pero las crisis que han debido soportar los mercados de capitales no se lo han permitido. De todas maneras son acciones que, si bien con ciertas restricciones, se pueden hacer liquidas con un swap. Por otra parte, BR tiene poca cartera non performing, de manera que el "carrying cost" de los préstamos morosos no es alto.

- One man show (probabilidad: alta, Impacto: alto): Raul Moneta es indiscutiblemente el artífice de lo que hoy es el grupo. Durante este año de acuerdo a la re-estructuración que ha tenido CEI, Republica Holding ha quedado como el grupo mayoritario y Raul Moneta como presidente del CEI. Sin duda que la presencia de Raul Moneta como presidente de uno de los grupos económicos más fuertes del país le permiten obtener un muy buen acceso tanto al poder político como económico de la República Argentina. El banco creció bajo la dirección de Raúl Moneta quien hoy esta más focalizado en CEI y ha descuidado su negocio bancario.

*Ver en Cuentas
de final del
CFA
Mente*

Justificación: Moneta es secundado por un grupo de gente de buen nivel profesional que lo han acompañado y que han demostrado saber anticiparse a los distintos cambios que ha atravesado el mercado argentino. De todas maneras, debemos reconocer que Raul Moneta no muestra tanto interés en el negocio bancario, por lo que no descartamos que en 1 o 2 años quiera vender las entidades fusionadas.

Recesión (probabilidad: media, impacto: medio): este riesgo es originado ante la posibilidad que la economía local caiga en un proceso prolongado de recesión, y que esta situación económica incida negativamente en la performance del BR, sobre todo el impacto que podría tener esta situación en la calidad de cartera de Banco Mendoza (que es actualmente la mayor debilidad de esta entidad).

Justificación: Las proyecciones de los economistas hablan de un crecimiento del PBI para el próximo año de entre el 2 y el 3%, por lo que no podemos hablar estrictamente de recesión, sino más bien de "des-aceleración". El impacto en la incobrabilidad de este menor crecimiento no debería ser, en consecuencia, tan grave como lo que se vió en el Tequila. No obstante, algunos clientes que trabajan con pymes nos han reconocido que se advierte un aumento en los problemas de crédito. Claramente este es un tema a seguir, junto con la rentabilidad de los bancos fusionados. Por ahora, estamos proponiendo reducir la exposición con el grupo.

(b) Provide comments for each "Yes" checked off in the Stability Criteria and/or any exceptions identified in the second grid.

Target Market Exception: "Earnings & Generation": Ver TA/ANALISIS ATACADO

Banco República se encuentra en un proceso de re-estructuración de su negocio. En los últimos dos ejercicios ha obtenido resultados positivos, pero a través de la participación del 67% que posee en Banco Mendoza ha sufrido pérdidas en el último ejercicio cerrado en junio de 1998, y a setiembre de 1998 su balance presenta un resultado negativo de $1.7MM. Las principales razones que han originado estas pérdidas son los mayores cargos por incobrabilidad de BR y la re-calificación de la cartera de Banco Mendoza. (ver punto 4a de esta revisión, análisis de earnings).

Banco República fusionará su balance en Marzo de 1999 con el objeto de reducir costos de estructura, y focalizarse en los negocios con más potencial (ver pro-forma balances fusionados). Con esta fusión y gracias al posicionamiento líder que posee Banco Mendoza en la región de Cuyo sumados a algunos cambios necesarios que realizará el management de BR, estimamos que el outlook es moderadamente positivo para esta entidad. Al mismo tiempo debe tenerse en cuenta la participación que posee el Grupo República en CEI, lo que sumados a una valuación aproximadas de los bancos, origina un patrimonio total aproximado del Grupo de usd 3.6 MM.

Es importante mencionar, que de acuerdo a una reunión mantenida con el management de BR, se espera que en los próximos meses Banco Mendoza (luego de Marzo 1999 Banco Republica-Mendoza) alcance su break even. Para este fin, continuarán racionalizando la estructura de Banco Mendoza (van a despedir otros 200 empleados), y al mismo tiempo en noviembre de 1998 pasaron a pérdida los últimos $1.5 mm de prevision que aplicaban por una recategorización de la cartera de Banco Mendoza. De esta forma Banco Mendoza, obtendrá un ahorro anual en sus costos por $21.6MM, compuestos por $3.5 mm anuales de pago de salarios y $1.5MM mensuales en concepto de pérdidas por re-clasificación de su cartera.

(c) Using prior two responses, overall, is the risk profile of the obligor today better, equal or worse vis-à-vis the previous annual review or credit approval? How does this change affect our current or proposed exposure?

El risk profile del grupo no ha variado significativamente respecto de la última revisión anual. El punto más notorio es el estancamiento que se observa en el Banco Mendoza del cual BR posee una participación accionaria del 67%. Los mayores acontecimientos del grupo han sido el aumento de la participación en CEI, y la fusión de los bancos provinciales (Mendoza y Previsión Social). Al mismo tiempo, los accionistas de BR planean fusionar Banco de Mendoza con BR en los próximos meses.

Si nos guiamos por las proyecciones del grupo, el próximo ejercicio debería ser sustancialmente mejor en el negocio financiero. No obstante, creemos que es prudente a esperar que se concreten la fusión de ambas entidades, la venta del edificio, y el break even en resultados.

Es importante mencionar, respecto del perfil de riesgo de este cliente, que el BR entre 1997/98 ha desarmado su mesa de dinero reduciendo su exposición en títulos públicos, y evitando los impactos negativos que han sufrido los títulos de riesgo soberano durante dicho período.

2. Industry Strategy

(a) What is the Obligor's strategy? Discuss how it has achieved its strategic objectives over the past 2-3 years.

El Grupo se ha focalizado en dos industrias básicamente, la financiera a través del Banco República y en Media & Communication a través de CEI. La estrategia del Grupo es liderada por Raul Moneta, que gracias a sus relaciones, su gran habilidad comercial y política se ha sabido manejar con gran audacia dentro del establishment local, convirtiendo a su grupo en uno de los más importantes del país.

Respecto de la industria financiera, y dada la tendencia negativa que evidenciaba el negocio de banca mayorista en el mercado local, el Grupo República adquirió los bancos provinciales de Mendoza y Previsión Social en 1996. Estas entidades, aunque todavía no han alcanzado los resultados esperados, se presentan como nichos muy atractivos con alto potencial de desarrollo e importantes retornos sobre las inversiones realizadas.

En cuanto al negocio de Media & Communication, CEI ha mostrado un importante crecimiento durante el último año vendiendo participaciones en algunas firmas, adquiriendo otras y focalizándose en su segmento, en el que es sin duda líder indiscutible del mercado local.

Resumiendo, la estrategia del Grupo se centra en su participación en CEI, y probablemente en el mediano plazo la venta de su negocio bancario luego que el mismo alcance resultados satisfactorios.

(b) How is the obligor positioned against the industry KSFs? Is there likely to be any material change over the next 12 months?

El Banco República cumple con KSFs establecidos en el industry study de FI Argentina. Respecto de estos KSFs, BR presenta debilidades respecto de la capacidad para resistir a crisis sistémicas de liquidez y presenta como fortaleza la imagen y presencia de su management dentro del sistema financiero y económico local. Durante los últimos doce meses no han sufrido cambios importantes sobre su estructura y negocios. El único factor a tener en cuenta y realizar un seguimiento cauteloso es la performance del Banco Mendoza, el cual continúa con una alta mora en su cartera y presenta un resultado final negativo en su balance.

3. Management and Strategy

- (a) What is your assessment of management's ability to formulate and execute its business strategy and respond to changes in the economy, industry and competitive environment? How have they evidenced this? (Comment on any changes in the obligor's strategy) How has the obligor performed relative to management's own forecasts?

El management del Grupo ha sabido adaptarse y anticipado a los cambios del mercado. Esto se evidencia a través de haber podido resistir a la crisis del Tequila en 1995, haber podido adquirir los bancos provinciales de Mendoza y Prevision Social, y haberse consolidado como minoría mayoritaria dentro de la estructura accionaria de CEI.

Respecto de nuestros forecasts, los mismos no han sido alcanzados. Estos fueron realizados basándose en los comentarios del management de BR el cual esperaba que Banco Mendoza alcance su break even durante este año. Es por tal motivo, y hasta que no verifiquemos que se cumplen las perspectivas favorables que nos anticipó el management del grupo, que durante esta revisión hemos reducido en un 20% el total facilities que posee Citibank con este cliente.

Respecto de la futura performance de BR para los próximos doce meses, de acuerdo a lo descripto en este análisis, esperamos que con la re-estructuración del Banco Mendoza y la fusión entre los dos bancos puedan alcanzar los resultados esperados. La performance de este banco será seguida de cerca a través de los CCR correspondientes, ya que la cuenta está clasificada como "IA".

- (b) What is our access to key company seniors? What is our view of their integrity and character? Comment on overall management depth.

Nuestra llegada a los ejecutivos que manejan el BR y el Grupo es muy buena. Esta relación se ha fortalecido gracias a la relación que existe entre el banco y el Grupo República en CEI. El management del Grupo posee un buen carácter y ha desarrollado una intachable reputación dentro del mercado local. Gracias a Raúl Moneta (N1 del Grupo), el grupo posee una presencia predominante dentro del establishment argentino.

Comentarios sobre el management del Banco República:

(c) Does the obligor have any weakness in its credit and/or risk management, liquidity or trading practices? Provide Citibank Treasurer and/or Senior Managers' (i.e. Corporate Bank or Corporate Finance Head) opinion as appropriate.

Manejan con mucho profesionalismo sus riesgos. Han desarmado su Mesa de dinero y desde ese entonces no toman posiciones de títulos importantes. La cartera de préstamos de Banco República ha sido tradicionalmente de muy buena calidad. Los problemas que tienen hoy en Banco de Mendoza son heredados de la entidad estatal, no generados por ellos mismos. Del punto de vista de liquidez, han ido mejorando en los últimos años su fondeo, volcándose más a los depósitos retail a partir de la experiencia del Tequila.

(d) Does the Obligor ownership and organizational/legal structure affect our risk assessment? (Focus on issues such as the transfer of assets among Obligor within related obligors, the importance of specific Obligor's to achievement of the related obligor's objectives, access to information regarding the related obligor's businesses, the ability of the related obligors to attract/retain capable professional managers, and disputes among the owners/management regarding strategy and management succession.) Comment specifically on management turnover and the ability of the company to react to this.

Existe cierta debilidad a este nivel por tres factores: la tenencia de acciones de CEI en el banco (ya que la liquidez de estas acciones es limitada); la inmovilización que representa el préstamo hipotecario por el Edificio República; y la interrelación entre Bco República y Bco de Mendoza. Tenemos entendido que los tres se resolverían con la fusión, ya que el BCRA les exigiría sacar del balance los dos primeros activos mencionados. Con respecto al primero, lo más probable es que transfieran la tenencia a otro vehículo del exterior (ver más abajo), y el préstamo se precancelaría con la venta del edificio que esta avanzada (ver más abajo también). Respecto de los cambios en el management, es importante mencionar que BR ha cambiado la cúpula de Banco Mendoza, nombrando a Jorge Maldera como Gerente General en lugar de Eduardo Lede. Este cambio ha sido realizado en función del bajo rendimiento que ha tenido el Banco Mendoza durante el último año. El cambio realizado en el management es de alguna forma decisión conservadora, ya que se ha delegado la responsabilidad de manejar el negocio en la cúpula tradicional del BR.

Capital adequacy:

Banco República posee a Agosto de 1998 un patrimonio neto de usd 118 MM, que representa un NW/Risk Assets de 25% y un NW/Assets de 19%, siendo estos ratios superiores al promedio del sistema los cuales ascienden a 18% y 11%. En cuanto a la mora neta de cartera respecto del patrimonio de Banco República, a agosto de 1998 era de 5.3% este indicador es mejor que el de sus bancos competidores y que el promedio del sistema el cual es de 23%.

La debilidad de Banco República respecto de su capital, es la total inmovilización que presenta su patrimonio. Esta inmovilización es originada en gran medida por la tenencia accionaria que posee Banco República en su balance por las acciones de CEI. Esta participación representa el 59% del total del patrimonio del banco, valuando acciones y patrimonio a valor libros. Sin duda alguna esta inmovilización de patrimonio representa un riesgo en la estructura patrimonial del banco, pero el mismo se ve mitigado por la buena calidad que posee su cartera que es originada en un 45% por las operaciones de trade que realiza BR con empresas de primera línea, como así también por la capacidad de realizar swaps contra estas acciones haciéndose de esta forma de liquidez.

Es importante mencionar que BR planea fusionar los balances de los bancos provinciales con el balance de BR, y colocar las acciones de CEI en otro de los vehículos del grupo, otorgándole de esta forma mayor liquidez a su balance (ver pro-forma Banco Mendoza/República fusionados).

En cuanto a la composición de los Bancos de Mendoza y Previsión Social adquiridos en 1996 por BR, los mismos se encuentran fusionados bajo el nombre de Banco de Mendoza. Esta entidad a Junio de 1998, posee un exceso de RPC del 25%. La exigencia de capitales mínimos para esta entidad es muy baja, ya que los principales activos de esta entidad son activos líquidos (call, títulos públicos y otros). Si el management de Banco Mendoza planifica incrementar su nivel de activos a través del otorgamiento de préstamos retail requerirá en el futuro un aporte de capital por parte de sus accionistas, ya que actualmente la relación NW/Assets es muy baja. Es importante mencionar que este aporte de capital no sería necesario de confirmarse la fusión con el Banco República, el cual posee un alto nivel de capitalización que le permitiría al Banco Mendoza incrementar su nivel de activos.

Assets:

El monto total de activos de Banco República es de usd 613 MM, éstos han disminuido en un 45% ($500 MM aprox.). Esta disminución se explica a través de la decisión de BR de desarmar su mesa de dinero, originando las siguientes reducciones:

- (i) 60MM en títulos públicos,
- (ii) 150MM en préstamos, básicamente al sector financiero.
- (iii) y el resto a través de otros créditos por intermediación financiera: (a) repos con otros bancos, operación que realizaba frecuentemente y que en su balance de 1997 totalizaban usd 193MM, figurando en la actualidad tan sólo usd 46MM, y (b) compra/vta de títulos, que en 1997 figuraban usd 215MM y en 1998 figuran tan sólo usd 25MM.

El total de préstamos que posee BR es de usd 292 MM, con la siguiente composición: adelantos y descuento de documentos (67%) y créditos hipotecarios (37%). En cuanto a los créditos hipotecarios, el 73% pertenece a un préstamo hipotecario concedido por Banco República a Republica Inversiones para la construcción del edificio en Puerto Madero, este préstamo se repaga con los alquileres de los pisos, encontrándose el edificio en este momento alquilado prácticamente en su totalidad. Este préstamo le restan 6 años para su expiración y esta acordado a una tasa fija de 7%.

En referencia también a este préstamo es importante mencionar, que según lo conversado con el management del Grupo República se habría prácticamente cerrado la venta del edificio con lo que se precancelaría el préstamo.

Respecto del descuento de documentos y adelantos, los mismos corresponden en gran medida a operaciones de comercio exterior (pre-financiaciones y cartas de crédito), que BR realiza con empresas de primera línea originando de esta forma una cartera de una buena calidad (mora= 7%). Debe tenerse en cuenta que en la cartera de Banco República, figuran $30 MM provenientes de la compra de cartera de BR a Banco Mendoza. Esta cartera proviene del banco provincial antes de su privatización y posee garantías de la provincia con fondos originados por los ingresos que recibe la pcia por coparticipación. La cobranza de estos fondos se encuentra manejada por un Fondo Fiduciario cuyo banco custodio es Banco Nación.

En cuanto al Banco de Mendoza, la mayor parte de sus activos poseen un alto nivel de liquidez, esta característica se refleja a través del ratio liquid assets/assets el cual es de 23%. Los activos de Banco de Mendoza (BM) presentan la siguiente composición: 18% títulos públicos, 43% préstamos (de los cuales el 10% es call colocado a otras entidades financieras), 8% pases de títulos públicos y el 31% restante entre otros activos. Respecto de la mora sobre el total de financiaciones, la misma asciende a 14.2%. Este nivel de mora continúa siendo alto en comparación con la media del sistema, pero debe tenerse en cuenta que con la fusión con el Banco República la misma quedará en nivel aceptables y que será cubierta al mismo tiempo por un buen nivel de capitalización (ver pro-forma adjunto).

Earnings:

Tal cual ha sido mencionado durante esta revisión, los principales negocios de BR son los negocios de comercio exterior y los negocios de banca retail en la región de Cuyo a través de la participación del 67% que posee BR en Banco Mendoza.

Banco República presenta en su balance de cierre de Junio de 1998 una pérdida de $ 12.3MM. Las principales razones extraordinarias de este resultado negativo son:

1. ($5 MM) Pérdidas diversas-llave de negocio: Banco República a través de la adquisición de Banco Mendoza, ha tomado como pérdida extraordinaria originada por la incorrecta clasificación de la cartera de los bancos provinciales. Esta pérdida asciende a $20MM, y ha sido enviada a resultados por Banco Mendoza en forma mensual (último mes Nov-98), y devengada en 60 meses por Banco República. Por lo tanto en el balance de BR cerrado a Junio de 1998, figuran pérdidas extraordinarias mencionadas como "llave negocio" por $5MM y durante 1997 fueron enviadas a resultados $1.2MM. Los $13.8MM restantes serán absorbidos por un vehículo "República Residual" el cual será accionista del futuro banco fusionado República-Mendoza con una participación de 31%.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL - NOT FOR CIRCULATION
SUBCOMMITTEE MEMBERS AND STAFF

2. ($7.3MM) Cargos por incobrabilidad: Los cargos por incobrabilidad de Banco República se incrementaron en 2.5x ($4.5MM) entre 1997 y 1998. Este incremento se debe a una hold position que tuvo BR en un préstamo sindicado otorgado a Medefin con garantía de Socimer por usd2.5MM y al write-off de $2MM proveniente de préstamos otorgados a Frigoríficos Río Platense, Automotores Universal y una pyme de la región de Cuyo. La hold position del préstamo sindicado es manejado por un fondo fiduciario, en donde se están realizando los activos del Banco Medefin asignando los fondos de acuerdo a los derechos de los acreedores.

Debe tenerse en cuenta que BR ha presentado resultados positivos en sus últimos dos ejercicios, y la pérdida que presenta en este ejercicio es originada fundamentalmente a través de la participación del 67% de BR en Banco Mendoza.

Respecto de la pérdida del Banco Mendoza, la misma debería revertirse en los próximos ejercicios, ya que estas pérdidas se originan fundamentalmente a través de las provisiones de $1.5MM mensuales que realiza el Banco Mendoza por re-clasificación de la cartera. Estas provisiones finalizan en Noviembre de 1998, y le permitirían al Banco Mendoza originar resultados positivos originados a través de las características que posee esta entidad:

- Es "agente financiero de la provincia", lo que le permite manejar los fondos de Mendoza, mantener las cuentas de los empleados públicos y realizar los pagos de sueldos de estos empleados.
- Es líder en el mercado de banca individual de Mendoza: el Banco Mendoza con 80 sucursales distribuidas en una de zonas con mayor potencial de crecimiento del país, es líder de mercado lo que le otorga un importante potencial de negocios.
- Realizará un downsizing de 200 empleados lo que le permitirá ahorrar $3.6MM anuales.

La principal fuente de fondeo de BR es su base de depósitos, la cual representa el 55% de su funding. Dentro de la composición de sus depósitos, encontramos que el principal tipo de depósito BR son CD's de individuos de alto patrimonio que confían en la figura de Raúl Moneta. Esto representa un cambio respecto del pasado, ya que han reducido la incidencia de depósitos de inversores institucionales.

En segunda instancia, y en una proporción del 45%, figura como fuente de fondeo para BR las líneas de crédito con bancos del exterior, que BR utiliza frecuentemente para operaciones de comercio exterior. Adicionalmente, BR cuenta con líneas de crédito con bancos locales como el Galicia, Deutsche y Sudameris.

Por otra parte, el Banco de Mendoza ahora es una fuente de depósitos retail importante. Las acciones de CEI pueden ser utilizadas para obtener fondos en el exterior, como se demostró durante el Tequila.

Banco República, como la mayoría de los wholesale banks del mercado local, luego de la crisis del Tequila se ha volcado a adquirir bancos provinciales. Banco República ha adquirido el 67% de los bancos de Mendoza y Previsión Social (fusionando este último con el primero). Estos bancos se encuentran ubicados sobre una de las zonas con mayor potencial de crecimiento del país. Pero pese a esta última característica y en contraposición con el resto de los bancos provinciales privatizados del país, el Banco Mendoza continúa produciendo pérdidas en su balance.

La diferencia más importante respecto de los otros bancos privatizados, es la falta de garantía de fondos provenientes de coparticipación sobre la cartera en situación irregular de los bancos privatizados. Esta garantía les ha permitido a los otros bancos privatizados alcanzar rápidamente su break even y obtener resultados positivos.

El Grupo República posee como vehículos off-shores a Federal Bank y República Holdings (el cual incluye I.I.U.). Estos vehículos son utilizados generalmente para operaciones de préstamos back-to-back con otras entidades argentinas ó para operaciones de CEI a través de República Holdings - ex UFCO -).

Este tipo de operaciones no presenta un riesgo importante para el Grupo, ya que los préstamos back-to-back se encuentran garantizados con depósitos de los beneficiarios de este tipo de préstamos.

Po último, I.I.U. es un vehículo que recientemente fue habilitado con el fin de incluir en el balance del mismo las acciones de CEI que recientemente fueron adquiridas con la re-estructuración de esta compañía, y como se mencionó más arriba su dueño es República Holdings.

El vehículo que mayor impacto podría tener en BR es el Banco de Mendoza. Esta entidad todavía no ha mostrado signos financieramente saludables. Pero como mitigante a este riesgo se encuentra el apoyo que posee por parte de la provincia a través de cumplir el rol de "agente financiero de la provincia" y el gran potencial de desarrollo que posee y que le permitiría obtener un importante apetito de compra para esta entidad.

Banco República, al igual que todas las entidades financieras locales con patrimonio que oscilan los $100MM, no posee aún acceso al mercado de capitales. Su principal fondeo son sus depósitos, y en menor medida las líneas que posee con bancos corresponsales. Con la adquisición de los bancos provinciales han obtenido una importante fuente de fondeo retail. Este funding proviene en gran medida de los fondos y empleados del sector público. Los depósitos de estos bancos provinciales totalizan $615 MM a Junio de 1998, superando prácticamente en un 100% los préstamos de esas entidades.

La exposición de mayor tenor que poseemos con este cliente es el crédito otorgado a UFCO (off shore del Grupo) para la adquisición del 10% de las acciones de CEI. De este préstamo queda o/s usd 20,020,000 y la próximas cuotas son el 26 de Enero de 1999 y 26 de Julio de 1999 por USD 2,860 M c/u. Sobre este préstamo se posee una garantía del 130% con acciones de CEI. Este préstamo se ha ido pagando en forma puntual, y por el tipo de garantía que tenemos, no prevemos problemas. Existe control periodico del colateral y aforo.

(h) Triggers for classification if applicable. (i) Do triggers for classification need to be set? Provide rationale (ii) Provide follow up on existing triggers, Status?, Trend?; (iii) When will the company be upgraded?, Can we expect any substantial change in following 12 months?

Triggers para clasificación II:

- Pérdida en un 20% de los depósitos en un trimestre ó
- Índices de liquidez por debajo del 15% de los depósitos ó
- NSD/NW > 35% ó
- Pérdidas mayores al 15% de su NW.

Análisis de los triggers establecidos para clasificación II:

1. Los depósitos de BR poseen una tendencia negativa pero el trigger no ha sido quebrado. Con la fusión de Banco Mendoza este punto debería ser mitigado con los depósitos de Banco Mendoza.
2. Liquid assets /Deposits: 26%
3. NSD/NW: 5.3%
4. La pérdida en su último balance de cierre ha sido del 10% del patrimonio, no quebrando el trigger establecido. Este nivel de pérdida es inusual para BR, y ha sido provocado por la baja performance de Banco Mendoza, la cual se espera que sea revertida rápidamente.

Triggers para desclasificación (no alcanzados):

- ROE > 5% anual al menos durante un trimestre basado en resultados operativos, Y
- Que tenga alquilado más de un 75% del Edificio República, lo que asegura el repago en 15 años del capital e intereses de la hipoteca con la cual financiaron la venta de dicho edificio a una empresa perteneciente al mismo grupo económico.

Consideramos que los triggers no deben ser modificados aún. Cuando se realice finalmente la fusión con el Banco Mendoza y/o se vende el edificio República cancelando el préstamo concedido por Banco República se revisarán estos triggers considerando su modificación.

Respecto de la performance para los próximos doce meses, de acuerdo a los cambios anunciado por el management de BR, esperamos una mejora en los ratios de mora en la cartera de Banco Mendoza y en los ratios de rentabilidad del Banco República.

- Macro risk: systemic crisis (probability: medium, impact: high): despite the fact that the financial system has suffered practically no problems during the most recent international crises, because of the characteristics of Banco Republica it is more vulnerable than other entities to a loss of deposits in case of a run on the system.

Explanation:

As we explained in the industry study, the local Financial System is much better prepared for these types of runs than in the past, due to a series of steps that Banco Central has been implementing (contingent repurchase agreements, more RML [requirements for minimum liquidity], Sedesa [TR.: the deposit insurance program], etc).

Banco Republica has weathered crises such as the Tequila [crisis] thanks to Raul Moneta's image with investors and correspondent banks, but especially to the availability of assets that permit its shareholders to obtain funds via equity swaps which they frequently carry out with foreign banks (against shares of CEI, Telecom, Telefónica.)

In addition, this bank assumes few mismatches of time periods, since a significant part of its portfolio (approximately 45 %) is comprised of trade transactions, matched in terms of time period and currency. It is important to mention that Banco Republica is changing the composition of its deposits, and currently "retail" deposits (of individuals with substantial assets who trust Moneta) are in the majority. In the past they attracted a great deal of money from wholesale investors, but given their volatility, their exposure in this regard has been reduced.

In addition, thanks to the acquisition of the provincial banks (BR has a majority interest of 67%), Banco Republica has access to a stable source of retail deposits in the amount of $615 MM. These deposits are 3.4 times greater than BR's deposits and are twice the amount of loans possessed by Banco Mendoza, which demonstrates this entity's high level of liquidity.

- Lockup [of assets] (probability: high, Impact: medium): BR has all its net worth locked up, due essentially to its shareholdings in CEI.

Justification: BR plans to merge its balance sheet with Banco de Mendoza in the coming months and, prior to the merger, BR will remove its shares of CEI from its balance sheet (21 MM of shares representing a book value of approximately 50 MM). In this way it will free up approximately 42% of its current assets, and when it merges the balance sheets it will have a good percentage of liquid capital in its assets (see consolidated pro forma balance sheets).

Moreover, CEI still intends to issue ADRs on the New York Stock Exchange, which would make its shares more liquid. They tried to effect this issuance this year, but were unable to do so because of the crises affecting the capital markets. At any rate, they are shares that, albeit with certain restrictions, can be made liquid with a swap. Moreover, BR has little non-performing portfolio, so the "carrying cost" of the loans in arrears is not high.

Banco Republica is restructuring its business. It has achieved positive results in the last two fiscal years, but through the 67% stake it holds in Banco Mendoza it suffered losses in the fiscal year that closed in June 1998, and as of September 1998 its balance sheet shows a loss of $ 1.7 MM. The principal reasons for these losses are BR's higher charges for non-recoverability and the reclassification of Banco Mendoza's portfolio. (See item 4 of this review, analysis of earnings).

Banco Republica will merge its balance sheet in March 1999 in order to reduce management overhead costs and focus on transactions with more potential (see merged pro forma balance sheets). With this merger and thanks to Banco Mendoza's leading position in the region of Cuyo, along with some necessary changes which BR's management will make, we believe the outlook is moderately positive for this entity. At the same time, Grupo Republica's stake in CEI, which, added to an approximate valuation of the banks, results in approximate total assets for the Grupo of US$ [handwritten: illegible. Possibly 300 MM], should be kept in mind.

It is important to mention that, according to a meeting with the management of BR, it is expected that in the coming months Banco Mendoza (after March 1999, Banco Republica-Mendoza) will reach its break even point. To this end, they will continue to rationalize the structure of Banco Mendoza (they are going to dismiss 200 more employees) and, at the same time, in November 1998, they posted as a loss the last $1.5 MM of reserve, which they applied because of a reclassification of Banco Mendoza's portfolio. In this way, Banco Mendoza will achieve annual cost savings of $21.6 MM, consisting of $3.5 MM per year in salary payments and $1.5 MM per month for losses because of reclassification of its portfolio.

PS000873

The group's risk profile has not changed significantly in comparison with the last annual review. The most obvious point is the stagnation in Banco Mendoza, in which BR has 67% of the shares. The most important occurrences for the group were the increase of the stake in CEI and the merger of the provincial banks (Mendoza and Previsión Social). At the same time, the shareholders of BR plan to merge Banco de Mendoza and BR in the coming months.

If we are guided by the group's projections, the next fiscal year should be substantially better in terms of the financial business. However, we believe it is prudent to wait until the merger of both entities, the sale of the building, and reaching the break even point actually occur.

It is important to mention, with respect to this customer's risk profile, that in 1997 / 1998, BR dismantled its money desk, reducing its exposure in terms of government securities, and avoiding the negative impacts suffered by very high-risk securities during that period.

Banco Republica complies with KSF's [key success factors] established in the industry study of FI Argentina. With respect to these KSF's, BR shows weaknesses in terms of the ability to withstand systemic liquidity crises and presents as a strength the image and presence of its management in the financial system and local economy. During the last 12 months its structure and businesses have not undergone significant changes. The only factor to bear in mind and follow up cautiously is the performance of Banco Mendoza, which continues to have a high rate of arrears in its portfolio and shows a negative final result on its balance sheet.

PS000874

Grupo management has been able to adapt and has anticipated the changes in the market. This is evident from its having withstood the Tequila crisis in 1995, having been able to acquire the provincial banks of Mendoza and Prevision Social, and having consolidated itself as majority minority within the share structure of CEI.

Our coming to the executives who manage BR and the Grupo is very good [sic]. This relationship has been strengthened thanks to the relationship between the bank and Grupo Republica in CEI. Grupo management has good character and has developed an unassailable reputation in the local market. Thanks to Raul Moneta (No. 1 in the Grupo) the group has a dominant presence in the Argentinian establishment.

PS000875

Capital Adequacy:

Banco Republica has, as of August 1998, net worth of US$ 118 MM, which represents a net worth/risk assets [ratio] of 25% and a net worth/assets [ratio] of 19%. These ratios are higher than the average[s] in the system, which are 18% and 11%. Regarding the net portfolio arrears with respect to the assets of Banco Republica, as of August 1998 it was 5.3%. This indicator is better than for its competitor banks and the average for the system, which is 23%.

The weakness of Banco Republica with respect to its capital is the fact that all its assets are locked up. This is largely the result of the shareholdings that Banco Republica has in its balance sheet because of the shares of CEI. This stake represents 59% of the bank's total assets, valuing shares and assets at book value. Without any doubt, this lockup of assets represents a risk in the bank's asset structure, but it is mitigated by the high quality of its portfolio, 45% of which results from BR's trade transactions with top-flight companies, and [is mitigated by] the ability to carry out swaps against these shares, thus achieving liquidity.

It is important to mention that BR plans to merge the balance sheets of the provincial banks with the balance sheet of BR, and place the shares of CEI in another of the group's vehicles, thus giving its balance sheet more liquidity (see merged Banco Mendoza/Republica pro forma [balance sheets]).

PS000876

Regarding the composition of Banco de Mendoza and Banco de Prevision Social, acquired by BR in 1996, they are merged under the name Banco de Mendoza. This entity, as of June 1998, has excess computable equity of 25%. The requirement for minimum capital for this entity is very low, since its principal assets are liquid (call, government securities, and others). If the management of Banco Mendoza plans to increase its level of assets by issuing retail loans, it will require, in the future, a capital contribution by its shareholders, since at the present time the net worth/assets ratio is very low. It is important to mention that this capital contribution would not be necessary if the merger with Banco Republica were confirmed; Banco Republica has a high level of capitalization which would allow Banco Mendoza to increase its level of assets.

Banco Republica shows, on its closing balance sheet for June 1998, a loss of $12.3 MM. The principal extraordinary reasons for this negative result are:

1. ($5 MM) various losses - goodwill: Banco Republica, through the acquisition of Banco Mendoza, has taken an extraordinary loss resulting from the incorrect classification of the provincial banks' portfolio. This loss comes to $20 MM, and has been posted to profits and losses by Banco Mendoza monthly

PS000877

(most recent month November 1998), and accrued over 60 months by Banco Republica. Therefore, on the BR balance sheet that closed in June 1998, there are extraordinary losses shown as "goodwill" in the amount of $5 MM and during 1997, $1.2 MM were posted to profits and losses. The remaining $13.8 MM will be absorbed by a "Republica Residual" vehicle which will be a shareholder of the future merged Republica-Mendoza bank with a stake of 31%.

It should be borne in mind that BR has shown positive results in its last two fiscal years, and the loss for this fiscal year is fundamentally the result of BR's 67% stake in Banco Mendoza.

The principal source of funding for BR is its base of deposits, which represents 55% of its funding. Within the composition of its deposits, we find that the principal type of BR deposit is CD's of individuals with substantial assets who trust Raul Moneta. This represents a change with respect to the past, since the number of deposits of institutional investors has decreased.

Second, 45%, is the lines of credit with foreign banks, which BR uses frequently for foreign trade transactions. In addition, BR has lines of credit with local banks such as Galicia, Deutsche, and Sudameris.

Moreover, Banco de Mendoza is now an important source of retail deposits. The shares of CEI can be used to obtain funds abroad, as was demonstrated during the Tequila [crisis].

PS000878

Grupo Republica owns, as offshore vehicles, Federal Bank and Republica Holdings (which includes I.I.U.). These vehicles are generally used for back to back loan transactions with other Argentinian entities or for CEI transactions through Republica Holdings - ex UFCO-).

These types of transactions do not present a significant risk for the Grupo, since the back to back loans are guaranteed with deposits of the beneficiaries of these types of loans.

Finally, I.I.U. is a vehicle that was recently authorized in order to include on its balance sheet the shares of CEI that were recently acquired with the restructuring of this company. As was mentioned above, its owner is Republica Holdings.

PS000879

The most significant exposure we have with this client is the credit issued to UFCO (the Grupo's offshore) for the acquisition of 10% of the shares of CEI. This loan was restructured in March 1997; the present amount of the loan was US$ 31.6 MM payable in 11 half-yearly payments, French repayment system, at a rate of LIBOR + 2%. Of this loan, US$ 20,020,000 remains outstanding, and the next installments are [due] on January 26, 1999 and July 26, 1999 in the amount of US$ 2860 M each. There is a guarantee of 130% with shares of CEI on this loan.

This loan is being paid punctually, and because of the type of guarantee we have, we are not anticipating problems. The collateral and valuation are checked periodically.

PS000880

The bank's Senior Management has a strong relationship with Raul Moneta, who is No. 1 in this group. The relationship came about as a result of the "shareholder" relationship Citibank has with Grupo Republica in CEI (Citicorp Equity Investment). Raul Moneta has easy access to our Senior Management (John Reed, Bill Rhodes, Paul Collins, etc.).

Justificacion: El tamaño y tenor de las facilidades estan dimensionadas al riesgo.

1. Tamaño: Las facilidades otorgadas representan solo el 12.5 % del patrimonio del banco y el 2.2 % de los pasivos.
2. Tenor: El tenor de las facilidades propuestas es de muy corto plazo, declina rapidamente, quedando solamente como riesgo central a mas de 60 dias u$ 4.MM.
3. 4 MM a mas de 60 dias es una facilidad de Comercio Exterior, cuyo repago desde el punto de vista financiero esta ligado al flujo de fondos de exportacion de los clientes de Banco Republica a lo cual se le agrega desde el punto de vista crediticio la capacidad financiera de BR. Relacionados con el cliente / riesgos y justificaciones

Banco Republica S.A:

- Inmovilizaci3n del Capital: Si bien es el banco privado argentino numero 12 en terminos de patrimonio utiliza el 88.3 % de este en la financiaci3n de inmuebles y participaciones accionarias en compa1as ( CEI, Republica Valores, Banco de Mendoza y Banco Prevision Social de Mendoza ). Esta situaci3n le deja a BR solo un peque1o margen de U$ 11.7 MM para financiar cualquier futura inmovilizaci3n por morosidad, nuevas inversiones o para absorber perdidas eventuales por una abrupta caída del precio de títulos públicos u algún otro evento extraordinario.

Esto está agravado por el hecho de que Banco República limpió la inmovilización que le provocaba el Edificio República el año pasado en su balance a través de la venta del mismo a una subsidiaria del Grupo por u$ 90 MM con financiación del mismo Banco República. El repago de este préstamo proviene del flujo de fondos de los alquileres del edificio, lo cual se escalona en un préstamo a 15 años de plazo no financiado con pasivos de largo plazo o el patrimonio aludido libre de inmovilizaciones de u$ 11.7 MM.

Justificación: La hipoteca está sobre uno de los mejores edificios de Buenos Aires, el cual está siendo alquilado a empresas de primera línea que aseguran un flujo de fondos estable ( 50 % alquilado a la fecha ). En caso extremo de necesidad esta hipoteca puede ser descontada a otra entidad que cuente con funding a largo plazo. El diferencial de tasas le provocaría a BR una pérdida máxima de u$ 25 MM que puede financiar en un 47 % con patrimonio líquido.

- Rentabilidad: Los bajos spreads como consecuencia del target market de BR al trabajar con empresas de primera línea y la imposibilidad de bajar gastos por tener parte del personal de BR asignado a la tarea inicial de tomar los bancos regionales influyen negativamente en la rentabilidad del banco. Esto pensamos que es de orden temporario y se compensará por una baja de gastos una vez tomado el control de los bancos de Mendoza y Previsión Social y por un aumento de ingresos por las ganancias futuras que estos bancos produzcan y Banco República cobrará como accionista.

- Liquidez: Por las características de los depósitos del banco compuestos en gran parte por colocaciones de (i) empresas y AFJPs e (ii) private banking directamente en BR y a través del redepósito en BR de los depósitos de este segmento en Federal Bank.

Ambos tipos de depositantes actúan como inversores institucionales retirando rápidamente los depósitos ante problemas. De todas maneras la experiencia durante el Tequila ha demostrado que los depósitos del private banking, aunque volátiles, son más estables que los Corporate representando la fuente de funding más firme del banco.

El préstamo a largo plazo para financiar la compra por parte de una subsidiaria del Edificio República crea un riesgo adicional de liquidez ( ver inmovilización de capital ) al estar fondeado por este tipo de depósitos.

Justificación: BR contrarresta este riesgo de la siguiente manera (i) manteniendo fuertes posiciones de liquidez ( los activos líquidos del banco representan el 40 % de los depósitos ), (ii) financiando el 50 % de sus préstamos con líneas de comercio exterior y no tomando gapping de plazo entre activos y pasivos salvo por el préstamo a largo plazo aludido anteriormente y (iii) manteniendo un leverage conservador con respecto a su capital.

Como explicáramos en la sección "riesgo de inmovilización de capital" el mismatching de plazos que le produce la financiación otorgada por el Edificio República puede descargarse vendiendo el préstamo con una pérdida máxima de u$ 25 MM por diferencia de tasa soportable patrimonialmente por el banco.

- Expansion negocio bancario: Han adquirido junto con el Grupo Magna el Banco Prevision Social de Mendoza y el Banco de Mendoza los cuales seran fusionados entre si. Conocedores del potencial de la Pcia de Mendoza en donde Raul Moneta cuenta con explotaciones agropecuarias utilizaran el banco para poner un pie en el middle market y retail sin fusionar esta entidad con Banco Republica.

Riesgo: Esta expansion le significa a Banco Republica el riesgo de (i) una mayor inmovilizacion de su capital (u$ 18MM ), (ii) derivar esfuerzos de management hacia otro emprendimiento y (iii) imagen, eventuales perdidas o necesidad de inyectar capital adicional si la performance futura del banco no es la esperada.

Justificacion : Los riesgos aludidos se contrapesan con (i) Le ayudara a BR en el futuro a terminar de realizar en forma eficiente la racionalizacion de gastos derivando management y costos a Mendoza provocando una mayor eficiencia en BR. De todas maneras seguira significando un esfuerzo de management a nivel accionistas y top management de BR que debera controlar inicialmente el turn over de este banco.

( ii) Ayudara al Grupo Republica a consolidar su imagen ante clientes como Grupo cuyo focus principal no sea solamente CEI o Real Estate sino con un proyecto bancario integral al entrar en el retail business a traves de una region con gran potencial como es Mendoza.

- Posicionamiento: Como banco activo en trading de titulos publicos debe mantener una posicion como forma de dar un servicio y cotizacion agil a sus principales counterparties constituidas por inversores institucionales del exterior. Esta posicion neta era a septiembre 96 de u$ 40 MM un 30 % de su patrimonio.

Justificacion: La politica interna del cliente es que la volatilidad de su posicion no pueda afectar en mas de un 15 % su patrimonio. Obviamente la posicion aludida al cierre sigue la politica. El cliente tiene sistemas que controlan limites y volatilidades por titulo publico.

- Federal Bank Ltd: Localizado en Bahamas con u$ 25 MM de capital. Su existencia no esta reportada como vinculada ante BCRA pese a ser un vehiculo bancario ( Off Shore categoria D en nuestra politica ), lo que lo hace un vehiculo riesgoso per se por tener solamente el control del Banco Central de Bahamas.

Justificacion: La existencia de este vehiculo se justifica dentro de la estrategia del grupo por la finalidad que cumple : a) Canalizar los clientes del private banking de Banco Republica a los cuales les proveen back to backs y un vehiculo fuera de Argentina donde canalizar sus ahorros, que luego son recolocados en Banco Republica por Federal Bank, constituyendo una de las fuentes de funding mas estable del banco ( u$ 34 MM aproximadamente ).

b) Canalizar la liquidez de los socios de Banco Republica y servir con estos depositos y el patrimonio de Federal Bank como bridge financing de prestamos dirigidos a cias vinculadas a CEI

c) Financiar a UFCO a traves de pases de sus posicion de acciones dandole financiamiento contra las acciones mas liquidas ( Telefonica, Telecom ) por u$ 20 MM lo que a su vez Federal calza con bancos del exterior.

Estos son los unicos movimientos intercompanies que hay entre empresas del grupo.

Del Grupo:

- Concentracion: Tienen una gran parte de su patrimonio aplicado a financiar la inversion a largo plazo en CEI, lo que les provoca grandes fluctuaciones patrimoniales de acuerdo a la evolucion del precio de esta accion. 1994 y 1995 y 1996 fueron años de fuertes perdidas patrimoniales que netearon en parte las ganancias de 1993.

Justificacion: CEI invirtio en una canasta de empresas en su mayoria privatizadas con fuerte potencial de crecimiento. Punta a punta la inversion ha sido rentable.

Management:

Character: Raul Moneta es un "entrepreneur" que dedica gran parte de su tiempo al negocio de CEI que por otra parte es donde el grupo tiene gran parte de los activos. Es visto por el mercado como un habil negociador y lobista con empresarios y politicos lo que le permite encarar negocios con agresividad comercial.

Benito Jaime Lucini dedica su tiempo principalmente al banco siendo percibido por el mercado como conservador lo que genera una buena combinacion con Raul Moneta.

La reputacion personal de ambos es intachable siendo esta una de las razones que motivo al Sr management de Citibank en la eleccion de estos como partners del banco en CEI.

Esta asociacion significa tanto para el Grupo Moneta como para Citibank una alianza estrategica a largo plazo, la que requiere por el monto de la inversion y el peso relativo del Grupo Moneta dentro de la misma una interelacion muy fuerte entre ambos y un commitment de ambos de mantener dicha relacion.

Los estados financieros de la entidad muestran una recuperación desde la caída producida luego de la crisis de México. Los depósitos han recuperado su nivel anterior a la crisis y la cartera de préstamos se ha incrementado sensiblemente. Asimismo, la entidad se encuentra en pleno proceso de reestructuración por la venta del edificio República, la incorporación de acciones de CEI como aporte de capital y la compra de los bancos regionales. A pesar de los resultados positivos registrados en el período, dicha reestructuración ha generado un efecto negativo en los ingresos y egresos de la entidad durante el presente ejercicio comercial, disminuyendo los primeros e incrementado los últimos. Sin embargo, durante los meses de Agosto y Septiembre '96, la entidad ha mejorado sus márgenes financieros lo que demuestra un recupero hacia fin de año en la situación de la entidad.

Offshore risk:

The group has two offshore companies that are neither regulated nor controlled by Banco Central de la República Argentina with differential risks by company:

PS018310

- Federal Bank Ltd: Located in the Bahamas with US$ 25 MM in capital. Its existence is not reported as linked to BCRA despite being a banking vehicle (offshore category D in our policy), which makes it a risky vehicle per se because of having only the control of the Central Bank of the Bahamas.

Explanation: The existence of this vehicle is justified in the group's strategy because of the purpose it serves: a) To channel the private banking customers of Banco República to which they provide back-to-backs and a vehicle outside Argentina where they can channel their savings, which are then re-placed in Banco República by Federal Bank, constituting one of the bank's most stable sources of funding (approximately US$ 34 MM).

- b) To channel the cash flow of the partners [TR.: or shareholders] of Banco República and serve, with these deposits and the assets of Federal Bank, as a bridge, financing loans aimed at companies associated with CEI.
- c) To finance UFCO through swaps [TR.: or repos] of their share positions giving it financing against the most liquid shares (Telefónica, Telecom) for US$ 20 MM which, in turn, Federal matches with banks abroad.

These are the only inter-company activities among companies in the group.

Regarding Grupo:

- Concentration: Many of their assets are applied to financing the long-term investment in CEI, which results in major fluctuations of net worth in accordance with changes in the price of this stock. 1994, 1995, and 1996 were years of heavy losses in terms of net worth, which offset some of the 1993 profits.

Explanation: CEI invested in a "basket" of companies, mostly privatized, with strong potential for growth. Overall the investment has been profitable.

Management:

Character: Raul Moneta is an entrepreneur who spends much of his time on the business of CEI which, moreover, is where the group has many of its assets. He is seen by the market as an able negotiator and lobbyist with businessmen and politicians, which enables him to take an aggressive business approach to negotiations. Benito Jaime Lucini devotes most of his time to the bank, and is perceived by the market as conservative, making for a good combination with Raul Moneta. The personal reputations of both are unimpeachable, and this is one of the reasons why Citibank senior management chose them as partners of the bank in CEI. This association means, both for Grupo Moneta and Citibank, a long-term strategic alliance which requires, because of the amount of the investment and the relative weight of Grupo Moneta therein, a very strong interrelationship between both and a commitment by both to maintain that relationship.

El Patrimonio Neto del Banco República a septiembre del '96 ascendía a $ 133 MM incrementando $ 29 MM en el periodo Dec '95 - Sep '96. Con fecha 28 de junio de 1996 se efectuó un aporte irrevocable a cuenta de futuros aumentos de capital por $ 25 MM. Dicho aporte se efectuó mediante la integración de acciones ordinarias nominativas no endosables de un voto cada una y de valor nominal $1 emitidas por Citicorp Equity Investments SA. Dicha operación afectó las relaciones técnicas de la entidad hecho que fue exceptuado por el BCRA a través de la resolución especial n°395 del 28/8/96. Adicionalmente, el patrimonio se vio incrementado por el resultado acumulado en el periodo (9 meses) de $4MM.

El capital de la entidad se encuentra inmovilizado en un 91%, resultando un capital líquido del orden de los $ 12 MM. A continuación se detalla la aplicación del PN a sept del '96:

| PN Total              | 133.0 | 100% |

Durante el presente ejercicio la inmovilización de la entidad se incrementó debido al aporte de los accionistas efectuado en acciones ( ver párrafo anterior). EL BCRA ha impuesto limitaciones por esta inmovilización generada en la entidad en cuanto a asistencia financiera a empresas vinculadas pero ha exceptuado a la entidad en requerimientos de liquidez y capitales mínimos. En efecto, a Junio '96 la entidad cumplía con los requerimientos de capital mínimo según dictámen de auditores y poseía $77 MM en exceso lo cual da al banco la posibilidad de crecer significativamente en activos de riesgo.

En cuanto al leverage de la entidad:

Banco República presentaba a esa fecha un leverage de 5.6, el cual se encuentra dentro de los parámetros de las instituciones dentro del segmento en el cual compete. El nivel de endeudamiento de la entidad le permite financiarse cómodamente en el mercado de capitales. A Sept'96, la entidad posee ONs outstanding emitidas en 1994 por un total de $ 30MM con vencimiento en el año 2000.

A Septiembre del presente año, BR estaba rankeado (por patrimonio) en el puesto # 16 dentro del total del sistema financiero y # 12 entre las entidades de capital privado.

Activos

Los activos de Banco República a septiembre del '96 totalizaban $ 874 MM y estaban compuestos de la siguiente manera :

Dentro del saldo de títulos públicos, el 50% corresponde a operaciones de pase con el BCRA el que forma parte de la integración del requisito de liquidez. El resto corresponde a tenencia por compra venta o intermediación y se encuentran valuados a mercado.

Adicionalmente al saldo mantenido en cartera, la entidad ha efectuado a Septiembre operaciones de compra-venta a futuro por un neto de ($17 MM) acreedor, monto que debería deducirse del saldo de títulos públicos al cierre.

Cartera de préstamos: A Septiembre de 1996 la cartera de préstamos asciende a $ 390MM y se ha incrementado un 120% con respecto al año anterior. Este saldo ubica a BR en el puesto n°31 en el ranking de préstamos de entidades financieras con una participación del .65%.

La distribución de la cartera responde al siguiente detalle:

Segun podemos observar, la mayor asistencia crediticia corresponde mayoritariamente a préstamos a corto plazo tales como adelantos y documentos descontados. El saldo correspondiente a hipotecas se incrementó notoriamente durante el ejercicio y se origina en un préstamo a una cia. del grupo por la venta del edificio República (ver análisis de la operación a continuación)

La distribución por monedas muestra una mayor participación de los créditos constituidos en dólares (90%) frente a los correspondientes en moneda local (10%).

Al 30-9-96, los 10 principales deudores (sin considerar tenencias accionarias) concentran el 42% de la cartera. El principal deudor es Republica Cia. de Inversiones con $ 93MM por la operación de venta del edificio República. Esta operación se instrumentó de la siguiente manera: el banco República vendió a RCI el inmueble por $93MM reconociendo una utilidad de $16MM por la venta del inmueble. Al mismo tiempo, otorgó un préstamo hipotecario a RCI a diez años de plazo con intereses y amortizaciones trimestrales por el mismo monto de la operación. Si descontamos este préstamo a cias. vinculadas, los diez ppales. deudores representan el 30% de la cartera. En cuanto a distribución geográfica, la cartera se ubica fuertemente en Capital Federal y provincia de Buenos Aires.

La concentración sectorial, según los saldos de financiaciones por actividad, se compone de la siguiente manera:

El banco muestra una exposición importante en el sector financiero, que representa el 38% de sus préstamos. Sin embargo, debemos tener en cuenta la incidencia del préstamo a República Inversiones por la compra del inmueble, incluido dentro de este sector.

El resto de las industrias no muestran una concentración particular que haya variado con respecto al ejercicio pasado.

Calidad de cartera: la calidad de la cartera continua siendo excelente, reflejando mejores indices que la media del mercado. Solamente el 2.2% de las financiaciones se encuentra en situación irregular, estando previsionada el 84% de la misma ($ 8.9MM). Cabe destacarse que la mora neta sobre el patrimonio es solo del 1.2%. Esta situación se basa en la excelente clientela de la entidad con la cual trabajan desde hace muchos años, representada básicamente por corporaciones de primer nivel.

Inversiones permanentes: La entidad posee intereses en distintas áreas de negocio, según detalle:

|                            | $ MM |
|----------------------------|--------------|
| República Valores de Bolsa | 4.2          |

| Banco Mendoza y Prev. Soc. | 13.6         |
| Otras                      | .2           |

Dichas inversiones generaron un resultado negativo de $ (6 MM) en el periodo en análisis (9 meses). La entidad posee participaciones minoritarias en estas entidades y las valúa a valor libros. Esto representa un cambio en el criterio de valuación utilizado en el pasado para CEI ya que le la misma cotiza en bolsa. BR decidió cambiar el criterio debido a la volatilidad de la cotización de CEI la cual afectaba los resultados mensuales de la entidad. El cambio de criterio generó un resultado negativo de $ 5MM durante el periodo.

Con el aporte de capital de acciones de CEI (ver acápite de capital), BR se excedió en los límites impuestos por BCRA de participación máxima en otras sociedades. El organismo de contralor exceptuó vía resolución de fecha 28/8 a la entidad por su participación en CEI. Se bene a por de estos incrementando el capital

Management

El management del Banco República está altamente profesionalizado e integrado con la empresa. El Directorio del banco cuenta con una larga trayectoria en el negocio bancario y posee el control accionario de la entidad.

El management posee una amplia experiencia bancaria lo que le permite comprender claramente los riesgos de las operaciones asumidas por el Banco; por otra parte, existen sistemas de control que permiten realizar un monitoreo permanente de riesgos.

Resultados

Durante el presente ejercicio el banco generó utilidades por $ 4MM. Este resultado ha mejorado en comparación con el ejercicio anterior: a Sept'95 la entidad mostraba un resultado negativo de ($3MM). El ROA a Sept'96 asciende a .63% y el ROE a 4.16%.

Los resultados de los últimos 9 meses muestran una significativa volatilidad. Al analizar cada uno de los componentes del cuadro de resultados, vemos que los ingresos diversos poseen la misma volatilidad que los resultados. Las partidas mas significativas dentro de la línea "otros ingresos" a sept'96 son "utilidad por venta bien de uso" ($16MM) - por operación del Edificio República - y "pérdida por Inversiones permanentes" ($6MM).

| Resultado Neto            | 4.146    | (274)    |

Comparando el balance a Septiembre '96 con igual periodo del año anterior, podemos observar que el banco ha obtenido peores resultados en todas las líneas, excepto por los resultados por comisiones que aumentaron. El margen financiero ha caído a $7MM como consecuencia de la importante reducción de los volúmenes operados, es decir, los ingresos por financiaciones y el resultado títulos públicos. Dichos resultados ascienden a Sept '96 a $ 29MM y $ 5.5MM respectivamente.

El Banco se encuentra incrementando el volumen de intermediación (los márgenes financieros han aumentado en los últimos dos meses ubicándose en los $2.5 MM a comparación de los $1.5MM promedio entre Ene-Jul) y ya solucionó su principal problema de inmovilización de activos con la venta del edificio República.

Según señalara previamente, el resultado del ejercicio se vio influenciado significativamente por la línea de "otros ingresos y egresos". La pérdida por tenencia de inversiones permanentes se originó en el cambio de criterio de valuación de CEI (ver acápite de assets) y la disminución de República Valores basado en la caída de más de 30% en el precio de las acciones del Merval en el periodo.

Liquidez

La estructura de fondeo del Banco se concentra en depósitos a plazo fijo y en financiaciones de bancos locales y del exterior. A Septiembre del '96, Banco República captaba el 23% de su funding a través de depósitos, un 74% con financiaciones de otras entidades financieras, un 4% a través de ON y el resto con fuentes diversas.

La distribución de los depósitos entre monedas mantiene la proporción característica de este tipo de entidades: un 63% estaban constituidos en moneda extranjera en tanto el 37% restante en moneda local.

En cuanto a la apertura por tipo de cuenta los plazos fijos concentran el 80%, seguidos por los depósitos en cuenta corriente con el 10% y los correspondientes a caja de ahorros con el 9%.

El banco posee una baja atomización de su cartera de depósitos. El promedio de CD a Sept '96 asciende a $155M y la cantidad de depositantes a 800 aproximadamente. Las AFJP han depositado un total de $20 MM a Sept '96; el banco ha sido calificado S3L3 (muy baja probabilidad de incumplimiento) por la Calificadora de riesgo "Risk Analysis".

BR continua siendo muy activo en comercio exterior teniendo importantes bancos en el extranjero como corresponsales (Bladex, Deutsche Sudamerikanische, Credit Suisse, etc). El banco tiene líneas por aproximadamente $ 300 MM, utilizando en estos momentos $ 200MM.

El Banco República emitió en diciembre del '94 Obligaciones Negociables por u$s 30 MM, a 6 años de plazo, 100% amortizables al vencimiento y con garantía común, con una tasa del 12.125%. Las ON fueron colocadas en el exterior y son utilizadas para fondear los préstamos prendaos e hipotecarios y de esa manera evitar el mismatching de plazos.

Indices de Liquidez : Los índices de liquidez de la entidad al mes de septiembre registraban una cobertura adecuada de sus depósitos :

Los depósitos del Federal provienen de terceros (principalmente del Private Banking del República) como también de los socios o empresas del grupo. De los mismos, el 67% son depósitos a plazo y, dentro de los mismos, el 35% corresponden a títulos públicos.

Del total de la cartera de préstamos, $ 34 MM están depositados en el Banco República y otra significativa porción corresponde a operaciones back to back. Asimismo, el saldo de los depósitos que son del grupo, junto con el patrimonio del banco financian inversiones de capital como adquisiciones y préstamos a algunas empresas de CEI.

Conclusión

El Grupo Moneta continua siendo uno de los grupos más importantes del país con un patrimonio consolidado (sin tener en cuenta los campos) de aprox. $ 500 MM.

La principal porción del mismo (72 %) corresponde al grupo industrial (UFCO), basicamente en CEI y Telefónica y Telecom. Por su parte el Federal Bank, ha prácticamente dejado de trabajar con terceros (salvo los back to back), para actuar conjuntamente con las empresas del grupo, cooperando con el banco a traves de la captación de depósitos del private banking y financiando a vinculadas de empresas de UFCO.

Hemos analizado los flujos de fondos entre empresas en el análisis individual de cada una efectuado en el presente informe. No hemos encontrado observaciones que destacar. El flujo de fondos analizado refleja los montos promedios históricos de movimientos registrados entre empresas.

Por último, Banco República se encuentra en pleno proceso de reestructuración. Ha logrado disminuir la inmovilización de sus activos y mejorar sus márgenes financieros.

Capital

Banco Republica's net worth as of September 1996 was $133 MM, having increased $29 MM between December 1995 and September 1996. On June 28, 1996, an irrevocable contribution was made toward future capital increases in the amount of $25 MM. Said contribution was made through the incorporation of ordinary, registered, non-endorsable shares issued by Citicorp Equity Investments S.A., carrying one vote per share and with a par value of $1. Said transaction affected the entity's technical relationships; this was exempted by the BCRA through special resolution No. 395 dated August 28, 1996. In addition, the assets increased because of the retained net earnings for the period (nine months) of $4 MM.

Some 91% of the entity's capital is locked up, with the result that the liquid capital is on the order of $12 MM. The allocation of the net worth as of September 1996 is shown below:

|                                |             |      |
|--------------------------------|-------------|------|
| Various Assets                 | 34.6        | 26%  |
| Stake in other companies       | 79.7        | 60%  |
| Assets for use in the business | 7.0  | 5%   |
| Locked up net worth            | 121.3       | 91%  |
| Liquid net worth        | 11.7 | 9%   |
| Total Net Worth                | 133.0       | 100% |

During the current fiscal year, the amount of the entity's non-liquid investments increased because of the contribution the shareholders made in stock (see previous paragraph). Because of this non-liquid investment, the BCRA has imposed limitations with regard to financial assistance to associated companies, but it has exempted the entity in terms of liquidity and minimum capital requirements. In fact, as of June 1996, the entity met the minimum capital requirements, according to the auditors' report, and had a surplus of $77 MM, which gives the bank the opportunity for significant growth in risk assets.

Quality of portfolio: The quality of the portfolio remains excellent, reflecting better ratios than the market average. Just 2.2% of the financing is in an irregular situation, and 84% thereof is covered by reserves ($8.9 MM). It should be pointed out that the net arrears over assets is just 1.2%. The basis for this is the entity's excellent clientele with which it has worked for many years, represented basically by top-flight corporations.

PS000906

Results

During the current fiscal year, the bank generated profits of $4 MM. This is an improvement in comparison with the prior fiscal year: as of September 1995 the entity showed a negative result of ($3 MM). The ROA [Return on assets] as of September 1996 is .63% and the ROE [Return on equity] is 4.16%.

The results for the last nine months show significant volatility. On analyzing each component of the profit and loss statement, we see that the various revenues have the same volatility as the profits and losses. The most significant entries included in the "other revenue" line as of September 1996 are "profits from sale of assets for use in the business" ($16 MM) - from the Edificio Republica transaction - and "loss from permanent investments" ($6 MM).

| Net profit or loss             | 4146     | (274)    |

Comparing the balance sheet as of September 1996 with the same period for the prior year, we can see that the bank has achieved worse results on all the lines except for the results for commissions, which increased. The financial margin has dropped $7 MM as a result of the significant reduction in business volume, that is, revenues from financing and the profit or loss [in connection with] government securities. Said results were, as of September 1996, $29 MM and $5.5 MM, respectively.

(*) Purchase-sale of securities to be liquidated

The bank's numbers have not changed significantly with respect to the previous year (comparing December 1994 and December 1995).

The Federal's deposits come from third parties (principally the Private Banking of Republica), as well as from the group's shareholders or companies. Of these, 67% are term deposits, and 35% of these are government securities.

Of the total loan portfolio, $34 MM is deposited in Banco Republica and another significant amount is associated with back to back transactions. Also, the balance of the group's deposits, together with the bank's net worth, finance capital investments such as acquisitions and loans to some CEI companies.

PS000909

As can be seen, the loan portfolio has no third party risk, since back to back transactions are guaranteed by deposits and the other financing is associated with the group.

Conclusion

Grupo Moneta remains one of the most important groups in the country with consolidated assets (not counting the fields) of approximately $500 MM.

Most of this (72%) is connected with the industrial group (UFCO), basically in CEI, Telefonica, and Telecom. For its part, Federal Bank has practically stopped working with third parties (except for the back to backs) in order to act jointly with the companies in the group, cooperating with the bank by attracting private banking deposits and financing associates of UFCO companies.

We have analyzed the cash flow among companies in the individual analysis of each performed in this report. We have not found anything of significance to point out. The cash flow analyzed reflects the average historical amounts of movement among companies.

Finally, Banco Republica is in the midst of restructuring. It has decreased the extent to which its assets are locked up and improved its financial margins.

MEMORANDUM ECONOMICO FINANCIERO*Febrero 1995*BANCO REPUBLICA S.A.*CA 95/101

El presente memorandum se realizó con el objeto de realizar la revisión anual de la línea de crédito del Banco República S.A..

Para ello se tomo como base para el análisis la información suministrada por la entidad al 31 de Diciembre de 1994, información de enero y febrero del 95 y conversaciones mantenidas con Gustavo Stafforini y Pablo Lucini, gerentes comercial y financiero de la entidad, respectivamente.

Es importante tener en cuenta que por un lado se analiza la parte del banco y por otro al banco off-shore del grupo (Federal Bank)

REDACTED*REDACTED*REDACTED

Teniendo en cuenta que esta revisión es a diciembre del 94, y que la crisis se desató el 20 de diciembre, los numeros practicamente no reflejan el impacto. Con el efecto de reflejar el efecto de la crisis, se hizo un update al 15 de febrero, en donde se analiza como hizo el banco para soportar la corrida que tuvo, y cuales son sus expectativas futuras.

LA ENTIDAD

El crecimiento que experimentó Banco República en los últimos cinco años, fue muy importante. Pasó de un patrimonio neto de 35 MM para el cierre del 89, a un PN de 100 MM en el cierre de este año. Esto significó un incremento del 186% en cinco años, fruto de muy buenos resultados obtenidos en su operatoria y en su gestión.

En un principio se orientó a empresas grandes de primer nivel incursionando luego con préstamos a las PyMES. Su cartera de préstamos tuvo un crecimiento muy importante debido a una muy exitosa campaña de expansión, con importantes contactos con empresas nacionales y extranjeras.

En lo que se refiere a nuevos negocios, el banco creó una Banca Privada y una Banca de Inversión en donde participa junto con Citibank, en el holding CEI. A traves de CEI, el banco participó en importantes privatizaciones como la de YPF, Segba y Entel.

También incursionó junto con Citibank y Banco Río, en el negocio de las AFJP, a traves de Siembra.

Su importante actividad de trading, lo convirtió en uno de los 5 operadores más importantes del país. La actividad de la mesa la ha convertido en un verdadera formadora de mercado para distintos papeles.

Las empresas controladas por el banco son:

- República Valores, sociedad de bolsa, que posee dos acciones y que se ubica entre los principales agentes del país.
- República Propiedades: su finalidad es desarrollar proyectos inmobiliarios de gran envergadura, y su principal obra es el edificio inteligente, ubicado en la esquina de Madero y Tucumán, el cual a la fecha está casi terminado.
- Fundación Banco República: ofrece becas, subsidios, patrocinio de cursos, etc.

Comercio exterior

Las actividades de comercio exterior de BR son muy importantes. Opera en la Categoría "C" y tiene líneas con alrededor de 80 bancos por US$ 251 MM. a un año de plazo, de las cuales tenía utilizadas a diciembre del 94, US$ 228 MM.

Este monto de líneas de comercio exterior está experimentando un gran crecimiento con aumentos del 26% con respecto al año anterior y del 164% en comparación al 92.

Las líneas se aplican básicamente a confirmación de cartas de crédito de importación, prefinanciación de exportaciones y avales.

Las principales líneas son:

23-Valen los mismos comentarios que para CEI.

Es importante destacar, que dentro de los 25 principales deudores, se encuentran todos en una situación normal.

Entre los 25 deudores que figuran en el cuadro, concentran el 43% de los préstamos. Entre los 50 principales el 59%. El total de préstamos lo componen 489 empresas. Dentro del total de préstamos, el 14% tiene garantía preferida y el 15% otras garantías.

Esta concentración de los préstamos es normal, teniendo en cuenta que el negocio del banco es netamente mayorista.

Es importante hacer mención a la evolución que tuvieron los préstamos en enero y febrero. Para sostener la caída de depósitos, se recuperaron préstamos por 61 MM, de los cuales 23 MM fueron ventas de cartera.

Los títulos que figuran entre paréntesis, significa que tienen una posición vendida.

La idea al posicionarse con estos títulos era tener calzada la posición vendida de Bonex 89 contra la posición comprada de Bic 5 y de Bote 10. A diciembre esta posición estaba calzada. En febrero del 95 la posición de Bonex 89 se redujo a la mitad.

Tuvieron pérdidas importantes con el Bic 5 y el Bote 10, que fue compensada en parte por la ganancia que tuvieron con el Bonex 89.

Mora

Antes que nada aclaramos que estas cifras nos las proporcionaron al 31 de enero del 95, por lo cual no coincide con el total de préstamos a diciembre del 94.

La cartera de BR estaba clasificada a enero 94 de la siguiente manera (en millones):

|                            |             |             |

| Mora Total / Préstamos     | 3%          |             |

Se puede observar en el cuadro que los niveles de mora son muy bajos en comparación con el mercado, inclusive descendieron con respecto al año anterior.

Es un punto a destacar la calidad de la cartera, ya que hay pocos bancos con moras tan bajas, sobretudo teniendo en cuenta que la actividad se mantuvo en los niveles del año pasado y la mora ha descendido.

Nos comentaron que tienen problemas con Raggio, Zanon y Alto Paraná.

PASIVO*Depósitos

Los depósitos del banco a diciembre eran de 165 MM. En comparación con el año anterior, sufrieron una disminución del 15%, debido al retiro de fondos que tuvo en los últimos días del año por la incertidumbre del mercado financiero causado por la devaluación de la moneda mejicana.

Al cierre, los depósitos estaban dolarizados en un 61%.

La distribución de los depósitos es la siguiente:

| Totales          | 61.457 | 100% | 101.745 | 100% | 163.202 | 100% |

Se observa en el cuadro precedente que casi el total de los depósitos son a plazo fijo (92%) y una porción muy chica entre cuenta corriente y caja de ahorro.

A mediados de febrero, los depósitos son de 83 MM y esperan una caída de 15 MM más para los próximos 60 días. Los financiaron basicamente con disponibilidades, con recuperon de préstamos y con la emisión de ON por 3 MM a 3 años calificadas "A" por PCA y Risk Annalysis. Perdieron todos los depósitos de inversores extranjeros, el 65% de los de empresas nacionales y el 15% de los de particulares.

Funding

La estructura de financiamiento de los préstamos vía cartera de depósitos es la siguiente:

|                |                |
|----------------|----------------|
| Préstamos      | 440.162        |

| Otras oblig. | 559.872        |
| Total | 725.204 |

Por ser un banco mayorista, no tienen estructura de captación, salvo por la casa central y la mesa. Su funding es basicamente a traves de depósitos, corresponsales nacionales, bancos extranjeros y el mercado de capitales.

La estructura de funding tuvo un leve variación con respecto al año anterior, en donde el 26% de sus fondos provenian de depósitos. En el 94 ese porcentaje fue del 23%.

Al cierre del 94, el banco tenía un exeso de capacidad prestable de 10MM, que son principalmente los encajes por los depositos que tienen.

Otra fuente alternativa para su fondeo es a traves de ON que emitieron durante el 94 y tienen una duración de 3 años. El monto de la emisión fue de US$ 30 MM. Estas ON fueron calificadas "A" por 2 calificadoras de riesgo, PCA SA y Risk Annalysis. El Lead Manager fue HSBC Markets Limited y los Co-lead Managers Deutsch-Sudamerikanische Bank, Swiss Bank Corporation y por Union Bank of Switzerland.

Debido a la caída que sufrió el sistema financiero desde fines del 94, el banco perdió 97 MM de depósitos, que fueron financiados con recuperon de préstamos, ventas de cartera, diponibilidades y la emisión de las ON que se mencionan en el párrafo anterior.

PATRIMONIO NETO

El crecimiento que tuvo el Patrimonio Neto del banco durante los últimos años fue muy importante. A diciembre del 89, el PN del BR ascendía a $35 MM y a diciembre del 94 su PN es de $ 100 MM. Esto significa un crecimiento del 186% en solo 5 años, fruto de una gran reestructuración que tuvo el banco a partir de los primeros meses de 1990, en donde se profesionalizaron los cuadros directivos y se incorporó personal en áreas críticas, y de una muy exitosa gestión desde ese año a la fecha.

En el gráfico se puede observar claramente la evolución que tuvo el PN del banco desde el 89 al 94, lo que le permitió ubicarse en los "top ten" de los bancos privados (Sociedades Anónimas).

Es importante aclarar que en este ejercicio hubo un aporte de los socios de 10 MM, lo que hizo incrementar el PN en esa cifra.

El PN líquido es el siguiente (en millones):

|                           |     |      |
|---------------------------|-----|------|
| PN total                  | 100 | 100% |

Los 5 MM en participación de sociedades que no cotizan son sus controladas República Valores Sociedad de Bolsa y República Propiedades.

En cuanto al capital mínimo a diciembre del 94, el banco tiene un capital de $108.6 MM y el mínimo es de $61.9 MM, lo que significa un exceso del 75%.

Este punto no ofrece mayores riesgos debido a que el exceso de capital es muy importante.

RESULTADOS

En el cuadro que se muestra a continuación se detalla un análisis comparativo de los resultados de los últimos 2 años, a efectos de comprender mejor la situación:

| Concepto                    | Dic 93 | Dic 94  |

| Utilidad bruta              | 36,162 | 14,456  |
| Gastos operativos           | 12,363 | 15,713  |
| Utilidad operativa          | 13,799 | (1,257) |
| Utilidad/Pérdidas diversas  | 683    | (2,426) |
| Resultado monetarios        | 499    | 556     |
| Utilidad neto antes de imp. | 24,981 | (3,127) |
| Impuestos                   | 3,175  | 2,300   |
| Utilidad neto               | 21,806 | (5,427) |

Es importante mencionar que operativamente el banco no perdió plata. El resultado negativo de 5.4 MM se debió a la pérdida de cotización que tuvieron las acciones del CEI que están en cabeza del banco.

Estas pérdidas de cotización se incrementó en gran forma en enero y febrero de 1995, debido a la baja que sufrieron todos los papeles principalmente por el efecto de la devaluación mexicana.

VII

PS018590

Se puede observar al analizar el margen financiero bruto, la baja de los spreads que hubo durante el 94, sumada a la baja en la cotización de los títulos.

En cuanto a las tasas que se venían manejando antes de la crisis y ahora, piensan compensar la baja del volumen de operaciones con la suba de spreads.

Los spreads promedio los vemos en el siguiente cuadro:

Los gastos operativos ascienden a 15.7 MM, un 30% mayor a los del año anterior. Del total de gastos, el 74% son gastos en personal.

En este punto es importante mencionar que el banco está por encarar una importante reestructuración, la cual va a causar el despido de unas 50 personas aprox. con el objetivo de llevar los gastos administrativos a 1 MM por mes.

La razón de esta reestructuración es que ha habido una gran caída de la actividad, causada por la crisis que se desató a fin del 94, lo que llevó la actividad del banco al 20% de lo que operaba anteriormente.

Las comisiones, ascendían a diciembre a 8.1 MM, lo significa un incremento con respecto al año anterior del 18%.

Si analizamos la relación comisiones/gasto nos da que los gastos son cubiertos en un 52% por las comisiones, porcentaje razonable para un banco mayorista.

Este monto de activos líquidos representa el 10% del activo y el 51% de los depósitos.

La posición de call del banco a diciembre y a la fecha (10 de febrero) es la siguiente:

| en MM               | Dic 94      | Feb. 95   | Variación   |
|---------------------|-------------|-----------|-------------|

| Call neto/Préstamos | 8%          | 5.2%      |             |

Antes que nada es importante aclarar que el banco es un tomador de call en el mercado, aunque lo están reduciendo.

Perdieron call por 22.9 MM al 10 de febrero y esperan perder 5 MM más al 1 de abril.

El leverage del banco tuvo un crecimiento sostenido en los últimos 4 años y aunque sigue siendo bajo con relación al mercado, tienen gran capacidad para crecer.

CONCLUSION

Luego de haber analizado toda la info que nos dieron, sumados a las explicaciones que tuvimos en la reunión, se pudo ver que la situación financiero del banco al cierre de ejercicio es sólida. Se analizó también como financió el banco la corrida a partir de la última semana del 94 durante casi 2 meses, básicamente con recupero de cartera y con la emisión de la ON.

Tienen algunos puntos importantes para destacar como ser que su capitalización supera ampliamente sus necesidades, la calidad de su cartera, que ha demostrado capacidad para superar la crisis financiera y que presenta buenas perspectivas para los próximos meses. Por el otro lado, su rentabilidad es uno de los puntos de seguimiento. Debería crecer su margen financiero frente al positioning.

La operación se está retomando de a poco, las líneas de crédito están volviendo a operar y de no agravarse la crisis no tendrían problemas en el futuro. El negocio ha sufrido una gran caída en los dos primeros meses del 95, pero aunque no piensan llegar a los niveles del 94, estiman que su negocio, una vez finalizada la crisis, sea de unos 500MM.

Por todo lo expuesto, sumado a la muy buena relación que se mantiene con ellos, en donde tenemos al banco de socio en varios negocios, considero que es un riesgo de crédito razonable.

With regard to new business, the bank established a Private Bank and an Investment Bank in which it participates, together with Citibank, in the CEI holding company. Through CEI, the bank had an interest in significant privatizations, such as YPF, Segba and Entel.

It also made incursions, together with Citibank and Banco Río, into the AFJP [Retirement and Pension Funds Administrators] business, through Siembra.

PS018590

It is important to mention that the bank did not lose money from operations. The 5.4 MM loss was due to the loss in value in the CEI shares that are owned by the bank.

As of April 1, they estimate a drop of 3 MM more.

The company's net worth is 20 MM.

Recomendar al Comite de Creditos la renovacion de las facilidades crediticias con el Grupo Moneta por el termino de un año.

Si bien se incluye en los remarks un analisis de los riesgos del grupo, las facilidades son solamente para Banco Republica, lo que no implica que case by case se puedan analizar transacciones para otros vehiculos del Grupo.

Las lineas anteriores de Banco Republica fueron fijadas durante la crisis financiera del año 95, siendo minimas en comparacion al patrimonio del banco y del grupo.

El CA propuesto presenta una operacion especial de corto plazo de u$ 14.5 MM constituida por una garantia de oferta en la privatizacion de los dos bancos de la Pcia de Mendoza y un incremento en las lineas de corto plazo de call y placement por u$ 2 MM y en las lineas de PSR por u$ 4.5 MM, este incremento se recomienda basado en la reduccion tanto del riesgo del cliente como del riesgo del sistema financiero con respecto a nuestro ultimo CA y del aumento de los volúmenes operados en el mercado.

Otro punto importante que contrapesa el aumento aludido es la cancelacion del prestamo otorgado a Federal Bank Intl ( u$ 3 MM ) al cual no le estamos otorgando lineas en esta propuesta.

Riesgos:Riesgos para Citibank / Justificaciones:

Podemos dividirlos en dos: a) Facilidades por u$ 29.2 MM a un banco risk rating 6, lo que representa 2.6 veces las facilidades otorgadas en el ultimo CA ( otorgadas durante la crisis ) y que fueran clasificadas en ese momento como IA.

Justificacion: Las facilidades otorgadas se componen de la siguiente manera:

1. u$ 14.5 MM operacion especial, garantia de oferta en la privatizacion de los bancos Prevision Social y Provincia de Mendoza exigida en toda privatizacion de una empresa publica en Argentina. Se trata de un riesgo contingente para Citibank de corto plazo, que esta adecuadamente cubierto por la liquidez de Banco Republica y que tiene alta visibilidad publica en caso de incumplimiento por lo que BR se ha asegurado los recursos necesarios para hacer frente al pago en caso de resultar ganador.
2. Tamaño: Una vez cancelada la operacion especial el nivel de facilidades remanentes representan solamente el 15 % del patrimonio de Banco Republica, un 3 % de sus pasivos y un 18 % de su liquidez.
Previo a la crisis Citicorp a nivel global tenia facilidades otorgadas a BR por u$ 52 MM ( u$ 21 MM Citibank y u$ 31 MM IEI ).
3. Tenor: El tenor de las facilidades propuestas es de muy corto plazo, declina rapidamente, quedando solamente como riesgo central a mas de 60 dias u$ 2 MM.
4. 2 MM a mas de 60 dias es una facilidad de Comercio Exterior y cuyo repago esta atado a este producto desde el punto de vista de los clientes de BR mas la propia capacidad financiera del banco. Utilizamos esta facilidad como soporte de los servicios de cash management.

REDACTED*REDACTEDRelacionados con el cliente / riesgos y justificacionesBanco Republica S.A:

- Inmovilizacion del Capital: Si bien es el noveno banco privado argentino en terminos de capital tiene inmovilizado el mismo con inmuebles lo que le deja estrecho margen para financiar nuevas inmovilizaciones por morosidad, prestamos de largo plazo o perdidas extraordinarias por caida abrupta del precio de los titulos publicos.

Justificacion: El edificio que le produce el desbalance estara terminado en junio y estan buscando realizar un sale and lease back del mismo, lo que debera esperar a la finalizacion del edificio y al alquiler del mismo.

En el worst case scenario seguira en libros alquilado a terceros lo que ira desinmovilizando el patrimonio lentamente por las ganancias que generarian dichos alquileres estimadas en US 10 MM anuales. Estimamos que este flujo empezara a rendir resultados en el año 1997.
- Rentabilidad: La rentabilidad del banco esta altamente influida por las variaciones en el valor de cotizacion de CEI y por tener todo su patrimonio aplicado a financiar inmuebles que al estar en construccion no tienen retorno sobre capital. Ambos factores sumados han provocado que el retorno sobre capital del banco en 1995 sea practicamente nulo y que en 1994 perdieran un 6 % sobre patrimonio.

Justificacion: Se espera que ambos factores dejen de influir significativamente durante 1996 por la finalizacion del edificio y por estar CEI retrasada con respecto a otras acciones que cotizan en bolsa.

Asimismo el banco ha reducido sus gastos en US 4 MM y espera crecer moderadamente en activos superando su break even operativo independientemente del retorno por alquileres. La eventual compra del Banco de Mendoza ayudara tambien a BR a terminar de recortar sus gastos operativos.
- Liquidez: Por las caracteristicas de los depositos del banco compuestos en gran parte parte por colocaciones de empresas e individuos a traves del redepósito en BR de los depositos del private banking de Federal Bank. Estos depositantes pueden actuar como inversores institucionales retirando rapidamente los depositos ante problemas. Cabe aclarar que los depositos del private banking demostraron ser mas estables que los Corporate durante la ultima crisis representando la fuente de funding mas estable del banco.

Justificacion: BR contraresta este riesgo manteniendo fuertes posiciones de liquidez ( 40 % de los depositos y lineas de call ) y financiando el 40 % de sus prestamos con lineas de comercio exterior lo que mantiene calzado su activo y pasivo.

Asimismo mantiene una adecuada politica de matching de plazos entre depositos y prestamos no incursionando practicamente en negocios prendarios e hipotecarios y un leverage conservador con respecto a su capital.
- Expansion negocio bancario: Tienen como objetivo comprar junto con el Grupo Magna el Banco Prevision Social de Mendoza o el Banco de Mendoza por el cual han licitado. Conocedores del potencial de la Pcia de Mendoza en donde Raul Moneta cuenta con explotaciones agropecuarias utilizaran el banco para poner un pie en el middle market y retail sin fusionar esta entidad con Banco Republica.

Riesgo: Esta expansion le significa a Banco Republica una mayor inmovilizacion de su capital ( aprox u$ 5 a 10 MM ) y el derivar esfuerzos de management hacia otro emprendimiento.

Justificacion : A) La inmovilizacion contara con funding a 7 años del fondo fiduciario por hasta 2 veces el monto de la inversion mejorando tambien el balance de BR por obtener funding largo para calzar parte de sus inmuebles hasta encontrar un modo de venderlos u realizar un sale and lease back de largo plazo.

B) Le ayudara a BR a terminar de realizar en forma eficiente la racionalizacion de gastos derivando management y costos a Mendoza provocando una mayor eficiencia en BR. De todas maneras seguira significando un esfuerzo de management a nivel accionistas y top management de BR que debera controlar inicialmente el turn over de este banco.

C) Ayudara al Grupo Moneta a consolidar su imagen ante clientes como Grupo cuyo focus principal no sea solamente CEI o Real Estate sino con un proyecto bancario integral al entrar en el retail business a traves de una region con gran potencial como es Mendoza.

Su existencia no esta reportada como vinculada ante BCRA pese a ser un vehiculo bancario ( Off Shore categoria D en nuestra politica ), lo que lo hace un vehiculo riesgoso por se por tener solamente el control del Banco Central de Bahamas.

Justificacion: La existencia de este vehiculo se justifica dentro de la estrategia del grupo por la finalidad que cumple : a) Canalizar los clientes del private banking de Banco Republica a los cuales les proveen back to backs y un vehiculo fuera de Argentina donde canalizar sus ahorros, que luego son recolocados en Banco Republica por Federal Bank, constituyendo una de las fuentes de funding mas estable del banco ( u$ 34 MM en diciembre ).

evolucion del precio de esta accion. 1994 y 1995 fueron años de fuertes pérdidas patrimoniales que netearon las ganancias de 1993.

Justificación: Se trata de una inversión en una canasta de empresas en su mayoría privatizadas con fuerte potencial de crecimiento. Punta a punta la inversión ha sido rentable.

Management:

Ver management evaluation para mas detalle.

Character: Raul Moneta es un "entrepreneur" que dedica gran parte de su tiempo al negocio de CEI que por otra parte es donde el grupo tiene gran parte de los activos. Es visto por el mercado como un habil negociador y lobista con empresarios y politicos lo que le permite encarar negocios con agresividad comercial.

Benito Jaime Lucini dedica su tiempo principalmente al banco siendo percibido por el mercado como conservador lo que genera una buena combinacion con Raul Moneta.

La reputacion personal de ambos es intachable siendo esta una de las razones que motivo al Sr management de Citibank en la eleccion de estos como partners del banco en CEI.

Esta asociacion significa tanto para el Grupo Moneta como para Citibank una alianza estrategica a largo plazo, la que requiere por el monto de la inversion y el peso relativo del Grupo Moneta dentro de la misma una interelacion muy fuerte entre ambos y un commitment de ambos de mantener dicha relacion.

Estructura y Proceso Decisorio: Ademas de los managers citados en la evaluacion el banco cuenta con buen management de segunda y tercera linea como back ups del Sr management. Algunos de estos seran destinados a Mendoza en caso de ganar la licitacion.

La estructura de controles y el proceso de creditos es el adecuado para manejar los volúmenes actuales y el plan de crecimiento del banco.

Risk Rating/ Clasificación:

PS018318

Dentro de los bancos mayoristas es por su patrimonio y volumen de negocios el principal banco de este segmento del mercado.

Nuestro debt rating model le otorga preliminarmente a BR un ORR 4, el cual luego del size test es bajado a 5. Analizando la parte business nos da preliminarmente un ORR de 5 pero haciendo un reanálisis de los Industry Risk Factors segmentando la industria por el segmento particular en el que se encuentra BR cambiamos el Business Risk Assessment a 6 lo que produce un nuevo downgrading llevando el ORR a 6. Se debe notar por lo antedicho que conservadoramente estamos asignando un 6 a BR el cual podría aplicar en el futuro para 5.

Mantendremos las facilidades directas de Banco Republica Clasificadas. La tendencia del banco evidencia que las mismas podran ser desclasificadas en el corto plazo. Como triggers para desclasificar las facilidades fijaremos que se cumplan cualquiera de las dos condiciones siguientes:

Que el banco obtenga ganancias de al menos 5 % anual sobre NW en un periodo relevante de al menos un trimestre ( la ha obtenido en el primer mes de ejercicio ) ✓
Hagan una venta o sale and lease back del Edificio Republica que libere el patrimonio de BR. ✓

Risk and Rewards:

CFMP Zone 4 ( mayor bank ). Durante el año 1995 BR genero revenues por u$ 400 M. Proyectamos para 1996 revenues de u$ 450 M con un PSI de aproximadamente 180 M. ✓
Dado el caracter de corto plazo de las facilidades y nuestra estrategia de acotar la oferta de productos y el plazo de los mismos con el cliente dada la zona del target market en la que se encuentra ( third tier ), no prevemos superar el nivel de rentabilidad presupuestada.
Los principales productos ofrecidos son transaction banking ( 100 % del cash mgmt internacional ), productos de tesoreria y por un limite pequeño Comercio Exterior.

Conclusion:

Los riesgos descriptos para el cliente en cada uno de sus vehiculos pueden influir por sus interrelaciones en otros vehiculos del grupo en terminos de imagen lo que puede traducirse en definitiva en un problema de liquidez en los vehiculos bancarios.

Por tratarse de un socio estrategico esto puede significar que debamos apoyarlo en caso extremo.

La crisis de Mexico fue un buen test para este juego de interrelaciones entre ambas entidades ya que BR y Federal Bank demostraron poder manejar una crisis aguda de liquidez sin recurrir a la ayuda de su socio estrategico, demostrando tambien la independencia de criterios con el cual se manejo en Citibank la crisis.

De acuerdo a los riesgos descriptos y al caracter y monto de las lineas propuestas apruebo y recomiendo al Comite de Creditos la aprobacion del presente CA.

Purpose

To recommend to the Credit Committee renewal of the credit facilities with Grupo Moneta for the term of one year.

Although the remarks include an analysis of the risks with regard to the group, the facilities are only for Banco Republica, which does not mean that transactions for other Grupo vehicles can be analyzed case-by-case.

Banco Republica's previous lines were established during the 1995 financial crisis, and were minimal in comparison with the assets of the bank and the group.

The proposed CA presents a special short-term transaction for US$ 14.5 MM constituted for a bid bond in the privatization of the two Province of Mendoza banks and an increase in the short-term call and placement lines in the amount of US$ 2 MM and in the PSR lines in the amount of US$ 4.5 MM. This increase is recommended based on the reduction of the client's risk and the financial system's risk with respect to our most recent CA and the increase of the amounts traded on the market.

Another important point that offsets this increase is the payment of the loan issued to Federal Bank International (US$ 3 MM), to which we are not issuing lines in this proposal.

[handwritten] – Perform monthly CCR (March). [illegible]

Risks:

Risks for Citibank / explanations:

We can divide them into two: a) facilities for US $29.2 MM to a bank [with] risk rating six, which represents 2.6 times the facilities granted in the most recent CA (granted during the crisis) and classified at that time as IA.

Explanation: the facilities granted are comprised of the following:

1. US$ 14.5 MM special transaction, bid bond in the privatization of the Previsión Social and Provincia de Mendoza banks, required in any privatization of a public company in Argentina. It is a short-term contingent risk for Citibank, which is adequately covered by the liquidity of Banco Republica and which has high public visibility in case of noncompliance; therefore, BR has assured itself of the necessary resources for making the payment if it wins.
2. Size: Once the special transaction is paid for, the level of remaining facilities represents just 15 % of Banco Republica's assets, 3% of its liabilities, and 18% of its liquidity.

Before the crisis, Citicorp, at the global level, had facilities issued to BR in the amount of US$ 52 MM (US$ 21 MM Citibank and US$ 31 MM IEI)

3. Nature: The nature of the facilities proposed is very short term, declines rapidly, with just US$ 2 MM remaining as central risk at more than 60 days.
4. 2 MM at more than 60 days is a Foreign Trade facility whose repayment is tied to this product from the standpoint of BR's clients plus the bank's own financial capacity. We use this facility as support for the cash management services.

Customer Relations / Risks and Explanations

Banco Republica S. A.

Lockup of capital: Although it is the ninth Argentinian private bank in terms of capital, it has it locked up with property, which leaves it a narrow margin to finance new non-liquid investments because of arrears, long-term loans, or extraordinary losses due to sudden price drops of government securities.

Explanation: The building causing the imbalance will be completed in June, and they are seeking a sale and leaseback thereof, which will have to wait for the completion and rental of the building.

In the worst-case scenario it will remain on the books rented out to third parties, which will free up the assets slowly because of the earnings those rentals would generate. These are estimated to be US$10 MM per year. We estimate that this flow will begin to show results in 1997.

- Profitability: The bank's profitability is significantly influenced by the changes in the current share price of CEI and because all its assets were allocated to finance property which, being under construction, provides no return on capital. Both factors added together have resulted in the bank's return on capital in 1995 being practically zero and the loss of 6% of assets in 1994.

Explanation: it is expected that both factors will cease to have significant influence during 1996 because of the completion of the building and because CEI is lagging behind with respect to other stocks listed on the exchange.

Also, the bank has reduced its expenses by US$ 4 MM and expects to increase assets moderately, exceeding its operational break even point independently of the return on rentals.

The possible purchase of Banco de Mendoza will also help BR finish cutting its operating expenses.

- Liquidity: because of the characteristics of the bank's deposits, comprised largely of investments of companies and individuals through the redeposit in BR of the private banking deposits of Federal Bank. These depositors can act as institutional investors, rapidly withdrawing the deposits if there are problems. It should be made clear that the private banking deposits proved to be more stable than the corporate deposits during the most recent crisis, representing the bank's most stable source of funding.

Explanation: BR offsets this risk by maintaining strong liquidity positions (40% of the deposits and call lines) and financing 40% of its loans with foreign trade lines, which keeps its assets and liabilities matched.

It also maintains an appropriate policy of matching time periods in connection with deposits and loans, with hardly any security and mortgage transactions, and conservative leverage with respect to its capital.

- Banking business expansion: Their objective is to buy, along with Grupo Magna, Banco Previsión Social de Mendoza or Banco de Mendoza, for which they have bid. They are aware of the potential of the province of Mendoza, where Raul Moneta has agricultural operations. They will use the bank to get a toehold in the middle and retail market[s] without merging this entity with Banco Republica.

Risk: this expansion means locking up more of Banco Republica's capital (approximately US$ 5 - 10 MM) and directing management's efforts to another undertaking.

Explanation: A) The non-liquid investments will have funding at seven years from the fiduciary fund for up to twice the amount of the investment, also improving BR's balance sheet by obtaining long-term funding to match some of its properties until it finds a way to sell them or accomplish a sale and long-term leaseback.

B) It will help BR efficiently complete the rationalization of expenses, directing management and costs to Mendoza, resulting in greater efficiency for BR. In any event, it will continue to mean a management effort at the level of shareholders and BR's top management, which will have to initially control the turnover of this bank.

C) It will help Grupo Moneta consolidate its image with clients such as Grupo, whose principal focus is not just CEI or Real Estate, but with a comprehensive banking project, on getting into the retail business through a high-potential region such as Mendoza.

Offshore risk:

The Grupo has two offshore companies that are not regulated or controlled by the Banco Central de la República Argentina, with different risks by company:

[Redacted]

- Federal Bank Ltd.: Located in the Bahamas with US$ 25 MM of capital. Its existence is not reported as linked to BCRA despite being a banking vehicle (offshore category D in our policy), which makes it a risky vehicle per se because it is controlled only by the Central Bank of the Bahamas.

Explanation: The existence of this vehicle is explained in terms of the group's strategy because of the end it accomplishes: a) channel Banco Republica's private banking clients to which they provide back to backs and a vehicle outside Argentina where they can channel their savings, which are then re-placed in Banco Republica by Federal Bank, constituting one of the bank's most stable funding sources (US$ 34 MM in December).

b) Channel the liquidity of the shareholders of Banco Republica and, with these deposits and the assets of Federal Bank, support acquisitions or grant loans to CEI companies, with the restriction that this activity must be funded with its own liquidity and not that of third parties.

Regarding the Grupo:

- Concentration: They have a large part of their assets allocated to financing the long-term investment in CEI, which results in significant fluctuations of assets in accordance with the changes in the price of this stock. The years 1994 and 1995 saw heavy losses of assets, wiping out the gains of 1993.

Explanation: this is an investment in a "basket" of companies, mostly privatized, with strong growth potential. Overall the investment has been profitable.

Management:

See management evaluation for more detail.

Personality: Raul Moneta is an entrepreneur who spends much of his time on the business of CEI which, moreover, is where the group has much of its assets. He is seen by the market as an able negotiator and lobbyist with businessmen and politicians, which allows him to approach transactions [TR.: or negotiations] aggressively.

Benito Jaime Lucini devotes most of his time to the bank, and is perceived by the market as conservative, which makes for a good combination with Raul Moneta.

The personal reputations of both are unassailable; this is one of the reasons why Citibank senior management selected them as the bank's partners in CEI.

This association means, both for Grupo Moneta and Citibank, a long-term strategic alliance which requires, because of the amount of the investment and the relative weight of Grupo Moneta therein, a very strong relationship between both, and a commitment by both to maintain that relationship.

Structure and Decision Process: In addition to the managers mentioned in the evaluation, the bank has good second- and third-line management as backups for senior management. Some of these will be assigned to Mendoza if they win the bid.

The control structure and the credit process are suitable for managing the bank's current volumes and growth plan.

Call Memorandum

Ref: Banco Republica S.A.

Octubre 23, 1995.

En el día de la fecha me reuni con el Sr Pablo Lucini, director financiero de Banco Republica con el objeto de hacer un seguimiento de la situacion de la entidad y pedirle que en el proximo vencimiento nos cancele el call otorgado a Federal Bank ya que es parte de nuestra política eliminar el O/S con off-shores.

Banco Republica:

- Los depositos a septiembre alcanzaron a u$ 75 MM, manteniendose en niveles que son aun un 50 % inferiores a los previos al tequila ( u$ 150 MM ) pero un 50 % superiores a los registrados en el piso de la crisis ( u$ 50 MM ). Considera que lo peor ha pasado y que volveran a crecer a niveles precrisis.
- Siguen manteniendo un nivel de morosidad bajo. La mora neta de provisiones representa solo el 1 % de sus prestamos y el 2.4 % de su patrimonio siendo este el punto mas fuerte de la entidad.
- Otro punto de seguimiento es la rentabilidad la cual esta influida por la variabilidad en la cotizacion de la posicion de CEI que esta en Banco Republica e influida por el carrying cost de los edificios que mantienen en el balance. A septiembre estaban en break even con ganancias nulas.

Federal Bank:

- No tienen problemas en cancelarnos.

• Situacion Financiera:

La entidad esta localizada en Bahamas con u$ 25 MM de capital no ha tenido problemas durante la crisis de cancelacion de depositos comportandose estos de manera similar a los de BR.

Federal Bank tiene u$ 120 MM de depositos de private banking de los cuales:

u$ 20 MM son redepositados en Banco Republica con el acuerdo de los depositantes.
u$ 70 MM corresponden a operaciones de back to back.
u$ 30 MM depositos de los propios socios de BR que se prestan a clientes target names de Banco Republica y a empresas vinculadas a CEI cuyos prestamos no pueden ser cursados a traves de BR.

De esto se desprende que la operatoria de Federal Bank es muy limitada ya que practicamente no tiene actividad de lending propia al derivar todo lo que no es back to back y prestamos con depositos propios a Banco Republica con el acuerdo de los propios depositantes.

Estrategicamente el grupo necesita un vehiculo al cual canalizar su private banking y que les haga de nexo entre su inversion en CEI bookead en UFCO y la actividad financiera de Banco Republica.

Por lo antedicho se desprende que Federal Bank no es un vehiculo riesgoso ni nos afectara la exposicion que tenemos con Banco Republica una vez cancelado el O/S.

MARTIN LOPEZ ALDUNCIN
VI E PRESIDENTE

PS018573

PS018572

On this date I met with Mr. Pablo Lucini, financial director of Banco Republica, in order to follow up on the entity's status and ask him to cancel, on the next due date, the call issued to Federal Bank, since it is part of our policy to eliminate the O/S [outstanding] with the off-shores.

Banco Republica:

- The deposits as of September were US$ 75 MM, remaining at levels that are still 50% below those prior to the tequila [crisis] (US$ 150 MM) but 50% higher than those at the worst point of the crisis (US$ 50 MM). He thinks the worst is over and they will return to pre-crisis levels.
- A low rate of arrears continues. The net arrears in connection with reserves represents just 1% of its loans and 2.4% of its assets; this is the entity's strongest point.
- Another point for follow-up is profitability, which is influenced by the variability of the price of the position of Banco Republica's holdings in CEI and is influenced by the carrying cost of the buildings they maintain on the balance sheet. As of September they were at the break even point, with no profits.

Federal Bank:

- They have no problems paying us.
- Financial status:

The entity is located in the Bahamas with US$ 25 MM in capital. It did not have problems during the crisis in terms of cancellation of deposits, which behaved similarly to the BR deposits.

- Another point to watch is profitability, which is influenced by the variability in value of Banco República's stake in CEI<sup>2</sup> and by the carrying cost of the buildings they maintain on the balance sheet. At September they were at breakeven with no profits.

Federal Bank has US $120 MM of private banking deposits of which:

US $20 MM are redeposited in Banco República with the agreement of the depositors.

US $70 MM correspond to back-to-back transactions.

US $30 MM [are] deposits of the BR members themselves, which are lent to target-name customers of Banco República and to businesses linked to CEI whose loans cannot be processed through BR.

PS018573

From this it is clear that Federal Bank's operation is very limited, as it has practically no lending activity of its own, everything that is not back-to-back and loans from Banco República deposits being derived with the agreement of the depositors themselves.

Strategically, the group needs a vehicle to which to channel its private banking and to create for it a nexus between its investment in CEI booked in UFCO and Banco República's financial activity.

Therefore, Federal Bank is not a risky vehicle, nor will we be affected by the exposure that we have with Banco República once the O/S has been paid off.

Remarks Grupo Moneta ( ORR 6 - Facilities Classified IA ). 24/95

Proposito

Recomendar al Comité de Créditos la renovación de las facilidades crediticias con el Grupo Moneta por el término de un año.

Si bien se incluye en los remarks un análisis de los riesgos del grupo, las facilidades son solamente para Banco Republica, lo que no implica que case by case se puedan analizar transacciones para otros vehículos del Grupo.

Las líneas anteriores de Banco Republica fueron fijadas durante la crisis financiera del año 95, siendo mínimas en comparación al patrimonio del banco y del grupo.

El CA propuesto presenta una operación especial de corto plazo de u$ 14.5 MM constituida por una garantía de oferta en la privatización de los dos bancos de la Pcia de Mendoza y un incremento en las líneas de corto plazo de call y placement por u$ 2 MM y en las líneas de PSR por u$ 4.5 MM, este incremento se recomienda basado en la reducción tanto del riesgo del cliente como del riesgo del sistema financiero con respecto a nuestro último CA y del aumento de los volúmenes operados en el mercado.

Riesgos:

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL - NOT FOR CIRCULATION
SUBCOMMITTEE MEMBERS AND STAFF

Riesgos para Citibank / Justificaciones:

Podemos dividirlos en dos: a) Facilidades por u$ 29.2 MM a un banco risk rating 6, lo que representa 2.6 veces las facilidades otorgadas en el último CA ( otorgadas durante la crisis ) y que fueran clasificadas en ese momento como IA.

Justificación: Las facilidades otorgadas se componen de la siguiente manera:

1. u$ 14.5 MM operación especial, garantía de oferta en la privatización de los bancos Prevision Social y Provincia de Mendoza exigida en toda privatización de una empresa pública en Argentina. Se trata de un riesgo contingente para Citibank de corto plazo, que está adecuadamente cubierto por la liquidez de Banco Republica y que tiene alta visibilidad pública en caso de incumplimiento por lo que BR se ha asegurado los recursos necesarios para hacer frente al pago en caso de resultar ganador.
2. Tamaño: Una vez cancelada la operación especial el nivel de facilidades remanentes representan solamente el 15 % del patrimonio de Banco Republica, un 3 % de sus pasivos y un 18 % de su liquidez.
3. Tenor: El tenor de las facilidades propuestas es de muy corto plazo, declina rápidamente, quedando solamente como riesgo central a más de 60 días u$ 2 MM.
4. 2 MM a más de 60 días es una facilidad de Comercio Exterior y cuyo repago está atado a este producto desde el punto de vista de los clientes de BR más la propia capacidad financiera del banco. Utilizamos esta facilidad como soporte de los servicios de cash management.

B) Socio estratégico en CEI: El grupo Moneta es un socio que concentra el 36 % de las acciones de Citicorp Equity Investment lo que implica dos riesgos por un lado el riesgo de imagen para Citicorp si su socio entra en problemas y por otro el riesgo de que llevado al extremo de necesitar liquidez en Banco Republica deba vender abruptamente parte de su posición en esta empresa afectando a nivel global la propia inversión de Citicorp en la empresa e impulsando a una decisión del Sr Management de asistir a BR.

Justificación: Aun en la peor crisis bancaria no nos vimos obligados a asistir al grupo. Citibank Commercial Bank se maneja en forma totalmente independiente y con una Chinese Wall con respecto al sector "industrial" este extremo de decisión deberá tomarse a nivel Sr Mgmt de la corporación.

PS018524

Es difícil que con el patrimonio global del grupo el mismo entre en una situación de insolvencia. Como se explica en los riesgos descriptos del cliente mas adelante el grupo por su estructura financiera esta mas expuesto a una situación de iliquidez pero teniendo activos con que cubrirla.

Banco Republica S.A:

- Inmovilizacion del Capital: Si bien es el noveno banco privado argentino en terminos de capital tiene inmovilizado el mismo con inmuebles lo que le deja estrecho margen para financiar nuevas inmovilizaciones por morosidad, prestamos de largo plazo o perdidas extraordinarias por caída abrupta del precio de los titulos publicos.
Justificación: El edificio que le produce el desbalance estara terminado en junio y estan buscando realizar un sale and lease back del mismo, lo que debera esperar a la finalizacion del edificio y al alquiler del mismo.
En el worst case scenario seguira en libros alquilado a terceros lo que ira desinmovilizando el patrimonio lentamente por las ganancias que generarian dichos alquileres estimadas en u$ 10 MM anuales. Estimamos que este flujo empezara a rendir resultados en el año 1997.
- Rentabilidad: La rentabilidad del banco esta altamente influida por las variaciones en el valor de cotizacion de CEI y por tener todo su patrimonio aplicado a financiar inmuebles que al estar en construccion no tienen retorno sobre capital. Ambos factores sumados han provocado que el retorno sobre capital del banco en 1995 sea practicamente nulo y que en 1994 perdieran un 6 % sobre patrimonio.
Justificación: Se espera que ambos factores dejen de influir significativamente durante 1996 por la finalizacion del edificio y por estar CEI retrasada con respecto a otras acciones que cotizan en bolsa.
Asimismo el banco ha reducido sus gastos en u$ 4 MM y espera crecer moderadamente en activos superando su break even operativo independientemente del retorno por alquileres. La eventual compra del Banco de Mendoza ayudara tambien a BR a terminar de recortar sus gastos operativos.
- Liquidez: Por las características de los depositos del banco compuestos en gran parte parte por colocaciones de empresas e individuos a traves del redposito en BR de los depositos del private banking de Federal Bank. Estos depositantes pueden actuar como inversores institucionales retirando rapidamente los depositos ante problemas. Cabe aclarar que los depositos del private banking demostraron ser mas estables que los Corporate durante la ultima crisis representando la fuente de funding mas estable del banco.
Justificación: BR contraresta este riesgo manteniendo fuertes posiciones de liquidez ( 40 % de los depositos y lineas de call ) y financiando el 40 % de sus prestamos con lineas de comercio exterior lo que mantiene calzado su activo y pasivo.
Asimismo mantiene una adecuada política de matching de plazos entre depositos y prestamos no incursionando practicamente en negocios prendarios e hipotecarios y un leverage conservador con respecto a su capital.
- Expansion negocio bancario: Tienen como objetivo comprar junto con el Grupo Magna el Banco Prevision Social de Mendoza o el Banco de Mendoza por el cual han licitado. Conocedores del potencial de la Pcia de Mendoza en donde Raul Moneta cuenta con explotaciones agropecuarias utilizaran el banco para poner un pie en el middle market y retail sin fusionar esta entidad con Banco Republica.

Riesgo: Esta expansion le significa a Banco Republica una mayor inmovilizacion de su capital ( aprox u$ 5 a 10 MM ) y el derivar esfuerzos de management hacia otro emprendimiento.

PS018525

Justificacion : A) La inmovilizacion contara con funding a 7 años del fondo fiduciario por hasta 2 veces el monto de la inversion mejorando tambien el balance de BR por obtener funding largo para calzar parte de sus inmuebles hasta encontrar un modo de venderlos u realizar un sale and lease back de largo plazo.

B) Le ayudara a BR a terminar de realizar en forma eficiente la racionalizacion de gastos derivando management y costos a Mendoza provocando una mayor eficiencia en BR. De todas maneras seguira significando un esfuerzo de management a nivel accionistas y top management de BR que debera controlar inicialmente el turn over de este banco.

C) Ayudara al Grupo Moneta a consolidar su imagen ante clientes como Grupo cuyo focus principal no sea solamente CEI o Real Estate sino con un proyecto bancario integral al entrar en el retail business a traves de una region con gran potencial como es Mendoza.

Del Grupo:

- Concentracion: Tienen una gran parte de su patrimonio aplicado a financiar la inversion a largo plazo en CEI, lo que les provoca grandes fluctuaciones patrimoniales de acuerdo a la evolucion del precio de esta accion. 1994 y 1995 fueron años de fuertes perdidas patrimoniales que netearon las ganancias de 1993.
Justificacion: Se trata de una inversion en una canasta de empresas en su mayoria privatizadas con fuerte potencial de crecimiento. Punta a punta la inversion ha sido rentable.

Character: Raul Moneta es un "entrepreneur" que dedica gran parte de su tiempo al negocio de CEI que por otra parte es donde el grupo tiene gran parte de los activos. Es visto por el mercado como un habil negociador y lobista con empresarios y politicos lo que le permite encarar negocios con agresividad comercial.

Benito Jaime Lucini dedica su tiempo principalmente al banco siendo percibido por el mercado como conservador lo que genera una buena combinacion con Raul Moneta.

La reputacion personal de ambos es intachable siendo esta una de las razones que motivo al Sr management de Citibank en la eleccion de estos como partners del banco en CEI.

Esta asociacion significa tanto para el Grupo Moneta como para Citibank una alianza estrategica a largo plazo, la que requiere por el monto de la inversion y el peso relativo del Grupo Moneta dentro de la misma una interelacion muy fuerte entre ambos y un commitment de ambos de mantener dicha relacion.

Estructura y Proceso Decisorio: Ademas de los managers citados en la evaluacion el banco cuenta con buen management de segunda y tercera linea como back ups del Sr management. Algunos de estos seran destinados a Mendoza en caso de ganar la licitacion.

La estructura de controles y el proceso de creditos es el adecuado para manejar los volúmenes actuales y el plan de crecimiento del banco.

| LIQ ASSETS*/DEPOSITS | 50%       | 26%     | 51%       | 106%    | 60%       |

Como conclusión de este cuadro puede destacarse Banco República es el banco más capitalizado, el de mejor calidad de cartera (junto con Comafi), y con una rentabilidad proyectada para este año del 11% (dentro del promedio).

Claramente, el punto más débil del banco radica en la inmovilización generada por la adquisición del edificio República.

Risk Rating/ Clasificación:

Dentro de los bancos mayoristas es por su patrimonio y volumen de negocios el principal banco de este segmento del mercado.

Nuestro debt rating model le otorga preliminarmente a BR un ORR 4, el cual luego del size test es rebajado a 5. Analizando la parte business nos da preliminarmente un ORR de 5 pero haciendo un reanálisis de los Industry Risk Factors segmentando la industria por el segmento particular en el que se encuentra BR cambiamos el Business Risk Assessment a 6 lo que produce un nuevo downgrading llevando el ORR a 6. Se debe notar por lo antedicho que conservadoramente estamos asignando un 6 a BR el cual podría aplicar en el futuro para 5.

Mantendremos las facilidades directas de Banco República Clasificadas. La tendencia del banco evidencia que las mismas podrán ser desclasificadas en el corto plazo. Como triggers para desclasificar las facilidades fijaremos que se cumplan cualquiera de las dos condiciones siguientes:

Que el banco obtenga ganancias de al menos 5 % anual sobre NW en un periodo relevante de al menos un trimestre ( la ha obtenido en el primer mes de ejercicio )
Hagan una venta o sale and lease back del Edificio República que libere el patrimonio de BR.

Risk and Rewards:

CFMP Zone 4 ( mayor bank ). Durante el año 1995 BR genero revenues por u$ 400 M. Proyectamos para 1996 revenues de u$ 450 M con un PSI de aproximadamente 180 M. Dado el caracter de corto plazo de las facilidades y nuestra estrategia de acotar la oferta de productos y el plazo de los mismos con el cliente dada la zona del target market en la que se encuentra ( third tier ), no prevemos superar el nivel de rentabilidad presupuestada. Los principales productos ofrecidos son transaction banking ( 100 % del cash mgmt internacional ), productos de tesoreria y por un limite pequeño Comercio Exterior.

Conclusion:

Los riesgos descriptos para el cliente en cada uno de sus vehiculos pueden influir por sus interelaciones en otros vehiculos del grupo en terminos de imagen lo que puede traducirse en definitiva en un problema de liquidez en los vehiculos bancarios.

Por tratarse de un socio estrategico esto puede significar que debamos apoyarlo en caso extremo.

La crisis de Mexico fue un buen test para este juego de interelaciones entre ambas entidades ya que BR demostro poder manejar una crisis aguda de liquidez sin recurrir a la ayuda de su socio estrategico, demostrando tambien la independencia de criterios con el cual se manejo en Citibank la crisis.

De acuerdo a los riesgos descriptos y al caracter y monto de las lineas propuestas apruebo y recomiendo al Comite de Creditos la aprobacion del presente CA.

B) Strategic shareholder in CEI: The Moneta group holds 36% of the shares of Citicorp Equity Investment, which involves two risks: on the one hand, the image risk for Citicorp if its shareholder has problems, and on the other, the risk that if Banco República needs liquidity, it would have to sell part of its ownership in this company suddenly, affecting at the global level Citicorp's own investment in the company and impelling senior management to decide to assist BR.

PS018525

- Liquidity: Because of the nature of the bank's deposits, comprised in great part of investments by companies and individuals through the redeposit in BR of Federal Bank's private banking deposits. These depositors can act like institutional investors, withdrawing deposits quickly in the face of problems. It should be made clear that private banking deposits proved to be more stable than Corporate deposits during the last crisis, representing the bank's most stable source of funding.

Explanation: BR counteracts this risk by maintaining strong liquidity positions (40% of the deposits and call lines (líneas de call)) and financing 40% of its loans with lines of foreign trade, which keeps its assets and liabilities in balance.

It also maintains a suitable policy for the matching of time periods of deposits and loans, making practically no incursions into securities or mortgage transactions and [exercising] conservative leverage with respect to its capital.

PS018526

C) It will help Grupo Moneta strengthen its image with customers like Grupo, whose principal focus is not just CEI or real estate, but with a comprehensive banking project, while going into the retail business across a region with great potential like Mendoza.

[Similar text appears on PS018309.]

Regarding Grupo:

- Concentration: Many of their assets are applied to financing the long-term investment in CEI, which results in major fluctuations of net worth in accordance with changes in the price of this stock. 1994 and 1995 were years of heavy losses in terms of net worth, which offset some of the 1993 profits.

Explanation: This refers to an investment in a "basket" of companies, mostly privatized, with strong potential for growth. Overall the investment has been profitable.

ESTRATEGIA DEL GRUPO: A PARTIR DE LOS RESULTADOS OBTENIDOS DURANTE EL 1993, PODEMOS DECIR QUE LOS OBJETIVOS FUERON AMPLIAMENTE CUMPLIDOS:

1) EL BANCO VOLVIO A TENER UNA FUERTE PRESENCIA EN MERCADO A PARTIR DE :A) LIDERAZGO EN SU AREA DE TRADING, SIENDO HOY UNO DE LOS 3 PRINCIPALES BROKERS POR VOLUMEN. EL AREA DE D.ALLIATTI HA OBTENIDO RESULTADOS IMPORTANTES PARA EL BANCO NO SOLO EN CUANTO A UTILIDADES (APROX US$ 15 MM) PERO ADEMÁS LOGRO UBICAR AL BANCO DONDE LOS ACCIONISTAS PRETENDIAN: PARA UN BANCO MAYORISTA SU PRINCIPAL AREA DE VENTA EXTERNA ES EL TRADING B). COMERCIO EXTERIOR: EN LA ACTUALIDAD TIENEN DISPONIBILIDAD DE LINEAS POR US$ 400 MM, CON UNA UTILIZACION DE US$ 140 MM. SUS CONTACTOS CON BANCOS CORRESPONSALES HA SIDO FUNDAMENTALES PARA LA ESTRATEGIA DE CRECIMIENTO: EL MIDDLAND OFRECIO SER EL EMISOR DE EURO CP A 3 YR A PARTIR DE SU CONOCIMIENTO DEL BANCO A TRAVES DE SUS OPERACIONES DE COMERCIO EXTERIOR Y C) LA ASOCIACION DEL BR CON CET: EVIDENTEMENTE ESTE A SIDO UNO DE LOS DEAL MAS IMPORTANTES PARA LA PLAZA, CON LO CUAL HAN OBTENIDO UNA GRAN PUBLICIDAD. A PARTIR DE ESTE "COME BACK", HAN PODIDO CRECER EN ENDEUDAMIENTO UN 50 % (LEVERAGE REAL 3.5 VECES VERSUS 2 DURANTE EL 92): HAN CONCRETADO OPERACIONES A CORTO PLAZO (180 DIAS) CON BANCOS EXTRAJEROS POR US$ 40 MM PERO SIN DUDA SU PRICIPAL LOGRO SERA LA EMISION A 3 YR. DE TODAS FORMAS SE UBICA EN NIVELES SENSIBLEMENTE INFERIORES AL PROMEDIO DE LA INDUSTRIA (APROX 7 VECES). DE TODAS FORMAS EL AREA COMERCIAL NO HA LOGRADO LOS OBJETIVOS ESPERADOS, SIENDO TODAVIA R.MONETA EL PRINCIPAL GENERADOR DE NEGOCIOS. LA INTENCION ES REFORZAR EL AREA COMERCIAL DEL BANCO CON RM SEMISENIORS Y SENIORS CON EL FIN DE DARLE MAS EMPUJE A LA CREACION DE ACTIVOS.

3)BANCO: COMO DIJIMOS ANTERIORMENTE, LA GANANCIA DE 17 MM ES MUY BUENA A PARTIR DEL 22% DE ROE QUE ESO REPRESENTA. PERO SI OBSERVAMOS LA COMPOSICION DE ESOS REVENUES, OBSERVAMOS QUE EL NEGOCIO COMERCIAL CUBRE LOS COSTOS Y TRADING/POSICIONNING DE LA MESA OBTUVO LA GANANCIA. SI ESPERAMOS QUE LA VOLATILIDAD DE LOS ACTIVOS ARGENTINOS LLEGUE A SU PISO EN LOS PROXIMOS DOS ANIOS, DEBERIAMOS ESPERAR UNA MEJORA DEL DESEMPEÑO DEL AREA COMERCIAL. COMO HEMOS EXPLICADO SE HARAN NUEVAS INCORPORACIONES, PERO CONSIDERAMOS QUE LOS ACCIONISTAS DEBERIAN PONER UN POCO MAS DE ENFASIS EN ESTA AREA ( CREEMOS QUE EXISTE UNA MEZCLA ENTRE LA FALTA DE CREATIVIDAD DEL AREA COMERCIAL Y UNA ACTITUD CONSERVADORA DE LOS DIRECTORES HACIA EL CRECIMIENTO). SI BIEN EL PLAN ORIGINAL ERA CRECER 5 LEVERAGE EN TRES ANIOS, EL MERCADO SE ESTA ADELANTANDO Y PODRIAN QUEDAR REZAGADOS ANTE SU COMPETENCIA EN EL FUTURO.

Finally, there are two intercompany loans:

[Redacted]

2) Banco Republica. This last loan came about with the revaluation of the CEI stock, which made it necessary to get rid of some of the bank holdings in order to avoid violating BCRA regulations. Therefore they sold 3.09% (9 MM in shares) to UFCO with a credit for five years, with the condition that UFCO leave the stock in guarantee to BR. This transaction is the bank's largest (25 MM over five years): we were told that BCRA studied it and did not object to its being entered on the books. In any event, we believe that the exposure is high, if we take into consideration all the newspaper articles published this year associating UFCO with the Grupo.

PS018620

3) Banco: as we said before, the 17 MM profit is very good on the basis of the 22 % of ROE [Return on equity] it represents. But if we look at the composition of those revenues we note that the commercial business covers the costs, and trading/positioning of the desk achieved the profit. If we expect the volatility of Argentinian assets to bottom out in the coming two years, we should expect an improvement in the commercial area's performance. As we have explained, there will be additional inclusions [TR.: incorporaciones can mean any number of things: inclusions, payments, establishments, mergers, capitalizations, hirings, ingressions], but we think the shareholders should place a little more emphasis on this area (we think there is a mix of lack of creativity in the commercial area and a conservative attitude on the part of the directors with respect to growth). Although the original plan was to increase 5 leverage [sic] in three years, the market is moving forward and they could fall behind their competition in the future.

Conclusion:

The strategy proposed last year achieved excellent, rapid results, both at the level of CEI and in connection with shareholdings and the bank.

On the basis of the valuation of their assets, they have paid off much of their debt, so their financial structure is very solid.

Taking into consideration the results for this fiscal year, we ask the credit committee for permission to go back to working with the group without restrictions.

COMMENTS: Target Market - Grupo Moneta

The existing TM has no formally developed rationale; however a draft TM/RAC Document is now in preparation for circulation to the Management for approval. Recent outside industry studies have been assessed, but there is no direct linkage to a developed rationale for TM selection to back up the list of presently existing TM names. BRR during its prior review had recommended a re-write and update of FI's TM and RAC.

Risk Acceptance Criteria - Grupo Moneta

As in the case of the TM, the formal development of the RACs is not documented.

Exceptions to RAC (net inc./net worth and productivity ratio) are not approved by anyone other than the RM himself. The policy for approving exceptions is not developed or recorded.

Due Diligence - Grupo Moneta

There is no information or discussion in the file for Federal Bank regarding its activities, use of our facilities, support provided by the parent, if any, or other relevant information. This is an area of general criticism that continues, although BRR had made recommendations in the prior BRR Review and in the January 1995 audit that was performed at Management's request. BRR recommends that the Business specifically address its total relationship with all entities in its risk assessments and credit proposals.

The level of documented calling and followup with the Banco Republica is frequent, appropriately focused and detailed, particularly since December 1994.

PS018371

Valuation - Grupo Moneta

The financial assessment does not integrate its financial and risk assesment for all the entities that comprise the group, rather it has focused its assessment on Banco Republica. One memorandum on Federal Bank's financial highlights assessed its financial situation in March 1995; however, its scope did not include the linkages to Banco Republica's own strategy or how we considered our own relationship or

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL - NOT FOR CIRCULATION
SUBCOMMITTEE MEMBERS AND STAFF
ONLYexposure strategy with Federal, going forward.Future financial and risk assessments of the group should incorporate Federal as an important and integral part of the whole.

Documentation - Grupo Moneta

We reportedly have a continuing guarantee from Banco Republica for our credit facilities extended to Federal Bank. This needs to be reviewed to determine the amount and type of facilities covered, and this support should be incorporated into the facilities description as appropriate.

Problem Recognition - Grupo Moneta

The 2/22/95 classification of this relationship to OAEM, which was somewhat delayed, given Management's documented knowledge of the Banco Republica's deteriorating liquidity and earnings situation during December and January. The classification would have been more timely in January.

Remedial Management - Grupo Moneta

Monthly reviews are not consistently lodged in the credit file, and the BRR-1 for initial classification and several CLMRs are missing from the credit file.Specific triggers and followup items for remedial management and downgrade reclassification triggers are not developed or recorded in the monthly classified exposure reviews. In the June CLMR, although the Unit SCO's comments indicate some declassification triggers for Banco Republica, neither the June CLMR nor the April IFI Monthly Review Memo have included specific action steps or triggers, followup dates, action steps, or responsible individuals for this exposure. These items should include collection and exposure reduction targets and include them on the CA face for Federal Bank facilities, which are the presently stated goals of Management.BRR recommends that the monthly CLMR process include specific items and triggers as specified above as appropriate to manage this OAEM exposure to Federal Bank and Banco Republica:

Data Integrity - Grupo Moneta

The Management has risk rated both Banco Republica and Federal Bank as RR-6, although there is no discussion as to why the parent is not risk rated better than the subsidiary. If we in fact do have the full support from Banco Republica for Federal Bank, which needs to be confirmed, then it is consistent to risk rate the parent and the subsidiary at the same level. Absent this, the Federal Bank exposure should be downgraded to 7.to don't miss must be good

Portfolio Management and Strategy - Grupo Moneta

A formal definition of relationships and products we want to offer them on a risk adjusted basis, within defined and approved levels of risk, needs to be formally developed for this Business Sector for each subsegment of the Financial Institutions client base.

This is particularly important now that the FI sector crisis is mostly over and the Business begins to refocus less on remedial management and more on future business activities.

Subject: UNDERWRITING BANCO REPUBLICA → File

Regarding the Underwriting for the issue of BR's Euro CP, ICFD has recommended to cancel the underwriting due to:

- 1- Conflict of interests between CEI/Citicorp and Banco Republica that could generate an important legal risk because of Citicorp's role as Agent in the CP transaction.
- 2- The market could interpret Citibank's participation in the transaction as based on goals different to those announced in the information Memorandum.
- 3- The interrelated credit between BR and Zurich issued in December '92 and canceled in March '93, for a significant percentage of the loans portfolio. (US$ 17MM).
- 4- The market could interpret this credit as BR using the bank for financing unrelated to their usual business.

FITS Argentina recommends to continue with the ECP Program of US$ 50MM with a firm underwriting of US$ 25MM due to:

- 1- The BR and CEI/Citicorp association was explained

REDACTED

During this due dilligence, R. Moneta said that he owned 5% of CEI in the BR and a percentage in offshore vehicles (off the record).

ICFD never suggested that there was an obstacle to make the transaction due to a conflict of interests.

- 2- In the interviews, it was totally clear that the funds obtained by the placements, are going to be used for the usual bank business.

In Citibank there is no political decision preventing us from being Agent in the placement of the papers of a partner.

- 3- Regarding the "inter-related loan" between BR and Zurich we want to clarify the following:

- The CP transaction and the 90-day loan are totally independent: the first one was made in July '92, while the second one was granted at the end of December.

- At the end of December, Citibank offers to R. Moneta an additional 3% of the CMI shares.

For that we offered Moneta to finance US$ 25MM. In this transaction BR had nothing to do.

Citibank requires to disburse such loan to BR. Raul Moneta did not accept this transaction because he did not want to mix the investment business with the bank. However, as we insisted, he agreed.

To approve the transaction, we decided to allocate the line of underwriting, because the delay of the Comision de Valores, made us think that this short term loan was going to expire before the issue of the papers. Nevertheless, and so as not to double the outstanding, we informed the client that we were not going to allow the overlapping of the CP with the loan.

4- In December '92 when the up-date was carried out, ICFD realized that the main borrower of the bank was Zurich. Under our requirements of full disclosure, the client requested us how to proceed.

a) As this transaction involved an important and confidential deal of the corporation,

b) as no due diligence had been so thorough with the debtors of financial institutions,

c) as the loan was a short term one (90 days) and we knew the unwillingness of the bank to maintain it in its books, as it was not the intention to finance the purchase of CEI by the bank, we recommended to disclose the strictly necessary information. Zurich is a Swiss holding administered by Citi Zurich.

The loan was canceled at maturity (March 30), therefore we suppose that if another up-date of the numbers is made, ICFD should have no problem to disclose the information to the investor.

encia de Tecnología-, no se encuentran aprobados por Acta de Directorio, no obstante encontrarse debidamente actualizados.

La Auditoría Externa es desempeñada por el Estudio Deloitte & Touche encontrándose los informes de la Comunicación "A" 2152 y complementarias y los balances firmados por el Contador Alberto Bande.

De los informes especiales verificados puede inferirse que algunos de ellos no se ajustan a los requerimientos normativos (v.g.: Principales Deudores, Capitales Mínimos), aspecto que es tratado con más detalle en el acápite de Auditoría Externa, p. 24 y 25.

De los papeles de trabajo correspondientes a los cierres de ejercicio al 31.12.95 y 31.12.96 y los trimestrales a marzo, junio y setiembre '96 analizados, surge que la tarea desarrollada por la Auditoría Externa resulta insuficiente, debido a que en algunos casos, la misma merecería ser efectuada con mayor profundidad (v.g.: análisis de deudores, relaciones técnicas y monetarias).

El Departamento de Auditoría Interna reporta directamente al Directorio del banco sus conclusiones a través de informes bimestrales. Si bien a la fecha de estudio no había funcionario a cargo del mismo, debido al mencionado proceso de reestructuración de la entidad por la compra de los bancos provinciales, con posterioridad esta situación fue subsanada mediante la designación del Sr. Ricardo López Antonelli.

Del examen de los papeles de trabajo de dicha Auditoría Interna correspondientes al ejercicio 1996 surge que los controles efectuados no son totalmente adecuados, ya que si bien se cumplió -en general- el plan de auditoría aprobado por el directorio, los procedimientos implementados carecieron de la profundización necesaria. Al respecto, cabe señalar que los responsables a cargo del sector informaron a la inspección que la no revisión de algunos temas se debió a que hubo un cambio del plan durante el ejercicio que obligó a dar prioridad a los aspectos relacionados con la compra de los bancos provinciales en detrimento -en ciertos casos- del Banco República S.A.

Adicionalmente, debe destacarse que por las observaciones determinadas tanto por la Auditoría Externa como por la Interna no se deja constancia de su consideración y de las medidas tendientes a regularizar las deficiencias señaladas.

Por otra parte, es dable señalar que del análisis de las transacciones de cambio efectuadas con la empresa Alpargatas SACIC, surge la realización de operaciones de compra de transferencias "valor hoy" calzadas con ventas de transferencias "valor hoy puesto" por las cuales no se realiza movimiento alguno en el corresponsal, lo cual implicaría la concreción de transacciones que no responden a operaciones genuinas, las que constituirían -en principio- una transgresión a la Ley Penal Cambiaria. Al respecto cabe mencionar que este aspecto se trata en detalle por cuerda separada mediante el Informe N° 566/27/97.

En cuanto respecta a las restantes operaciones de Comercio Exterior, se observo que los fundamentos de los requerimientos de fondos a los corresponsales no coincidían con el destino que finalmente les daban a tales financiaciones, no cumpliendo en consecuencia con los términos de los telex -tanto en cuanto al destinatario final como al tipo de operación- por los cuales se habían solicitado. De la muestra analizada surgió que los fondos del exterior son

Technology Management: they are not approved by Act of Board of Directors. However, they are up-to-date

The external audit is carried out by Delloite &Touche firm and the reports of Communication "A" 2152 and supplementary and the statement of financial position signed by Accountant Alberto Bande.

From the special verified reports it can be inferred that some of them do not comply with the required standards. (i.e. Main Debtors, Minimum Capital), which is treated in detail in the External Audit separate paragraph. (page 136/138)

From the work papers corresponding to end of the fiscal year up to 12-31-95 and 12-31-96 and the trimesters up to March, June and September '96 that have been studied, it becomes clear that the work done by the External Audit is not enough, because it should be done more thoroughly (i.e. debtors analysis, technical and monetary relationships).

The Internal Audit Department reports its conclusions directly to the bank Board of Directors bimonthly. Even though at the time there was no one in charge due to the restructuring process of the entity after having bought the provincial banks, later on Mr. Ricardo López Antonelli was designed.

From examining the 1996 financial year Internal Audit work papers it is clear that the controls carried out are not totally appropriate since, although the audit plan approved by the Board of directors was fulfilled in general, the implemented procedures lacked a thorough analysis. As regards this fact, it is worth mentioning that the people responsible for this sector informed the inspection that the omission of some topics was caused by a change in the plan during the fiscal year that gave priority to the subjects related to the purchase of the provincial banks rather than – in some cases- those of Banco República S.A.

Furthermore, it is noteworthy, that the observations determined both by the External and Internal Audits leave no records of having considered this subject or of having taken any measures as to solve the fallacies mentioned before.

On the other hand, it should be stated that from the analysis of the change transactions performed with Alpargatas SACIC, it can be seen that purchase operations of "Net Present Value" transfers hedged against sales of "Net Asset Value" by means of which there is no activity in the correspondent, would imply the concretion of transactions that do not correspond to genuine operations, which would represent basically a transgression to the Exchange Penal Law. This topic is treated separately via report 566/27/97.

As for the rest of the Foreign Trade operations, it was observed that the origin of the requirements of funds to the correspondents did not coincide with the destination of such financings, not fulfilling thus, the terms of the telex –regarding both the final beneficiary and the type of operation, for whom it had been requested.

From the analyzed sample it came out that the foreign funds are applied not only to foreign trade lines, but also to financial loans and to the acquisition of securities according to the information given to this Banco Central.

aplicados no solo a líneas de comercio exterior sino también a préstamos financieros y a la adquisición de títulos valores, de acuerdo con la información suministrada a este Banco Central. Este proceder no se corresponde con las prácticas habituales en la operatoria con entidades del exterior e implica un riesgo no sólo para el banco sino para los restantes integrantes del sistema financiero y para el país en general.

La operatoria llevada a cabo por la entidad con el Federal Bank Limited presenta características particulares por su estrecha relación con las empresas vinculadas con el banco y por la modalidad de retribución de servicios convenida, aspectos estos que se desarrollan con mayor detalle en el acápite "Otros Aspectos".

En contraposición a lo señalado mediante el Informe sobre asistencia a personas físicas y jurídicas vinculadas -Circular OPRAC "A" 49 y complementarias se verificó que las financiaciones a los clientes vinculados se realizan en condiciones preferenciales tanto en tasas de interés como plazos frente al resto de la clientela en general, situación esta que se verifica además con deudores vinculados con otras entidades financieras. (v.g.: Los W S.A., El Atasmique S.A., Agropecuaria Río Juramento S.A., David Gorodish), situación esta que encuadraría como operatoria prohibida de acuerdo con lo establecido por el art. 28 inc. d) de la Ley 21.526. Asimismo debe señalarse que de la lectura de las actas de Directorio surge que los informes de vinculados están siendo tratados con dos o tres meses de atraso.

Del análisis de las operaciones de trading, de pases y asesoramiento verificadas por los meses de noviembre y diciembre '96 surge que, en algunos casos las mismas no tenían significado económico para la entidad (fs. 112 último párrafo y 113 párrafos 1º y 2º).

De la revisión de las facturas de honorarios, correspondientes al mes de noviembre '96 surgió que la entidad abonó los servicios del escribano Alejandro Tachella Costa a favor de International Investment Union Ltd. -accionista del CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.- y Novo Bank Trust Limited por $ 249,80 y $ 62,45, respectivamente. Ambos importes facturados directamente a cargo de los titulares -según se nos informó- no fueron recuperados por el banco por error que iba a ser subsanado. Cabe destacar que ambas sociedades carecen de cuenta en la institución.

Por otra parte del análisis de la operatoria de compra-venta de títulos valores, de moneda extranjera como así también de las restantes financiaciones se observaron ciertas falencias administrativas y de control interno, entre las que cabe señalar, las que se detallan en Anexo.

La entidad ha celebrado con el Citibank N.A. un contrato de alquiler por el inmueble sito en la calle Florida 183 por un plazo de 10 años. Atento la continuidad de dicha operatoria, la misma revestiría la calidad de operación prohibida de acuerdo con lo establecido en el art. 28, inciso a) de la Ley 21.526.

Un aspecto que merece destacarse y que puede influir en los resultados de la entidad es el tema relacionado con el Impuesto a los Sellos originado por la venta del inmueble República por la suma de $ 98 millones. Sobre el particular debe señalarse que en la escritura de venta se deja expresa constancia que no se tributará el citado impuesto, sin embargo teniendo en cuenta la consulta obligatoria que debe producirse (según el art. 37 del Decreto 2156/89) y hasta las resultas y eventualidades de la misma el Banco República S.A. y República Cía de Inversiones S.A. se constituyen en "fiadores solidarios, lisos, llanos y principales pagadores de dicho impuesto" en caso de corresponder. No obstante lo consignado cabe aclarar que en el balance de

This behavior does not comply with the habitual procedures in operations with foreign entities and implies risk both to the bank and to the rest of the integrants of the financial system and the country in general.

The operation carried out by the entity with the Federal Bank Ltd. presents peculiar characteristics due to its close relationship to the companies linked to the bank and the modality of the agreed payment of services, aspects which are dealt with in detail under "Other Aspects".

In contrast with what has been stated, through the report on assistance to linked physical and legal entities –circular letter OPRAC "A" 49 and complementary- it was verified that the financings to linked clients are done under preferential conditions compared to the rest of the clients in general, as regards both interest rate and term. This situation is also verified with debtors connected with other financial entities (e.g. Los WSA, El Atasmique S.A., Agropecuaria Rio Juramento S.A., David Gorodish), which would be considered as a banned operation according to art 28 inc. d) of Law 21.526.

In the same way, it must also be stated that from reading the acts of the Board of Directors it comes out that the reports on linked clients are treated with a two-to-three month delay.

From the analysis of the operations of trading, swaps, and advice verified around November and December '96, it is clear that they had no economical meaning for the entity. (fs. 112 last paragraph and 113 1st and 2nd paragraphs).

From the revision of invoices for November '96, it can be seen that the entity paid for the service of Notary Alejandro Tachella Costa in favor of International Investment Union Ltd –shareholder of CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.- and Novo Bank Trust Limited for a total of $ 249.80 and $ 62.45 respectively. The bank by a mistake to be corrected -as informed to us- never recovered both invoice amounts billed directly in charge of the holders. It must be noted that none of the companies has an account at the institution.

On the other hand, from the analysis of the purchase-sale operation of securities, of foreign currency as well as of the rest of the financings, certain administrative and internal control fallacies were noticed. It is worth mentioning the ones that are detailed in Annex.

The entity has signed a 10-year rent contract with Citibank N.A. for the real property at Florida 183. Taking into account the continuity of the operation, it would be regarded as a prohibited operation in reference to art 28 inc a) of Law 21.526.

A noteworthy topic, which may influence on the results of the entity, is the issue related to the Stamp Tax originated by the sale of the Republica real property set at the amount of $ 98 million. It must be noted that in the sale deed it is stated that the mentioned tax will not be paid. However, considering the compulsory consult that must be done (according to art 37 Decree 2156/89) and up to its outcome and eventualities, Banco República S.A. and República Cia Inversiones S.A. constitute themselves as "surety and principal payers of that tax". However, in the entity Balance sheet, this eventuality is not mentioned. Neither is it mentioned in the notes to the financial statements.

la entidad no figura en cuenta de orden dicha eventualidad ni tampoco se hace mención alguna al respecto en las notas a los estados contables.

El Area de Sistemas de la entidad evidencia, en términos generales, un ambiente de control interno con debilidades importantes, como las que se exponen a continuación:

- la inadecuada administración del sistema de seguridad lógica;
- un débil control interno del área;
- la inadecuada definición de perfiles en el sistema de transferencia de fondos al exterior;
- la insuficiente cobertura de la continuidad del procesamiento de datos;
- la falta de controles adecuados sobre los procesos y operaciones del sector de producción;
- el sistema de información para el B.C.R.A. parcialmente el ingreso íntegro y válido de la información;
- una incompleta auditoría de sistemas;
- y otras debilidades a tener en cuenta por la entidad.

En función de lo expuesto le mereció una calificación 3 (tres). En anexo se incluyen mayores detalles de las observaciones señaladas.

Se determinaron ciertos desvíos normativos en cuanto al cumplimiento de las relaciones técnicas y regulaciones monetarias establecidas por el B.C.R.A. por la Comunicación "A" 2140, pto. 10 relativa a la tenencia que mantenía la entidad en las sociedades República Propiedades S.A. y M.R.M Investment. S.A., las que no tenían como objeto social la prestación de servicios complementarios a la actividad financiera y superaban el límite del 12,5% de su R.P.C. (fs.116). Asimismo también se encontraría excedida por el Anexo I de la misma Comunicación -fraccionamiento a personas físicas y/o jurídicas vinculadas- y por graduación del crédito (Comunicación "A" 467 y complementarias), por República Cía de Inversiones S.A., aspecto comentado en el apartado de "Otros Aspectos" (fs. 130/133).

Por otra parte, de la verificación del cumplimiento de las relaciones técnicas surgió que de considerar la asistencia otorgada al Grupo económico compuesto por Citibank N.A. Argentina/Citibank N.A se excedía los límites establecidos normativamente. Al respecto, se requirió por Informe N° 566/73/97 opinión de Normas de Entidades Financieras a fin que ratificara o rectificara el criterio sostenido por la inspección, en cuanto a que a partir del dictado de la Comunicación "A" 2227, pto. 2 el encuadramiento de las relaciones técnicas de las entidades financieras locales o del exterior, debe ser determinado en función de los grupos económicos que las mismas constituyan.

El grado de colaboración para con la inspección mereció distinto tratamiento según el tipo de información solicitada. En consecuencia, por ejemplo todo lo relacionado con el Federal Bank Limited, República Propiedades S.A., CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A., entre otros, debió ser reiterado en sucesivas oportunidades ya sea a través de memorandos o bien directamente a los funcionarios en las diversas reuniones mantenidas durante la inspección y a posteriori de la misma. Por otra parte, cabe destacar que la información suministrada en dichos casos, resultó contradictoria o bien dada en forma retaceada y a medida que era expresamente reclamada.

In general, the System Area of the entity shows an environment of internal control with important weaknesses, such as the ones mentioned below:

- inappropriate administration of the system of logic security
- weak internal control of the area
- inappropriate definition of profiles in the system of transfers of funds abroad.
- insufficient coverage of the continuity of data processing
- lack of appropriate controls over the processes and operations in the production sector
- the B.C.R.A. information system partially the whole and valid input of the information
- incomplete system audit
- other weaknesses for the entity to take into account.

As a result of what has been stated here, it deserved a score 3 (three). More details of the observations are included in annex.

By Communication "A" 2140 point 10 in reference to the holding the entity had in Republica Propiedades S.A. and M.R.M. Investments which did not include the rendering of complementary service to the financial activity as a social objective and surpassed the 12 % limit of its Computable Patrimonial Responsibility (fs. 116), some regulation deviations were detected, regarding the fulfillment of technical relationships and monetary regulations established by the B.C.R.A.

In the same way that holding would also be consider exceeded according to Annex 1 of the same Communication -fractioning to linked physical or legal entities- and to credit grading (Communication "A" 467 and complementary), by República Cia de Inversiones S.A., aspect commented under "Other Aspects" (Fs. 130/133)

On the other hand, from the fulfillment of verifications of technical relationships it came out that if the assistance given to the economic Group constituted by Citibank N.A. Argentina/Citibank N.A. were considered, it would exceed the limits established by regulation. In this respect, the opinion of Financial Entity Standards was requested, by Report 566/73/97, in order to rectify or ratify the criterion set by the inspection according to which, as from the issue of Communication "A" 2227, point 2, the framework of the technical relationships of local or foreign financial entities, must be determined with reference to the economic groups they constitute.

The collaboration degree towards the inspection deserved different treatment according to the type of information requested. As a consequence, for example, everything related to the Federal Bank Limited, República Propiedades S. A., CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A., among others, had to be claimed several times via memos or directly to the officers in several meetings held during the inspection and afterwards. It must be stated that the information given in those cases was contradictory or kept back and had to be requested over again.

OTROS ASPECTOS1. CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.

A fin de verificar el cumplimiento de la Resolución del Directorio del Banco Central N° 395/96, y dada la disparidad de información reunida respecto de la composición del paquete accionario del CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. -Banco República S.A. dice tener el 4,27%, mientras que por informaciones suministradas por otra inspección y por noticias periodísticas aparece con una participación del orden del 33% al 35%-, esta instancia procedió a recabar los antecedentes obrantes en la Inspección General de Justicia, Comisión Nacional de Valores S.A. y Caja de Valores S.A.

Atento a que la información recopilada no fue suficiente para aclarar la inconsistencia de los datos, se decidió solicitar por intermedio de la Entidad que CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. remitiese el detalle de los tenedores del paquete accionario.

Del análisis efectuado surge que Banco República S.A. mantiene la misma participación en el capital y en los votos que fuera verificado como tenencia por la inspección, no obstante haber cambiado la restante composición accionaria.

A pesar de lo comentado anteriormente, merecen destacarse las siguientes aclaraciones

- del prospecto para la emisión de obligaciones negociables por U$S 350 millones presentado por el CEI ante la Comisión Nacional de Valores en el mes de Febrero '97 se hace mención en varias oportunidades al "Grupo República", situación esta que indicaría que en la composición de la mencionada sociedad participarían más de una persona física o jurídica vinculada al banco.
- asimismo se informa en el referido prospecto que los principales accionistas que controlan el voto de aproximadamente el 93,50% de las acciones ordinarias (dentro de los cuales se incluye al "Grupo República"), elegirán los directores titulares, directores suplentes y síndicos en proporción a los derechos que poseen dichas acciones.
- si bien Banco República S.A. tiene solo una participación del 4,27% tiene presencia en el Directorio y la Sindicatura a través de los Sres. Raúl Moneta (Vicepresidente), Benito Jaime Lucini (Director Titular), Carlos A. Basílico (Director Suplente), Jorge E. Rivarola (Síndico Titular) y Jorge S. Maldera (Síndico Suplente), es decir cinco cargos sobre un total de dieciocho.

Por las razones expuestas, se le solicitó a la entidad -mediante Nota N° 566/30/97 del 27.06.97-, que brindara las aclaraciones que estimara corresponder respecto de los aspectos señalados precedentemente, situación que a la fecha del presente se mantiene pendiente de cumplimentación.

Asimismo debe señalarse que todo lo referente al CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.-composición del paquete accionario-, se tramita por cuerda separada mediante Expte. N° 17380/97.

OTHER ASPECTS1. CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.

To verify the fulfillment of Resolution 395/96 from the Board of Directors of Banco Central, and considering the disparity in the information collected regarding the composition of CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. share stock - Banco República S.A. says it holds 4.27%, whereas according to information given by another inspection and to news in the media, it is said to have from 33% to 35%-, this proceeding requested the antecedents held by "Inspección General de Justicia" (Justice General Inspection), Comisión Nacional de Valores (Stock National Market) and Caja de Ahorro S.A.

Due to the fact that the information compiled was not enough to clarify the inconsistency of the data, it was decided to ask CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. via the Entity to submit the details of the shareholdings.

From the analysis performed it comes out that Banco República S.A. shares the same participation in the invested capital and in the votes as had been verified as holdings by the inspection, even though the rest of the share composition had been changed.

In spite of what has been previously stated, it is noteworthy:

- In the prospect to issue corporate bonds for U$S 350 million presented by CEI to the Comisión Nacional de Valores in February '97 the Grupo Republica is mentioned several times, which leads to infer that more than one physical or legal entity linked to the bank participate in the composition of the mentioned company.
- In the above mentioned prospect, it is also informed that the main shareholders that control the vote of nearly 93.50 % of the common shares (among whom "Grupo República" is included), will elect the Official Appointed Manager or the Substitute Manager or Syndic
- Although Grupo República S.A. only has a participation of 4.27%, it is represented by Raul Moneta as Vice-president, Benito Jaime Lucini as Chairman, Carlos A. Basílico as Substitute Director, Jorge E. Rivarola as Syndic and Jorge S. Maldera as Substitute Syndic. That is to say 5 positions over a total of 18.

For the above stated reasons the entity was requested -via note N° 566/30/97 dated 06/27/97-, to give the necessary explanations about the aspects previously mentioned. This situation has not been fulfilled so far.

It must be stated that everything related with CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. - composition of the share stock-, is dealt with through a different dossier (File 17380/97).

3. Operaciones con el Federal Bank Limited.

Del estudio de las operaciones realizadas a través de la cuenta en el corresponsal Citibank N.Y. surgió que por los meses de noviembre y diciembre '96 el 8,88% y 13,53% (fs. 144), respectivamente corresponden a acreditaciones realizadas por el Federal Bank Limited.

Debe señalarse que si bien el importe no es significativo, llama la atención que dichas acreditaciones -en su gran mayoría- corresponden a operaciones con empresas vinculadas al Banco República S.A. (v.g.: República Valores S.A., República Cía de Inversiones S.A., Cabaña Los Gatos S.A.).

Del análisis de las distintas partidas de resultados de la entidad pudo verificarse una comisión cobrada al Federal Bank Limited por $ 400 miles, de los cuales $ 250 miles correspondían al año 1995 y $ 150 miles al año 1996. La misma respondería a todos los servicios prestados por Banco República S.A., según contratos firmados con anterioridad, los cuales no pudieron ser visualizados a pesar de haber sido solicitados en reiteradas oportunidades.

Al respecto, debe destacarse que la entidad reconoció -en el transcurso de la inspección- que le presta al Federal Bank el servicio de administración de la sub-cuenta de Euroclear (recibe instrucciones para realizar movimientos no concertando operación alguna -según información verbal del responsable a cargo de dicha tarea) que se correspondería con las notas que fueran exhibidas en el curso de la inspección. Del análisis efectuado entre el servicio prestado -según el banco- y el monto cobrado surge que el mismo no guarda relación con la modalidad operativa aplicada al resto de los clientes.

Con posterioridad el banco informó (nota del 27 de junio de 1997) que el contrato firmado entre Banco República S.A. y Federal Bank Limited tenía por objeto administrar los movimientos de compras y ventas de títulos que ésta última le encargaba al banco, es decir, la entidad recibía instrucciones de este cliente para realizar las operaciones de compra y venta de títulos y liquidarlas a través de Euroclear. Asimismo informó que por las operaciones realizadas en el año 95 le cobró una comisión de U$S 1.300 por operación y que en el año 96 le bonificaron un 40% de lo facturado el año anterior. Debe señalarse que de lo informado por el banco no se acompañó documentación respaldatoria.

Al respecto cabe destacar que, dada la contradicción expuesta entre lo informado por el banco durante la inspección y en la nota del 27 de junio, se les solicitó la presentación de los elementos probatorios, antecedentes que hasta la fecha no fueron recepcionados.

Atento a que la entidad manifestó verbalmente que el Federal Bank Limited había discontinuado su operatoria con el Banco República S.A. y debido a que la inspección constató documentación que evidenciaba la efectivización de algunas operaciones, se realizó una verificación al Banco Mildesa S.A. (entidad a través de la cual había concretado una transacción). A fs. 145 se acompaña Informe N° 566/32/97 del 26.02.97, donde se determinó una acreditación de VN 600.000 Bonex '89 efectuada por el Banco Mildesa S.A. en la cuenta de: Banco República/Federal Trust Bank (Nassau-Bahamas) en Euroclear por una compra efectuada por el Federal Bank Limited a Mildesa Servicios Bursátiles S.A.

3. Operations with the Federal Bank Limited

From the study of the operations performed through the account in the correspondent Citibank N.Y. , it came out that during November and December '96, 8.88% and 13.53% (fs. 118 and 119) respectively, were accredited by the Federal Bank Limited.

It must be stated that, even though the amounts are not significant, it is noteworthy that such credits –in the majority- are related to operations with companies linked with the Banco República S.A. (i.e. República Valores S.A., República de Inversiones S.A., Cabaña Los Gatos S.A.).

The analysis of several statement sheets of the entity proved that a commission was charged to the Federal Bank Limited for $ 400 thousand, of which $ 250 thousand correspond to 1995 and $ 150 thousand to 1996. Such commission would respond to all the services provided by Banco República S.A. according to previously signed contracts, which could not be seen even though they had been reiteratively requested.

It must be pointed out in this respect, that the entity recognized –while the inspection was being held- that it provides the Federal Bank with the service of administration of the Euroclear sub-account (it receives instructions to make movements not performing any operation –according to verbal information from the responsible person in charge of that task) that would correspond with the notes shown during the inspection. The analysis made comparing the service provided –according to the bank- and the amount perceived, shows no relationship with the operative modality applied to the rest of the clients.

A posteriori, the bank informed (note dated June 27, 1997) that the contract signed between Banco República S.A. and Federal Bank Limited aimed at administering the movements of purchases and sales of securities that the latter requested from the bank, i.e. the entity received instruction from this client to purchase and sell securities and sell them off through Euroclear. It also informed that a commission of US$ 1,300 per operation was charged for the operations carried out in '95 and that in 1996 it had a 40% rebate over the previous year invoice. It must be stated that there are no documents to back up the information provided by the bank.

As regards this last situation, it is to be noted that, due to the contradiction between what the bank informed during the inspection and the note dated June 27, they were asked to present elements to prove these facts, which have not been received so far.

Considering that the entity manifested verbally that the Federal Bank Limited had discontinued its operations with the Banco República S.A. and as the inspection proved documentation showing the realization of some of the operations, a checking was effected to the Banco Mildesa S.A. (entity through which a transaction had been accomplished) On pages 169/70 is included report N° 566/32/97 dated 02-26-97, where it was determined an accreditation of Face Value 600.000 Bonex '89 done by the Banco Mildesa S.A. in the bank accounts of República/Federal Trust Bank (Nassau-Bahamas) in Euroclear for a purchase by Federal Bank Limited to Mildesa Servicios Bursátiles S.A.

INFORME DE INSPECCIÓN: MANAGEMENT

A juicio de esta Superintendencia de Entidades Financieras y Cambiarias y como resultado del trabajo realizado, se considera que la gestión de la Gerencia es inadecuado para el normal desarrollo de sus actividades. Dicha consideración se debe fundamentalmente a los siguientes aspectos:

- (1) Con relación al cumplimiento de la Resolución del Directorio del Banco Central N° 395/96 del 28.08.96.
  - (a) CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.: Se encuentra bajo análisis su encuadramiento atento la disparidad de información reunida respecto de la participación que detenta el banco.
  - (b) República Cía de Inversiones S.A.: Del análisis crediticio efectuado surge que la calificación que le corresponde asignar al deudor es 2 "Con riesgo potencial". En consecuencia y debido a que la condición de calificar al deudor en situación normal es excluyente para la vigencia de la Resolución, dicha asistencia se encuentra excedida en la relación del riesgo crediticio. Adicionalmente cabe destacar que dicha acreencia presenta excesos a la relación de Graduación del crédito desde el origen de su otorgamiento.
- (2) Con relación a la operatoria de títulos públicos, cambio y de Comercio Exterior que realiza la entidad se observaron:
  - (a) Operaciones de compra de transferencias "valor hoy" calzadas con ventas de transferencias "valor hoy puesto" por las cuales no se realiza movimiento alguno en el corresponsal, lo que implicaría la concreción de transacciones no genuinas, las que constituirían -en principio- una transgresión a la Ley Penal Cambiaria.
  - (b) La operatoria llevada a cabo por la entidad con el Federal Bank Limited presenta características particulares por su estrecha relación con las empresas vinculadas con el banco y por la modalidad de retribución de servicios convenida.
  - (c) Los requerimientos de fondos a los corresponsales no coincidían con el destino que finalmente les daban a tales financiaciones, no cumpliendo con los términos de los telex -tanto en cuanto al destinatario final como al tipo de operación- por los cuales se habían solicitado. Este proceder no se corresponde con las prácticas habituales en la operatoria con entidades del exterior.
  - (d) Del análisis de las operaciones de trading, pases y asesoramiento verificadas en los meses de noviembre y diciembre '96 surge que en algunos casos las mismas

cl. 17

00000-97

no tenían significado económico para el banco. (v.g.: Banco Macro, Corporación Metropolitana de Finanzas Banco S.A., Ferradas forge).

- (3) Con relación al cumplimiento de las relaciones técnicas se determinaron:
- (a) Exceso a la relación normada por la Comunicación "A" 2140, pto 10 relativa a la tenencia accionaria que mantenía en las sociedades República Propiedades S.A. y M.R.M. Investment S.A., las que no tenían como objeto social la prestación de servicios complementarios a la actividad financiera.
  - (b) Excesos a los límites establecidos por la Comunicación "A" 2140 Anexo I -fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio respecto de personas físicas y/o jurídicas vinculadas y Comunicación "A" 467 y complementarias -Graduación del crédito por República Cia de Inversiones S.A.
  - (c) En cuanto respecta al encuadramiento a la relación de fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio -Comunicación "A" 2140 - del Grupo Citibank, oportunamente se volverá sobre el particular.
- (4) Con relación a los procedimientos se ha detectado:
- (a) Del análisis de los distintos rubros del balance se observaron ciertas falencias administrativas y de control interno, las que se detallan en Anexo II
  - (b) Respecto de la activación de las erogaciones incurridas por la adquisición de los Bancos de Mendoza S.A. y de Previsión Social S.A., se les señala que de acuerdo a las normas contables los mismos deben ser imputados directamente a resultados del ejercicio.
  - (c) De las revisiones efectuadas respecto de la metodología aplicada para cumplimentar la relación de Capitales Mínimos han surgido observaciones, las que se acompañan en Anexo III.
- 5) El organigrama actual que posee la entidad no se corresponde con la estructura verificada, se carece de Manual de Organización y los Manuales de Procedimientos -excepto el de Créditos- no se encuentran aprobados por el Directorio.
- (6) Las financiaciones a sus clientes vinculados y a los de otras entidades financieras se realizan en condiciones preferenciales tanto en tasas de interés como plazo frente al resto de la clientela en general transgrediendo lo establecido en el art. 28, inciso, d) de la Ley 21526 y en contraposición a lo señalado en el Informe del Gerente General sobre el particular.
- (7) La entidad ha celebrado con el Citibank N.A. un contrato de alquiler por el inmueble sito en la calle Florida 183 por un plazo de 10 años. Atento la continuidad de dicha operatoria, la misma reviste la calidad de operación prohibida de acuerdo con lo establecido en el art. 28, inciso a) de la Ley 21.526.

INSPECTION REPORT: MANAGEMENT

To the judgment of this Superintendencia de Entidades Financieras y Cambiarias (Superintendence of Financial and Exchange Entities), and as a result of the work done, it is considered that the work of the Managing Department is inappropriate for the regular development of its activities. Such consideration is based mainly on the following aspects:

(1) As regards the fulfillment of Resolution N° 395/96 dated 08/28/96 of the Board of Directors of the Banco Central;

- (a) CEI Citicorps Holdings S.A. : its frame of reference is under analysis due to the disparity of information assembled regarding the participation of the bank.
- (b) Republica Cia de Inversiones S.A. : From the credit analysis effected, it comes out that the score that must be given to the debtor is 2 "with potential risk". As a result and due to the fact that considering the debtor in normal situation is exclusive to apply the Resolution, such assistance is exceeded in relation with the credit risk.
Furthermore, it is worth mentioning that such accrediting has exceeded the relation of the credit grading since the time it was granted.

(2) In relation to securities, change and foreign trade operations performed by the entity, it was observed:

- (a) Purchase of transfer operations "Net Present Values" hedged against sales of transfer "Net Asset Value" for which there is no activity in the correspondent, which would imply the concretion of non-genuine transactions constituting a transgression to the Exchange Penalty Law.
- (b) The operation carried out by the entity with the Federal Bank Limited presents peculiar features for its close relationship to the companies linked to the bank and for the retribution modality agreed.
- (c) The requirements of funds to the correspondents did not match the destination given finally to those financings, not fulfilling the terms of the telex -concerning both the final addressee and the type of operation- for which they had been requested. These attitude does not comply with the regular operative procedures with foreign entities.
- (d) From the analysis of trading operations, swaps and advice verified in November and December '96, it comes out that, in some cases, they were of no economic significance for the bank (i.e. Banco Macro, Corporación Metropolitana de Finanzas Banco S.A., Ferradas Jorge).

(3) In relation to the fulfillment of technical relationships, it was determined:

- (a) Exceed to the relation regulated by Communication "A" 2140, point 10 regarding the share holding it kept in República Propiedades S.A. and M.R.M Investment S.A., which did not provide any services complementary to their financial activity as their social aim.
- (b) Exceed to the limits established by Communication "A" 2140 Annex I – fractioning of credit risk concerning physical or legal entities linked, and Communication "A" 467 and complementary- credit Gradation by República Cia de Inversiones S.A.
- (c) Regarding Grupo Citibank adequacy to the fractioning of credit risk – Communication "A" 2140- it will be dealt with at due time.

(4) In relation to the procedures, it has been detected:

- (a) From the analysis of the different items in the balance, certain administrative and internal control fallacies could be observed, which are detailed in Annex II
  - (b) In respect of the activation of the expenses brought about by the acquisition of the banks Mendoza S.A. and Previsión Social S.A., they are informed that according to the accounting policies they must be assigned directly to the statement of the fiscal year.
  - (c) Of the revisions effected on the methodology applied to fulfill the relation of Minimum Capital there have come out observations, which are included in Annex III.
- (5) The present organization chart the entity has does not correspond with the verified structure, there is no organization manual or procedure manual –except the credit manual- they have not been approved by the Board of Directors.
- (6) The financing to their linked clients and to those of other financial entities are carried out under preferential conditions both in interest rate and term, compared to those of the rest of the clients, transgressing what is established by art 28 inc d) of Law 21526 and contrasting the General Manager's report on this item.
- (7) The entity has signed a 10-year contract with Citibank N.A. for the rent of the property at Florida 183. Due to the continuity of such operation, it is considered prohibited according to what has been established in art 28, inc a) of Law 21.526.

- (8) El trabajo desarrollado por la Auditoría externa, a cargo del Estudio Delloite & Touche hasta el 31.12.96, se considera "insuficiente", tanto en lo que respecta a la profundidad de los procedimientos desarrollados y al nivel de las conclusiones, las que no se corresponden con las verificaciones y observaciones determinadas por la inspección. En Anexo IV se agrega copia de la nota cursada al estudio de la Auditoría Externa.
- (9) Los controles efectuados por la Auditoría Interna no son totalmente adecuados debido a que los procedimientos implementados carecieron de la profundidad necesaria y a la inexistencia de seguimiento de las observaciones que formula.
- (10) El Area de Sistemas evidencia en términos generales, un ambiente de control interno con debilidades importantes. En Anexo V se incluyen las observaciones verificadas.
- (11) El grado de colaboración para con la inspección mereció distinto tratamiento según el tipo de información solicitada, la cual debió ser reiterada en sucesivas oportunidades ya sea a través de memorandos o bien directamente a los funcionarios en las diversas reuniones mantenidas durante la inspección y a posteriori de la misma. Por otra parte, cabe destacar que la información suministrada resultó en ciertos casos contradictoria o bien dada en forma retaceada y a medida que era expresamente reclamada.

Folio 161

- (8) The job developed by the external audit in charge of Delloite & Touche firm up to 12-31-96 is considered insufficient regarding both the depth of the developed procedures and the level of the conclusions, which do not comply with the observations and verifications determined by the inspection. In Annex IV we include a copy of the note sent to the external audit firm.
- (9) The controls effected by the internal audit are not totally appropriate due to the fact that the procedures implemented lack the necessary depth and to the inexistence of follow up to the observations it formulates.
- (10) The system area shows in general terms, an internal control environment with important weaknesses. In Annex V we include the verified observations.
- (11) The degree of collaboration towards the inspection deserved a different treatment according to the type of information requested, which had to be claimed several times via memos or directly to the officials during the inspection and a posteriori. It must be stated that the given information was, in some cases, contradictory or given, unwillingly, only when specifically asked for.

INFORME DE INSPECCION: MANAGEMENT

A juicio de esta Superintendencia de Entidades Financieras y Cambiarias y como resultado del trabajo realizado, se considera que la gestión de la Gerencia es inadecuado para el normal desarrollo de sus actividades. Dicha consideración se debe fundamentalmente a los siguientes aspectos:

- (1) Con relación al cumplimiento de la Resolución del Directorio del Banco Central N° 395/96 del 28.08.96.

Atento que se encuentra bajo análisis de este Banco Central, en su oportunidad se volverá sobre el particular.

- (2) Con relación a la operatoria de títulos públicos, cambio y de Comercio Exterior que realiza la entidad se observaron:

- (a) Operaciones de compra de transferencias "valor hoy" calzadas con ventas de transferencias "valor hoy puesto" por las cuales no se realiza movimiento alguno en el corresponsal, lo que implicaría la concreción de transacciones no genuinas, las que constituirían -en principio- una transgresión a la Ley Penal Cambiaria
- (b) No se encuentra claramente definida la relación del banco con el Federal Bank Limited dadas las especiales características de la operaciones que realiza con las empresas vinculadas con el banco y por la modalidad de retribución de servicios convenida.
- (c) Los requerimientos de fondos a los corresponsales no coinciden con el destino que finalmente les dan a tales financiaciones, no cumpliendo con los términos de los telex -tanto en cuanto al destinatario final como al tipo de operación- por los cuales se habían solicitado. Este proceder no se corresponde con las prácticas habituales en la operatoria con entidades del exterior.
- (d) Del análisis de las operaciones de trading, pases y asesoramiento verificadas en los meses de noviembre y diciembre '96 y julio a diciembre'97 surge que, en algunos casos las mismas no tienen significado económico para el banco. (v.g. Banco Macro, Corporación Metropolitana de Finanzas Banco S.A., Ferradas Jorge).

No obstante ello se verifica que en algunas operaciones, consideradas individualmente, generan ganancia para determinadas personas relacionadas con la entidad (v.g.: Kipp Alejandro, Kipp Enrique Federico, Jaime Lucini -Presidente y Vicepresidente-, Whittingslow José Manuel y Prescia Horacio Rafael -Mesa de Dinero-).

(3) Con relación al cumplimiento de las relaciones técnicas se determinaron:

- (a) Exceso a la relación normada por la Comunicación "A" 2140 Anexo I, pto. 2.4, asistencia a vinculados (20%), a partir del 29.12.97, fecha en que la entidad declara como vinculada a la sociedad CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A.
- (b) Exceso a la relación normada por la Comunicación "A" 2140, pto 10 relativa a la tenencia accionaria que mantenía en la sociedad República Propiedades S.A., la que no tenía como objeto social la prestación de servicios complementarios a la actividad financiera. Los cargos al 31.12.97 ascienden a $ 1.409 miles.
- (c) Excesos a la relación consolidada de Fraccionamiento del riesgo Crediticio establecido por la Comunicación "A" 2140 Anexo II pto. 3.1 y 3.7, por la asistencia otorgada al Grupo Candia Inversora S.A./Inversora Ancona. Los cargos actualizados al 31.12.97 ascienden a $ 751 miles.
- (d) Excesos a la relación consolidada de Fraccionamiento del Riesgo Crediticio establecido por la Comunicación "A" 2140, pto 3.6.1., por la asistencia otorgada a los corresponsales del exterior. Los cargos actualizados al 31.12.97 ascienden a $ 869 miles.
- (e) Cargos por defectos de integración de Requisitos Mínimos de Liquidez determinados a los Bancos de Mendoza S.A. y de Previsión Social S.A. debido a la incorrecta aplicación de la facilidad otorgada por la Resolución N° 177/96 del Directorio del B.C.R.A.
- (f) En cuanto respecta al encuadramiento a la relación de fraccionamiento del riesgo crediticio -Comunicación "A" 2140 - del Grupo Citibank, de corresponder oportunamente se volverá sobre el particular.

(4) Con relación a los procedimientos se ha detectado:

- (a) Del análisis de los distintos rubros del balance se observaron ciertas falencias administrativas y de control interno, las que se detallan en Anexo III.
- (b) Respecto de la activación de las erogaciones incurridas por la adquisición de los Bancos de Mendoza S.A. y de Previsión Social S.A., se les señala que de acuerdo a las normas contables los mismos deben ser imputados directamente a resultados del ejercicio.
- (c) De las revisiones efectuadas respecto de la metodología aplicada para cumplimentar la relación de Capitales Mínimos han surgido observaciones, las que se acompañan en Anexo IV.

(5) Con respecto a la relación del Management de la entidad con Banco Central:

El grado de colaboración para con los funcionarios de esta Institución mereció distinto tratamiento según el tipo de información solicitada, la cual debió ser reiterada en sucesivas oportunidades ya sea a través de memorandos o bien directamente a los directivos y/o gerentes en las diversas reuniones mantenidas durante la inspección y a posteriori de la misma. Por otra parte, cabe destacar que la información suministrada resultó en ciertos casos contradictoria o bien dada en forma retaceada y a medida que era expresamente reclamada.

(6) Otros Aspectos

(a) El organigrama actual que posee la entidad no se corresponde con la estructura verificada, se carece de Manual de Organización y los Manuales de Procedimientos -excepto el de Créditos- no se encuentran aprobados por el Directorio.

(b) Otorga financiaciones a clientes vinculados en condiciones preferenciales tanto en tasas de interés como plazo frente al resto de la clientela general transgrediendo lo establecido en el art. 28, inciso d) de la Ley 21526, situación no advertida en los Informes del Gerente General sobre el particular.

Similar situación se observó respecto de la asistencia a clientes vinculados a otras entidades financieras.

(c) La entidad ha celebrado con el Citibank N.A. un contrato de alquiler por el inmueble sito en la calle Florida 183 por un plazo de 10 años. Atento la continuidad de dicha operatoria, la misma reviste la calidad de operación prohibida de acuerdo con lo establecido en el art. 28, inciso a) de la Ley 21.526.

(d) El trabajo desarrollado por la Auditoria externa, a cargo del Estudio Delloite & Touche hasta el 31.12.96, se considera "insuficiente", tanto en lo que respecta a la profundidad de los procedimientos desarrollados como al nivel de las conclusiones, las que no se corresponden con las verificaciones y observaciones determinadas por la inspección. En Anexo V se agrega copia de la nota cursada al estudio de la Auditoria Externa.

(e) Los controles efectuados por la Auditoria Interna no son totalmente adecuados debido a que los procedimientos implementados carecieron de la profundidad necesaria y a la inexistencia de seguimiento de las observaciones que formula.

(f) El Area de Sistemas evidencia en términos generales, un ambiente de control interno con debilidades importantes. En Anexo VI se incluyen las observaciones verificadas.

... several times via memos or directly to the officials in numerous meetings held during the inspection and afterwards. It must be stated that the information given in those cases was contradictory or kept back and had to be claimed again.

(6) Other Aspects

- (a) The organization chart the entity has at present is not accordant with the verified structure. There is no Organization Manual, and the Procedure Manuals –except the Credit Manual- have not been approved by the Board of Directors.
- (b) It gives financing to its linked clients under preferential conditions both in interest rate and term, -compared to those of the rest of the clients-, which is a transgression to what is established by art 26 inc d) of Law 21526. This situation was overlooked in the General Manager's reports on this matter.

A similar situation was detected regarding the assistance given to clients linked to other financial entities.

- (c) The entity as signed a 10-year contract with Citibank N.A. for the rent of the property at Florida 183. Due to the continuity of such operation, it is considered prohibited according to what has been established in art 28, inc a) of Law 21526
- (d) The work done by the external audit in charge of Delloite & Touche firm up to 13-31-96 is considered "insufficient" regarding both the depth of the developed procedures and the level of the conclusions, which do not accord with the observations and verifications determined by the inspection. In Annex V we include a copy of the note submitted to the external audit firm
- (e) The controls effected by the internal audit are not totally appropriate due to the fact that the procedures implemented lack the necessary depth and to the inexistence of follow-up to the observations it formulates.
- (f) The System Area shows, in general, an internal control environment with important weaknesses. In Annex VI we include the verified observations.

Nos dirigimos a Uds. con referencia al trabajo que, como auditores externos, realizaron en Banco República S.A..

Al respecto, se analizaron los papeles de trabajo correspondientes a los cierres de ejercicio al 31.12.95 y 31.12.96 y los trimestrales a marzo, junio y setiembre '96 y los Informes Especiales al 31.12.96.

De su análisis surge que, si bien se realizaron las pruebas sustantivas dispuestas por la Comunicación "A" 2152 y complementarias, la tarea desarrollada se considera insuficiente, tanto en lo que respecta al alcance de los procedimientos desarrollados como al nivel de conclusiones, las que no se corresponden con las determinadas por la inspección. En anexo se detallan las falencias verificadas.

Las principales observaciones que surgieron de la verificación de los papeles de trabajo y de los procedimientos realizados por la comisión actuante constan, con mayor detalle en el Informe de Inspección con fecha de estudio 30.11.96 que se notifica a la entidad.

La respuesta que corresponda a la presente, deberá ser remitida a este Banco Central dentro de los 10 (diez) días de su notificación.

Saludamos a Uds. muy atentamente.

We are addressing you in reference to the work carried out in Banco República S.A as external audits.

In this respect we analyzed the work paper related to closing of fiscal years 12-31-95 and 12-31-96 and trimesters March, June and September '96 and the special reports up to 12-31-96.

From their analysis it is evident that, even though the substantial proves ordered by Communication "A" 2152 and Complementary were carried out, the work done is considered insufficient -regarding both the range of the procedures developed and the level of conclusions- which do not comply with the ones determined by the inspection. The fallacies verified are detailed in Annex

The main observations that came out from checking the work papers and the proceedings done by the acting committee can be found in more detail in the inspection report dated 11-30-96, which is notified to the entity.

The answer to this letter should be submitted to this bank within 10 days of its notification.

Sincerely yours,

BANCO CENTRAL DE LA REPÚBLICA ARGENTINA

INFORME DE INSPECCION CON FECHA DE ESTUDIO 30/06/98

BANCO REPÚBLICA S.A.

100:15 99

Inspección al 30.06.98

1. CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. (ex Citicorp Equity Investments S.A.).

A la fecha de estudio la tenencia accionaria equivalía al 4,27 % del capital de la emisora. Fue contabilizada en la subcuenta 161 023-01 "Acciones CEI", a valor patrimonial proporcional (21.369.502 acciones clase B que a VPP representaban $ 50,983 millones, mientras que a la cotización de la fecha de estudio tenían un valor de $ 86,546 millones). La Resolución 395/96 del BCRA (ver fs. 32) admitió un incremento de capital para Banco República S.A. efectuado con aporte de acciones del CEI, sujeto a ciertas condiciones, entre ellas que tales acciones se valúen a VPP.

Al 2.11.98 tal participación, valuada a cotización, ascendía a $ 68.382 miles. Se aclara que la plaza local de acciones del CEI no es muy líquida, no integrando tal acción el panel Merval (el volumen negociado es de aproximadamente el 0,6 % del total transado en la Bolsa de Comercio de Buenos Aires), por lo cual es incierta la posibilidad de venta de tal tenencia al valor de cotización.

En el extracto de cuenta extendido por la Caja de Valores S.A. se observaban, además de la tenencia accionaria, cupones de suscripción por la misma cantidad de acciones (21.369.502), debido a la oferta pública de acciones que efectuara el CEI (derecho de acrecer). Con posterioridad a la fecha de estudio fue retirado el trámite de ampliación del capital de la Comisión Nacional de Valores, según informó la entidad.

En el anexo al Informe 541/318 del 22.12.98, que fue incorporado a los actuados encabezados por el Informe N° 566/247 del 7.11.97, se analizó la posible vinculación entre Banco República S.A. y el CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A., así como la posible caída de las franquicias otorgadas por la Resolución 395/96 del BCRA, aspectos resueltos del modo que consta en las copias glosadas a fs. 94/5 (fs. 132/33 del Inf. 566/247/97).

También en el Informe 541/12, del 8.1.99, fueron abordados aspectos inherentes al activo en cuestión, en particular lo que hace a la posible escisión de las acciones del CEI desde Banco República S.A. hacia República Compañía de Inversiones S.A., a las cuestiones derivadas de la posible transgresión a la Resolución 395/96, y a la decisión entonces pendiente "... sobre el pedido de atenuación de cargos por excesos en la asistencia a vinculados formulado en el Expte. N° 48.078/98".

Otra de las tareas llevadas a cabo sobre el particular fue la elaboración del cuadro en el cual constan las empresas relacionadas con el CEI (ver fs. 102). La información volcada en dicho cuadro fue obtenida, básicamente, de los estados contables del CEI cerrados el 30.6.98 y fue sometida a consideración de la entidad, quien informó sobre las pequeñas modificaciones acaecidas en el tema en cuestión al 30.9.98 (ver copia de tal respuesta a fs. 103/5).

Finalmente, por memorando anexo a la nota 540/2, del 4.1.99, se exigió la rectificación de información (declarando al CEI como vinculado al Banco República S.A.); se requirió también la determinación de "... los cargos en que hubiera incurrido por excesos a los límites establecidos en los puntos 2.1. y 2.4. del Anexo I a la Comunicación "A" 2140, desde la fecha en la que la tenencia directa o indirecta un CEI superó el límite

As of the date of the study, the shareholdings were equivalent to 4.27% of the issuer's capital. It was posted in sub-account 161 023-01 "CEI Shares" at equity value (21,369,502 Class B shares that represented $50.983 million at VPP [TR.: probably "equity value"], while the share value as of the date of the study was $86.546 million). BCRA Resolution 395/96 (see page [handwritten: 32]) admitted a capital increase for Banco República S.A. carried out with [a] contribution of shares of CEI, subject to certain conditions, among them that such shares be valued at VPP [TR.: probably "equity value"].

As of November 2, 1998, such shareholding, valued at share price, was $68,382,000. We should clarify that the local market for shares of CEI is not very liquid; the MerVal stock index does not include such activity (the volume traded is approximately 0.6% of the total bought and sold on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange); therefore the possibility of selling such holdings at market value is uncertain.

The account summary issued by Caja de Valores S.A. shows, in addition to the share holdings, subscription coupons for the same amount of shares (21,369,502), due to the public offering of shares by CEI (right to increase). After the date of the study, the Comisión Nacional de Valores [TR.: probably the equivalent of the US Securities and Exchange Commission] procedure for increasing the capital was withdrawn, as the entity reported.

The appendix to Report 541/318 dated December 22, 1998, which was included in the Documents beginning with Report No. 566/247 dated November 7, 1997, studied the possible connection between Banco República, S.A. and CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A., as well as the possible decrease of the exemptions granted by BCRA Resolution 395/96, matters resolved as indicated in the copies summarized [sic] at pages [handwritten: 94/5] (pages 132/33 of Report 566/247/97).

Report 541/12 dated January 8, 1999, also addressed matters inherent to the asset in question, in particular what it does to the possible spinoff of the shares of CEI from Banco República S.A. to República Compañía de Inversiones S.A., to the questions resulting from the possible violation of Resolution 395/96, and to the then-pending decision "... about the request, formulated in File No. 48,078/98, for reduction of charges for excessive assistance to associated entities."

Another task carried out regarding this matter was the drawing up of the chart showing the companies associated with CEI (see p. [handwritten: 102]). The information in said chart was obtained, basically, from the CEI balance sheets closed on June 30, 1998, and was submitted for the entity's consideration; the entity reported about the minor changes vis-a-vis the matter in question on September 30, 1998 (see copy of said response at pages [handwritten: 103/5]).

Finally, by memorandum attached to note 540/2 dated January 4, 1999, the correction of information was requested (stating CEI was associated with Banco República S.A.); also requested was the determination of "... the charges it incurred for exceeding the limits established in items 2.1 and 2.4 of Appendix I to Document "A" 2140, from the date on which the direct or indirect holdings of CEI exceeded the limit established in item 1.2.1 of said appendix.” The entity’s response (File 3,520 dated January 29, 1999) was addressed in Report 541/46 dated February 10, 1999, and through Note 541/20 dated February 16, 1999, that information was emphasized.

9. Prevention of Money Laundering

The entity under examination does not have a manual with the programs against laundering money from illicit activities, despite the stipulations of Item 5 of the recommendations set forth in Document "A" 2451 (now, Item 1.1.1.5 of Document "A" 2814), and despite the fact that the internal Auditor, in his report on the work performed between July 1997 and June 1998, pointed out that "It is necessary to set up a manual of rules and procedures regarding precautionary measures with respect to laundering ...."

In addition, the outside Auditor's report on compliance with the BCRA rules regarding the prevention of money laundering, for the quarter ending June 30, 1998, notes that the entity should:

- a) Set up a manual of rules and procedures regarding prevention of laundering money from illicit activities, in order to comply with BCRA Document "A" 2451.
- b) Set up a procedure that enables it to ensure the integrity of the information in the database required by the controlling organization.
- c) Provide evidence, in all cases, of the controls.
- d) Also, the transaction involving clients Nervi and Zviklich in the amounts of $13,000 and $75,000, respectively, were reported in duplicate.

The file that begins with Report No. 566/273/97 made, among other things, a recommendation (in Note No. 540/81/98) referring to the anonymous exchange transactions ("counter transactions"). In the response, dated February 8, 1999, Banco República reported that it outsourced the "treasurer's department" services, which are currently provided by Banco Mendoza. The latter implemented rules for the prevention of money laundering in its Internal Document No. 144/98.

INFORME DE INSPECCIÓN : RENTABILIDAD

A juicio de esta Superintendencia de Entidades Financieras y Cambiarias y como resultado del trabajo realizado, se considera que la rentabilidad de la entidad es inadecuada para el normal desarrollo de sus actividades. Dicha consideración se debe fundamentalmente, a los siguientes aspectos:

- (1) La insuficiente generación de ingresos se aprecia en la sucesión de ejercicios contables concluidos con quebranto: de $ 6,735 millones al 30.06.97 y de $ 12,312 millones al 30.06.98. En el trimestre económico finalizado el 30.09.98 la pérdida ascendió a $ 1,738 millones. A diciembre último la pérdida final era de $ 2,285 millones y hubiera sido significativamente mayor si no se hubiera computado en ese mes un ajuste de los intereses devengados por el préstamo a una vinculada, República Compañía de Inversiones S.A. En el ejercicio terminado el 31.12.96 la ganancia final se obtuvo merced al resultado de la transferencia del inmueble denominado "Edificio República".
- (2) A nuestra fecha de estudio es reducida la diferencia entre los ingresos y los egresos financieros, que alcanzaron respectivamente a $ 43,356 millones y $ 32,267 millones. A este exiguo resultado contribuyen dos factores: la estructura de tasas (Banco República capta fondos a tasas promedio elevadas y presta a tasas relativamente bajas) y la composición de los activos y pasivos. Al 30.06.98 los depósitos y obligaciones financieras sumaban $ 424,906 millones y los títulos públicos, préstamos y otros créditos $ 419,416 millones. Los recursos propios se destinan en su mayor parte a financiar la inversión en Banco Mendoza S.A. y en CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. Banco Mendoza S.A. y sus antecesoras han experimentado pérdidas recurrentes de significación. El rendimiento de la participación en CEI, por su naturaleza, no tiene el comportamiento de las colocaciones financieras.
- (3) Al costo de intermediación debe agregarse la incobrabilidad promedio. Banco República computa para el ejercicio cerrado el 30.06.98 un cargo de $ 7,267 millones, importe que a juicio de la inspección es insuficiente por las razones que se explican en el componente de Activos.
- (4) Con una nula generación de resultados por intermediación financiera, los ingresos por servicios -de $ 6,793 millones- y las utilidades diversas -de $ 3,484 millones, con $ 0,664 millones por el resultado de las participaciones permanentes- no alcanzan para cubrir los elevados gastos de administración ($ 17,738 millones). Cabe agregar que los resultados de Banco República deben asimilar año a año la amortización de la llave de negocio activada por la inversión en Banco Mendoza.
- (5) En resumen, la estructura actual de los negocios es inviable. Se tiene en cuenta, sin embargo, el proyecto de reorganización empresarial en curso.
- (6) La contabilidad de gestión es muy elemental. No se formula un análisis de rentabilidad por producto y sólo se lleva una estadística de rentabilidad mensual por área.

| REPORT OF THE INSPECTION: PROFITABILITY |
|-----------------------------------------|

In the judgement of this Intendancy of Exchange and Financial Entities, and as a result of the accomplished work, it is considered that the profitability of the entity is inadequate for the normal development of its activities. This consideration is mainly established by the following aspects:

- (1) The insufficient income generation which is evident in the succession of accounting exercises finished in a breaking: of $ 6,735 millions to the 30.06.97 and of $ 12,312 millions to the 30.06.98. In the economical quarter ended on 30.06.98, the lost was as high as $ 1738 millions. Last December the final lost was $ 2,285 millions and it would have been significantly higher if the adjustment in the bear interest would not have been applied in that month for the loan of the entailed, República Compañía de Inversiones S.A.. In the exercise finished on 31.12.96, the final income was obtained as a result of the transference of an immovable named "Edificio República".
- (2) At the moment of our study, the difference between the financial income and expenses was reduced, they reached respectively to $ 43,356 millions and $ 32,267 millions. To this scarce result contributed two factors: the structure of the rates (Banco República collects funds to high average rates and lends funds to a relatively low average rates) and the composition of the assets and liabilities. To the 30.06.98 the deposits and financial obligations add up to $ 424,906 millions and the public titles, loans and other credits $ 419,416 millions. The proper resources are principally directed to the financing of the investment of Banco Mendoza S.A. and in CEI Citicorp Holdings S.A. Banco Mendoza S.A. and its predecessors have experienced recurrent losses of significance. The output of the participation in CEI, by its nature, has not the behavior of the financial placements.
- (3) To the cost of mediation, it is necessary to add the average impossibility to collect. Banco República computes for the closing exercise to the 30.06.98 a total charge of $ 7,267 millions, amount which to the judgement of the inspection is insufficient for the reasons which are expressed in the components of the Assets.
- (4) With a null generation of results by the financial mediation, the incomes for services - of $ 6,793 millions - and the diverse utilities - of $ 3,484 millions, with $ 0,664 millions for the result of the permanent participation - are not enough to cover the high expenses of administration ($ 17,738 millions). It is important to mention that the results of Banco República have to assimilate the amortization of the key of business activated by the investment in Banco Mendoza year by year.
- (5) To sum up, the present structure of the business is impossible. However, the process of enterprise reorganization is being considered.

FEDERAL FRAUD CASE

THE PYRAM

By DAVID LEFER
Daily News Staff Writer

Glenn Schmidt wants his money back. Last April the wealthy California inventor gave $2.5 million to William Koop, a New Jersey investor who was promising an 800% return, or $20 million, in 45 days. The deal turned out to be too good to be true. After months of unkept promises, Schmidt's attorneys filed suit last September in Newark Federal Court, charging Koop with wire fraud, bank fraud and money laundering.

A lawyer for Koop claims that the Schmidt case "was just a business deal gone bad."

But documents and interviews obtained last week by the Daily News indicate that Schmidt, who invented the Big Bertha golf club, may be one of a growing number of investors who say they've been swindled by Koop in a multi-million-dollar pyramid scheme that may involve at least 80 investors in 28 states.

According to documents and court testimony, Koop claims to prospective clients that he knows about super-secret bank trades that will create phenomenal returns in short periods of time. He tells clients he trades in prime bank notes, bank debentures and medium-term notes, all of which he says are guaranteed.

According to bankers, government officials and law enforcement agencies, such trades simply do not exist. They are buzz words for a flourishing type of fraud that takes advantage of today's global markets and the ease and speed with which electronic transactions can cross borders. Worldwide, these scams involve so much money that the International Chamber of Commerce in London has dubbed them collectively "The Fraud of the Century."

"Prime bank notes are fictitious financial instruments," said William Kerr, a fraud specialist at the Office of the Controller of Currency in the Treasury Department.

Nonetheless, Koop last April notified Michael McCalister, a Florida investor, that he had successfully traded guaranteed bank notes issued by Chase Manhattan Bank. Koop promised that McCalister's initial investment of $30,000 would be parlayed into earnings of $382,500 within two months.

"There is no such instrument issued by Chase," explained William McDavid, Chase's general counsel.

McCalister recouped his investment in August. The problem was that it was the money he received from Schmidt's investmvestment in August. The only problem was that it appeared the money he received came from Schmidt's investment.

According to bank records obtained by The News, much of the money Koop receives from some investors seems to have been sent to other investors clamoring for the return of their money. Koop's faxes to his clients repeatedly implore his investors to be patient. His investors' documented E- mails beg him to reply to their faxes and phone calls. Koop has not even read most of them, according to his service provider.

said his attempts to learn about the state of his investment proved futile. Brickley said he invested less than $100,000 of his retirement money with Koop. He is wondering about the possibility of a class-action suit.

Florida investor McCalister held off on legal action when Koop gave him a series of 12 post-dated checks last summer. The first $50,000 check bounced after coming due. Now McCalister is threatening to sue Koop for the returns he never received from the alleged trade of Chase Manhattan guaranteed notes.

McCalister's lawyer said he is taking Koop to court in one of his offices in South Carolina. The fact that Koop can keep promising to return so much money to so many people for so long and still stay off all but one lawsuit is a testament to his charisma and cunning.

He has a soft, avuncular voice and kind, trustworthy eyes. Though he is 74 years old and complains of back trouble, he has a powerful-looking frame. He claims he is a former professional football player, though no records can be found to verify this. And he claims to be a distant cousin of former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop.

Dr. Koop is related to William Koop the way we are all related to Adam and Eve, said a spokeswoman for the former Surgeon General. For most of his life, Koop worked as a building and swimming pool contractor. In 1997, the Franklin Lakes, N.J., resident started an international investment business after reading several books on off-shore trading.

His office address, emblazoned on his stationery, turns out to be a mailbox he rented in a nearby store.

When asked by a reporter to comment on his case after one of his depositions in federal court, Koop said, "I'm sorry. I'd love to talk to you, but my lawyers won't let me."

Yesterday he insisted that some investors "should be all happy with in another 10 days. I'm just an intermediary," Koop explained. "I'm trying to work right now to make personal loans and letters of credit to pay these people."

"I've been an honest man all my life. I'm an innocent person in this thing. I did it to help the little guy."

Koop has admitted he has had trouble locating his investors' money, but claimed that sophisticated investors never ask what happens to the money they invest.

"If you want to trade, you don't ask questions," he said. "Why don't you ask questions, if you want to trade?" asked Robert Tolchin, one of Schmidt's lawyers.

"Because they won't trade your money."

"Who won't trade your money?"

"Any trader...."

"Do you have any understanding of why that is?"

"Who's stopping them from telling you?"

"Right now I can honestly say to you I don't know more about that than what I have told you."

Federal Magistrate Joel Pison, who is presiding over the Schmidt case, later called the degree of vagueness in Koop's answers "remarkable." Koop admitted that some of the trades he told his clients had been completed were never made. He also said that the names he used to designate his trades—such as trade VC LBR-W 208, which offered 175% return on investment in 85 days, according to documents—were numbers he arbitrarily assigned and didn't correspond to any official bank designation.

Koop blames his woes on a British art and antiques dealer named Terence Wingrove, who is being investigated by the Secret Service, according to documents obtained by The News. Bank and auction house records show that five weeks after Schmidt deposited his funds in an Antiguan bank account controlled by Koop, the latter began sending money to Wingrove, who used the funds to buy ancient Asian art, fossilized bones and meteorites and ship them to England.

In essence, Koop claims Wingrove is taking his inves-

William Kerr of the Office of the Controller of Currency at the Treasury Department estimates that so-called prime bank-note frauds have bilked people out of "well above $100 million" in the past decade. Some experts put the figure at more than half a billion dollars.

In 1992, the Salvation Army lost $8.6 million in such a scheme, and the tiny Pacific Island nation of Nauru lost $30 million. Though the popularity of such schemes briefly subsided after several well-publicized cases, law enforcement and finance officials now warn that these frauds are back and running rampant.

The specious bank note trading schemes are based on the premise that a secret market exists for bank debt. Essentially, authorities say con men claim they can trade discounted bank IOUs the way bonds are traded. They also claim the transactions are guaranteed by banks. Typically the trades are said to offer tremendous returns—as much as 1,000%—in a phenomenally short time.

Con man's plea can't assuage victims

Friday, February 4, 2000

By DAVID VOREACOS
Staff Writer

Pat Koci says she rues the day she invested her life savings with Franklin Lakes financial adviser William Koop.

Koci, 62, believed Koop when he promised her quick and hefty returns by putting her $10,000 into offshore investments. Now, the money is gone and Koop won't take her calls, she says. A severe diabetic, she can't work. So her 78-year-old husband is flipping hamburgers at a Dairy Queen to make ends meet.

"I think he's the biggest crook that ever walked, and I'd like to wring his neck," said Koci, a resident of Canyon Lake, Texas.

Koci is not alone. The inventor of the Big Bertha golf club, Glenn Schmidt, said he sank $2.5 million into "foreign bank guarantees" touted by Koop. In a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in Newark, Schmidt said that when he wanted his money back, Koop balked but promised to pay him $16 million in profits. Koop never paid a dime, and Schmidt sued in September 1998.

"Koop is a professional confidence man who preys on innocent people," Schmidt alleged in the lawsuit. Koop induces people to give him money "under false pretenses for investment purposes when, in fact, there are no investments and Koop steals the money," Schmidt alleged.

Schmidt's allegations captured the attention of federal prosecutors, and a federal grand jury began investigating Koop last spring, court records show. Koop is scheduled to plead guilty today before U.S. District Judge Katharine Hayden, court officials said. Sources said Koop has been Hayden, court officials said. Sources said Koop has been cooperating with the U.S. Attorney's Office in Newark in a bid for leniency at sentencing.

"I have absolutely no comment," Koop said Thursday at his sprawling white house. "I've been told by the authorities not to say anything."

Koop's attorney, Jay Joseph Friedrich, could not be reached. Assistant U.S. Attorney Henry Klingeman declined to comment.

Court records show that Koop spent some of the money from the alleged scams on a historic house in Ho-Ho-Kus, while a London investor he worked with bought lavish antiques and collectible art.

Their money came from dozens of profit-seekers nationwide who were drawn by the questionable promise of high yields in a short time. He convinced them that he made money overseas in complex "bank-to-bank transactions," "prime bank instruments," or "medium-term bonds."

But the International Chamber of Commerce and the FBI have warned that such buzzwords are nothing more than fancy phrases for simple con games.

"The purpose of these frauds is generally to encourage the victim to send money to a foreign bank, where it is eventually transferred to an offshore account that is in the control of the con artist," the New York FBI office said in a warning.

Linda Baessler said she lost her life savings to Koop while helping him find investors through a firm he helped run in Aurora, Colo. "I was interviewed many times by the FBI," said Baessler, of Sterling, Colo. "There have been many other agents who have spoken to the other victims in Mississippi, Texas, California, and Florida."

Baessler said she gave the FBI her list of investors, including many she recruited after meeting Koop in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1997. Pulling in new investors brought the opportunity for recruiters like her to earn money and move up through local, district, state, and regional "stages," Baessler said.

"The whole idea was to bring people in," Baessler said. "People put their 401(k)s into this, and they put in their life savings."

An FBI spokeswoman in Denver said she was unaware of a Koop probe.

Who is Koop and why has he incurred such anger from his investors?

Koop, 74, is a high school graduate and former building and swimming pool contractor who has no investment license. He learned about offshore investing from some books, he said in a sworn deposition taken by Schmidt's attorney.

In 1997, Koop formed an entity called International Financial Solutions, which worked with "international traders" who did his investing, he said.

"Wherever the best investment takes place or where it's available, it's usually done with international people," he said in a deposition taken last year. "Investments can be in currency. It can be in gems. It can be in international trades through the Federal Reserve through the IMF [International Monetary Fund]."

Schmidt gave Koop his $2.5 million by wiring it into an account at the British Trade and Commerce Bank in the Commonwealth of Dominica. Schmidt expected to cash his investment within 45 days, but Koop missed the deadline and gave him a variety of excuses, the lawsuit alleges.

During a meeting at an Atlantic City casino, Koop signed a document promising to give Schmidt $16 million in profits, the lawsuit said. But Koop told Schmidt's attorney he had no memory of signing the document.

When pressed on what he did with the $2.5 million, Koop said he wired $1 million of it to the Christian Patriot Association, a white supremacist group in Boring, Ore., that provides banking services.

"I knew they were some kind of right-wing organization, but I have nothing to do with that," Koop said. He testified that he used most of that $1 million to repay his other investors, and that his firm filed no tax returns.

Koop also said he transferred the rest of Schmidt's money and more than $1 million of his own to an Antiguan bank, called Hanover Bank. The bank, Koop believed, was run by Terence Wingrove, an English antiques dealer. Koop asserted he had no idea how Wingrove would invest Schmidt's money.

"It's a well-known fact that you don't ask questions if you're going to do international trading," Koop said.

Still, Koop maintained that Wingrove had conned him out of Schmidt's money and that he failed in repeated efforts to recover it. Instead, Koop asserted, Wingrove spent much of the money on antiques.

much of the money on antiques.

"Mr. Wingrove is a very -- what shall I say?" Koop said in the deposition. "He's a very convincing individual. I was conned only too well, believe me."

During the deposition -- in which Schmidt's attorney and Koop's attorney nearly came to blows -- Koop testified that he also received another $1.5 million to invest from a church run by the Rev. William Johnny "Bill" Cabe in York, S.C.

Of that money, he used about $300,000 toward the purchase of the 235-year-old Gingrich House in Ho-Ho-Kus, he testified. Koop bought the historically valuable house from Bergen County in a June 1998 auction.

Cabe runs His Way International Ministries, an investment-ministry program in which he put money offshore in so-called bank debentures and medium-term notes.

"Did you ever wonder, sir, why a minister from South Carolina would require offshore banking status?" Schmidt's attorney, Robert Tolchin, asked Koop. "It was none of my business," Koop replied.

In 1998, federal authorities seized more than $1.7 million from five of Cabe's ministry accounts. Six South Carolina investors also have alleged in a federal lawsuit that Koop and Cabe have fleeced them out of at least $390,000 that eventually was transferred to Wingrove and his offshore bank.

The investing practices of Koop have left Irven Olsen of Salt Lake City, Utah, with a sour taste. Before investing $10,000, Olsen considered Koop a charming and well-educated man. Having lost $7,500, his tune has changed.

"I think Mr. Koop is a liar and a swindler and he took a lot of people's money," Olsen said. "Nothing he said has been true."

I.F.S.

A PRIVATE TRUST UNINCORPORATED BUSINESS ORGANIZATION

PRESENTS A NEW MONTHLY "PRIME" PROGRAM.

This program will pay you up to 489% plus principal on your investment, and your initial investment is guaranteed. This is a very safe asset enhancement program.

History

I.F.S. was established in 1996. The mission of I.F.S. evolved out of filling a void in the financial matters of the average person. A commitment was made to help as many people that would listen to become successful. Successful not only in financial matters, but also in the overall quality of their lives.

I.F.S. has grown and prospered as a direct result of our dedication and commitment to its mission. Today we are proud to have a substantial group of loyal clients. We are very proud to be of valuable assistance to a very rapidly growing entrepreneurial and small business group who is eager to thrive in a free enterprise system.

The management of I.F.S. has more than 30 years experience in International affairs, with vast experience in world wide banking, however the contacts that have been made over the years have been most invaluable to our success. As the old saying goes "It's not what you know, but its who you know".

We realize that most people who are interested in improving their financial lives would prefer a long term system that would be safe and provide them with the knowledge and the resources necessary to be successful.

We will continue to grow and prosper as we dedicate our every effort to the success and happiness of our clients as we provide stability and integrity to them, with the help of our personal contacts and vast resources. I.F.S. is here to help you in any way that it can.

There have been many of you who have asked the question, may I invite a friend into I.F.S.? Yes, you may invite a friend to join you, however there are strict rules that must be adhered to.

Prior to discussing the program with a friend, you must have them sign three forms and all forms must be witnessed. They are as follows:

1. A non-disclosure form.
2. A non-solicitation form.
3. An ICC non-circumvention form.

Once you have received these forms from your friend, then you may speak to them about the opportunities with I.F.S. These rules must be strictly adhered to or it will be cause for dismissal for anyone breaking the rules.

IFS "PRIME" MONTHLY PROGRAMS

Receive a check for 5% of your initial investment each month while your balance grows to the rate chosen in any one of the following listed programs. Your first check starts after the first 90 days. The "Prime" Monthly Program is an excellent vehicle for those who want high returns on their money, but also need regular monthly income.

( a $50,000.00 investment will give you a monthly check sent to you automatically, plus the interest grows to a total interest factor of 349% in 15 months, plus your initial investment is also returned and is guaranteed with a 106 guarantee). In 20 consecutive months you will have received your entire $50,000.00 returned to you in monthly checks and would have more than $290,833.00 in interest plus your principal.

In addition to these benefits, a referral commission for a total of 10% is paid on the investment of others that may be referred to the program. (see referral schedule attached).

Many persons who get involved in IFS would like to do so at a higher level (larger initial investment), but have hesitated in the past to do so, however now with our 106% guarantee now in place, this is no longer a factor.

There are many persons who need to receive a monthly check to augment their income in order to live comfortably. This is a way to have that cash flow as well as receive the benefit of high interest returns on your investment.

The 5% monthly checks do not begin until after the first 90 days (exclusion period).

If you are worried about whether IFS will really pay what is promised, please be advised that IFS has never failed to payout on any program that it has ever entered into with any and all clients.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

HOW CAN THEY OFFER SUCH A LARGE RETURN?

YOUR INVESTMENT IN THE FORM OF MONEY WILL BE HELD IN A TRUST OFFSHORE. THERE IS A VERY LARGE DEMAND OFFSHORE FOR LARGE BLOCKS OF MONEY THAT ARE CERTIFIED AND CLEARED AS CLEAN FUNDS. BY JOINING GROUP FUNDS TOGETHER AND COMMITTING LARGE BLOCKS OF FUNDS, WE ARE ABLE TO COMMAND THE RETURNS THAT ARE NORMAL FOR THESE TRANSACTIONS. OUR TRUST ASSOCIATES WORK VERY HARD TO INSURE A HIGH YIELD AND GUARANTEE THE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT PLUS 6% INTEREST. OFFSHORE BANKS ARE WILLING TO PAY AS HIGH AS 7.5% INTEREST ON A MONTHLY BASIS FOR THE USE OF LARGE BLOCKS OF FUNDS.

HOW SAFE IS THE TRUST AND THE PROGRAM?

ALL OF THE MONIES GO INTO THE TRUST WHERE THEY ARE DISBURSED THROUGH LINES OF CREDIT AND PROMMISSORY NOTES. THIS IS DONE THROUGH A CREDIT LINE THAT IFS HAS BEEN ABLE TO ESTABLISH WITH MANY OF THE PRIME BANKS OF THE WORLD. THE MONEY NEVER LEAVES THE TRUST. THE TRUTH OF THE MATTER IS THAT THESE FUNDS ARE SAFER THAN MUTUAL FUNDS, REAL ESTATE AND THE STOCK MARKET. IF YOU ARE FAINT AT HEART, PUT YOUR MONEY IN THE BANK WHERE IT MAY DRAW 5% INTEREST. HOWEVER, IF YOU WANT TO GIVE YOURSELF AN OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE AS MUCH AS 489% IN 15 MONTHS, OPEN YOUR PRIME MONTHLY ACCOUNT NOW.

DO I PAY TAXES ON THIS MONEY?

IT IS UP TO YOU TO REPORT YOUR INCOME TO UNCLE SAM AS YOU SEE FIT TO DO SO. DUE TO THE FACT THAT IFS IS SETUP AS A PURE PRIVATE TRUST, WE DO NOT REPORT IT TO ANYONE. CONSULT YOUR TAX ADVISOR AS TO THE BEST WAY FOR YOU TO HANDLE THE GROWTH OF YOUR TRUST ASSETS.

WILL IFS SEND ME CHECKS?

NO, PAYMENTS ARE ALL MADE OFFSHORE AND WILL BE PAID BY WIRE TRANSFER AND OR INTERBANK TRANSFERS. IFS DOES NOT SEND OUT 1099 FORMS OR REPORT PAYMENTS TO ANY GOVERNMENT AGENCY.

DOES IFS HAVE A GOOD RECORD FOR PAYOUTS?

IFS HAS BEEN IN BUSINESS SINCE 1996. THE COMPANY HAS PAID OUT 100% OF ITS TRADE TO DATE. ALL MONTHLY CHECKS WILL CONTINUE TO BE PAID PROMPTLY.

CAN WE ADVERTISE THIS BUSINESS?

NO, YOU CANNOT ADVERTISE THIS BUSINESS! NO MAGAZINE ADS, NO BLIND ADS, NO MASS MAILED BROCHURES, NO FAX BLASTS, NO CARD DECKS, NO INTERNET ADS NO ADVERTISING, PERIOD!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

CAN WE REFER A FRIEND TO THE PROGRAM?

YES, YOU CAN GIVE THE INFORMATION TO ANYONE YOU KNOW, BUT ONLY AFTER YOU HAVE THEM SIGN THE FORMS THAT WE REQUIRE. THEY ARE A NON-DISCLOSURE FORM, A NON-SOLICITATION FORM AND A NON-CIRCUMVENTION FORM.

IS THERE A MEMBERSHIP FEE?

YES, THERE IS A $100.00 MEMBERSHIP FEE TO BE PAID ANNUALLY.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE IFS TO PROCESS MY MEMBERSHIP AND COUNTERSIGN MY MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION AND CONTRACT?

THIS WILL NORMALLY TAKE APPROXIMATELY TWO WEEKS. HOWEVER, WE LOCK IN YOUR INTEREST RATE ON THE 1ST OF THE MONTH FOLLOWING RECEIPT OF YOUR CHECK AND APPLICATION. USE THE LAST 5 DIGITS OF YOUR SS# PLUS YOUR TWO INITIALS FOR YOUR MEMBERSHIP I.D.#.

WHAT TAKES PLACE AT THE EXPIRATION DATE OF THE CONTRACT?

THE CONTRACT IS FOR 1 YEAR AND 90 DAYS. ABOUT 30 DAYS BEFORE THE EXPIRATION DATE OF YOUR CONTRACT YOU WILL NEED TO INFORM IFS OF YOUR INTENTIONS. IFS WILL SEND YOU A LETTER APPROXIMATELY 45 DAYS BEFORE THE EXPIRATION DATE OF YOUR CONTRACT, GIVING YOU THE CHOICE OF OPTIONS. YOU MAY ELECT TO TAKE ALL OF THE MONIES OUT, TAKE A PART OF IT OUT OR YOU MAY WANT TO LEAVE IT ALL IN THE PROGRAM TO MAXIMIZE THE PROFITS. THIS IS A DECISION TO BE MADE BY YOU. IF YOU DO NOT WAIT UNTIL THE END OF THE CONTRACT PERIOD TO TAKE YOUR MONIES, YOU WILL GET BACK YOUR ORIGINAL INVESTMENT PLUS 6% FOR THE INTERIM PERIOD. YOU MUST FINISH THE CONTRACT TERM TO GET YOUR INTEREST AND TOTAL RETURN.

OUR BEST ADVICE IS TO ONLY GET INVOLVED AT YOUR COMFORT LEVEL. DO NOT MORTGAGE YOUR HOME OR USE THE FAMILY GROCERY MONEY. DO NOT GO BEYOND YOUR COMFORT LEVEL. WE HAVE TRIED TO GIVE YOU THE FACTS IN ORDER FOR YOU TO MAKE AN INTELLIGENT DECISION. NOW YOU MUST MAKE THE FINAL DECISION BASED ON YOUR OWN COMFORT LEVEL.

You will not find a better plan offered in this industry.

BENEFITS OF OUR TRUST SERVICES

1) PRIVACY

In this day and age more and more people like you are concerning themselves with who knows what about their private affairs, and how they can protect their privacy. This can be difficult when you are a number, and everywhere you turn you are required to disclose your number. Banks, Brokerage firms, Securities houses, and IRA's are all required to document your numbers for tax purposes. IFS is a Pure Private Trust that has no requirement to report or file your number. IFS can also set-up a Pure Private Trust for each and everyone of you individually for further protection. (for further information on a personal trust and bank account, ask our office to send you an information package with applications).

2) TAX ADVANTAGE

You may gain a tax advantage for several reasons. You can not do business with IFS unless you have a personal International trust and bank account. Funds are disbursed to you through your account and are not required to be reported to any agency. It is best for you to check with your own tax advisor on this matter.

3) ABOVE AVERAGE RETURNS

Contrary to public opinion, you can have options to invest your money as you see fit to do so. You may elect to make 5-6% at your bank or 10-15% in mutual funds or the stock market, however while you are receiving these lower returns on your money, your institutions are making a fortune on your money.

IFS invests for profit by accepting amounts as low as $2,500.00 from thousands of people like you, creating large blocks of funds that are in the millions of dollars. This gives IFS a leveraged position whereby we can demand large profits, and have the security of never putting the principal at risk. Your principal is guaranteed with a 106 guarantee. This is very sophisticated investing that cannot be accomplished unless you have multi-millions of dollars to invest through our connections with many top International banks of the world. Our returns start at 239% and go as high as 489%.

4) THE SAFETY OF AN ESTABLISHED COMPANY

IFS has been in business since 1996. IFS is a trust in good standing with the International banking group and have millions of dollars in assets. We have also developed investment credit lines with top world banks.

Our proven track record allow us to guarantee your returns, and give you the assurance that your principal is never at risk. IFS is a very solid Private Trust that realizes the importance of our clients. You are the heartbeat of IFS.

IFS can provide you with above average earnings, privacy, and financial security.

Please contact the person that you requested this information from and they will guide you to a new and exciting financial future.

We can provide you with the best of all worlds. Entering into an asset management program without having the experience that it takes to manage a sophisticated venture may not be in your own interest. IFS has the knowledge, experience connections and a broad range of resources that will guarantee your success. If you are looking to place a minimum of $1,000,000.00 up to $100,000,000.00 without the risk of having to manage your own asset management program, please call IFS for further information.

Should you have questions concerning your participation in the programs, please call our offices at your earliest convenience. As outlined above, your options are clear. Our trust as well as yours will remain private and confidential. Our sources that we have worked very hard to develop long term relationships with will also remain private and confidential. If you do decide that you would like us to develop your own asset enhancement program, you must provide us with a Letter of Intent and a proof of funds before we will speak to you personally to explain your options. You must also be a private member of IFS.

The attached letter explains in detail exactly how to conduct business with IFS, and what you will need to do after you have made the choice to join IFS.

Very Truly Yours,

Executive Trustee
International Financial Solutions, Ltd.

Policies and Procedures

Thank you for your interest in IFS. These are the policies and procedures of IFS as mandated by the Board of Trustees of the trust. It is important for you to realize that IFS has made a decision not to make any representations of being a "Broker" for the placement of funds in any program. The following information should serve as a guideline for you and or any of your entities in making your decision as to whether or not our programs will serve your needs.

First and foremost, you must have an International Trust and an International bank account in order to participate in our programs. Amounts as low as $2500.00 will pay a dividend of 239% in a 15 month contract. These dividends are guaranteed by the Trust, and will be paid at the end of the contract, or you may elect to enter into a new contract at the current rate, for any amount you wish. You also have the option of entering into a new contract for any amount during your original contract period at the guaranteed dividend rate of that contract. If for some reason you believe that the above terms will not suit your needs, then you may want to consider an alternate. Upon providing IFS with the proper proof of funds and a letter of intent, we will introduce you to a representative of IFS who has the ability to place your funds into an asset enhancement program. All programs of this type are on a best efforts basis and it will be necessary for you to contract with legal council to make all of the contractual and fiduciary agreements. Your main concern is the security of your principal investment.

Never enter into a contract that puts your principal at risk.

IFS can usually customize a program for you if you can invest a minimum of $300,000.00 or more.

IFS IS A PRIVATE CONTRACTIAL TRUST WITH A SPECIFIC MISSION. WE WISH TO HELP EACH AND EVERY ONE OF OUR MEMBERS TO IMPROVE THEIR LIVES THROUGH OUR ASSET ENHANCEMENT PROGRAMS, THROUGH PROVIDING THE NECESSARY TOOLS AND KNOWLEDGE THAT ARE ESSENTIAL TO MAINTAIN A LIFESTYLE THAT IS AS PRIVATE AS THEY SO WISH.

WE WISH YOU SUCCESS IN ALL YOUR ENDEAVORS.

A PERSONAL LETTER FROM THE DESK OF:

William H. Koop

TO: ALL MEMBERS OF THE "PRIME PLAN" AND PARTICIPANTS OF I.F.S. TRADES IN THE PAST.

I.F.S. HAS MADE ARRANGEMENTS TO SEND MONIES TO C.P.A. FOR DISTRIBUTION OF THE "PRIME PLAN" FUNDS ON A MONTHLY BASIS.

BECAUSE OF THE DELAY IN GETTING THE FIRST "PRIME PLAN"
MONTHLY PAYMENT TO YOU, WE ARE GOING TO PAY YOU FOR JUNE
AND JULY THIS COMING WEEK. THIS MEANS THAT YOUR JULY PAYMENT WILL BE MADE AVAILABLE TWO WEEKS EARLY. THIS WILL BE DONE THROUGH C.P.A. YOUR JUNE PAYMENT WILL BE MADE AT THE SAME TIME. ALL REMAINING PAYMENTS WILL BE AVAILABLE TO YOU THROUGH C.P.A. ON THE 5TH OF EACH MONTH THEREAFTER.

IF THERE ARE ANY QUESTIONS AS REFERS TO THE "PRIME PROGRAM" OR C.P.A. DISTRIBUTION OF YOUR FUNDS, PLEASE CALL YOUR FACILITATOR, GLEN CRUZEN.

ALL TRANSFERS FOR PREVIOUS TRADES HAVE BEEN MADE AND SHOULD BE IN YOUR DESIGNATED ACCOUNTS NO LATER THAN TUESDAY, JUNE 23RD.

I APOLOGIZE FOR THE DELAYS, HOWEVER THEY WERE FAR BEYOND
MY CONTROL, THEREFORE I PERSONALLY TOOK A LOAN TO PAY ALL OF THE I.F.S. OBLIGATIONS. THIS IS AN INTEGRITY MATTER WITH ME AND I SURELY HOPE THAT YOU APPRECIATE MY CONCERNS.

IN PASSING, THERE ARE JUST A FEW CIRCUMSTANCES THAT HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE DELAYS.

1. LATE PAYMENTS ON CERTAIN DIBENTURE TRADES.
2. CERTAIN DIBENTURE TRADES THAT NEVER MATERIALIZED.
3. SERIOUS PROBLEMS WITH O.D.B. BANK. (IF WE WERE NOT WELL CONNECTED AND NOT ADVISED IN TIME, YOUR MONIES WOULD HAVE BEEN LOST OR AT LEAST DELAYED EVEN LONGER.
4. THE CHANGE OVER TO "THE HANOVER BANK, LTD", WHICH CAUSED FURTHER DELAYS, IE:

- A. PURCHASE ARRANGEMENTS
- B. RE-STRUCTURE OF THE BANK
- C. THE CHANGE OF THE BANK OPERATING OFFICE FROM ANTIGUA TO THE ISLAND OF JERSEY IN THE CHANNEL ISLANDS. (THERE WILL BE FURTHER INFORMATION ON "THE HANOVER BANK, LTD." LATER IN THIS UPDATE).
- 5. A MAJOR AND MOST SERIOUS DELAY BY THE AUTHORITIES BECAUSE OF SOMEONE WHO HAS "LAUNDERED MONIES", THEREFORE LOCKING THE FUNDS UNTIL THE PERSON HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED AND ARRESTED.
- 6. BECAUSE OF THE PROBLEM IN #5 ABOVE, I DECIDED TO MAKE A PERSONAL LOAN TO PAY THE OBLIGATIONS OF I.F.S., WHICH HAS BEEN DONE AT A VERY HIGH COST TO ME PERSONALLY.
- 7. AFTER THE LOAN MONIES WERE RECEIVED AND TRANSFERRED, THE AUTHORITIES WOULD NOT RELEASE THE LOAN MONIES UNTIL EACH WIRE TRANSFER SOURCE WAS IDENTIFIED AND RELEASED INDIVIDUALLY. THIS WAS COMPLETED IN THE CHANNEL ISLANDS BY A GROUP OF BANK ATTORNEYS AT A GREAT EXPENSE TO I.F.S.
- 8. THE LOAN MONIES HAVE NOW BEEN RELEASED AND ARE IN TRANSIT TO YOUR DESIGNATED WIRE DESTINATIONS AS I WRITE THIS REPORT.
- 9. THE INDIVIDUAL OR INDIVIDUALS WILL BE IDENTIFIED AND BROUGHT TO JUSTICE BY THE AUTHORITIES FOR MONEY LAUNDERING. AT THAT TIME THE MONIES WILL BE RELEASED AND RETURNED TO I.F.S. I HAVE BEEN ASSURED THAT THIS WILL BE DONE WITHIN SIX WEEKS OF THIS DATE.

2000-02-04 - Koop, William - Guilty Plea - News Release

Investment Advisor Admits Conspiring to Commit Money Laundering in $2.5 Million Bank Note Scheme

NEWARK - A Franklin Lakes man today admitted conspiring to commit money laundering in connection with a fictitious $2.5 million investment scheme, U.S. Attorney Robert J. Cleary announced.

William H. Koop, who represented himself as an investment advisor specializing in "prime bank notes," pleaded guilty to charges in a one-count Information.

Sentencing for Koop is scheduled for April 28 before U.S. District Judge Katharine S. Hayden. Koop faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $250,000 fine, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Henry E. Klingeman.

The Information charges that Koop agreed with others in the United Kingdom and the United States to promote prime bank note investments from between early 1998 and April 1999. According to the FBI, prime bank notes are a fraudulent type of "investment" used by con artists worldwide.

In early 1998 Koop was introduced to G.S. and allegedly told him that a $2.5 million investment in prime bank notes would return the initial investment plus $16 million in profits, within 45 "banking days," according to the Information.

In April 1998, at Koop's instruction, G.S. wired $2.5 million to British Trade and Commerce Bank's (BTCB) account at Banco Industrial De Venezuela (BIV), of Venezuela and Miami, Florida, according to the Information.

Between April 20 and August 1998, Koop transferred G.S.'s $2.5 million from the BTCB account at BIV to: other conspirators in the United Kingdom; off-shore bank accounts; commercial entities that benefitted other conspirators; and others who had invested with Koop in prime bank notes and were expecting a return, according to the Information.

The Information states that between April 20 and Sept. 17, 1998, Koop gave G.S. repeated oral and written assurances that both his investment principal and profit were forthcoming. In fact, the Information alleges, Koop never paid G.S. any money based on his $2.5 million investment.

Judge Hayden allowed Koop to remain free on a $50,000 unsecured bond, pending sentencing. The Judge ordered Koop to surrender his passport and restricted his travel.

Under U.S. Sentencing Guidelines, Judge Hayden will determine the defendant's actual sentence based on a formula that takes into account the severity and characteristics of the offense and Koop's criminal history, if any. Parole has been abolished in the federal system. Under sentencing guidelines, defendants who are given custodial terms must serve nearly all that time.

INFORMATION

The defendant, WILLIAM H. KOOP, having waived in open court prosecution by indictment, the United States Attorney for the District of New Jersey charges:

The Defendant

(c) knew and understood that "prime bank notes" were fictional and non-existent in legitimate financial markets; and

(d) represented that the transactions they promoted would be processed through various off-shore banks, including British Trade and Commerce Bank in Dominica, West Indies, and Hanover Bank, in Antigua, West Indies, that the conspirators claimed they either owned or controlled.

The Victim

3. At all times relevant to this Indictment, the victim, hereinafter identified as "G.S.":

9. In fact, between on or about April 20, 1998 and in or about August 1998, money representing the investment of G.S. was transferred by defendant WILLIAM H. ### INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN INTERNATIONAL FRAUD CASE

COLUMBIA, South Carolina — United States Attorney J. RENÉ JOSEY stated today that, the federal grand jury in Columbia, South Carolina, returned indictments on March 22, 2000, charging Johnny William Cabe, 40, a pastor from York, South Carolina, and Shelton Joel Shirley, 48, a pastor from Gastonia, North Carolina, with operating a "high yield trading program" and defrauding people of money, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1343, the federal wire fraud statute. The indictment also charges both Cabe and Shirley with money laundering, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1956(a)(1)(A)(i) and 1957. Cabe and Shirley are charged with nine counts of wire fraud, two counts of money laundering under Section 1956(a)(1)(A)(i), and 14 counts of money laundering under Section 1957. If convicted, each faces a maximum penalty of five years of imprisonment and $250,000 in fines on each wire fraud count, 20 years of imprisonment and $500,000 in fines on each Section 1956 count, and ten years of imprisonment and $250,000 in fines on each Section 1957 count. The Cabe and Shirley indictment also seeks forfeiture in the amount of $7 million. Arrest warrants have been issued for the both Cabe and Shirley.

In a related indictment, Terrence Stanley Victor Wingrove, 58, of London, England, has been charged in a 31 count indictment with 17 counts of wire fraud and 14 counts of money laundering in violation of Section 1956(a)(2)(A). The wire fraud penalties for Wingrove are the same as those for Cabe and Shirley. On the money laundering charges, Wingrove faces a maximum penalty of 20 years of imprisonment and $500,000 in fines for each count. The Wingrove indictment also seeks forfeiture in the amount of $12 million. Wingrove has been arrested in England, and the United States is seeking extradition to the United States for prosecution.

Taken together, the two indictments allege that Johnny Cabe and Joel Shirley operated a high yield trading program called Hisway International Ministries in which they claimed that people could receive returns on investments as high as 500% in as little as two weeks to three months. They claimed that these returns were possible through investment in secret bank trading programs known only to the wealthiest of people. Through Hisway, Cabe and Shirley are alleged to have received approximately 7 million dollars. Of this money, they sent approximately $3,210,000 to Terrence Wingrove through a bank on the Isle of Jersey in the United Kingdom called Hanover Bank. The indictments allege that Cabe and Shirley used some of the other money to repay prior investors. The indictment charges that these pay-offs were intended, in part, to make it appear as though the high yield trading programs were successful, thereby inducing people to invest more money into the scheme.

The Cabe and Shirley indictment also alleges that both Cabe and Shirley converted some of the funds to their own use. The money laundering allegations of the indictment show that in late July 1998, Cabe and Shirley received checks in the amount of $100,000 each. During the same time period, Cabe and Shirley transferred $150,000 to Cabe's church.

The indictments allege that Terrence Wingrove, who in reality is an art and antiques collector and dealer, claimed that he was a former banker with extensive experience in high yield trading programs, that he was the owner of the Hanover Bank on the Isle of Jersey, whose accounts were used to receive the funds from Cabe, Shirley, and a man named William H. Koop, and that he had access to bank trading programs that yielded very high returns. Wingrove is alleged to have received approximately $12 million which he then used to purchase art and antiques.

In a related case, William H. Koop, a resident of New Jersey, has pleaded guilty in United States District Court for the District of New Jersey to defrauding the inventor of the popular "Big Bertha" golf clubs of approximately $2.5 million.

This case is being investigated by agents with the United States Secret Service and the Internal Revenue Service. It is being prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorneys Dean A. Eichelberger and Anne Hunter Young.

The United States Attorney stated that all charges in these indictments are merely accusations and that the defendants are presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

COUNT 1

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

At all times relevant to this Indictment:

1. TERRENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE was an art and antiques collector and dealer who lived in England;
2. Winston Allen was a resident of England;
3. John William Cabe lived in York, South Carolina, and he operated investment programs under the names of Gideons Christian Family Wellness Center, Hisway Investment Club, Hisway Financial Associates, Hisway Financial, Inc., Hisway International Ministries, and variations of the above names (this program will hereafter be referred to as "Hisway");
4. Shelton Joel Shirley lived in North Carolina, and he assisted John William Cabe in the operation of Hisway;

5. William H. Koop lived in New Jersey, and he operated an investment program called International Financial Solutions;

6. First Union National Bank, NationsBank of South Carolina (now known as Bank of America), Branch Banking & Trust Company, Palmetto Bank, High Point Bank & Trust, Carolina First Bank of South Carolina, were financial institutions with deposits insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

SCHEME AND ARTIFICE

7. Beginning in or about January 1998, TERRENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE devised a scheme and artifice to defraud and to obtain money and property from others by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises which affected financial institutions, including First Union National Bank, NationsBank of South Carolina (now known as Bank of America), Branch Banking & Trust Company, First Heritage National Bank, and Carolina First Bank of South Carolina;

8. It was the goal of the scheme and artifice that WINGROVE would enrich himself at the expense of others by falsely claiming to be a representative of high yield bank trading programs. These trading programs will hereafter be referred to as "High Yield Trading Programs" or "Trading Programs;"

9. The High Yield Trading Programs operated substantially as follows:

- a. WINGROVE falsely claimed to be able to invest money for others in secret trading programs that paid very high returns;
- b. Through participation in these purported Trading Programs, WINGROVE claimed that investors could double or triple their money, or possibly receive even higher returns, in as little as 2 weeks to 90 days;

- c. WINGROVE initially dealt with William Koop. WINGROVE claimed that he was a former banker, that he had extensive experience in High Yield Trading Programs, that he owned a financial institution called Hanover Bank, and that he had access to bank trading programs that paid the highest possible yields;
- d. In or about March 1998, John William Cabe contacted Koop and requested information about the High Yield Trading Programs Koop was offering. Cabe also asked Koop to arrange an introduction to WINGROVE;
- e. In or about March 1998, Cabe went to London, England, and met with both WINGROVE and Winston Allen. During this meeting, WINGROVE obtained $400,000 from Cabe through the promise that WINGROVE would repay $800,000 within 21 calendar days after receipt of the proceeds;
- f. After this initial meeting, Cabe and Koop communicated with WINGROVE and Allen through facsimile transmission and by telephone. Many of these communications dealt with additional investments in High Yield Trading Programs;
- g. The procedure followed by Cabe, Koop, WINGROVE, and Allen for additional investments was substantially as follows:
  - i. Cabe contacted Koop to advise that he had funds available for investment in a Trading Program;

- ii. Koop obtained information from WINGROVE regarding the length of a Trading Program, the anticipated return, and where the funds should be sent;
  - iii. Koop passed the information obtained from WINGROVE to Cabe;
  - iv. Cabe sent the funds as directed by Koop and then confirmed to Koop that the funds were sent;
  - v. Koop confirmed with WINGROVE that the funds had been sent;
  - h. Allen assisted WINGROVE in the operation of this fraudulent investment scheme by acting as the European agent for Hisway;
  - i. Between on or about March 18, 1998, and July 13, 1998, Cabe and Shirley sent to WINGROVE, or to a third party at the direction of, and for the benefit of WINGROVE, approximately $3,210,000;
  - j. In addition to the funds sent from Cabe, other persons known to the grand jury sent money to WINGROVE at the direction of Cabe and Shirley for investment in Trading Programs;
  - k. By following this scheme and artifice, WINGROVE obtained from William H. Koop, John William Cabe, and people who sent money to WINGROVE at the direction of Koop and Cabe, approximately 12 million dollars;
  - l. WINGROVE did not invest any of the funds received in any High Yield Trading Programs. Instead, he converted some of the funds to his own use, gave some to Allen, and used the remainder to purchase art and antiques;

4. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, understands that in addition to any fines that the Court may impose, the Court will assess $100.00 for each felony count to which he pleads guilty. The Defendant agrees to pay the special assessment by certified check or money order and to deliver the special assessment, on the day the Defendant executes this Plea Agreement, to the Clerk, U.S. District Court. The Defendant further agrees that any monetary penalty that the Court imposes, including the special assessment, fine, costs or restitution, is due immediately unless otherwise stated by the Court. The Defendant further agrees to submit a fully completed Financial Statement of Debtor form as requested by the United States Attorney's Office. The Defendant further agrees that failure to pay the special assessment at the time of the entry of the guilty plea may result in the obligations of the Attorneys for the Government within this agreement becoming null and void. The Defendant understands that any monetary penalty imposed is not dischargeable in bankruptcy. The Defendant further understands that if he fails to pay the special assessment, this unpaid debt will be turned over to the collections division within the U.S. Attorney's Office for collection, 18 U.S.C. § 3013.
5. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, understands and agrees that by pleading guilty as contemplated by this Plea Agreement, he will be prohibited pursuant to Title 12, U.S.C., Section 1829(a) from: (i) becoming or continuing as, an institutional-affiliated party (as defined by Title 12, U.S.C., Section 1813(u)) with any insured depository institution; (ii) owning or controlling, directly or indirectly, any insured depository institution; or (iii) participating, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of the affairs of any insured depository institution without the prior written consent of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The Defendant further understands and agrees that the maximum penalty for knowingly violating Title 12, U.S.C., Section 1829(a) is five (5) years imprisonment, a one million dollar ($1,000,000) fine for each day a violation continues or both.

The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, further understands and agrees that by pleading guilty as contemplated by this Plea Agreement he will be prohibited pursuant to Title 12, U.S.C., Section 1785(d) from: (i) becoming, or continuing as, an institution-affiliated party with any insured credit union; or (ii) otherwise participating, directly or indirectly, in the conduct of the affairs of any insured credit union without the written consent of the National Credit Union Administration Board. The Defendant further understands and agrees that the maximum penalty for knowingly violating Title 12, U.S.C., Section 1785(d) is five (5) years imprisonment, a one million dollar ($1,000,000) fine for each day a violation continues, or both.

6. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, agrees to enter into the Bureau of Prisons Inmate Financial Responsibility Program if sentenced to a term of incarceration. The Defendant agrees that any monetary penalty the court imposes, including the special assessment, fines, costs, or restitution, may be paid, in part or in whole, through participation in this program.
7. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, agrees to be fully truthful and forthright with the United States Attorney's Office for the District of South Carolina and federal law enforcement agents in their investigation of investment fraud and other unlawful activities, to include, but not limited to, truthful and complete debriefings of the Defendant's knowledge concerning investment fraud and other unlawful activities. Also, the Defendant understands that he must fully disclose and provide truthful information to the Attorneys for the Government including any books, papers, or documents of any other items of evidentiary value to the investigation. The Defendant must also testify fully and truthfully before any grand juries and at any trials or other proceedings if called upon to do so by the Attorneys for the Government, subject to prosecution for perjury for not testifying truthfully. The failure of the Defendant to be fully truthful and forthright at any stage will, at the sole election of the Attorneys for the Government, cause the obligations of the Attorneys for the Government within this Agreement to become null and void. Further, it is expressly agreed that if the obligations of the Attorneys for the Government within this Agreement become null and void due to the lack of truthfulness on the part of the Defendant, the Defendant understands that: (1) the Defendant will not be permitted to withdraw his plea of guilty to the offenses described above; (2) any and all additional charges known to the Attorneys for the Government may be filed in the appropriate district; (3) the Attorneys for the Government may argue for a maximum sentence for the offense to which the Defendant has pleaded guilty; and (4) the Attorneys for the Government may use any and all information and testimony provided by the Defendant in the prosecution of the Defendant of all charges.

8. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, agrees to submit to such polygraph examinations as may be requested by the Attorneys for the Government and agrees that any such examinations shall be performed by a polygraph examiner selected by the Attorneys for the Government. Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, further agrees that his failure to pass any such polygraph examination to the Government's satisfaction will result, at Government's sole discretion, in the obligations of the Attorneys for the Government within the Agreement becoming null and void.

9. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, agrees to voluntarily surrender to, and not to contest the forfeiture by, the United States of America of any and all assets and property, or portions thereof, owned or purchased by the Defendant which are subject to the forfeiture pursuant to any provision of law and which are in the possession or control of the Defendant or Defendant's nominees. The Defendant further agrees to prevent the disbursement, relocation or encumbrance of any such assets and agrees to fully assist the government in the recovery and return to the United States of any assets, or portions thereof, as described above, wherever located. The Defendant further agrees to make a full and complete disclosure of all assets over which Defendant exercises control and those which are held or controlled by nominee. The Defendant further agrees to submit to a polygraph examination on the issue of assets if it is deemed necessary by the United States.

The Defendant agrees to forfeit all interests in the properties as described above and to take whatever steps are necessary to pass clear title to the United States. These steps include, but are not limited to, the surrender of title and the signing of any other documents necessary to effectuate such transfers. The Defendant agrees not to object to any civil forfeiture proceedings brought against these properties pursuant to any provision of law and the Defendant further understands that any such civil proceedings may properly be brought at any time before or after acceptance of Defendant's guilty plea in this matter and agrees to waive any double jeopardy claims he may have as a result of the forfeiture of these properties as provided for by this Agreement.

10. The Attorneys for the Government agree to dismiss the remaining counts of the indictment with the understanding by the Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, that no limitation shall be placed upon the Court's consideration of any information concerning the background, character, and conduct of the Defendant for the purpose of imposing an appropriate sentence, and such dismissed counts may be considered as relevant conduct pursuant to Section 1B1.3 of the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, FED. R. CRIM. P. 11(e)(1)(A).

11. The Attorneys for the Government agree that any self-incriminating information provided by the Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, as a result of the cooperation required by the terms of this Agreement, although available to the Court, will not be used against the Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, in determining the Defendant's applicable guideline range for sentencing pursuant to the U.S. Sentencing Commission Guidelines. The provisions of this paragraph shall not be applied to restrict any such information:

(A) known to the Attorneys for the Government prior to the date of this Agreement;

(B) concerning the existence of prior convictions and sentences in determining § 4B1.1

(career offender);

(C) in a prosecution for perjury or giving a false statement; or

(D) in the event there is a breach of the cooperation provisions of this Plea Agreement, §

1B1.8, United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines.

12. Provided the Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, cooperates pursuant to the provisions of this Plea Agreement, and that cooperation is deemed by Attorneys for the Government as providing substantial assistance in the investigation or prosecution of another person who has committed an offense, the Attorneys for the Government agree to move the Court to depart from the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, pursuant to §5K1.1 of those Guidelines, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 3553(e), and/or move the Court for reduction of sentence pursuant to Rule 35(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, further understands that any such motions by the Attorneys for the Government are not binding upon the Court, and should the Court sentence the Defendant within the Guidelines, to the maximum penalty prescribed by law or refuse to reduce the sentence imposed, the Defendant will have no right to withdraw his plea.
13. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, understands that the matter of sentencing is within the sole discretion of the Court, and that the sentence applicable to Defendant's case will be imposed in conformity with the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, Application Notes and Policy Statements. The Defendant also understands that Defendant's sentence has not yet been determined by the Court, and that any estimate of a probable sentencing range Defendant may have received from Defendant's attorney, the Attorneys for the Government, or the United States Probation Office is only a prediction, not a promise, and is not binding on the Attorneys for the Government, the Probation Office or the Court. The Defendant further understands that the Attorneys for the Government retain the right to inform the Court of any relevant facts, to address the Court with respect to the nature of the offense, to respond to questions raised by the Court, to correct any inaccuracies or inadequacies in the presentence report, to respond to any statements made to the Court by or on behalf of the Defendant, and to summarize all evidence which would have been presented at trial to establish a factual basis for the plea, FED. R. CRIM. P. 11(f).

14. The Attorneys for the Government agree to advise the sentencing Court of the extent and value of the Defendant's cooperation if called upon to do so by the Defendant,

TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE.

15. The Defendant, TERENCE STANLEY VICTOR WINGROVE, understands that the obligations of the Attorneys for the Government within the Plea Agreement are expressly contingent upon the Defendant's abiding by federal and state laws and complying with the terms and conditions of any bond executed in this case.

16. The parties hereby agree that this Plea Agreement contains the entire agreement of the parties; that this Agreement supersedes all prior promises, representations and statements of the parties; that this Agreement shall not be binding on any party until the Defendant tenders a plea of guilty to the court having jurisdiction over this matter; that this Agreement may be modified only in writing signed by all parties; and that any and all other promises, representations and statements, whether made prior to, contemporaneous with or after this Agreement, are null and void.

HEADLINE: S.C. minister indicted for taking $7 million from followers

BYLINE: By JEFFREY COLLINS, Associated Press Writer

DATELINE: COLUMBIA, S.C.

BODY:

A South Carolina minister accused of taking more than $7 million from followers and investors in an international investment scheme is looking to make a deal with federal prosecutors.

The Rev. Johnny William "Bill" Cabe, 40, of York, was arraigned Friday on 16 counts of money laundering and nine counts of wire fraud. Cabe's partner, the Rev. Shelton Joel Shirley, 48, of Gastonia, N.C., faces the same charges.

If convicted, the men could face up to 225 years in prison and millions of dollars in fines, along with repayment of the $7 million.

The pastors, operating under the missionary program Hisway Ministries, took money from investors from January to August 1998, offering returns of up to 500 percent in three months, according to the indictment.

One investor said he had forgiven the ministers, he still wanted to see them punished.

"I feel bad for them, but at the same time I want to see justice served," Don Calhoun said. "I want my money back."

Calhoun said he and his wife invested $30,000 with Cabe and Shirley, hoping to pay off their debts quickly. Other investors lived in Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Washington D.C., according to the indictment.

Churchgoers gave $3.6 million to Cabe and Shirley, Assistant U.S. Attorney Dean Eichelberger said. Other investors added more than $4 million. None of it has been returned to the victims, some of whom said they had planned to use profits to build churches or get out of debt.

Investors were told their money would be used by international money traders to create profits, 60 percent of which would go to missionary work and 40 percent to the investors.

Eichelberger said Cabe and Shirley used some of $7 million to pay back previous investors so their scheme would look legitimate. The pastors also wrote $100,000 checks to themselves, according to the indictment.

Also indicted was a London antiques dealer, who claimed he was a former banker. Terrence Stanley Victor Wingrove, 58, is charged with 17 counts of wire fraud and 14 counts of money laundering. Prosecutors said Wingrove took money from Cabe, Shirley and other investors and spent more than $12 million on art work and antiques.

Prosecutors said Wingrove has been arrested in London and they are attempting to extradite him to South Carolina.

Cabe, who was arrested by federal agents in York on Friday morning, appeared in court a few hours later. Shackled at the ankles, Cabe told the judge he wanted to get his case resolved as soon as possible.

After hearing the charges against him and his partner, Cabe motioned toward prosecutors and said, "I want to help them. We're not the bad guys."

As Cabe was being led out of the courtroom, Eichelberger told the minister they could talk about a deal after Cabe got an attorney. Prosecutors said they want to go after the leaders of the international scheme.

A third man prosecutors say was involved in the case, William H. Koop, of New Jersey, has agreed to cooperate and has admitted taking more than $2.5 million from Glenn Schmidt, the inventor of the Big Bertha golf club. He promised Schmidt a $16 million profit, prosecutors said.

Cabe also has sued federal prosecutors and Treasury and Secret Service agents for the $1.7 million seized in raids on his home and ministry bank accounts in August 1998. That suit was dismissed in U.S. District Court in July, but Cabe is appealing to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

In court Friday, Cabe said his family has suffered financially since the money was seized.

"We've been struggling for almost two years to survive," Cabe said as he asked for a court-appointed attorney.

Cabe is free until Wednesday when he must post bail of $25,000 and surrender his passport.

Cabe also must not contact any investors. Eichelberger said Cabe was sending out a newsletter, telling investors, "if they are going to cooperate, they'll be kicked out of the investment."

In state court, Cabe is facing seven unrelated misdemeanor charges of practicing medicine without a license after allegations from two teen-age boys that he performed hernia-like checks on them. No trial date has been set on that case.

COUNT 1

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

At all times relevant to this Superseding Indictment:

1. Hisway International Ministries ("HIM") was an organization that operated in Rock Hill, South Carolina, and elsewhere. HIM purportedly existed for the purpose of funneling money to worldwide missions efforts through donations to a religious organization. In reality, as laid out below, it operated as an investment program where people who contributed were promised that they would receive high rates of return through participation in secret international investments programs that were virtually free of risk;

2. JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE was a pastor in Rock Hill, South Carolina, and he was the organizer and director of HIM in the United States;

3. SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY was a pastor in North Carolina, and he assisted JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE in the organization and operation of HIM in the United States;

4. William A. Koop was a resident of New Jersey, and he was involved in the marketing of high yield trading programs;

5. Terrence Stanley Wingrove was a purported bank trader who supposedly had access to secret European monetary trading programs. In reality, he was an art and antiques dealer;

6. Winston Allen was designated as the international trustee/attorney for HIM;

7. First Union National Bank, NationsBank of South Carolina (now known as Bank of America), Branch Banking & Trust Company, Palmetto Bank, High Point Bank & Trust, and Carolina First Bank of South Carolina, were financial institutions with deposits insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

BACKGROUND

8. Beginning in January 1998, JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY adapted from another organization and adopted as their own a financial plan which they claimed offered the opportunity for people to participate in purported European bank trading programs known only to the wealthiest people in the world. These trading programs will hereafter be referred to as "High Yield Trading Programs" or "Trading Programs";

9. The Trading Programs offered by CABB and SHIRLEY operated substantially as follows:

- a. CABB set up an organization called, at various times, Gideons Christian Family Wellness Center, Hisway Investment Club, Hisway Financial Associates, Hisway Financial, Inc., Hisway International Ministries, and variations of the above names;
- b. CABB and SHIRLEY established a network for the collection of money to be placed in the High Yield Trading Programs. Under CABB and SHIRLEY were "Stewards." Stewards told other persons about the program, collected funds or caused funds to be sent directly to CABB and SHIRLEY, and kept track of the funds that they collected. In exchange for their efforts, stewards were told that they would receive a portion of the moneys received back when a particular Trading Program "matured;"
- c. Money provided to CABB and SHIRLEY was placed into bank accounts established for the purpose of aggregating the funds until large sums were available for placement in High Yield Trading Programs

- d. Persons who provided funds to CABA and SHIRLEY were required to pay a non-refundable administration fee in addition to the funds so invested;
- e. Persons who provided funds to CABA and SHIRLEY were from time to time required to sign certain documentation, including the following:
  - i. Letter of Intent;
  - ii. Non-disclosure, non-circumvention, and finders fee agreement;
  - iii. Non-solicitation letter;
  - iv. Confidentiality/Non-disclosure agreement; and
  - v. Venture Capital Agreement;
- f. Persons who provided funds to CABA and SHIRLEY were told that the money would be invested in High Yield Trading Programs. They were further told that there was no risk in the investments and that when money from the Trading Programs was received back, a portion would go to humanitarian and religious organizations and the remainder would be returned to the person who provided the funds;
- g. People who provided funds to CABA and SHIRLEY were told that their portion of the return would likely result in their receiving back double the amount of money that they provided to CABA and SHIRLEY or more and that they could expect to receive this return in as little as 30 days.

- h. CABE and SHIRLEY guaranteed people who participated that they would receive back no less than their original "gift" plus 6 3/8 percent after one year and one day;
- i. People who provided funds to CABE and SHIRLEY were told that when a particular trade "matured," they could either received money back from the High Yield Trading Programs or they could roll the money into another Trading Program. In either case they would be required to pay accounting and disbursement fees;
- .j. While offering these investment opportunities, CABE and SHIRLEY and others did attempt to mislead, and to evade the jurisdiction of, state and federal securities regulatory agencies by mischaracterizing each payment into the High Yield Trading Program as a "contribution" or "gift" to a religious organization. They further attempted to mislead, and to evade the jurisdiction of, state and federal securities regulatory agencies by referring to the promised returns to participants as "re-gifts";
- k. From time to time, CABE and SHIRLEY told people who participated in their High Yield Trading Programs that there were ways to shield income realized from the Trading Programs from reporting requirements to, and taxation by, the Internal Revenue Service;

10. Between January 21, 1998, and June 19, 1998, CAbE and SHIRLEY accumulated approximately $3,630,000 as described above from persons desiring to participate in Trading Programs. In addition, CAbE and SHIRLEY caused some people to transfer funds directly to purported traders for investment in Trading Programs;

11. Beginning in or about May of 1998, CAbE sent a series of facsimile transmissions to Terrence Stanley Victor Wingrove, Winston Allen, William H. Koop, and others known and unknown to the grand jury -- persons with whom CAbE had placed money as part of the High Yield Trading Programs offered through HIM -- expressing an increasingly urgent need for return of monies so that CAbE and SHIRLEY could repay their investors;

12. Despite the failure of the persons to whom CAbE had given money to return the funds and interest purportedly earned on the Trading Program, CAbE and SHIRLEY continued to claim to persons who had provided money that the Trading Programs were genuine and that they were proceeding as promised;

THE SCHEME AND ARTIFICE TO DEFRAUD

13. Beginning on or about a date unknown to the grand jury but at some time between January and July of 1998, and continuing to the date of this Superseding Indictment, in the District of South Carolina and elsewhere, JOHNNY WILLIAM CAbE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY knowingly and willfully did devise and intend to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud and to obtain money and property by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises which affected financial institutions, including First Union National Bank, NationsBank of South Carolina (now known as Bank of America), Branch Banking & Trust Company, First Heritage National Bank, and Carolina First Bank of South Carolina;

14. It was the goal of the scheme and artifice that JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY would obtain money from persons desiring to participate in High Yield Trading Programs as set forth above and then use the money so provided to repay other persons who had previously provided funds to CABE and SHIRLEY, thereby concealing from persons who participated in the Trading Programs that they were fraudulent and did not operate as promised;

15. It was further the goal of the scheme and artifice that after paying people who had previously provided funds to JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY, CABE and SHIRLEY would represent that the money used to repay persons who had previously provided funds had come from successful High Yield Trading Programs, thereby inducing people, including those who had been paid, to invest additional monies with the program, when in fact, no money had been received back from any such Trading Program;

16. It was a part of the scheme and artifice to defraud and to obtain money and property by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises that JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY would and did do the following:

- a. Falsely claim that prior High Yield Trading Programs they had participated in had successfully paid back as much as 500% in just 12 weeks;
- b. Conceal from persons desiring to participate in the High Yield Trading Programs the fact that no High Yield Trading Program had yielded any of the promised returns;
- c. Conceal from persons desiring to participate in the High Yield Trading Programs the fact that JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE was concerned that he and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY could be sued for fraud in connection with their role as organizers and directors of High Yield Trading Programs;
- d. Recruit "stewards" whose job it was to secure and forward to JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY money from persons desiring to participate in the High Yield Trading Program by offering the stewards a percentage of the proceeds of the Trading programs;
- e. Pay money to prior participants in the High Yield Trading Program scheme with the expectation that the appearance of success in the programs would cause vast amounts of money to come in, thereby relieving financial pressures caused by demands of prior participants for the return of their funds;

- f. Convert funds provided by persons desiring to participate in the purported High Yield Trading Programs to their own use and benefit;
- g. During the course of the scheme and artifice to defraud and to obtain money by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, CABE and SHIRLEY obtained over $7,000,000;

17. On or about July 13, 1998, in the District of South Carolina, JOHNNY WILLIAM CABE and SHELTON JOEL SHIRLEY, for the purpose of executing the aforesaid scheme and artifice to defraud and for obtaining money and property by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises knowingly did cause Linda Crider to wire transfer $14,445.00 from Orrstown Bank in Orrstown, Pennsylvania, to the account of Johnny William Cabe, d/b/a His Way Financial/JRS Ministries, at First Union National Bank in Rock Hill, South Carolina;
